WEST ONTARIO IS AGOG OVER JAIL DELIVERY

MURRELL BROTHERS, CONVICTED BANDITS AND ALLEGED SLAYERS, SAWED THEIR WAY THROUGH BARS TO FREEDOM.

THINK ACCOMPLICES AIDED IN THE ESCAPE

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 3.—(Canadian Press.)—Excitement is at fever heat again in Western Ontario as a result of the escape last night of Williamand Sydney Murrell, two of the three convicted auto bandits and alleged slayers of Russell Campbell ,of Melbourne. Aided by wads of chewing gum they sawed their way from the cells of the county jail and some time between 6.30 and 8 o'clock they made good their escape and as yet have not been captured, although police officials in high speed motor cars and fully armed are scouring the surrounding district in search of them.

It appears that as soon as the three turnkeys, delegated to place them in their night cells, had locked them in, they began to evolve a system for their escape, because when the turnkeys returned at 8 o'clock they had fled. Four iron bars, each more than an inch thick and nearly two inches wide, were cut clear through at both ends, leaving an aperture in the narrow lavatory window from which they were able to reach the south-east exercise yard by a five foot jump. A twenty-five foot ladder left in the yard by bricklayers engaged in construction of a section of a wall, provided easy means to scale the thirty foot wall. The contractors' tool house shed built just outside the wall, gave almost as easy means of reaching the ground outside, and freedom.

Police are convinced that the jail delivery was timed and that the brothers were met outside by accomplices who probably equipped them with a change of clothes, money and revolvers.

A hastily scrawled note, "Good-bye, good luck, God bless you all," was left propped on the table of the cell. With the note was a six-inch hacksaw, the keenest blade procurable, and an improvished handle made from the handle of a lavatory basket, to which the blade was attached with wads of chewing gum, cloth and the outer binding of electric tape. Examination of the cuts revealed the probability that the prisoners were given assistance from the outside in the actual work of sawing.

U.S. ASKS CHANGE IN MANDATES FOR GERMAN TERRITORY

By HENRY WOOD
(United Press Staff Correspondent).

GENEVA, Sept. 3.—The United States has made proposals to the Allies for amendments to the various mandates arranged at Marseilles. Representatives of the Allied Governments at the League of Nations Council today informed the Council that a note had been received from Washington proposing changes.

The text of the American note was not given out here.

GRAVITY OF SITUATION INDICATED BY VOTING OF THE SWITCHMEN FOR FIRST TIME IN HISTORY.

DIE WILL BE CAST EARLY IN OCTOBER

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 3.—The railroad situation in the United States is now in the hands of the workers. Four hundred thousand men are being polled, and if they vote for a strike, it means a strike, T. C. Cashen, president of the Switchmen's Union, declared to-day. Between October 5 and 10 the die will have been cast. Non-union as well as union men will cast ballots.

"The five big transportation organizations have reached a point where they will be guided by the wish of the men as respected in the ballots," Cashen said.

"The taking of a strike vote by the switchmen indicates the gravity of the railroad situation, as it is the first general strike vote the Switchmen's Union has ever taken," Cashen pointed out.

"All railroad organizations are affected alike on wage decreases, and in a majority of the cases officials of railroads throughout the United States have demanded a revision of the working schedules."

WHERE DID MARCONI'S MESSAGES COME FROM

HE SAYS THEY MAY HAVE BEEN FROM EARTHLY SOURCE.

(United Press).

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Officials of the Marconi Company here to-day declared their disbelief in the claim of J. H. C. Macbeth, who was wrongly referred to as London manager of the company, that Marconi himself had been in communication with other planets.

They said that Marconi himself had informed them that the mysterious messages might have emanated from earthly sources.

LAY TOMORROW CORNER STONE NEW HOSPITAL

NEW BUILDING TO BE A MODERN HOSPITAL

The laying of the corner stone of the new addition to St. Joseph's Hospital takes place to-morrow afternoon at three o'clock. His Lordship Bishop O'Brien will conduct the services, assisted by clergy from surrounding parishes. Rev. J. E. Burke, C.S.P. director of Newman Hall, Toronto, will preach the sermon. Rev. Father Burke is a clever orator, who is well-known in Peterborough, and who preached the funeral sermon on the occasion of the death of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier. A cordial invitation is extended to the general public to be present at this ceremony.

The five-acre lot on which the present hospital stands was known in the young days of the city as St. Leonard's Grove. It was bought by His Lordship Bishop Dowling in the year 1898, when Peterborough's population numbered only 6,000, and in October of the same year the corner-stone of the original hospital building was laid. The hospital was formally opened to the public on August 18, 1890. An addition of a north wing was made and opened in 1908. On July 23, 1899, the corner-stone of the original House of Providence was laid by the late Bishop O'Connor, and the accommodation later proving inadequate here, additions were made, and the present building opened in 1913. The corner-stone of the Immaculate Conception Church was laid by His Lordship Bishop O'Brien on September 27, 1914, and the church opened on December 6th of the same year.

It is interesting to note the improvement in East City since the time that the hospital was first opened. Then, and for some years later, there was in this section of the city no gas, no electric lights, waterworks or sewers.

The new hospital building at present in process of construction will be a very substantial structure, 153 feet long by 44 feet wide, besides additions for ward purposes, etc. It will have a full storey basement, three flats for patients, and the upper floor will contain the operating theatres, X-ray rooms, and laboratory. The new addition will accommodate 59 patients, or 75, if necessary, and with the old building, will provide hospital accommodation for over 100 beds. It will be a modern and up-to-date building in every respect, and steps are being taken to make it a standard hospital, according to the regulations of the College of Surgeons of America. Work is expected to be completed by the first of March, 1922.

No special invitations have been issued for the ceremonies, which take place to-morrow, and a cordial invitation is extended to the general public to be present at the laying of the corner-stone at 3 o'clock.

QUIET REIGNS IN MINE FUED

MILITARY BELIEVE CRISIS IS NOW PAST.

(United Press).

LOGAN, W. Va., Sept. 3.—For the first time in three days quiet was reported to-day on the Logan mine war battle front. The early part of the day passed without any attack by the miners.

Fighting continued last night, but no casualties were reported. A feeling of security followed the announcement that Federal troops were near.

THINK CRISIS PAST.

MADISON, W. Va., Sept. 3.—The crisis in the mine war has passed, military headquarters here believed to-day. Three hundred troops have reached Sharples, ten miles back of the Logan war border, it was stated.

The military officers here said they believed the miners will quit without firing another shot when they get sight of the soldiers.

She is prepared to start on a course of French, Spanish, German, English literature, physics and chemistry. It is claimed for the girl, who has been taught by her father, that she can spell and define more English words than any other person in London.

EXTENSION OF CAR LINES IS HANGING FIRE

HYDRO REPORT ON PROPOSED WORK ADVERSE—COMMISSION FEARS LACK OF REVENUE.

POWER COMMITTEE TO STUDY MATTER AGAIN

Last night Alderman G. N. Gordon presided at a meeting of the Power committee of the City Council. There were present all the members of the committee, consisting of Ald. Gordon, chairman, Ald. J. J. Turner, Ald. Joseph Crowe, Alderman J. Hamilton and Mayor A. A. McIntyre.

The question of extending the street car system to East City was under discussion. The Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario had objected to making the extensions because they reported the revenue would not pay for the increased cost of construction at the present time. The committee had hoped that the extension would be made over the new high level bridge, through Ashburnham, around Nicholls Oval and Smith street to be connected with George street. Ald. Gordon and some of the members of the committee had interviewed Sir Adam Beck and his engineers to ascertain if this extension could be made, and Sir Adam Beck had promised he would have a report made by his engineers without delay, and this report is adverse.

The committee decided on another conference with Sir Adam Beck to see if some arrangement could not be made for extension on another plan, and this conference will be held as soon as Sir Adam Beck can make an appointment.

PROVES TITLE "FASTEST MAN IN BASEBALL"

'COMET" ARCHDEACON BREAKS ALL RECORDS ON BASES.

(United Press).

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 3. — Maurice "Comet" Archdeacon proved yesterday at the baseball park that the appellation, "the fastest man in baseball" is no misnomer.

Circuiting the bases while three watches were held on him, he broke Hans Lobert's record of 13 4-5 seconds made at Redland Field, Cincinnati, in 1910, by two-fifths of a second.

POTATOES ARE GETTING CHEAPER

FARMERS' MARKET WELL PATRONIZED THIS MORNING.

The farmers' market was well patronized this morningg. All sorts of vehicles lined the curbs on Charlotte and Water Streets, and a large crowd circled through the various booths and upstairs, where the tables were filled with produce of all descriptions. There was plenty of butter and eggs, and a good deal of fowl of different size and age. Potatoes were scarce, but those on view were of a good variety. Fifty cents a peck was the popular price, one man asking $2.35 per bag, or $2.25 if one purchased three bags. Tomatoes in red and green were 35 and 40 cents per basket, blue plums $1.25, damsons 15 cents a quart, red and green peppers, 3 for a nickel, apples for cooking were 40 cents a basket, and Wealthys and Alexanders went for $2.40 per bag; cucumbers were 50 cents a basket, string beans 10 cents a quart, corn was 15 cents a dozen, crabapples 30 and 50 cents per basket, cabbage 10 and 15 cents per head, pickling onions 30 cents a quart. Grapes sold for 50 cents per small basket, and one lady with wild grapes was asking 45 and 90 cents for this small variety. Honey in the comb was going for 30 cents, in the jar 16 cents for the amber and 21 cents for the clover. Peaches sold for $1.50 per large basket, and two small urchins with their sole product, three pumpkins of varying sizes, were offering them for 15 and 35 cents. One enterprising lady offered salt pork in huge chunks for 25 cents per lb. Cream was selling for 35 cents per pint, eggs for 40, 42 and 45 cents, butter anywhere from 43 to 50 cents, young ducks at 30 cents, and chickens were 30 cents per lb., while more mature birds demanded 23 and 27 cents. The fish vendors had white fish at 15 cents, mudcats at 3 lbs. for a quarter, British Columbia sea salmon at 18 cents, Georgian Bay trout 23 cents and Lake Ontario trout at 15 cents. One could buy ice cream cones at the conventional price, or enormous bunches of white and purple asters for 10 and 15 cents.

Claim New York Exceeds London

"GREATER NEW YORK" HAS LARGER POPULATION THAN WHAT IS KNOWN AS "GREATER LONDON," IT IS SAID.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

WASHINGTON, September 3. — New York has a valid claim against London for classification as the largest city in the world, according to the National Geographic Society.

Discussing the recent announcement of the British census that "Greater London" has now a population of 7,476,168 persons, a society bulletin questioned the right of London City proper to claim all that population, and suggested that New York's 5,620,048 souls actually within one municipality, under one municipal government, may make it the largest.

"Legally as a municipality, London refers to the area within the boundaries of the County of London," the bulletin asserted. Only "Greater London" figures are carried in the despatches, but at the rate of growth they indicate London proper still is under the 5,000,000 mark. The "Greater London," which has nearly 7,500,000 people, has an existence as a metropolitan and police unit. Its population is distributed over 693 square miles, an area six times that of municipal London, and more than twice that of municipal New York.

New York modelled on the "Greater London" lines, taking in all suburb cities within a fifteen-mile radius from the city centre, as the British capital does, with New Jersey towns included, "would pass London's population well within a like area," the bulletin asserts.

VISCOUNT ASTOR GAVE HUGE SUM TO BRIDE OF HIS SON, IT IS SHOWN

(By United Press.)

NEW YORK September 3 — The ate Vscount William Waldorf Astor's pleasure at the marriage of his seconud son, Captain John Jacob Astor, to Lady Nairne, a war widow, in 1916, wes revealed to-day when it as learned that he had given the couple on that occasion a wedding gift of $4,000,000

Viscount Astor also made a separate settlement of $30,000 a year on the bride. Judicial interpretation of a trust of several million dollars having been asked by the Farmers' Loan and Trust Co., the matter of the Astor gifts and the details of all legacies, amounting to more than $60,000,000, came to light.

BRIDGENORTH NEWS

BRIDGENORTH, Sept. 2.—The hum of the threshing machine is again in our midst.

The most of our summer visitors have come and gone.

Mr. Percy Udy has been making considerable improvements to his home.

Mr. Wallace Nichol is erecting a new home on Colborne Street, just opposite the public school.

Messrs. Jopling & Sons have a new residence nearing completion on Ward Street, which will be occupied by Mr. Jopling, Sr.

Mr. F. N. Kelly spent the week at the Cobourg Horse Show, and secured three first prizes on his single driver, which he afterwards sold to a Toronto dealer.

Rev. J. Ireland, who has been placed in charge of the Wesley circuit, is at present making his residence in our village, being unable as yet to secure a house on his circuit.

The closing service held at the Pavilion last Sunday was largely attended. During the five Sundays that the services were held at the Park, the interest was sustained throughout, and from the standpoint of attendance and interest, the Board have been amply justified in transferring the Sunday evening services to the Pavilion. The Park people themselves were most appreciative.

The regular quarterly Communion service will be held in the church at 11 o'clock next Sunday, Sept. 4th, while the preaching service at Selwyn next Sunday will be at 7 p.m. and at Fairview at 2.30 p.m.

BELFAST, Sept. 3.—(Canadian Press).—Special trains will run from all parts of South Ulster to the city of Armagh tomorrow, bearing crowds to welcome Michael Collins, called by the Sinn Fein "Minister of Commerce and Commander-in-Chief of the Irish Republican Army," on his first visit to North Ireland.

Mr. Collins, who was elected to the Northern Parliament for Armagh, intends to deliver an address at a meeting to be held here to-morrow afternoon. The Armagh Council, which has a Nationalist and Republican majority, has decided to present an address to Mr. Collins.

FIND LIFEBOAT MISSING FROM THE IMPORTER

TWO OFFICERS AND NINE MEN OF CREW ON BOARD, SAY ADVICES FROM SAN FRANCISCO.

ATTEMPTED TO ROW 600 MILES FOR HELP

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3. — (United Press.)— Two officers and nine men in a lifeboat from the steamer Canadian Importer were picked up at sea to-day by the tug Sea Lion, according to advices received by the Marine Department of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce to-day.

The men are those who put off from the Importer two weeks ago to-day and attempted to row six hundred miles to the California coast in search for help for their steamer which was disabled, water-logged and helpless.

All of the men were reported by the Sea Lion as in good health and little the worse for their experience.

The message failed to say where the boat was found.

The Canadian Importer was last reported by the steamer Canadian Observer, when it was standing by her, as about six hundred miles off the northern coast of California.

They'd Met Before.

My first attempt proving a failure, I embarked a second time upon the matrimonial seas. We returned from our honeymoon by way of a little town where my new husband had business interests. That afternoon, much to my surprise, I met an old schoolmate of mine on the street. She made me promise that we would dine with her the next evening.

"I'm a newly-wed, too," she explained, "and I want you to meet Harry."

For me a most delicious dinner was spoiled. Harry proved to be my first husband! I experienced the most embarrassing moment of my life when my friend exclaimed, "O, you're acquainted!"

FIELD OF CANDIDATES NOW REDUCED TO THREE, GOVERNMENT, LIBERAL AND FARMERS' PARTY.

GORDON SEES MEIGHEN DEFEAT IN MIDLANDS

J. H. Burnham, ex-M.P., will support the Meighen Government, he told The Examiner this morning.

Reports have been current in local Conservative circles recently of possible amalgamation of the two factions of the local Conservative party, and predictions have been made that if Mr. Burnham espoused the Government cause the way would be made clear for him to accept the Government nomination.

Mr. Burnham's action will reduce the field of candidates to three: G. N. Gordon, M.P., Liberal, Government and Farmer.

The local Liberal organization is prepared to launch a campaign at an early date, and will open the political battle in West Peterborough. Plans of the other contenders are did not have a fighting chance in any riding in the Midland Counties. He predicted that Victoria and East Peterborough would be swept by the Farmers' party, Durham by the Liberals, and that Northumberland would return an Opposition candidate. The Premier's speech at Stirling, Mr. Gordon declared, in which he characterized the Farmers as "Bolsheviks," had wiped out the last vestige of Government support in the rural sections of this district. Attributing the forcing of the Government to go to the people to their losses in by-elections, Mr. Gordon forecast that the result of the election would show a Government as badly broken up as the Hearst Government in Ontario was in 1919.

REFUGEES TELL OF RUSSIAN FAMINE

BARANOWITCHI, Russia, Sept. 3. — (Canadian Press).—Refugees passing through this city from districts in north-eastern Russia declare that the entire lower Volga Basin region through which flows the Don River, and the districts along the lower courses of the Dneiper and Bug are stricken by the scourge of famine. In conversation with Dr. Roq Smith, head of the Red Cross medical unit here, they tell of severe drought, grain destroyed by the intense heat and of hunger, starvation and disease.

Unless the problem presented by the superfluity of women can be solved more than 15,000,000 women in Europe are doomed to die unmarried or to become old maids.

A Handy Kitchen

The handy alcove kitchen is the idea of a woman who has apparently solved the problem of doing her own work in a swift and attractive manner. Everything in this little kitchen has been arranged with an eye to the saving of time and steps. The woodwork throughout is white. The only colors which greet the eye are the dark red of the floor, the cream of the drain boards, and the gay colors on the china. There are no curtains nor mats about to catch dust. The stove stands almost in the middle of the kitchen, placed against the back of the projection from the living-room fireplace, and is central to every other object in the room. Directly next to the breakfast alcove are the sink and drain boards, these latter a cement and sawdust mixture, which is the height of cleanliness. The sink and drain boards are all in a small U-shaped compartment of their own, the sink in the middle, drain boards running out a short distance along from the sink, then turning at right angles. It is so arranged that standing in one spot and not moving a step every dish can be removed from the alcove table and put on the right-hand drain board of the sink. With two steps you are at the sink, where you can wash the dishes, put them in the dish drainer upon the left-hand drain board, and when drained dry (dish cloths are never used here) put those in daily use directly above on the shelves by the window.

Between the sink and the stove is the mixing cabinet, and directly under the mixing board, a continuation of the left drain, are drawers for knives, forks, spoons, dish towels, etc., also the flour bin. Under the sink itself stands the fireless cooker, and at either side underneath are shelves for less used pots and pans.

Two-thirds of the east wall is the pantry, and at the extreme end is the cooler. The air comes in from below and is carried up to the roof, making a constant circulation. The shelves are of very heavy wire.

Every shelf in the kitchen is put out one-half inch from the wall, too narrow a space for anything to fall through, but a great aid in cleaning the shelves. The floor is made of a compound of sawdust and cement, which is poured on. There is no crack of any sort any place on the floor or the curves where the floor and walls join. Every cabinet goes up to the ceiling, allowing no dust collection on exposed tops. The hood over the stove is part of the ceiling.

Directly across the back hall from the kitchen door is the broom closet, where everything used in cleaning of all sorts may be found, from soap down, and also a store closet, where newspapers, small stepladder, wheel tray and the like are kept.

CAMPBELLFORD, September 3. —Mr. Ray Hoover came down today from Orillia to spend a week with his parents, Mr and Mrs. J. L. Hoover, at their summer cottage, Bradley Bay.

Miss Lillian Davidson returned this week to Iroquois Falls, to resume her duties on the Public School Staff. Miss Grace Anderson accompanied her, having accepted a position as teacher on the Separate School Staff.

Dr. and Mrs. H. O. Richardson and children, motored to Toronto yesterday to spend the week end with Mrs. Richardson's sister, Mrs. Milburn McCarthy. Mr. A. W. Free accompanied them, and Mrs. Free, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. McCarthy, for the past two weeks, will return with them.

Miss Hazel Atkinson and Georgie Hay left a few days ago to assume their duties as teachers, the former on the Fort William staff, and the latter on the Fort Frances staff. They journeyed via the Lake route, and report a pleasant trip.

The members of the Ministerial Association of the town, viz., Rev. C. E. Clark, Rev. C. F. McIntosh, Rev. H. E. Bennett, Rev. J. E. Glover, also Rev. M. L. Hinton, and Rev. D. Thompson of Hastings, and Rev. Mr. Simpson of Stirling, attended the funeral on Wednesday of the little four year old daughter (Margaret Amy) of Rev. J. J. and Mrs. Black, of Burnbrae. It is pleasing to learn that the other two little children of Mr. and Mrs. Black, who were also ill, are improving.

It was with the greatest pleasure that the news of the decision of the lacrosse protest reached town. The local team have worked hard this summer and the fact that the protest failed is surely gratifying to them. Havelock will now have to put up the expenses which we understand wil be $339.

Mr. R. H. Cole, manager of the local team, went to Oshawa to-day to arrange for the next game, between Oshawa and Campbellford, which will be played in Campbellford.

88TH BIRTHDAY WAS CELEBRATED

Family members of four generations gathered from near and far to celebrate the eighty-eighth birthday of Mrs. Bolton at the old homestead, in Douro, on Friday.

The home-coming was made a most joyous event, and the interest taken in it was shown by the distance some of the members came, some even arriving from as far away as Bad Axe, Michigan. Those present included one sister, four sons, five daughters, five daughters-in-law, five sons-in-law, forty-nine grandchildren and twenty-two great grandchildren.

During the afternoon the appended address was read to the hostess accompanied by the gift of a handsome dress.

Mrs. Bolton was the mother of the late Mrs. Edmison of Weller street.

Dear Mrs. Bolton,—We come to greet you and wish you many happy returns of the anniversary of your birthday, which we know was a good and happy day in 1833. It does not come to many to celebrate the eighty-eighth year of their birth. Few of us, here, may expect to live so long and we respect and admire one who has accomplished those long years and now is peacefully spending those which as yet remain.

You have been a Canadian of Canadians. Your people were of the pioneers of the township of Douro. Your birth was within fifteen years of the entry of the first settler. Those years of privation will be remembered by you as of your childhood and as after years of womanhood as well. This county owes a deep debt of gratitude to yours and to you. Who bore the burden and heat of the early days and uncomplainingly prepared the way for the comfort and prosperity that now surrounds us all.

Not only have you personally lived and worked in thrift and hopefulness but you have raised a family that are and have been a credit to you and the husband that passed away. May those of the family long live to comfort you and to give to you the meed of affection you so richly deserve.

Your Birthday. We wish you many of them. And bring to you friendly greetings of the heartiest.

Respectfull yand lovingly,

EMMA WEBSTER.
HETTIE TEDFORD.

Please accept this token of Love, wishing you many happy returns of the day.

With Pleasure.

FARMERS TAKE CHALLENGE OF MEIGHEN GOV'T

CRERAR EXPRESSES REGRET THAT THE WEST WILL NOT GET FULL REPRESENTATION.

DENIES TARIFF IS THE GREAT ISSUE

KENORA, Ont., Sept. 3.—(Canadian Press).—"The National Progressive Party will go into the Federal election contest, prepared to accept all responsibilities which may be placed upon it. We accept the challenge of the Prime Minister to an appeal to the electorate of Canada." This was the statement of Hon. T. A. Crerar, National Progressive leader, to the Canadian Press in the course of an interview yesterday at his summer home near Kenora.

Mr. Crerar expressed his regret that the Government had decided on an appeal to the country before redistribution had been effected, and

COMPLETE SURPRISE TO THE AUTHORITIES

LONDON Ont., Sept. 3.—(Canadian Press) William and Sidney Murrell, two of the quartette of Auto bandits whose depredations ended in the slaying of Russell Campbell, a garage man, when they attempted a bold daylight robbery at the home of Melbourne last April escaped from the county jail last night. They are at liberty with no trace of direction they have taken leaving away behind them a route of their escape marked by sawn cell bars, a six inch hacksaw with muffled guard and a brick layer's ladder with which they scaled the wall to freedom. Three weeks hence on Monday September 25th. the Murrells with Slim Williams, who remains a prisoner, were to have faced Justice Logie and a jury on a charge of murder. The escape was a surprise so complete to the authorities that the prisoners were gone a full hour before heir cell was found empty. Turkneys Ellison, Hodgins, McLeod and Blake who were on duty during the afternoon charged to guard the alleged murders with the utmost vigilance claim to have sen both men, several times in their cells. They were usually found apparently sleeping on the tables and it is now believed that such a strange fatigue was the result of their labors sawing bars. When taken from the outer corridor and locked in the inner cell each evening at 8 o'clock three turkneys usually stood guard, one at the door armed with a revolver.

Announcing the NEW McLAUGHLIN-BUICK MASTER 4

Here is a Thoroughbred Master Four Completing the Famed McLaughlin-Buick Line

Down to the very last detail, this new model possesses every quality of enduring serviceability, complete comfort, and distinctive appearance that have always characterized McLaughlin automobiles.
The advent of this new Master Four makes the McLaughlin-Buick 1922 line complete. It offers to purchasers of a car of this size all the quality and service that go to make up the name McLaughlin.

The McLaughlin-Buick Valve-in-Head Engine—A Power Plant That Has Proved Itself.

The engine, of course, is of the time-tested McLaughlin-Buick Valve-in-Head type. The year-after-year concentration of McLaughlin-Buick engineering skill and experience in building Valve-in-Head motors assure the highest standard of performance obtainable to-day.
Every other unit is of a quality equal to the power plant. The whole assembly constitutes a perfectly balanced chassis which is of typical McLaughlin-Buick construction. The equipment of Cord Tires is merely evidence of the quality which characterizes the entire car.
Two open and two closed body types mounted on the McLaughlin-Buick built chassis comprise the new series.
Even the most casual inspection of the details of design and workmanship will reveal that full measure of quality which motorists have learned to associate with McLaughlin.

A Great Car—Prices Make it an Even Greater Value.

Obviously a high grade automobile — a genuine McLaughlin-Buick production—the prices make this Four even greater.
The new McLaughlin-Buick Master Four is a Made-In-Canada car. Walkerville, Ont., is the home of the General Motors Canadian mammoth manufacturing plants. These new plants are most modern in every respect and are fitted with the finest machinery to turn out accurately and economically, motors, transmissions, axles and other heavy parts for motor cars. Smaller parts and the assembling of units, painting, upholstering and top and body building are done at the Oshawa plants.

Cord Tires Standard Equipment on all Models.

STREET NAME PLATES.

The influx of visitors into and through Peterborough this summer has been far in excess of that of last year—mostly Americans—and much uncomplimentary criticism from them has been passed on our sidewalk system of street name signs, including also the illegibility of most of those attached to houses here and there which still remain from decades past.

We shall have a new Mayor next year, at least Mayor McIntyre has expressed his intention to retire at the termination of this his second term, and The Examiner has every reason for believing it could name now a prospective and willing candidate for the velvet chair. To that gentleman the suggestion is respectfully offered, that he embody as one plank in his policy a proposition for street name signs which will savor of modernism and give the public an all-year service, which names stencilled in concrete walks, buried beneath Canada's "beautiful" in winter, do not afford.

It comes natural for the average man and woman to cast the eye upwards when seeking the name of a street, which sign they invariably expect will be found in an elevated position; and at the Chamber of Commerce rooms there is a sample of street name plates both strikingly legible and desirably durable. The lettering is white gothic, four inches in length, on deep dark blue background—all enamel—offering a name discernable at some considerable distance. The proposition to procure such signs at 75 cents a piece was laid before Council early this year, but, in consideration of so much expenditure involved by other urgent projects, to say nothing of increased assessment and taxes, the street name sign question suffered postponement until 1922, as far as the present board of Aldermen is concerned.

Planned within the Chamber of Commerce, to procure and attach these signs on houses at street intersections, and in the absence of such convenient support elevate them on finger posts, would cost the ratepayers $4,000, about 10 cents each family; truly, quite an insignificant tax. But it is estimated that by next year these plates will have been reduced from 75 cents to 70 cents each, which, together with a corresponding reduction in placement cost, would effect an appreciable saving if their adoption is undertaken by the Council of 1922. That body might spend between $3,000 and $4,000 on many a less worthy cause.

To the stranger within our gates this community should realize that courtesy and consideration would reflect from the names of streets conspicuously meeting his or her eye for their guidance, direction and information. For ourselves we need them, as Peterborough is sufficiently large in extent and importance for boldly-lettered street name plates, strikingly and conspicuously situated, to have become a public need, the provision of which would meet with general approval.

LABOR DAY.

The first Monday in September is a fixed statutory holiday, that all labor may rest or play, and demonstrate wherever demonstration enters into organized labor's programme. But, contrary to general conception, the true definition of the term labor is not exclusively confined to work of brown or muscle. For, while mechanics and those who engage in physical tasks are productive laborers, he, whose brain conceives and plans and directs industrial operations, is equally a laborer, although in the intellectual class. Then, one cannot draw a line between bodily and intellectual application to the needs of self, communities and nations, for there exists scarcely a job to which man or woman puts their hands which does not require a certain amount of active thought. Capital invested in trade, commerce and industry also labors, and to draw a distinction between the two has often resulted in unpleasant consequences. In fact, the interests of capital and labor are interwoven, the one to produce, the other to offer the monetary means for production. The workman to profit from his mechanical skill or physical strength must sell his labor, while to profit from capital above ordinary interest its owner must labor with brain in control and executive energy. Many a man designated by the working class as a bloated capitalist and gentleman of leisure, living in refinement and luxury at the expense of his fellow mortals, actually steers the fortunes of some large industry in the office of which he is first to arrive in the morning and last to leave at night. Head of a big manufacturing concern, such a capitalist labors with intellectual might to hold and expand the works in which, perhaps, his last dollar is sunk; and the wheels of industry his risked capital is laboring to keep revolving furnish opportunity for thousands to earn sustenance for selves and families.

And so, Monday, Labor Day, is labor's own holiday, conveying by its real significance a privilege which embraces in its broadest sense the great bulk of Canadians, whether "white collared" or "overalled." But, regrettably so, the pleasure of this day for cessation from work will be marred by that unseasonal depression which has enforced on thousands of workers weeks, aye, and months of holidays, creating untold distress with none too bright a future outlook. Let us hope that this era of economic gloom will have soon passed, and that long before the dawn of next Labor Day readjustment will have engendered a return to at least normal conditions with the tide of increasing prosperity running high.

A LABOR DAY THOUGHT.

An aspect of Labor Day that seems to call for new emphasis is the traditional pride which should animate the laborer in his work. In this connection there is no sense of limitation in the use of the terms. Everyone who earns his living, whether he be a tradesman or a mechanic, a member of the learned professions or one of the unskilled toilers, is surely entitled to consider himself a laborer. Of course, these are obvious distinctions to be admitted, but in a young and vigorous country like Canada where there is so much to be done and so many opportunities for the doing, where the lines of class are so loosely drawn, if indeed they actually exist, where there is no aristocracy unless it be an aristocracy of wealth, and an employee of today may become an employer tomorrow—under such conditions occupational divisions need not be and are not heavily stressed. They are never unsurmountable except to the indifferent and unambitious, who are content to remain in the groove they have worn for themselves.

Peterborough itself affords not a few examples of men who have risen by their own efforts and vision from obscurity to national prominence; of many others who have won their way to position of trust, responsibility and comparative affluence, at least financial independence, by their diligence and fidelity, coupled with habits of economy in their personal affairs. And there is still a more numerous class too broad to be defined who have made a success of their lives in the spheres in which they entered by skill or adaptability, or some native ability and desire to excel that secured for them preference above others.

There is the mechanic who becomes a manufacturer or a shop superintendent, the carpenter or builder who becomes a contractor, the clerk a merchant, the office boy the president or proprietor of the comany, and so on over a long list of men who may lay claim to real achievements.

These are surely all laborers. And there are others again who have not been lacking in ability, but who have missed out by some strange whim of fate or perhaps, some wanting impulse. These classes of men, and women too, comprise all that company who have taken a pride in their work. They have stood out above their fellows not only by the spirit of application springing from a desire to excel, whether it be the patternmaker with his model, the bricklayer on a wall or the lawyer pleading a case to a jury, but also from a sheer love of their handiwork and the stamping of their personality upon it.

This is the phase of labor that may be stressed in these days of clamorous efficiency; and it is this phase, too, that should not be lost sight of by organized labor. The public loves a good workman, but despises the bungler. And every careless indifferent artisan is a reproach to his class. Hence, does a carpenters' union, for example only, jealously guard its corporate good name by excluding from its membership the handyman who buys himself a hammer and saw and poses as a craftsman? Or does the union open its doors without demanding the passport of apprenticeship and proven ability? And does the medical fraternity, for example also, insist that its degrees shall be awarded only to those they know to be worthy?

More attention to the fundamentals of a trade or a profession, a more vigorous scrutiny of the qualifications for membership would deepen the confidence and respect of a public who in recent years have formed the impression that there has been undue prominence given to organization.

RUSSIAN SOVIET BUSINESS BUNCOMBE.

A few months ago representatives of the Russian Soviet Government visited Canada and the United States and with much ostenation made it known that it was their intention to buy heavily in Canada and in the Republic to our south. Interviews were given to newspapers, and men in high places were approached concerning opening up trade relations with the government of Lenine and Trotzky. It was anticipated that Canada would profit by the visit of the Soviet Russian rabble, but, like all other things touched by the contaminating hand of a country red with blood and steeped in national iniquity, nothing has developed from the visit of the Russian trade emissaries beyond empty and unfulfilled promises.

After all, what could we expect? Russia is externally what she is internally. Her dealings with the nations of the world in commerce and industry will be of the character of her dealings with her own people. Deception, unreliability and absolute absence of integrity have been, and are the national characteristic of Russia towards Russians. That is just what Russia will be towards Canada or any other nation which attempts business relations with such a government so monstrous and murderous in intent and administration.

If we must have a foreign market, let us seek it in a field more reliable than Russia. If we must trade with other nations let us seek some nation whose conception of honor is above that of Trotzy and Lenine. The natives of the Fiji Islands, the Hottentots of dark Africa, or the head hunters of some of the Islands of the Pacific, might make better prospects for Canadian manufacturers than the land teeming with revolution and bathed in a sea of human blood.

The Canadan Government and the Canadian producer had better leave Russia alone for a while. When Soviet commissioners come to Canada again, let us compel them to show the color of their gold and the real value of their paper before we start to flatter ourselves and persuade the people that Russia has anything to give the Canadian manufacturer.—Kingston Standard.

LITERARY GEMS

THE DISTINCTION.

Religion is one of the natural functions of the human soul; it is one of the natural conditions of human as distinct from animal life. Ethnology and socialogy bear abundant testimony to this. Man alone in the wide sweep of creation builds altars, temples and churches. And wherever man may tent there also will curve upward the burning incense of his sacrifice in the sweeter savor of his aspirations after the better, the diviner light. However rude the society in which he moves, or however refined and complex the social organism, religion never fails to be among the determining forces one of the most potent.

And yet the universal religion, and universal brother of man, have not so far evolved in the procession of the suns. They are among the blessings yet to come.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Warsaw, Aug. 31.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—In reply to an article in your issue of August 25, regarding the drain in the Long Swamp, Chandos, as I am one of the parties interested, I can say that the article is decidedly misleading, and I will endeavor to give the facts of the case.

The grant for repairing the road through the swamp was only $100, and it was spent on the road, but the drainage grant was $500 and was a special grant to be spent for draining purposes only, and it was spent according to the plan of the Provincial Engineer to drain the road, and I firmly believe it is the only way they will ever make a decent road. Now, the critic mentions the road around the Lasswade end of the swamp, but he does not state that it is a series of rocky hills, and, for his information, I can say that most of the people who have got to use either of the roads to get to the rail road at Coe Hill, were asked which road they wanted kept up and they did not hesitate to say the swamp. I would advise the critic, if he can build macadamized roads at the cost he claims, to undertake the work immediately, as men of this calibre are scarce and good road makers of absolutely more use to the colonization townships than men who spend their time writing anonymous letters that might have a tendency to stop grants, for I certainly think these townships are needing all the money they are getting on the roads and I do not hesitate to say the are working hard for what they do get.

Thanking you for your space, I am,

Yours truly,

DAVID MILLER.

He Will Think It Over

THE SUN LIFE OF CANADA rejected 1,506 applicants for Assurance last year, who thought it over a little too long. Every man thinks it over on his deathbed—some with satisfaction and some with sorrow. It will cost more next year than this year, and the probability of securing Assurance now is greater than it will be then. If he needs it tomorrow, he needs it today.

Do not delay too long and regret it, but secure the protection which you need before it is too late.

LOVE'S LEAVEN.

Chapter 54.

Kent Armour, Jr., was the most wonderful little lump of humanity that had ever come into existence. At least we thought so.

Each day for me was crammed full of love duties, and the weeks and months just seemed to fly by. And with each minute the boy grew stronger and more wonderful.

Kent and I together watched every little symptom of growth and advancement. If he cooed some new way we felt sure he was trying to say something important or if his tiny fists were unusually active we declared it was some extraordinary sign of superiority and advancement.

Then came the great events in his life and ours—the first tooth, the first lisping baby words of "papa" and "mamma,' and the sweet, loving response of a child's clinging arms.

Kent was working hard, and though he would come home very tired at night, and many times had to work late in the evening, he was supremely happy.

One night when he was quite late in getting home and the boy was safely tucked in bed, we tip-toed into the nursery together and stood looking down at him withour arms twined tightly around each other.

"Nothing seems hard or tiring now, Babs, since he came. He has drawn all the bitterness out of life's material struggle. Each day's work means a blessed service for our boy—and you, dear," Kent whispered, hugging me close to his broad shoulder.

"Yes, I know, Kent," I answered back softly. "I felt that way myself. I never mind doing the hundreds of little tasks that each day brings, because I love any work that is for little Kent, and for you."

"And they are not just little tasks, either, sweetheart! I know he must keep your heart and hands full, together with the house work. Come," he whispered, leading me noiselessly from the room.

"That is something I want to talk to you about," Kent went on, when we reached the living room. "I want you to have help of some sort. You have never had a nurse for the boy—not since the first six months, and I intend that you shall have someone now," he said determinedly.

"I love doing for him myself, Kent," I answered, "and I have a woman in every week to do the cleaning, so I really don't do any of the hard work, dear. Besides it will mean a big added expense, Kent, and I'm more than willing to do without it," I protested.

"But I have made up my mind to this, Barbara," Kent returned. "I can afford it now, business is splendid. It's just a question of whether you want a nurse, or perhaps it would be better to have a cook. It is far too much to have you do both," he contended.

"Well, I think perhaps the cook would be the best, Kent. If I could find just the right sort of person, one who liked children. Then too, she might not mind having an eye to little Kent once in a while. I'll see, dear. I'll telephone to some of the agencies in the morning," I promised.

For the next few days a string of applicants answered my appeal to the agencies. Most of them were hopeless. Then finally I engaged a maid. She had good references, or rather what appeared to be satisfactory ones as she had never lived in New York City before and the references were all written and from out of town. At first I was a little doubtful but she seemed to pleasfe me in other ways and I engaged her.

And so it happened that Nancy Dale came to live with us.

SIGNIFICANCE OF CARDS.

Aside from their use in various games, playing cards are interesting from historic and pictorial points of view, and there is a significance in connection with their number, their numerical arrangement, and the suits, of which relatively few are aware.

In the matter of numerical arrangement, it may be noted that there are 52 cards, 365 pips or spots and 13 tricks, representing, respectively, the weeks and days in the year, and the lunar months.

The cards in use at the present time originated in France, and the four suits represent the four classes of people as they were at that time divided socially. The "spades" were not intended to represent implements of labor, but spearheads, and the spade suit stood for the military class; "clubs" are really clover leaves, and typified the agriculturists; "diamonds" were roofing tiles, representing artisans and tradesmen, while hearts stood for ecclesiastics, being an adaptation of a sacred symbol.

The face cards, or "court cards," as they were more properly designated, are self-explanatory. "Jacks" or knaves were the jesters or "fools" of the royal court. Originally the "kings" and "queens" were more or less correct likenesses of actual personages, and it is claimed that even in the present day cards one of the queens is a conventionalized but reasonably good portrait of Elizabeth of York, who was engaged to the Dauphin of France. The court cards have been but little changed in the past 400 years.

GIRLS! LEMONS WHITEN SKIN AND BLEACH FRECKLES

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan bleach, and complexion whitener.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes bleach out and how clear, soft and rosy-white the skin becomes.

HANDBAGS FIRST CARRIED BY STERNER SEX.

There are very few articles of feminine finery which were not first worn by the sterner sex. Earliest examples of the useful handbag were carried by the gods, priests, kings and princes of Babylon. According to the scriptures they must have been very prettily embroidered, too.

Greek and Roman ladies affected small caskets or coffers, like a modern lady's sewing box, which were borne gracefully under the bended arm of the fair owner. Very often they were carried by a slave, walking respectfully in the rear, and, where their owners were patricians, usually included a stylus and waxen writing tablet among thir contents.

The ancient handbags which most nearly approached those affected by women of to-day were carried by the Byzantine ladies of Constantinople, under the Eastern emperors. This was a period of great commerce with the Asiatic races, who found a ready market in this luxurious court for the rich brocades of Persia and India and the embroidered silks of China, which were utilized in schemes of dress more costly and extravagant than the world has seen before or since.

HAD VISIONS OF COMMERCIAL METROPOLIS

Every trace of the village of Ivanhoe, Ia., is gone, but when its founer, Anson Cowles, laid it out he had visions of a great commercial metropolis. He would establish there a splendid university, to be governed by rules of his own. There would be near by a vast park, accommodating all the birds and beast of the state, dwelling together in harmony. His own magnificent residence would be by the side of the road, where he could entertain visitors with Middle Western hospitality. But the most grandiose of all Anson's plans was that for his private transportation. He intended to ride in the garb of an Indian chief in a chariot marvelously built and drawn by six elk intrappings of beaded buckskin, each elk to be ridden by an Indian in full costume. He had energy as well as orginality, and had he not died early he might really have put these schemes through.

WOMAN SEEKS TO RID AMERICA OF HE VEMPS

NEW YORK Sept. 2.—Mrs. Eleanor de Hart, 30 years old, and attractive, believes every woman should have a mission in life. She has. It is the man-handling of the despicable mashers who infest the parks and loiter about railway stations and annoy women and girls in croweded trains.

Mrs. De Hart declared war on them five years ago when her husband died. She frequently had been the victim of oglers, so she set out to make a record and if she keeps on she will have Dempsey among the also rans.

She delibesrately stalks her prey. Armed with a rubber-handled "billy" she frequents the parks and when the masher sidles up with her and begins his tactics, she swings on him with the war club, fists and teeth.

James Zamborelli rubbed against her recently in the park and made an insulting remark. The best he got out of it was a badly marred face and a fine from the judge.

SUMMER HEAT HARD ON BABY

No season of the year is so dangerous to the life of little ones as is the summer. The excessive heat throws the little stomach out of order so quickly that unless prompt aid is at hand the baby may be beyond all human help before the mother realizes he is ill. Summer is the season when diarrhoea, cholera infantum, dysentry and colic are most prevalent. Any one of these troubles may prove deadly if not properly treated. During the summer the mother's best friend is Baby's Own Tables. They regulate the bowels sweeten the stomach and keep baby healthy. PAINFUL DIARRHOEA CRAMPS IN STOMACH

Mr. Fred Funston, Craig, Sask., writes "A year ago last harvest I was taken with a sudden attack of diarrhoea which completely laid me out and in a few hours I had to quit work. The cramps in my stomach were dreadful, the beads of perspiration would stand out on my face at times I was in such great distress. At last I got a chance to send to town for a couple of bottles of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I used it according to the way I felt and soon obtained a great change for the better, for which I was very grateful. I don't know what the cause of my sickness was, except the extremely hot weather and the active work of stooking the wheat.

Several of my neighbors were taken the same as myself and had the doctor attend to them, but they did not get any great relief until I advised them to use "Dr. Fowler's" when they soon experienced a great change."

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been on the market for the past 76 years and many cheap imitations are being offered to the public.

DESIRE TO PLAY MARBLES PUTS MONKS BEHIND BARS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2. — Joko and Jola, a pair of monkeys aboard the naval transport Pensacola, owe their captivity to their desire to play marbles, according to John Lorenz, the shipwright of the vessel. Lorenz explained how he captured them in the Philippines. Carving a large hole in a cocoanut, he withdrew the contents, and, inserting two marbles, refilled the hole ond bored a small one in the other side. Hiding behind a tree he sent the cocoanut spinning along the ground. In a few minutes Lorenz heard loud squeals. Joko had inserted his hand into the hole to get the marbles and was unable to withdraw it. Lorenz speedily captured the monkey as he was unable to climb back into the tree. Jola was captured in the same way.

Citizenry All Behind Him in Task of "Beating Back"

BLAIR, Neb., Sept. 2.—With virtually the entire citizenry of the town back of him and a number of the leading business men signers of his bond, Fred H. Claridge, admitted bank wrecker, today began the task of "beating back."

Claridge who was president of the Castetter bank, which failed here several months ago, voluntarily surrendered on Monday. He was welcomed back by the townsfolk of Blair with greater fervor than has been shown in many political candidates. It took Claridge two hours to shake hands with all the people who greeted him on his way from the station to the sheriff's office.

Claridge is at liberty under bond of $10,000,- which many leading citizens contested with each other for the privilege of signing. Among them is John Aye, mayor of Blair, and one of the largest seed dealers in middle west. Honus Grim, a wealthy farmer, insisted that he be given the privilege of signing at the top of the list.

"If I'm not at the court house when Fred appears to give bond," Grim told Mayor Aye, "you save the first line for me. You can all sign that want to, but remember that I head the list."

While conducting a hospital in Serbia for the American Friends' Service Committee, Dr. Antionette Russel, of Philadelphia, treated as many as 1,200 patients a month.

RED SNOW APPEARS

Attracts Attention in Sections of National Park.

Red snow, which made its appearances in many sections of the Rocky Mountain National Park this summer, has attracted wide attention from the thousands of tourists who have visited this national playground.

The red snow is seen to the best advantage during the motor drive over the new Fall River Road which crosses the Continental Divide reaching an elevation of over 11,700 feet above the sea level. Many are the explanations offered by the tourists, and those who have seen the snow at about twilight stoutly maintain its pinkish color due merely to the reflection of the setting sun.

Knowledge of the real cause adds interest to this curious phenomenon. The great masses of color which appear in the large snow field in the higher elevations result from countless millions of tiny organisms, which have the power of movement growth and reproduction— a microscopic plant. Protococcus nivalis. Like many other low forms of life, this one has characteristics of both the animal and vegetable kingdoms, and belongs, strictly speaking to neither.

A close inspection discloses that the color is concentrated in the hollows of the furrowed surface. A slight scraping will produce in some places streaks of almost blood red. On the tongue its flavor suggests watermelon. A handful of the snow taken up and allowed to melt away, will leave a powdered red stain.

Essentially an Artic species. Protococcus nivialis has introduced itself into the United States with in the last decade. It is now found in Glacier and Mount Rainier National Parks. So far as known, it has been reported in other sections of Colorado. It is somewhat of a mystery how the spore is carried over such great distances. Possibly it is borne on the Chinook Winds.

TAR, FEATHERS ONCE LEGAL PUNISHMENT

Tarring and feathering has been in use for many centuries as a form of reprisal. A medieval fabliau describes how a virtous matron to rid herself of the importunities of three lads of the village, made appointments with all three, and then contrived that they should be tarred and thrown into a mass of feathers, whence they were chased by dogs and had to run through the village with half the population after them.

In England tarring and feathering was made a legal form of penalty by Richard I, who, before setting out on the third Crusade, ordained that "a robber who shall be convicted of theft shall have his head cropped and boiling pitch shall be poured theron and the feathers of a pillow shall be shaken out on him, so that he may be known, and at the first land at which the ship shall touch he shall be set on shore.

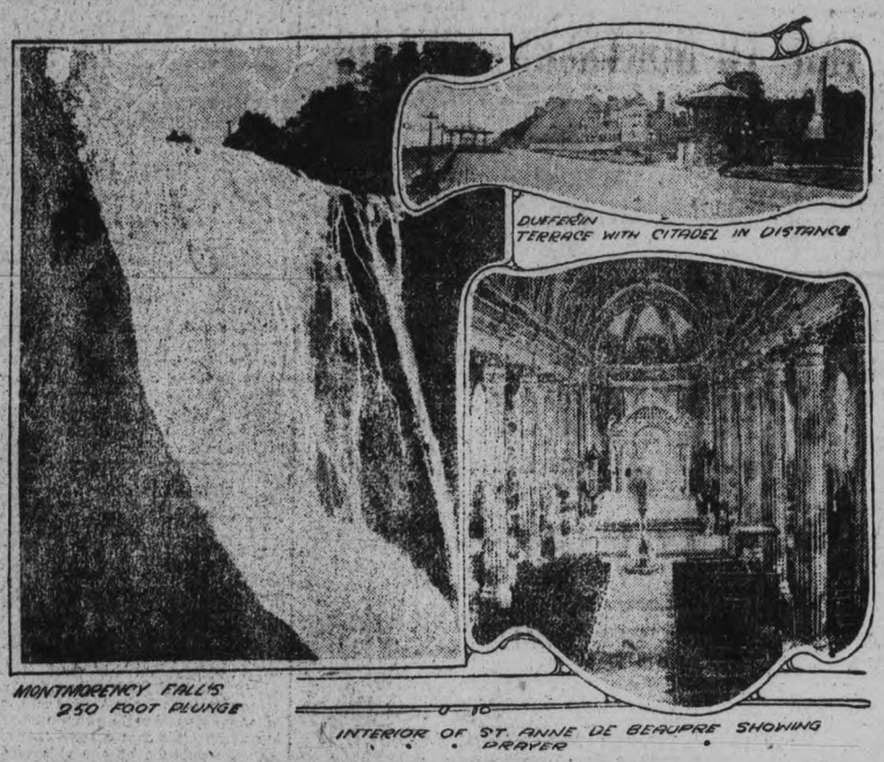
Quaint Quebec is Treasure Trove for Vacationists



Only two commonwealths of North America preserve the customs — legal and domestic—of their French discovgrers. They are the state of Louisiana and the province of Quebec. Much of the charm of the February Mardigras is due to the quaint atmosphere of New Orleans' old French quarter.

Quebec has her winter carnival, too. It lasts two long, glistening months, and winter sports are the order of the day, yes, and the night too. But the northern stronghold of old France is also a summer magnet. Thousands of city folks are swallowed up by the northern woods each summer, emerging brown and radiant when Autumn calls them home.

Other thousands, whose vacation tastes lean citywards, find a visit to Montreal and Quebec City a happy experience. Montreal has its old French quarter, its centuries-old churches and landmarks, but is more modernized than Quebec, where reminiscences of early days are met on every corner.

Every church, and they are legion, has an interesting history. Priests, monks and nuns are always passing. The Citadel, high over all, is a constant reminder of the struggles of Indians, French and English to hold the hills on which Quebec so proudly sits. The Lower Town, a maze of narrow streets and tiny houses, is as interesting as any foreign town.

Chateau Frontenac, a glorified reproduction of Chateau St. Louis which housed brave knights and fair ladies of long ago, shelters an ever-changing smart set gathered from the ends of the earth. You may meet anyone from anywhere on the famous promenade, Dufferin Terrace, which overhangs Lower Town and the wide St. Lawrence. Kent House, once the home of royalty, claims its quota of afternoon tea drinkers. They motor down the seven miles from the Chateau and visit the little house which in 1759 was Wolfe's headquarters and they are spellbound by the waters of Montmorency Falls in their 250 foot plunge. While not so gigantic as Niagara, Montmorency is 100 feet higher. Much of the fascination of Montmorency Falls is due to their isolation and freedom from the throngs that make Niagara almost a Coney Island.

Another not-to-be-missed nearby point of interest is the village of Ste. Anne de Beaupre with its great church famed for miraculous cures and to which vast pilgrimages wend their way each summer.

At Quebec you take the electric car which takes you to Ste. Anne de Beaupre. The journey takes less than an hour. The shrine is built at the foot of a hill in a very picturesque setting. Thousands are reported to have been cured there through the influence of Blessed Ste. Anne. Proof of the cures is to be found in hundreds of crutches, boots that the deformed had worn, belts, and all the different belongings of the sick and suffering. All these relics are placed just inside the door of the shrine.

The village of Beaupre is a few miles from the shrine, and it is an interesting place to visit. There is a feeling of peace and security in the place. A long white road stretches into the distance with happy nests of houses on either side. Here you see the real old habitant life in all its purity. A writer has described Beaupre as "A small peep into paradise, and a glow to the soul."

AN OPEN LETTER

To Every Property Owner and Every Tax Payer

To Every Man and Woman in Peterborough:

You are, of course, acquainted with the facts regarding the establishing of a factory to make BIRMINGHAM MOTORS in Peterborough.

While we have been accorded a great deal of encouragement there is lacking considerable interest on the part of property owners and tax payers. It has been brought to our attention that many have remarked they could "not do much" towards furthering this project.

To such we want to say that each and every one doing what they can, even to the extent of subscribing for ONE SHARE, will have the desired effect and be conducive of his neighbor doing the same.

THERE ARE UPWARDS OF FIVE THOUSAND WORKERS IN PETERBOROUGH, EIGHTY-FIVE PER CENT. OF WHOM OWN THEIR OWN HOMES.

If one-half this number subscribed on an average of $100.00 each an automobile factory making BIRMINGHAM CARS will be in operation in Peterborough in ninety days or less, employing, at the start at least, one hundred men, and within sixty days thereafter there will be between three hundred and four hundred employees on the pay rolls of BIRMINGHAM MOTORS working twelve months a year at the highest rate of wages.

We purpose organizing a Canadian Company to be managed by Canadians and controlled by the shareholders.

The establishing of an automobile factory in Peterborough should materially increase the population of your city as well as enhance real estate values and better conditions generally. This has been the experience wherever an automobile factory has been started.

Why Not Peterborough?

The Automobile Industry is the third largest industry in the world.

More than twenty billion dollars have been invested in building automobiles with less than one per cent. of failures.

No other industrial can show this remarkable condition.

The "BIRMINGHAM" has revolutionized automobile construction. We have produced a car to sell at a popular price that far excells the highest priced imported or American car and has everything that is desirable in an automobile.

It is the easiest riding car in the world, regardless of price. A car that will practically double the speed of all other cars over rough roads with greater comfort in riding, and we are willing to back this statement under a cash forfeiture offer.

The "BIRMINGHAM" can be operated for from forty to fifty per cent. less cost for up-keep than any other car. What in your opinion should be the future success of such a car?

Peterborough offers every advantage for manufacturing automobiles. It is centrally located with railroad and water facilities to supply Canada in every direction, has good reasonable light and power and offers admirable labor facilities.

As it is impossible to reach every one personally we are asking each one interested to cut out the coupon printed below, sign it at once expressing your interest in bringing BIRMINGHAM MOTORS to Peterborough, or better still, call personally on us and let us explain the opportunity more fully to you.

It is up to each and every one of you whether BIRMINGHAM MOTORS comes to Peterborough or goes to some other Canadian city.

This is the last opportunity we will offer Peterborough, and unless immediate action is taken we will abandon the idea of locating in Peterborough.

Investigate NOW.

Outside of the direct results to be derived from establishing BIRMINGHAM MOTORS here the investment in BIRMINGHAM MOTORS offers greater profits than any other known industrial investment.

WHAT THESE COMPANIES HAVE DONE BIRMINGHAM MOTORS SHOULD BETTER—AND THERE IS EVERY REASON IN THE WORLD TO EXPECT THIS

Probably no industry has equalled the profits of the Automobile Industry and certainly no industry has had such a small percentage of failures. Following are given the profits that some of the companies have made for their shareholders. These profits are large enough to suit anybody, yet none of these companies had a car that could compare with the "BIRMINGHAM" in features that make a car easy to sell to the automobile buying public. You will notice this list does not include some of the largest selling cars. What should BIRMINGHAM MOTORS pay?

DODGE BROS. BUY SANDWICH LAND

Intend Erecting Big Assembling Plant in Border Town.

WINDSOR, Aug. 31.—Thirty-five acres of land in the town of Sandwich, with 350 feet river frontage, has been acquired by Dodge Bros., Detroit, auto manufacturers, who intend to erect an assembling plant in the county town to care for its Canadian and British export trade.

For some weeks rumors have been in circulation that the Dodge Company planned such an extension, but no confirmation of the report could be had until today. The property was purchased from the Gauthier heirs in Sandwich, and was sold for $287,000 cash.

The announcement is expected to exercise an almost immediate effect upon realty values in Sandwich, where property is already held at a high figure on account of the expectation that work on the Detroit River Bridge will be begun within a few months.

TRIP TO NORTHERN ONTARIO

(By ESTELLE CUFF)

It is, perhaps, only too true and equally regrettable that the average Southern Ontario citizen, though vaguely aware of the illimitable wealth of Northern Ontario, has no concrete idea of its magnitude in both extent and resources, nor of its marked development which is decidedly remarkable in so young a country. . . . . .

During the past week about two hundred teachers of Ontario had the privilege of travelling through a part of the North, and although only a very small portion of it was seen, it is fairly safe to say that a surprise awaited the majority of the party. True, we have all learned of the great clay belt, of the immense spruce forests and the rich mineral deposits, but how very inadequate our idea proved when we faced the reality. That Northern Ontario contained endless acres of rich agricultural land, that it at present boasted the biggest pulp mill, nickel mine and gold mine in the world, that its natural scenery was beautiful beyond words—this became a real fact when we actually beheld these wonders of our own Province.

Of course, we knew that Sudbury was noted for its nickel deposits, but when we got nine hundred feet below the ground and saw the wonderful mechanism of the place and realized that 125,000 tons of ore per month was taken from those depths and that the vein is as yet unknown in size, then we somewhat realized what a bounty Providence had placed in our Province in this one spot alone. In a visit to a tiny place called Conniston, near Sudbury, we found a huge smelting plant, modern in every respect. Some idea of the magnitude of this plant can be grasped from the knowledge that it is worth one million dollars and has ten miles of railroad in its own yards.

The Hollinger gold mine at Timmins and the silver mine at Cobalt were no less miraculous to our awakened minds. We were told that about 100,000 tons of gold ore were mined each month at the former place. Up to the present a small area of four square miles has produced silver to the value of one hundred and seventy million dollars. The size and the modern equipment of these mines could not but greatly impress one who had heretofore received his impressions from books only.

At Iroquois Falls is located the biggest pulp and paper mill in the world. One hundred thousand cords of wood are so far set aside for the winter's supply and ours was the educative pleasure of seeing the process by which the logs are cut, barked, grounded, treated, rolled and dried, and a finished product, newsprint paper, produced and exported daily in quantities of five hundred tons, or about twenty car loads. The town itself, situated on the Abitibi River, is a real beauty spot, Nature's perfect handiwork having been supplemented, or rather made more practical, by the art of a landscape gardener. Many of the surrounding hills have been fire-swept, and are now crowned with the lavender fire-weed, out of which stalk tall white poplars. This sight would arrest the attention of even the most casually observant.

This whole Northland is replete with beauty fresh from the hand of Nature. From the Soo north to Hearst the traveller is greeted with a profusion of small lakes and rivers, bold rocks and green hills and fertile valleys. The beauty and wonder of the Agawa Canyon, which is miles in length and through which the railroad runs, will not soon be forgotten by any of the party, even though it were viewed in the chill of 4.30 a.m.

From an agricultural standpoint, Northern Ontario still has its wonders to unfold. But a fraction of the thousands of acres of fertile land have been homesteaded, but the rapid development is amazing. During the last twenty-five years it is such that one can now drive by motor fifty miles north of New Liskeard, continuously through land under cultivation. The Ontario Government Farm near here has produced results which can take their stand with those achieved in the best farming lands of Old Ontario.

All through the journey one was continually impressed by the people of this new country. An ever-recurring optimism and enterprise seemed to permeate the whole population. Everywhere we were met by happy and contented citizens, alike in the loneliest homestead or remote lumber camp and in the busiest towns. And what real hospitality, and what pride in that which they have found and called home! We've all heard of Highland hospitality and many other regions of hospitality, but our party, I feel sure, will be one in the assertion that none could excel that of the people of Northern Ontario. The citizens of even the smallest place spared neither effort nor expense to give the teachers a time in "their" town that they'd remember. And right royally they succeeded.

As evinced by thriving Boards of Trade and by marked community spirit and civic loyalty, these people are intensely proud of their land and intend to boost it. They asked us as teachers to do what was in our power to enlighten Old Ontario, but, as one of the party remarked, "It is not necessary to ask us to boost the North. We just have to as a natural result of a week spent there."

No section of Canada holds a brighter future than does Northern Ontario with its potentiol resources and immense possibilities, both present and future, supplemented by an intelligent, whole-hearted and courageous citizenry. And this fact is, perhaps, least known in Southern Ontario where it should be the pride of every loyal citizen of this great Province of ours—the banner Province of our vast Dominion of Canada. ESTELLE CUFFE.

GOOD HEALTH CAN BE YOURS

IF YOUR BLOOD SUPPLY IS KEPT RICH AND RED.

It is a waste of time and money to fight merely the signs of disease; in the long run you are probably worse off than when you started. What is far more important is that you should intelligently examine the various symptoms and trace the cause. When you remove the cause, health will be yours. For example, anaemic people often endure months of suffering while treating its sypmtoms, such as indigestion, shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart and exhaustion after any small effort.

The apparent stomach and heart troubles are generally nothing more than the result of an insufficient supply of pure blood. This anaemic state may have followed some previous illness, or an attack of influenza; or it may have arisen from overwork, worry or too little fresh air. To obtain good health the simple and proper course is to build up the blood, but to do this you must select a reliable remedy with a reputation such as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills enrich the blood which carries nourishment to all the organs of the body and enables them to do the work nature expects of them. Thousands of men and women have proved this for themselves. One of these is Mrs. T. Flynn, R.R. No. 1, Erinsville, Ont., who says: "Last spring I got into a badly run down condition. I had no energy; work left me exhausted, and the least exertion would make my heart palpitate violently. I had often read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and decided to give them a trial and got a half dozen boxes. I had not been taking the pills long when I felt a decided improvement in my condition and by the time I had used the six boxes I could do my housework with ease. I can strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all weak people."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail postpaid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MOTHER CAT ADOPTS 4 ORPHAN BUNNIES

Stranger Still, Fox Terrier Mothers Bereft Kittens.

MARYSVILLE, Calif., Sept. 2.—At the Yuba County Hospital a mother cat has adopted four baby bunnies and placed them on a diet along with her three kittens. The mixed family is doing nicely. Supervisor Harry Hyde says the cause is unusually strange, because cats generally consider young rabbits a delicacy.

The mother rabbit gave birth to the bunnies and then died. At about the same time the cat had a visit from the stork and showed her benevolent spirit by adopting the little orphans.

SHERIDAN, Ore., Sept. 2.—A classic antipathy has been settled; the age-old wrong of cat and dog is been redressed!

Such writing is not the product of prophecy, but a statement verified by the actual experience of S. W. Fletcher, who lives one mile east of here. Fletcher owns four kittens and a 14-months-old fox terrier dog. The latter has been mothering the four orphan kittens and doing it in approved cat style!

Last spring a tabby cat which Fletcher owned gave birth to four kittens. The mother died. Here a quandary arose. How were the four kittens to survive?

At this juncture the puppy came to the rescue. Forgetting the historic animosity of canine and feline, she adopted the kittens as her own offspring.

KNIGHTHOOD FOR CHAPLIN PREDICTED ON BROADWAY.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2. — Charles Chaplin, who sails for his home in England next Saturday, will return Sir Charlie, say the Broadway wiseacres. The comedian is reluctant to discuss the possibility of knighthood. He won't even speculate on the chance of the King crowning him with a custard pie instead of touching his comic bean with a sword in the traditional manner.

He plans to rest a month in England to recover from a recent attack of influenza, and then to visit Paris and Madrid.

"Not a bit of truth in it," he said, when asked if he was contemplating another try at matrimony. "The last thing they warned me against when I left Hollywood was getting married while I was away. I won't."

If Chaplin is knighted, he will be the first movie actor to be so honoured.

SEARCHED LAKE ALL NIGHT FOR CANOEISTS WHO SLEPT SOUNDLY IN BOATHOUSE HAVEN

SUMMER COLONY AT RICE LAKE ENTERTAINING WORST FEARS OF MAN AND WIFE'S ABSENCE DISCOVERED THEM UNCONCERNEDLY FISHING THE NEXT MORNING.

While fishing at Rice Lake recently a man and his wife were caught by a fresh wind that blew up toward evening and carried them down the lake. The waves rolled up menacingly behind them, forbidding any attempt at turning shoreward. They took the wise course of holding their canoe straight with the wind and finally beached it on Tick Island out in front of Harwood. For them paddling across the lake to their cottage was out of the question so they decided to remain where they were safe and dry for the night. A boathouse afforded them protection and they were well housed.

This incident, which happened a few nights ago, caused the utmost anxiety among the cottagers and campers on the north shore. The whole colony remained up all night. Searchers braved the waves hunting for some signs of the couple. Fears that an upturned canoe might be found were uppermost in the minds of the party and the missing couple were practically given up as lost. No reassuring light appeared anywhere as a sign that all was well, an the lake was bare when dawn came up. Not long afterwards the man and his wife put out from their harbor and instead of paddling across to the camp, they set out to fish up the lake before turning northward. Finally when they were approached by the heavy-eyed cottagers who had spent a weary and apprehensive vigil they said that they didn't think their friends and neighbors would be worried about their absence. Apparently it seemed to them a case of much ado about nothing, but one of the midnight searchers came to the conclusion that if the missing pair should show so much unconcern it was very much a matter of wasted emotions on the part of those who had worked in the dark nearly all night, anxious to give assistance and dreading the worst possibility of a double drowning to darken the pleasures of the summer colony at the Point.

Worked the Other Way.

A general storekeeper in an Indiana town, whose name was synonymous with all that is popular in the game of checkers, received a box of cigars from an enthusiastic drummer from Chicago during the course of the merchant's last battle with an ex-champion from Missouri.

"With those cigars," said the donor, "you can beat the world."

"Well," said the storekeeper, quietly and significantly, "I have to play Jones this afternoon."

"Never mind, old man; with those cigars you will play all night."

Later in the day they met again, and the storekeeper informed the drummer that he had won a game from Jones that afternoon.

"Fine! Those cigars were a help."

"I hardly thing so," said the storekeeper.

"Didn't you smoke them?"

"Me smoke them?" cried the storekeeper. "No! I don't smoke. But I gave one to Jones."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Five persons perished, probably victims of a firebug, when oil-fed flames swept through a First Avenue tenament building early to-day. Two others were severely injured, and mothers of eight families narrowly escaped with their lives.

SAYS DWELLERS IN CITIES AND TOWNS PENALIZED

Current Legislation Discriminating and Unjust to Urban Centres.

Advanced suggestions as to necessary perfection of municipal law in justice to the municipalities were offered by City Solicitor W. B. Doherty of St. Thomas at a recent session of the Ontario Municipal Association in twenty-third yearly convention.

Directing attention to the tendency in late years to passage of legislation imposing additional burdens on municipal taxpayers, especially in cities and towns, Mr. Doherty said:

Penalized Without Notice.

"The municipalities generally have neither notice nor knowledge of the proposed legislation and their representatives often do not hear of it until the new statutes are distributed when they find they are compelled to increase their tax rates. Illustratively, the Mothers' Allowance Act may be mentioned, under which municipalities are required to provide one-half of allowance granted by a board over which neither council nor municipality has any control; the two-platoon system and one day off in seven for members of fire departments; the imposition upon cities of a percentage of the maintenance cost of country roads within what is known as a 'suburban area'; and the further imposition upon cities of a percentage of the upkeep cost of provincial highways for miles outside urban limits.

How Cities Suffer.

"The cities have been spending tens of thousands annually in building permanent highways and paving main travel arteries through their limits, and have received no financial aid, either from Government or contiguous municipalities.

They are compelled to contribute to outside roads but are deprived of moneys that rightfully should remain in civic treasuries instead of being transmitted to the Provincial Treasurer, i.e., police court fines for what are termed "indictable offences and must keep police and magistrates to enforce the law; the Government contributing nothing thereto.

The convention discussed Ontario highway laws, with special reference to suburban areas, then dividing into sections for more rapid clearance of the agenda. The urban section dealt exhaustively with the two-platoon fire department system, objection being virtually unanimous, not to the two-platoon system so much as to compulsory allowance of one day in seven to firemen. The section continues in discussion of the disposition of police court fines and the obligation upon cities to pay in part counties' shares of high school costs. Simultaneously the rural section is debating the dog tax law and the creation of municipal officers as issuers of marriage licenses.

THE SEMI-READY SPECIAL ORDERS DROP IN PRICE

HIGH-CLASS TAILORING HOUSE MAKE FURTHER REDUCTION IN NEW FALL SUITS AND OVERCOATS.

Fall Suitings and Overcoatings shown in the Semi-ready tailoring line are naturally of interest in the sartorial world. They constitute the World of Fashion in Canada, and are looked up to as the arbiters of style in the tailoring trade.

This season many new patterns are shown, and patrons will be pleased to find that the reductions have been substantial and drastic. This is emphasized more particularly in the finer woollens — English worsteds, plain serges and cheviot cloths.

"The day of the hundred dollar suit has gone," said the President of the Semi-ready Company in a recent announcement to the merchants.

"Rigid economy must be practiced in every trade and industry, and such economy must begin in high places. The success of the farmers as a class in our political fabric can be attributed to the fact that everybody knows that the farmer is thrifty, industrious and economical—and he wastes little in his own life, and that he may grow to understand and conduct the larger practical undertakings of government which have long been confided by the electorate to the professional man with the university career," was a further comment.

Semi-ready clothes are made to custom measure as well as being carried in stock. The "Special Order" department in the Semi-ready shops is a large factor in the company's service. Suits and overcoats are made to order on a four-day schedule. Measurements are taken on a scientific chart, and the cutter has before him a photo-type of the customer.

Harry Thornton says that the new fall patterns are superior in quality and value to anything he has seen since 1914. He sells Semi-ready Tailored Clothes exclusively in this city.

SCORE INJURED IN TRAIN WRECK

EASTBOUND FROM CHICAGO ON PENNSYLVANIA LEAVES RAILS.

(United Press).

COSSOCTON, Ohio, Sept. 3. — More than a score of persons were reported injured, some seriously, when Pennsylvania railway passenger train No. 34, eastbound from Chicago, was wrecked near here early to-day.

The injured were brought to a hospital here. None will die, it was reported.

GIRL BLINDED BY PEPPER THROWN BY PLAYMATE

MIDDLEVILLE, Mich., Sept.3—Nellie Rosenburg, 14 years old, is believed to be blinded for life from the effects of cayenne pepper thrown into her eyes by Clare Corson, 14 years old. Corson with some companions had been "doctoring" melons with the pepper and threw some at a party of girl playmates to make them sneeze.

"THE PICTURES."

Immense numbers of people in this country spend their leisure and their money in looking at "the pictures"; and on the whole their judgment is not very discriminating. If it were, how could they tolerate the type of film which presents to them a number of persons of a decidedly Dago cast of countenance doing improbable things in scenery, which, whether real or realistic, is purely foreign or cosmopolitan? We are afraid that the best English producers will always have ground for complaint until the standard of public taste and knowledge of the world has greatly improved, and until the Dago type of masculine good looks and feminine beauty is put into its proper anthropological place.—London Times.

RECEDING TIDES REVEAL 5-FOOT VEIN OF GOLD

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Sept. 3—Receding tides in the Gulf of Alaska on Turnagain Arm have revealed a five-foot vein of gold quartz assaying about $100 to the ton, according to reports received here today. Rocks projecting above the sea were said to have disclosed several other rich veins. These discoveries supplement recent strikes of highly valuable quartz near Anchorage.

U. S. BUSINESS GAINS SLOWLY.

Indications of a Broad Recovery Still Lacking, Says Federal Reserve Board

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.— Indications of a broad general business recovery throughout the country are still lacking, according to the review of financial and economic conditions during August, issued by the Federal Reserve Board.

"Slight improvement," the board said, "in some branches of foreign trade, fairly good agricultural yields and enlargement of manufacturing demands seem to point to a more favorable autumn season, but the situation is not such as to forecast any extensive or immediate revival of business in a large sense."

Heavy movements of agricultural products to market, hastened by a revival of a fair export demand, the board declared was the outstanding economic activity of the month. Deterioration of some crops, it added, notably cotton, had modified the agricultural outlook, but cost readjustments in many agricultural lines was approaching a point where it was possible that some crops would show good returns.

Early crop movement, the board continued, with resulting liquidation of outstanding indebtedness had lessened the intensity of the credit demands usual during the marketing season.

Taking up the employment problem, which President Harding has called a national conference to solve, the board asserted that "large figures for unemployment have been transmitted to Congress, but it should be remembered that these figures are based on comparisons with peak periods of employment in 1920. There are indications of increasing employment in various manufacturing industries but, taken as a whole, the employment situation for the month of August appears to show but little change from the preceding month."

Miss Paddy Purke, aged 26 years, of Manchester, Eng., won enough money playing the stock market to achieve her supreme ambition—that of owning and directing her own motion picture company.

SEA PUZZLE TOLD.

German Ship Architect Accused of Murder of Boat Crew.

LONDON, Sept. 3.— A mystery for sea sleuths to unravel was disclosed when Sir Chartres Biron, London's chief magistrate, declined to grant a request of the German embassy for extradition of Kurt Jaeckel, German naval architect, on the charge of murdering Andrisen and Semmelbach —the former captain and owner, the latter a seaman of the fishing smack Anne out of Hamburg—while at sea.

The embassy contended that Jaeckel shipped as a passenger on the Anne at Hamburg and that out of sight of land he murdered and robbed the captain and the seaman, threw their bodies into the sea and then continued on alone to Hull for the purpose of selling the vessel. Jaeckel had shown what purported to be a contract by which Andrisen had sold him the ship, but the embassy insisted that the signature of Andrisen was a forgery.

Jaeckel informed the court that as a naval architect he was working on plans for a new type of fishing vessel, which was to be operated by one man. With this in view he engaged passage on the Anne to make experiments. Outside Hamburg he found the ship handled so nicely that he determined to buy her on the spot. The owner accepted 100,000 marks and he and Semmelbach put back to Hamburg in a passing motorboat with a view to both going to America. Then he continued alone for five days and nights to the Humber river and tied up at Hull.

The magistrate declined to grant extradition on the ground that the embassy had failed to establish a corpus delicit; could not produce the bodies of the two men, or in default of that, could produce no witness to the "murder."

He did, however, commit Jaeckel for extradition on a charge of robbery with violence.

NEGROES PROTEST.

Paris Meet Seeks To End Lynchings In U. S. and Slavery.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Largely under the guidance of Dr. Burghardt du Bois, an American negro, the pan-African congress which is holding a meeting here preliminary to the main meeting at Brussels next week is attracting much notice here.

Before the first meeting of the congress Dr. Du Bois and several colleagues had an informal conference with Sir Sidney Oliver, and a committee of the anti-slavery society. The result was that promulgation of a decision that the congress feels that the continued exploitation of the African people and lands must be discontinued; second, that the enforced labor of African laborers which is a disguised form of slavery must be discontinued, and third, that the conscription of African natives for European armies must be discontinued. To the last clause Dr. Du Bois took exception on the ground that conscription by France of African blacks on the same basis as white constitutes a recognition of the equality of the two races.

The American negro members of the congress are trying to rouse world - wide resentment against American lynchings. But a mass of misinformation is being spread on the subject as, for example, the statement by one "Mr. White, an American white man," who told of the horrible death by slow burning of a negro who had shot white men in "Memphis, Texas." Needless to say "Mr. White" added that police of "Memphis, Texas," did nothing to arrest the horrible affair.

The Only Asphalt Shingle That Is Tapered

Winthrop Tapered Shingles are the only tapered asphalt shingles manufactured. They have three outstanding features that make them a perfect roofing:

1—They are the big butt shingles—the only asphalt shingle that gives a shadow line, which so improves the appearance of a roof—something architects have long wanted in Asphalt Shingles.

2—They are scientifically constructed. They are tapered. Being thicker at one end than the other, the butt of the shingle over-lapping lies flat on the upper part of the shingle in the row below. No rain or snow can accumulate underneath—wind cannot get under them and blow them off.

3—Being tapered extra thickness and weight are distributed where extra thickness and weight are needed—in the part exposed to the weather.

We have obtained a special license to manufacture these shingles under the brand

Brantford
Winthrop Tapered Asphalt Slates

Quality of materials and production methods are of the usual high Brantford Roofing standard.

Brantford Winthrop Tapered Asphalt Slates are made from carefully selected Felt saturated and coated with a special blend of asphalts. Real quarried, crushed slate, in its natural colors (red or green or blue black) is embedded into and encrusted on them while the asphalt is hot. They are unaffected by climate. The colors are permanent, and never need staining. They are highly fire-resistant and they are tapered.

Distributed under Brantford Roofing trade marks, through Brantford Roofing Dealers. Stock carried, information furnished, service rendered by our dealer in your district.

WEST VIRGINIA MINE WAR NEAR TO END TO-DAY

MINERS' LEADERS APPEAL TO THEIR MEN TO DISPERSE WHEN 2,100 FEDERAL TROOPS ARRIVE.

MARTIAL LAW MAY BE PROCLAIMED YET

(By United Press.)

With United States Troops in field, by Telephone to Charleston, Sept. 3. — Miners' leaders raced ahead of the Federal Troops advancing into the West Virginia war zone to-day, to tell their followers that "the war is over."

Both William Blizzard and Dick Toney, the president and secretary of the miners in this sub-district, were confident that the miners would lay down their arms and go hombe with the arrival of the regulars.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 3.—Federal troops ere on the battle front along the Logan County border to-day. Detachments from Camp Sherman, Ohio, and Fort Thomas, Ky., were at Blair and Clothier, on the other side of the ridge.

Radio communication has been established between the regular troops with the miners and those with the deputies.

Alarmed by a report that armed miners were gathering on the Kentucky side of the Tug Fork of the Big Sandy River, over 1000 citizens, and deputies, remained on guard in Mingo County throughout the night.

No further serious fighting was reported early to-day, although alarms throughout the night led to the belief that there had been firing in the vicinity of Mill Creek.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. — President Harding and Secretary of War Weeks to-day looked to the miners' forces in West Virginia to disperse in the face of federal troops and make it necessary to proclaim martial law in the fighting area.

With the arrival on the ground of the first detachments of the 2,100 troops rushed early yesterday, to West Virginia, Secretary Weeks was in his office early hoping to receive reports from Brig.-General H. H. Bandholtz ,that the miners were carrying out their announced purpose of disbanding and leaving the situation to the "regulars."

HAS SECURED OMEMEE

Mary Pickford and Charlie Chaplin will appear in Coronation Hall, Omemee, in Pollyanna, one of the greatest stories for which the amusement loving world has long awaited. Pollyanna is the high priestess of optimism. She is not merely the discoverer but the 33rd degree exploiter of the silver lining. The fairies who made sunshine from cucumbers were insignificant being to Pollyanna. She is full of action, sparkle and pathos and will help you to forget your sorrows big and small and turn them into gladness. Two cameras were used in filming Pollyanna and a trifle more than one hundred thousand feet of film were used, which were cut to eight thousand feet. During the making of this picture the county fair scenes more than four hundred people appeared at one time before the camera. Only a few of these were professional players. Most of them were country folks who had come to Independence in a response to an ad stating that the Pickford Co. would hold an open country fair. Her great hope has been to give the public a picture with a soul. A picture that will not entertain for the moment only, but will live in the hearts of the people always. This attraction comes here with special music. There is music and music, but take it from D. W. Griffith, master showman and wizard of films, that the simple tunes of yesterday are what the public take closest to its heart.

declared that the West thereby would be short in the next Parliament of the part of representation to which it was entitled. The Progressive leader said he recognized the importance of the tariff question, but he claimed that there were many other questions of great interest and importance to the people and that all of them would be vital factors in the campaign.

"FINANCIAL NUT" HIS ESTIMATE OF FRENCH.

Worthington, Alleged Mail and Bank Robber, Talks About Reputed Swindler.

CHICAGO, September 2. — Chas. W. French, alleged head of a $50,000,000 "swindle trust," to-day was characterised as a "financial nut who wouldn't know a good promissory note if he saw one," by John W. Worthington who has indicated that he may tell the Government what he knows of French's operations.

Worthington, alleged by Federal authorities to be the "master mind" of a band of mail and bank robbers whose operations they believed were related to those of French, yesterday asked permission to appear in Court when French is arraigned.

Worthington said he had handled $20,000 of notes for Z. W. Davis of Canton at French's request, but said he turned down a proposition to float a $20,000 loan for the American Rubber Comapny, one of French's concerns.

"French isn't a banker," Worthington asserted. "I don't think he can tell a good promissory note when he sees one. I don't know whether his transactions are good or bad, but if he has dabbled in things the way he is charged, he's no financier. He's a nut."

Worthington asserted that all his transactions had been regular and that if he had handled stolen bonds, he was not aware of it. "They've made a mountain of a mole hill," he said.

Davis is willing to tell of his business association with French, according to William Simpson of Canton, counsel for Davis, who came here today for a conference with Federal attorneys. Mr. Simpson said his client first transacted business with French in 1903 when he issued $750,000 in notes to the latter. Simpson said business relations were continued to recover the money, but a loss was sustained.

Helpful Hints

Turpentine and beeswax melted to the consistency of thin cream, makes a fine polish for leather upholstered furniture.

When ink is spilled on a carpet or rug, pour salt over it immediately, the salt will absorb it and almost entirely remove the stain.

To remove blood stains from linen easily and quickly put common baking soda in the water in which they are washed.

To remedy squeaking shoes and to render them waterproof and make them wear longer, stand the shoes in a tin plate containing just enough turpentine to touch the inner sole without reaching the upper leather. Let soak for a day, remove and dry for two days before wearing.

Men and boys that would save time in tying their shoe laces, try unlacing them without untying, down to as far as the hooks go, and slip them off. Now when you put them on, leave them still tied. Cross laces and slip over hooks till you get to the top, and note results.

Rub wool to wool and fresh paint will disappear, for instance, if you get a smooch of paint on your coat rub briskly with another part of coat.

After washing children's bearcloth coats or bonnets, iron or wrong side while very damp, and fur side will be as soft and fluffy as when new.

To remove wheel grease, rub the spot with lard or butter and wash, if not entirely removed, repeat.

To wash clothes, first rinse in warm water in which a little soap and Gillett's lye has been dissolved, shave the usual amount of soap and half cup of shaved paraffin wax, pour over this two quarts hot water, set on stove till all dissolved, place all white clothes in tub, pour over them dissolved soap and wax, and cover with very hot water, let stand twenty minutes, take out, rinse and hang out. Boiling is not required.

Piano or organ keys that have turned yellow, may be whitened by rubbing with a wet rag and dry soda.

To prevent flannel from shrinking, put it while new into clear cold water and let it remain for a week, changing water frequently, then wash in warm water, using a little soap. Flannel thus washed, never hardens or shrinks.

Ink spots on books may be removed by the use of a solution of oxalic acid. This treatment will not injure the print. To remove a grease spot from a silk blouse, try rubbing freely with magnesia on both sides. Leave this on for a day or two; then, if the spot has not disappeared, clean with benzine and sponge with alcohol. Chamois should be washed in tepid soapsuds. Use one or two changes of suds until the chamois is perfectly clean. Rinse in tepid water. Squeeze (do not wring) and hang in the sun. Snap it and pull it

ON PACKING A TRUNK

She
Now, let me see—Five pairs of shoes,
And, yes, this pair bronzelike of tinting,
My camera, for pretty views;
Four dozen pairs of hose—that's stinting.

He:
Say, Maud, I think I'd like to take
My old duck trousers, if they're clean,
For tennis, paddling in the lake,
And maybe——

She
Yes, my crepe de chine,
My dotted Swiss, my organdie,
Four dotted ginghams—maybe five—
Those georgette blouses Let me see—
I rather think I can contrive——

He:
Say, Maud, I wonder if you mind
If I should take those old white ducks?
Do you suppose that you could find
A little bit of room——

She
The tucks
In that blue waist are apt to crease,
My underthings have all been packed
Except those bloomers of cerise;
Their upper hem must first be backed.

He:
Say, Maud, those ducks might fill a chink;
I need to take an extra pair.

She
What is it dear? I hardly think
That we shall have the room to spare.
Now, if you'll see if it will close—
Wait! wait! Where is my other hat?
What will you take, dear? I suppose——

He:
My toothbrush. Let it go at that.

An Achievement in the Tire Industry

When you pay $20.00 for a 30 x 3½ Firestone Fabric Tire or $58.75 for a 33 x 4 Firestone Cord you are buying more miles than your dollar ever bought before.

For twenty years the name Firestone has always stood for leadership. The ability to offer a tire that gives such high mileage at the present low price is an indication of what Firestone leadership means. It is an achievement in the tire industry.

The Firestone Tire of yesterday justified its reputation of giving most miles per dollar. The same is true of to-day's Firestone to an even greater degree.

THE WEBB-WORTH NUPTIALS

A lovely wedding took place at one o'clock this afternoon, at All Saints' Church, when Emma Lovisa, youngest daughter of Mrs. D. Worth, 465 Weller street, was united in marriage to Leon Bennett Webb, youngest son of Rev. J. R. Webb, pastor of Murray street Baptist church. Rev. R. B. Grobb performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. J. R. Webb.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with asters and streamers of chiffon in mauve and white, tall standards and arches making a beautiful background for the lovely wedding party

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her brother, Mr. J. W. Worth, was charming in ivory charmeuse satin, with garniture of real lace. Her full court train was lined with mauve georgette, embroidered with a lover's knot of pearls and orange blossoms. Her veil of fine net and lace was caught with pearls and orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of roses, orchids and lilies of the valley, with long streamers of mauve and white.

The maid of honour, Miss Edith Worth, wore mauve canton crepe, with a large black hat and silver shoes, carrying ophelia roses. Miss Doris Pilling, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Alice McFarlane, of Clifton Springs, acted as bridesmaids, the former in green charmante crepe and the latter in rose taffeta with touches of old blue, both wearing black hats with lace streamers and silver shoes, and carrying large bouquets of asters. The Misses Blanche and Evelyn Worth, small nieces of the bride, were dainty train-bearers, in pink petalled frocks, with hats to match and bouquets of sweet peas, and Dorothy Worth, another niece, was the cunning little pale-blue clad flower girl, with overflowing basket of pink sweet peas. Mr. Herbert Webb supported the groom. Ushers were Messrs. Walter G. Worth, Harold Pilling, William Harper, of Toronto, and Leo Soloway of Montreal.

Mr. J. H. Renwick played the wedding march and soft music throughout the entire ceremony, accompanying the singing of a sweet vocal solo, "Beloved, it is Morn," rendered during the signing of the register by Miss Florence Scott, gowned in white charmeuse, with a large black hat, and carrying a bouquet of ophelia roses.

After the ceremony, several photographs of the wedding party were taken at the bride's home, where a reception was held, Mrs. D. Worth receiving in black kitten's ear crepe, trimmed with white georgette, and cut steel beads, and large black hat with ostrich trimming; and Mrs. J. R. Webb, in black net ,with Chantilly lace, and hat to match . Beautiful arangements of asters decorated the house and the marquee on the lawn, where a buffet luncheon was dispensed.

Mr. and Mrs. Webb left on the 3:50 C.P.R. train en route for a boat trip to Quebec, the bride travelling in navy blue tricotine suit with a feathered hat and stone marten scarf. On their return they will reside at 524 Homewood avenue. Many costly and beautiful gifts testified to the popularity of the young couple.

Out of town guests included the following: Mrs. H. M. Haper, Miss Zetta Harper, and Messrs. Will and Alan Harper of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Clarke, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. D. Orr; Miss Lillian of Listowel; Miss Lillian Buckley, Mr. Howard Buckley, Niagara Falls, Ont.; Mrs. A. Walden, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hoyle, Woonsocket, R. I., the Misses Mabel and Frieda Waldon, Grimsby; Mr. and Mrs. N. Engblom, Buffalo, N. Y.

Fall Fashions

The predominating note in fall fashions, according to an authority, appears to be a variety, both in colors and styles, but there seems with this to be a tendency towards more sensible and practical models. In the realm of millinery, Paris says large hats will be worn, although small hats are very good and decidedly practical. Plushes, velours, felts, panne velvet and beaver will be much used, in fuchsia, nigger brown, taupe, henna, with black predominating. Steel trimming is very much the vogue, with ostrich and 'phinx' mounts, the latter paon mounts in silvered greys, used only on the more exclusive models.

Canton crepe, crepe de chine and crepe black satin will be much in evidence, also changeable taffetas, while twills will be good for street dresses, a new variety of twill called "Piquatine" being a favorite. Long straight lines are most popular, but panniers will be very much worn, also the uneven hem, the panels extending below the skirt length. Skirts will be a trifle longer and wider. The long sleeve and very wide sleeves showing the elongated armhole are in style. Evening gowns will be sleeveless and the high, "boatshape" neck outline is greatly in evidence. Galalith, sequins, embroidery, oriental jet fringe, braid and tassels will all be used as trimmings, and lace will be very good this year.

Coat dresses have lost none of their popularity, and the new "three-piece" spit, (whole dress and coat to match) will doubtless have quite a vogue, being both comfortable and convenient.

In suits, the long and short coats are being shown, although it is claimed that the longer coat will be mostly ,in vogue. Long, straight lines, box effects and coats with panels will all be in favor, and there is a great deal of heavily-embroidered chenille trimming used, and fur, in krimer, baby lamb, grey squirrel, opposum, kolinsky, gray lamb, mole, beaver and wolf. The fur "choker" collar and the "notch" shawl on both coats and suits are sensible features. All shades of brown will be much worn for fall, with duvet, moussyne, beaverine, duvet de laine, and duvetyne for the suits, valdyne, Normandy cloth, tweeds and friezes for the big coats.

In fur coats, Hudson seal, muskrat, coon and Persian lamb will be the standards. Mole, beaver, squirrel, wolf and fox will be popular for neckpieces. Seal coats will be 40 inches in lnegth, with 36 to 40 inches for muskrat, etc. "Crush" collars and cape collars are to be popular, and muffs will be used very little. One muff to every twenty stoles sold was recently given by a furrier authority as an average.

FOOL EITHER WAY.

An enterprising shop assistant was trying to persuade a farmer to buy a bicycle. The farmer was in town for the day, and had determined to see everything.

"I'd rather spend my money on a cow," said he, proudly.

"But think," said the assistant, "what a fool you'd look riding about on a cow."

"Not half such a fool as I'd look trying to milk a bicycle," answered the farmer.

W. E. RANEY PAID SPRACKLIN'S FINE.

But Was the Government Liable?

TORONTO, September 3. — The Ontario Government paid the cheque for $500.00, the judgment awarded O. E. Fleming, K.C., of Windsor, by the Courts for the illegal search of his pleasure yacht, near Detroit, by Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, at that time a license officer.

Mr. Fleming, when asked where the money came from, refused to say, but contented himself with: "I received the money, and the incident is closed."

Hon. W. E. Raney, Attorney-General of the Province, under whom the O.T.A. is being enforced, was questioned to-day. "The cheque went through about two or three weeks ago," said he.

"Did you consider the Government was liable?" was inquired.

A Test Case.

"Well, perhaps it was not a legal liability," said Mr. Raney, "but the man was in our employ, and it was his mistake. At any rate, there was a difference of opinion among the judges of the Appellate Division as to whether or not a motor boat was a vehicle within the meaning of the Act. Two said it was and three said it was not. The case on which the damages were assessed cleared up this point, and the Act was amended to cover the issue. In reality, it was a test case of a kind, and the Government thought they should bear the cost of the damages awarded to Mr. Fleming."

HIGH CHURCH ORGAN IN BRITAIN THINKS UNION IS A DANGER

Fears Anglicans in Canada Will Be Drawn In.

LONDON, Sept. 3. — (Canadian Press.)— Canadians may be interested in the British High Anglican view of the union of the churches movement as it is presented from Canada. "The Church Times," the English journal of the High church party, devotes a long editorial to the subject. It regards the future union of Presbyterians, Methodists, and Independents to constitute "the United Church of Canada" as a scheme to which the three communities are too deeply committed to darw back ,and it evidently rather fears that the efforts being made to bring in a fourth partner, the Anglican church, may be successful. "High Churchmen in Canada" it says "are few and weak; if necessary they can be eliminated or ignored. Interchange of pulpits is already going on, and we notice that the newly-elected Moderator of the Presbyterian Assembly preached the other day in St. Paul's, Toronto, by invitation of Dr. Cody, who had the refusal recently of the see of Melbourne. The event, it seems, had been well advertised before hand, and brisk journalists stated next morning that history was made last night. The Moderator preached what is called a simple and old-fashied sermon on sin and salvation, which is good to hear; but the usual argument for interchange of pulpits is rather that preachers, instead of concealing their denominational beliefs, should frankly explain them to the congregations of other bodies."

And then "The Church Times" proceeds to warn and advise those whom it believes to be in danger, saying:

Now, if Canadian churchmen merely regard themselves as members of one of the Protestant sects, only retaining certain features of antiquity, they had better cease from coy pour-parlers, at once negotiate openly with the Presbyterians, Methodists, Congregationalists and Baptists of their country, and bid farewell to Catholic Christendom. If they are bent on a superficial amalgmation with bodies of Christians who repudiate the essenials of Catholicism, they will, we warn them, find themselves isolated and alone. The popular view ,throughout the Anglo-Saxon world no doubt is, that a variety of Christian churches happen to differ on certain not very vital questions of the form of Church Government, on unimportant ceremonies and minor parts of doctrine. Why should they not agree to differ, waive these non-essential peculiarities, most of which have only an antiquarian significance, and unite as one church on the things that really matter? But is this the view of the situation taken by Canadian Churchmen themselves? Or are they prepared humbly but firmly to assert for the bishops of the Catholic Church, their own being an integral part of it, a Divine apostolicity and jurisdiction, for the Catholic Ministry an authoritative priesthood and "character," for the Catholic sacraments a convenanted validity, and for the Catholic inheritance of doctrine and worship a supernal guidance and grace? In such an awful claim there need be no hard or harsh denial of heavenly blessings on other ministrations —on those of the Quaker preacher any more than on those of the Wesleyan. Much of our disunion, and much erroneous belief and practice is inherited. Nevertheless, it is this claim alone which entitles the Church of England, or any of its daughter churches, to exist.

It is widely believed in Canada that the establishment of a triple alliance will force the bishops to make further concessions. The General Superintendent of Methodism stated recently that "everything must go into the crucible." He derided the "creedal habit." He came out flat-footedly against the Lambeth plea for episcopal ordination, Divine right of bishops must go into the dust bin with the divine right of kings.

It appears that a joint committee in Montreal has reported in favor of reciprocal "commission" being exchanged between Presbyterian ministers and Anglican bishops, priests and deacons. The Presbyterian ordination service (which does not always include a laying-on of hands) the latter, and for commissioning Presbyterians our form of ordination, with the omission of the words "Whosoever sins thou dost remit," etc., "the office and work of a priest." The Canadian Church is evidently heading towards trouble. Catholic-minded ecclesiastics and leading laymen there are rar nantes in gurgite vasto, but a monthly paper on sound church lines, called the Kingdom, has been started recently in Toronto ,and we hope it will be supported by English Catholics in its uphill battle. If it is so difficult to maintain apostolic principles at present, what would it be in a "united" church flooded by unconverted conformists ,a church offering sacraments apart from any sacramental conviction, and governed by bishops who repudiated the doctrinal basis of episcopaly?

CROP REPORT

Below will be found a brief synopsis of telegrapric reports received at the head office of the Bank of Montreal from its branches. The branch managers have complete and intimate knowledge of each local situation, and are in close touch with crop conditions in all sections of the districts mentioned:

Prairie Provinces.

Edmonton District—Ideal harvest weather. Practically all wheat and large percentage of oats and barley cut. What little wheat has been threshed shows excellent samples. Slight frosts in some districts, but no damage reported. Average crop now practically assured.

Calgary District—Conditions ideal the past week, and threshing reported commenced in few places. Red Deer reports 50 per cent. cutting done. High River and Calgary nearly all cut.

Lethbridge District—Harvesting in full swing in the south and practically completed in other districts where crops are light. Threshing general next week.

Regina District—Weather conditions good. Wheat cutting practically completed. Threshing started. Yield hardly up to expectation. Oats estimated 60 to 70 per cent. cut; yield good. Other grains satisfactory.

Saskatoon District—About 75 per cent. wheat cut. Threshing begins next week, and should be general by the 10th. Oats and other grains and hay will be satisfactory. Labour shortage reported.

Winnipeg District—Threshing in full swing; cutting not quite finished in the north. Grain being marketed early and rapidly.

Province of Quebec.

Harvesting of cereals is practically completed. Yield light in most districts. Root crops and grass pasture have greatly benefited from recent rains.

Province of Ontario.

Weather conditions on the whole have been good. Harvesting is practically completed, and farmers are now busy ploughing. Fall and spring wheat crops proved to be of poor quality and below average. Rye only fair. Straw short. Corn is a very heavy crop in excellent condition. European corn borer has made an appearance in one or two districts. Haying now finished. Light in localities, but on the whole about 75 per cent. usual crop. Root crops excellent, with exception of potatoes. Apple prospects for better yield improved. Peaches, pears, plums, light, but of good quality. Tobacco in good condition. Pasturage good, but more rain needed.

Maritime Provinces.

Cereals will be a light crop. Late oats have benefited through recent rains. The weather has been beneficial to the potato crop and roots, but reports indicate a light yield. Grass pasture in fairly good condition, but more rain is needed. Heavy apple windfalls are reported from some districts in Nova Scotia. Reports from Prince Edward Island indicate that recent weather has been very favourable, and all crops have improved. Potatoes are estimated to yield from 60 to 75 per cent. average crop.

Province of British Columbia.

Weather favourable to development of root crops, which are in good condition, but potato yield estimated only 75 to 80 per cent. of normal. Grain cutting completed in most districts, and threshing has commenced. Satisfactory yield on the average. Indications confirm previous satisfactory estimate of the Okanagan fruit yield. Early varieties moving. Late apples, pears, and stone fruits sizing well. Other districts report tree fruits below the average. Tomatoes good in quality. Pasturage improving.

POTATOES DROP TO $2.25 A BAG.

Farmers Delivering More Freely This Week—New Grapes Arriving.

Fruit dealers and grocers have recently stocked heavily with potatoes now offered at $2.25 a bag forcing farmers to peddle their early surplus from door to door. This is the report of several dealers who say they have bought enough for three weeks or a month's demand. When the price was around $3 a bag a short time ago some farmers decided to unload at once and take advantage of the favorable quotations. Potaoes sold now are said to be green and unfit for winter storage.

Tomatoes are selling at 50 and 60 cents a basket.

Grapes are beginning to come forward freely but they are rather dear at 70 cents a basket for blacks and 75 cents for reds. Damson and prune plums are quoted around $2 and $2.25 a basket. Pears are said to be a big crop; Bartletts are moving at $1.25 a basket and common varieties at $1.00.

"Dealer Influence"

National advertisers who use the Canadian daily newspapers intelligently do not worry about "dealer influence." New customers outshine the most gorgeous colors and obscure fine engraving.

An advertiser's vanity may be flattered once by the sight of his name and product in a national magazine, but never after he realizes that he has left the dealer alone to clear his crowded shelves.

In Canada all the magazines combined do not reach half as many readers as any single group of the larger dailies alone. The dealer, knowing this, says: "Influence my customers and you influence me. Reach them as I have learned to do through the daily newspapers."

Retailers read and believe in daily newspaper advertising. Linked with their local prestige, a national selling plan commands success, and reduces costs to the lowest decimal.

LARAMIE HOLDS THE RANGE

By Frank H. SPEARMAN.

To his relief, his lungs filled a little. Soon they were doing more. He found he could move. He turned to his side, and, beginning life over again, crawled on hands and knees to where his belt, revolver, and rifle hung suspended. He stood up, got out of the mackinaw, adjusted his belt and revolver, and with his rifle resting across his forearm looked around. He was battered and had a stinging ankle, but stood with legs and arms at least usable. Listening, he tiptoed as fast as he could to the narrow footpath leading into the canyon, and turning a corner of the rock wall hastened down to where the had picketed his horse. This trail was not exposed from above. But when he reached his horse and got stiffly into the saddle his problem was less simple.

To get out of the tremendous fissure in which he was trapped from above, Laramie had one trail to follow. This led for a hundred feet in an extremely sharp descent across the face of a nearly vertical canyon wall that flanked the recess where the horse had been left. This first hundred feet of his way down to the river, so steep that it was known as the Ladder, was all that caused Laramie any uneasiness; it was commanded every foot of the way from the abutment above.

Making all possible haste, Laramie headed his horse stealthily for the Ladder. He knew he had lost the most precious juncture of the dawn in lying paralyzed for some unexpected moments after his drop. It was a chance of war and he made no complaint. Indeed, as he reached the beginning of his trail and peered downward he realized that he needed daylight for the perilous ride. To take it slowly would be child's play for him, but would leave him an easy target from above. To ride it fast was to invite a header for his horse and himself; one misstep would send the horse bolting into space. How far it was to the river through this space Laramie felt little curiosity in figuring; but it could hardly have been less than two hundred and fifty feet.

There was no time for much thinking; the trail must be ridden and the sooner and faster the better. He struck his horse lightly. The horse jumped, but not very far ahead. Again Laramie used his heels and again the frightened beast sprung as little as he could ahead. A stinging lash was the only reward for his caution. If horses think, Laramie's horse must have imagined himself backed by a madman, and under the goading of his rider, the beast, quivering with fear, peered at the broken rocks below and sprang down among them. Concealment was no longer possible.

Like a man heading into a hailstorm, Laramie crouched to the horse, dropped the reins low on the beast's neck, and, he could a part of the animal itself. The trail was five to six feet wide, but the descent was almost headlong, and down it the horse, urged by his rider, sprang in dizzy leaps; where the footing was worst Laramie tried to ease his frantic plunges. Stricken with terror, the beast caught his breath in convulsive starts and breathed in grunting-snorts. Halting and bucking in jerking recoveries; leaping from foothold to foothold as if every jump were his last, and taking on a momentum far beyond his own or his rider's control, the frightened pony dashed recklessly ahead. It was as if a great weight, bounding on living springs, were heading to bolt at length against the sheer rock wall across the canyon.

Laramie Tells a Lie.

Kate, pacing McAlpin's rapid step breathlessly, hung on his half-muttered words: "He's bleedin' to death," continued McAlpin, "that's the short of it, and that blamed doctor down at Medicine Bend. I don't think much o' that man. Can't none of us stop it. Where's this goin' to end?"

He led her by roundabout passages, up one alley and down another, and at last opened the door of an old harness room, waited for Kate to follow him inside and, closing the door behind her, spoke: "I didn't want you to have to climb a barn ladder," he said, explaining. "There's the stairs." He pointed in the semi-darkness and led her toward the flight along the opposite wall. At the top of this flight light fell from a square opening in the hay mow.

"Walk up them stairs—I lifted the trap door f'r ye. He's right up there at the head of the steps. When y' come down, open this door at the foot, here. It's a blind door; don't show on the other side. See, it's bolted. It takes you right into the office. We keep it bolted from the inside, so no trouble can't come, see?" He unbolted and opened the door a crack to show her, closed and rebolted it. Then starting up the stairs, McAlpin jerked the crazy viser on his forehead into a fashion once more simulating childlike frankness and disappeared by the way he had come.

To be summarily left alone and in such a place was disconcerting. Kate, in the semi-darkness and silence, put her foot on the first tread of the steps and, placing her hand against the wall, looked upward. Not a sound; above her a partial light through a trap door and a wounded man. She stood completely unnerved. The thought of Laramie wounded, perhaps dying; the man that had rescued her, protected her, in truth saved her life on that fearful night—this man, now lying above her stricken, perhaps murdered, by her own father's friends! How could she face him? Only the thought that he should not lie wounded unto death without knowing that she was not ungrateful, that she had not wittingly betrayed him, gave her strength to start up the narrow steps.

When her head rose above the trap opening the light in the large loft seemed less than it had promised from below. There were no windows, but through a gable door, partly ajarm shot a narrow slit of daylight from the afterglow of the sunset. Kate caught glimpses of a maze of rafters, struts and beams and under them huge piles of loose hay. Reaching the top step she paused, trying to look about in the dim light, when Laramie, close at hand, startled her:

"McAlpin told me you wanted to see me," he said.

Kate could distinguish nothing for a moment, but the low words reassured her.

"I'm lying on the hay," he continued, in the same tone. "If you'll open the door a little more you can see better."

Picking her way carefully over to it, Kate pushed the door open somewhat wider and turned toward Laramie.

He lay far from the stairs. The yellow light of the evening glow falling on his face reflected a greenish pallor. Kate caught her breath, for it seemed as if she were looking into the face of death until she perceived, as he turned his head, the unusual brightness of his eyes.

In her confusion what she had meant to say fled. "Are you very much hurt?" she faltered.

"Far from it," he spoke slowly. If it cost him an effort none was discernible. "Coming into the barn tonight," he went on, very haltingly, "I had a kind of dizzy spell." He paused again. "I've been eating too much meat lately, anyway. They say—I fell off my horse; leastways I bumped my head. I'll be all right tomorrow."

"Belle told me there had been a fight up at the canyon bridge," Kate stammered, already at a loss to begin.

A sickly yellow smile pointed the silence. "I wouldn't call it exactly a fight," he said, dwelling somewhat on the last word. "Far from it," he repeated, with a touch of grimness. "There was some shooting. And some running." She could see how he paused between sentences. "But if the other follows ran it must have been after me. I didn't pay much attention to who was behind. I had to make a tolerably steep grade down the Falling Wall Ladder to the river. I was on horseback, and didn't have much leisure to pick my way."

"Well, they must have been shooting at something in my general direction. I guess they hit me once. I didn't mind getting hit myself, but I didn't want them to hit my horse. I was heading for the bottom as fast as the law would allow. If they'd hit the horse, I wouldn't have had much more than one jump from the rim to the river. Can't ask you to sit down," he added, "unless you'll sit here on the hay."

Without the least hesitation, Kate placed herself beside him. Without giving her a chance to speak and in the same monotone, he added: "Who told you I was a gambler?"

Less than so blunt and unexpected a question would have sufficed to take her aback. And she was conscious in the fading light of his strangely bright eyes fixed steadily on her. "I don't remember anybody ever did. I——"

"Somebody did. You told Belle once."

"It must have been long ago——"

"Is that the reason you never acted natural with me?"

She flushed with impatience. But if she tried to get away he brought her back to the subject. Cornered, she grew resentful. "I can't tell who told me," she pleaded, after ineffectual sparring. "I've forgotten. Are you a gambler?" she demanded, turning inquisitive herself.

He did not move, and it was an instant before he replied: "Waat do you mean," he asked, "by gambler?"

"If you mean a man that makes his living by gambling—or hangs around a gambling house all the time, or plays regularly—then I couldn't fairly and squarely be called a gambler. If you mean a man that plays sometimes, or has once in a while bet on a game in a gambling house, then, I suppose"—he was so evidently squirming that Kate meanly enjoyed his discomfort—"you might call me that. It would all depend on whether the one telling it liked me or didn't like me. I haven't been in Tenison's rooms for months, nor played but one game of poker."

"I despise gambling."

"Why didn't you tell me?"

"Why should I?"

"In one sense everybody's a gambler. Everybody I know of is playing for something. Take your father and me: He's playing for my life; I'm playing for you. He's playing for a small stake; I'm playing for a big one."

She could not protest quick enough: "You talk wildly."

"No," he persisted evenly. "I only look at it just as it is."

"Don't ask me to believe all the cruel things said of my father any more than you want me to believe the things said of you. I am terribly sorry to see you wounded. And now"—her words caugh in her throat—"Belle blames me even for that."

"How on earth does she blame you for that?"

Despite her efforts to control herself, Kate, as she approached the unpleasant subject, began to tremble inwardly with the fear that it must after all be as Belle had rudely asserted—that her father was behind these efforts against Laramie. For nothing had shaken her tottering faith in her father more than than the blunt words Laramie himself had just now indifferently spoken.

"If I am in any way to blame, it is innocently," she hurried on. "I will tell you everything; you shall judge. My father was bitterly angry when he learned I had been seen at Abe Hawk's funeral. I told him about my getting lost, about falling into the place at the bridge—how you did everything you could, and how Abe Hawk had done all he could. He was so angry he would listen to nothing——" she stopped, collected herself, tried to go on, could not.

"O, I hate this country!" she exclaimed. "I hate the people and everything in it! And I'm going away from it—as far as can get. But I wouldn't go," she said determinedly, "without seeing you and telling you this much."

Laramie spoke quietly, but with confidence: "You are not going away from this country."

Kate had picked up a stem of hay and, looking down at it, was breaking it nervously between her fingers. "You will have to hurry up and get well if I stay," she said abruptly. "I'm beginning to think you are the only friend I have here. And," she added, so quickly as to cut off any words from him, "I've told you everything. I only hope my speaking about the hiding place at the bridge when father was angry with me—and only to defend myself—was not the cause of this."

She was close beside him. "Can it be," she asked, "that this was how it happened?" He heard her voice break with the question.

"No," he blurted out instantly.

"O," she cried, "I'm so thankful!"

Listening to her effort to speak the words, he was not sorry for what he had said. "If you're going to lie," Hawk had once said to him, cynically, "don't stumble, don't beat about the bush—do a job!" The moment Kate told her story, Laramie knew exactly how he had been trapped. But why blame her? "It's the first time I ever lied to her," he thought ruefully to himself. "It's the first time she ever believed me!"

"Does Belle know you quarreled with your father?" he asked, to get away from the subject.

"No," she answered, steadying herself. "She said you'd been acting sort of queer."

"I can't tell people my troubles."

"Why did you tell me?"

"You might die and blame me."

"Who says I'm going to die?"

"They were afraid you might."

"Well, I don't like to disappoint anybody, but dying is a thing a man is entitled to take his time about."

"Can't I do something till the doct or comes?"

He turned very slowly on his side. Kate made an attempt to examine his shoulder. She was not used to the sight of blood. The clotted and matted clothing awed and sickened her. Even the hay was blood soaked, but she stuck to her efforts. Supplementing the rude efforts of McAlpin and Kitchen to give him first aid, she cut away, with Laramie's knife, the bullet torn coat and, shirt and tried to get the wound ready for cleansing. "I'm so afraid of doing the wrong thing," she murmured, fearfully.

"I don't care what you do—do something," he said. "Your hands feel awful good."

"I've nothing here to work with."

"All right, we'll go to the drug store and get something." After stubborn efforts he got on his feet and insisted on going down the stairs. Nothing that Kate could say would dissuade him. "I've been here long enough, anyway," was his decision. "I'm feeling better every minute; only awful thirsty."

Kate steadied him down the dark stairs fearful he might fall over her as she went ahead. Secrecy of movment seemed to have no significance for him. If his friends were disturbed, Laramie was not. He evidently knew the harness room, for he opened the blind door with hardly any hesitation and stepped into the office. The office was empty, but the street door of the stable was open. McAlpin stood in the gangway talking to some man who evidently caught a glimpse of Laramie, for he said rudely and loud enough for Kate to hear: "Hell, McAlpin! There comes your dead man now!"

Kate recognized the heavy voice of Carpy, and shrank back. The doctor, McAlpin behind him, dumbly staring, confronted Laramie at the door: "What are you doin' here, Jim?" he demanded.

"What would I be doing anywhere?" retorted Laramie.

"Go back to your den. This man says you're dying."

"Well, I'm not getting much encouragement at it—I've been waiting for you three hours to help things along. I'm done with the hay."

"Looking for a feather bed to die in? Some men are blamed particular." As he spoke Carpy caught his first glimpse of Kate. "Hello! There's the pretty little girl from the great big ranch. No wonder the man's up and coming—what did you send for me for, McAlpin? Where you heading, Jim?"

With his hands on the door jambs, Carpy effectually barred the exit. Knowing his stubborn patient well, he humored him, to the verge of letting him have his own way, but with much raillery denied him the drug store trip. A compromise was effected. Laramie consented to go to Belle's to get something to eat. In this way, refusing help, the obdurate patient was got to walk to the cottage.

"Don't let him fall on y'," McAlpin cautioned Kate, as the two followed close behind. "I helped carry him upstairs. He's a ton o' brick."

But Laramie, either incensed by his condition—the idea of any escort being vastly unpleasant to him—or animated by the stiff hypodermics of profanity that Carpy injected into the talk as they crossed the street, did not even stumble; he held his way unaided, met Belle's amaze ment unresponsively, and, sitting down called for something to eat.

"Pure, damned nerve," muttered Carpy. "But he does it."

They got him into bed. While the doctor was excavating the channel ripped through his shoulder, Laramie said nothing. When, however, he discovered that Kate was missing, he crustily short circuited Belle's excuses. Words passed. It became clear that Laramie would start out and search the town if Kate were not produced.

"She wanted to see me," he insisted, doggedly. "Now I want to see her."

Carpy found he must again intervene. He dispatched McAlpin as a diplomatic envoy over to his own house whither he had taken Kate as his guest when she declined to return to Belle's.

However others may have felt that night about Laramie's affairs, one man, McAlpin, was proud of his ride, desperately wounded, all the way to town. Laramie had made a confidant of no one but Kate. His experience in being trapped was not so pleasant that he liked to talk about it and neither McAlpin's shrewd questioning nor Carpy's restrained curiosity was gratified that night.

In the circumstances, McAlpin's fancy had full play; and distrustful of his imagination unaided, he repaired early to the Mountain House bar to stimulate it. Thus it gradually transpired along the bar, either from the stimulant or its reaction or from McAlpin's excitement, that a big fight had taken place that morning in the Falling Wall from which only Laramie had returned alive. It was known that he had come back and inference as to who the dead men might be could center only on his two active enemies, Tom Stone and Harry Van Horn. The pawky barn boss, who possessed perfectly the art of tantalizing innuendo, thus stirred the bar-room pool to the depths.

McAlpin chose the rustler's end of the bar—as Abe Hawk's old stand was called—and held the interest of the room against all comers.

He had become so absorbed in his recital that the entrance into the barroom from the barber shop of a booted and spurred man escaped him. The man, advancing deliberately, heard the last of McAlpin's words. He got fairly close to the unsuspecting barn boss unobserved. A few in the listening circle, noting the approach of the new arrival, stepped back a little—for, of all men that might be expected, after McAlpin's dark intimations, to appear, then and there, alive and aggressive, was Tom Stone.

Freshly barbered head forward, keen eyes peering from under staring, sandy brows; thumbs stuck in his belt and his face framing a confident leer, Stone sauntered forward, listened to McAlpin. So intent was McAlpin on impressing his hearers that the foreman elbowed his way, before McAlpin saw him, directly to the front.

McAlping caught his breath. The wiry Scotchman was not a coward, but he knew the merciless cruelty of Stone. Armed, McAlpin would have been no man to affrout his deadly skill; he now faced him unarmed.

Stone, leaving his right hand hooked by the thumb in his belt, rest his left elbow on the bar. The bartender, Luke, just back of him, leaning forward, mopped the bar more slowly, and, listening, moved a little farther down the bar until his fingers rested on an electric button underneath connected with Tenison's office in the hotel.

"Name the two men, McAlpin," said Stone, ominously, "while you're able to talk."

McAlpin exhausted his ingenuity in his efforts to evade his danger, but Stone drew his noose about him tighter and tighter. He played the unlucky man with all the malice of an executioner. He baited him and toyed with him. McAlpin, white, stood his ground. His fighting blood was all there, and he broke at length into a torrent of abuse of the man that he realized was bent on murdering him.

Made eloquent by desperation, McAlpin never rose to greater heights of profane candor. It was as if he were making his last will and testament of hatred and contempt for his murderer and when he had showered on his enemy every epithet stored in a retentive memory he struck his empty glass on the bar and shouted: "Now, you hell cat, shoot!"

It might have been thought Stone would check such a public castigation. He did not. Impervious to abuse, because master of the situation, he seemed to enjoy his victim's fury. "I'm finishing up with your gang around here, McAlpin," he snarled, never losing his grin. "You've run a rustler's barn in Sleepy Cat long enough. I've warned you and I've warned Kitchen. It didn't do no good. Fill up your glass, McAlpin."

"Stone, I'd never fill up a glass with you if I was in hell 'n' you could pull me out."

A Car as Fine As Its Wonderful Motor

Everywhere you hear the Chalmers motor spoken of with real enthusiasm by its owners.

It is due the Chalmers motor that it should be praised. For it is truly a wonderful car.

Its Great Performance

It is wonderful in the efficiency it gets from to-day's poor gasoline. In the added miles it returns. In the way it performs and stands up.

These things are largely due to preheating the fuel by the hot-spot before it enters the cylinders.

As a direct result of this fine performance, upkeep and replacement costs on the Chalmers are surprisingly low.

Motor Not Only Feature

But Chalmers excellence is far from beginning and ending with its motor. It is a car that is finely built in every detail.

It affords consummate riding comfort, drives with a minimum of effort, and is beautiful in design and finish. We invite you to look into Chalmers records and Chalmers standing without delay.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

BURNHAM WILL SUPPORT MEIGHEN GOVERNMENT

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—The statement in your issue of Friday that I will enter the contest as an "Independent Conservative" is erroneous. When the convention is called here to choose a candidate in support of Mr. Meighen, I will attend and if chosen to stand as Government candidate, I will take it into my serious consideration. Mr. Meighen states in his address at London opening the campaign that the issue in this election will be the Tariff, and as he has come out straight for protection, I will give him my whole-hearted support. Mr. Meighen's party includes (whatever it may be after the election) at present both Liberals and Conservatives, and as I am a Conservative that does not bar me out. What I resigned for has been attained, and we we are all now fairly before the country on an issue altogether too serious to haggle over, viz., whether we will let the German workmen drive ours out of our own markets or not. I am not a bit anxious to run and would be quite pleased to support somebody else.

J. H. BURNHAM.

Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—The likelihood of our being pressed with problems concerning unemployment and relief during the coming winter seems to make advisable the early consideration of ways and means to meet them. As a small contribution to the discussion I submit herewith two suggestions which, if adopted, might help in some measure in dealing fairly with the situation when it does become acute.

The first is the establishment of a "Confidential Exchange," in which records should be kept of the individuals and families which receive aid from the various relief agencies in the city. One of the iniquities of the "dole" system is that a person with a plausible story can go to agency after agency and secure help from the majority of them, or even from them all. A man who distributes relief cannot possibly communicate with all others who are doing so to ascertain whether a particular applicant has already received help on the same story the same day, from one or more of them. The result is that duplication is inevitable, and that help to others just as deservedly in need has to be curtailed owing to the drain on resources resulting from the dishonesty of these rounders. Such instances have to my knowledge occurred in this city, and beyond doubt under our present methods the majority of them go undetected. The "dole" system is regrettable, but apparently necessary, and since we have to use it, we can at least make it as just and equitable as we can. In other places these confidential exchanges have been established with good results, each distributor of help reporting in what he does for each case, and being able by one telephone call to find confidentially what others have done for the same person or situation. The benefits are obvious. Could not the Chamber of Commerce take it up for the winter?

The second suggestion is of a somewhat similar nature, namely, that a central labour clearing house should be established through which, for the winter at least, all positions should be filled. To be sure, we have an Employment Bureau in the city which has done good work, but with the winter impending, something should be done either to increase the effectiveness of that bureau or to establish another agency which all will loyally support. The success of such a bureau would demand two things—first, that every employer in the city would give this employment office or clearing house the first chance to fill his vacancies when they occurred; and second, that when men registered there as in need of a job they should have confidence that their interests would be looked after. If this matter were brought to the attention of the various employers, I am confident that their public spirit would rise to the occasion, and if the unemployed were made to feel that the cases of greatest need, such as men with families to support, would be looked after first, they would surely look on the agency with confidence.

What we need is a point of contact which is reached under our present arrangements more by accident than system. Once again could not the Chamber of Commerce, with the influence it commands and the confidence in which it is held, take the lead in this thing?

Hoping that this may stimulate a little discussion,—I am, yours faithfully, ... W. Harold Young.

MIKADO TO ACCEPT GIFT OF 300 CHRISTIAN BIBLES

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 1.—Through the master of cermonies of the imperial palace at Tokio the Emperor of Japan has consented to accept 300 Bibles, the first copies to the Holy Writ pinted in English to enter the royal household.

The gift of these books is made by several thousand Japanese Christians, church members of the pacific Coast States, and have them bound and engraved in uniqut Oriental fashion.

As the national religion of the Japanese is Buddhism monarchs steadfastly refused to allow the Bible within the confines of the imperial family. The printing of this special edition was done by the American Bible Society.

LEAGUE TO SETTLE S. AMERICAN FEUD.

May Be Bitterest Fight Before Assembly Which Convenes Next Month.

BY HENRY WOOD.

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

GENEVA, September 3. — Without doubt the bitterest fight to come before the Second General Assembly of the League of Nations, which convenes here on September 5th, will be that made in Bolivia's request that the League revise her 1904 treaty with Chili, which marked the close of the great Pacific War.

The fight which Chili has already made known she will put up will have two phases. First of all Chili has challenged the right of the League eevn to put the question on the programme for discussion.

Secondly should the Assembly decide that the President and the Sectarist were right in placing the item on the agenda Chili will then attack the competency of the eLague to revise such a treaty as that of 1904.

At the time Bolivia first appealed to the League last November, her action was combined with that of Peru, which demanded equally a revision of her 1883 treaty with Chili. Both treaties marked the close of the same war with Chili, but the treaty with Bolivia was only finally concluded 21 years after the end of hostilities and the signing of the treaty with Peru.

For the time at least, Peru has withdrawn her request that the League take up the famous Tacna-Arica affair, which would be involved in a revision of the treaty. As a consequence the requtst of Bolivia, which was only put on the agenda of the coming assembly over the formal protest of Chili, stands for the moment alone.

In Bolivia's original request that the League revise the treaty, the following justifications were given:

First: That the treaty was imposposed by force.

Second: That through Chili's fault, certain fundamental articles of the treaty were never infilfilled.

Third: That the existing state of affairs involves a permanent menace of war.

Fourth: That as a result of the treaty, Bolivia is shut off from all access to the sea.

To each of these four allegations, Chili has filed with the League flat denials.

In response to the first she points out that the treaty was concluded only 21 years after the close of hostilities and that no pressure whatever was brought to bear upon Bolivia.

To the second charge, she has replied that Chili has caried out all obligations under the treaty.

To the third charge, Chili replies that since 1883 she has never dreamed of going to war with Bolivia.

Finally, to the fourth charge, Chili has replied that Bolivia spontaneously surrendered the teritory between the original northern boundary of Chili and the province of Tarapaca; that Chili has repeatedly offered Bolivia acess to the sea, that fof this purpose she has already constructed at her own expense the railway between Arica and LaPaz, and that at a matter of fact Bolivia has sea access both at Arica and Aptofagasta.

In adition to the refutation of the Bolivain charges Chili has strongly attacked the competency of the League to undertake the revision of the treaty.

WATCH YOURSELF GO BY.

Think of yourself as "he," instead of "I."
Watch closely as in other men you note
The bag-kneed trousers and seedy coat;
Pick flaws, find fault, forget the man in you,
And strive to make your estimate ring true;
Confront yourself and look you in the eye—
Interpret all your motives just as though
You looked on one whose aims you do not know;
Let undisguised contempt surge through you when
You see you shirk, O commonest of men.
Despite your cowardice, condemn whate'er
You note of falseness anywhere:
Defend not one defect that shames your eye;
Just stand aside and watch yourself go by.
And then with eyes unseived to what you loathe—
To sins that with sweet charity you'd clothe—
Back to your self-walled tenement you'll go
With tolerance for all who dwell below
The faults of others then will dwarf and shrink.
Love's chain grows stronger by one mighty link—
When you with "he" as substitute for "I"
Have stood aside and watched yourself go by.

Sour Milk Ginger Bread.

One cupful of molasses, one and three-fourth teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of sour milk, two teaspoonful of ginger, two and one-third cupfuls of flour, one and one-half teaspoonful of salt, four tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Add sour milk to molasses, sift together the dry ingredients, then combine with the liquid mixture. Add butter and beat vigorously. Pour into buttered pan and bake for twenty-five minutes in a moderate oven.

Receipes

Canning Pineapples.

There are three ways of preparing pineapples for canning, and they can be put up according to either of the formulas given in a previous article. If cut in rings or dried they can be used as sauce or made into fruit salad, but for shortcakes or cake filling, as well as for ices or pudding and sauce, the grated or ground pineapple is usually preferred and more economical, as a very little is often sufficient owing to the concentrated form.

To cut in rings—Select very fine flavored fruit and cut into thin slices, then pare each slice and remove core with an apple corer; be sure to use glass jars with very wide necks so rings will slip in without breaking.

To cut in dice or strips—Cut in rather thick slices, then pare and remove core and cut in small cubes or strips.

To grate—Prepare as above, but run through food chopper, being careful to catch the juice in a clean bowl and adding it to the grated fruit.

Proportions—Half as much sugar as water is usually used for the syrup in which to can the sliced or cut fruit, but if grated a liberal sugaring without the addition of water is best, as much juice is extracted by running through chopper.

Variations—If canning is done rather late sour cherries, one cupful to each jar, may be added if cut in cubes and will be found very nice as sauce.

Pineapple Shortcake.

Ingredients:—
Two cupfuls of sifted pastry flour.
Two teaspoonfuls of baking powder.
Three teaspoonfuls of sugar.
Two tablespoonfuls of butter or butterine.
One egg.
Three-quarters cupful of milk.
Two cupfuls of ground pineapple.
Sugar as needed.

Method—Sift all dry ingredients together, rub in the butter and add beaten egg to milk. Stir this into flour with a fork, mix lightly and spread in greased layer cake pan. Bake a good color. When cold stir and place sugared pineapple between and on top. Dust well with powdered sugar and serve plain or with cream.

Bacon and Apples.

Peel and quarter tart apples, leaving on at least half the peelings. Fry several slices of bacon nice and crisp. Drop the apples into smoking hot fat and cover them closely until they begin to soften. Carefully turn once with a pancake turner. Sprinkle sugar over all and turn again, leaving cover off to brown nicely. Serve on a hot platter with crisp bacon.

20th Century Sees Many Changes In Old and New Home Economics

A struggle has been going on between home economics old and home economics new. But the old order changeth, giving place to new. In order to understand how different this new housekeeping is, think what the women were doing in the colonial times. They were spinning, weaving, dyeing in one corner; perhaps the weekly wash was in progress in another corner; from side walls and rafters hung dried fruits and vegetables, ham and bacon. The old-time home was really a miniature manufacturing plant.

Gradually there came a change. The weaving, dyeing, soapmaking and other industries were transferred to other buildings outside the home—to factories. With the building of the first factory the new housekeeping began in the home and since then homes have been in a more or less formative period. Then gradually it began to be perceived that housekeeping is a profession that must be run on a business basis. The emancipation of the home made it a place where the members of the family could live and get rest and recreation and development.

It is peculiar to housework that most of its operations result in making still more work. Maintenance rather than production is its keynote. Half the work entailed in a well-kept home large or small comes within the category of removing dirt. Whence comes this dirt? A certain amount of dirt enters a house from the street surface and from chimney smoke, but the film of dinginess revealed by the bright sunshine is the dismal work of old-fashioned methods of heating, perhaps of lighting and cooking, for where there are flames there are always fumes.

In that word "fumes" you have the guilty cause of the dirt that sticks, of the discoloration of walls, the cause therefore of so much of the painting, papering and whitewashing necessary to maintain the appearance of cleanliness. Fumes from flaming fires from open burners pour out unceasingly and leave their deposits on everything within the room, hence housecleaning! By attacking the chief cause of dirt and deterioration at its source, electricity, clean, sootless and smokeless, offers the most promising prospect for the 20th century home. The use of electricity for heating, lighting and cooking removes much of the dirty work from the modern home and the rest of the work is made easier and simpler.

Household Hints

An easy and cheap way to get rid of ants is to get a few sprigs of mint and put them around where the ants are.

When anything is accidentally made too salty, it can be counteracted by adding a tablespoonful of vinegar and one of sugar.

Grass stains can be removed from clothes by covering the spot with salt. Squeeze lemon juice over it and expose to the sun.

Tea, coffee and cocoa stains can usually be removed with borax and cold water, and this method should be tried first. If it is not successful use chloride of lime.

Sponge a shiny suit with clean hot vinegar and press in usual manner. No odor of vinegar will remain and all the shine caused by wear will disappear.

When food burns in kettle set kettle in cold water and you will not notice any burnt taste. The stain left is easily removed with ashes or sand.

There Were Two

There were two—and now there is only one. I saw them together for more than sixty years—walking side by side along a narrow pathway leading from young manhood and womanhood on to the maturity of middle life and down the western slope to the fading glow of the setting sun. They were never far apart—where he was, she was, and where she was, he was. It was difficult to think of the one without thinking of the other—they had become so much an integral part of each other. Dissimilar in many ways and yet in all the essential purposes of life—in the ideals, the principles and the objects of our existence they were one. They had their trials and their triumphs, their sorrows and their joys, their pleasures and their pain—but always they shared them in common lot.

And now he walks alone, while she sleeps peacefully in the little white village on the hill. We laid her away on that beautiful summer eve, with the ruddy streaks across the sky, looking like the dawning of another day, and there was little sorrow—just a sweet and tranquil peace. She had so well earned her rest that is was like the full fruition of a destiny to see her lay down her task and fold her dear beloved hands in the calm repose of eternal sleep.

In all my days I had never seen her rest till then. The constant rhythm of her active life did not falter until the last long surcease came. She had ministered so faithfully to the wants and welfare of others that it seemed strange to see her lying there so quietly and passively, and not the moving spirit of the occasion. It was all so unreal, and to me the dominant note was one not so much of sorrow as of strangeness. I could not adjust myself to the new conditions after sixty years of the old habit of thought. We had all grown to rely so much on her judgment and leadership in all domestic affairs that to be deprived so suddenly of her counsel and help left us somewhat at sea. It was a new experience to plan all things out for ourselves.

Her sphere of activity had not been wide, and during her four-score years she had lived within a few miles of the place where she was born. Yet within this radius she had wrought a world of good. One after another came to me that last day and told me they had lost the best friend they ever had. Wherever there was sorrow or sickness or death she was there to lend the hand of help; wherever there was joy she shared the smile.

And this is real service in the world—real success in life. To smooth the rugged path of others, to heal the wounds, to wipe away the tears, to rejoice with the joyful and hope with the hopeful—to enter into the sorrows and joys of others—this is the acme of human achievement. And she had lived this kind of a life from her girlhood days on down to the final scene when her grandchildren clung lovingly around her bed to fan her waning strength.

We are never able to place a proper perspective upon the future, nor to accurately guage our emotions. All my life from the time I was a little boy I had dreaded this fateful day. I had never stood beside an open grave and listened to the minister's "dust to dust," and heard the first terrible clatter of earth upon the casket lid that I did not think of the day when it should be my lot to stand by the grave of one of these two and hear the same sonorous sound. And it has been my constant dread and fear that I should never have the courage to face it, that the thought of that separation would overwhelm me and that the very light of my life would go completely out.

And yet as I stood the other day and saw her beloved form laid at rest all the dread of years had strangely passed away and there was a sweet solace and a calm resignation, which filled my heart and permeated my whole being as a blessed benediction. What lament I had was only for him—for the one who had walked all these years so closely by her side. To be able to bear his burden I would gladly have given all I ever possessed. But this could not be. It is his load, his loss, and all the tender compassion and sympathy in the world cannot quite lift it from his consciousness. Brave as the bravest, philosophical as the most, there is today something missing from his life that can never be replaced. And yet he, with us, must know that "all is all."

There were two—and now there is only one.—Dr. C. N. Johnson, in "Oral Health."

ARE THE CANADIAN WOMEN TO BLAME?

How far are Canadian women to blame for the alarming increase in our buying from the United States, with its resulting evils of the heavy exchange rate against our dollar, and the throwing of Canadian men out of employment? The charge that some Canadian-made goods are inferior to their American counterparts must be met by Canadian manufacturers, but two small items on our list of imports are certainly due mainly to the woman buyer and caterer. Last year we imported 2,000,000 lbs. of strawberries and 4,000,000 lbs. of out-of-season tomatoes, all from the States, and all unnecessary. Queen Mary does not allow strawberries or other out-of-season fruit to appear on the royal table, because she regards such catering as foolish extravagance, and surely we might be content with our own Canadian-grown fruits in their season and import the tropical fruits which we cannot grow from the West Indies.—Women's Century.

NEW SHADES FROM OLD.

When white window shades become soiled they can be easily renewed and freshened by a new coat of flat white paint. Take them down and unroll them and stretch them against a flat surface of wall or board. Give each side a coat of the paint and when dry a darker shade of green or brown, which ever is preferred, can be put on one side, thus giving a practically new, double faced cutain.

The Viewpoint

Once upon a time three men stood side by side looking at a field—a farmer, a geologist and a poet. The farmer saw the quality of the soil, the geologist the tilt of the strata, the poet the curves and colours. Each in the evening, for his own reasons, wrote a report of what he had seen. The farmer used a number of technical terms, recommending his friend to buy the five-acre; the geologist added a foot note in his book, illustrative of some important theory; the poet composed a sonnet and published it in the Westminster Gazette. Each, in plain language, had seen the same thing, and yet each, in equally plain language, had seen a totally different thing.—Papers of a Pariah.

WHEN WILL YOU DIE?

A POISONED SYSTEM SOON DECAYS.

Ninety per cent. of us die 20 years before we should; we neglect ourselves by forgetting we have a Liver. When the Liver is not working our system becomes glogged with all sorts of poisons, causing Headaches, Indigestion, Constipation, Rheumatism, etc. There is only one drug known that acts directly upon the Liver and that is Tanated Calomel. Doctors say you should take one before meals and at bedtime, and in one to five days you will feel 100 per cent. better. You cannot expect to live long or feel well if you do not take care of your Liver. When your Liver does not exeret bile into the intestines, the waste collects in the bowels and is carried away by the blood causing all sorts of aches and pains.

Question of Salads

Salads are not modern dishes, because from the eastern lands we have inherited a knowledge of them, and from the history of the Greeks and Romans we know that lettuce and dandelion were part of the rich man's diet, and in the Biblical narrative we read that the Israelites said, "Remember the fish which we did eat in Egypt freely, and the cucumbers, and the melons, and the leeks, and the onions, and the garlic."

A salad may be served upon almost any occasion, and in the spring of the year we find a refreshing salad very acceptable. While salads may be made of all kinds of delicate meats, fish, eggs, fruit, nuts, cheese and vegetables, cooked and uncooked, two things are necessary to every kind of salad—the dressing and the green vegetables in which the salad is served.

The dressings in most common use are the French and mayonnaise. A great many Canadians, however, prefer a boiled salad dressing, which is easily made. Dressings may be added at the table or just before sending to the table. If green vegetables are allowed to stand in dressing they will wilt. Olive oil, which is used in the French and mayonnaise, furnishes an easily-digested fat and is very nutritious. One advantage of the boiled dressing is that a quantity may be made at a time and kept in a cold place. Sweet, sour or whipped cream may be added just before serving. Some delicious and very palatable salad combinations may be made from the following:

2.—Shredded lettuce, stuffed eggs, radishes.

3.—New cabbage finely shredded, cucumber, olives, watercress.

4.—Lettuce, tomatoes, cucumbers cut in dice and piled in centre of salad.

5.—Lettuce, tomatoes cut in half, radishes.

6.—Lettuce, peppergrass, cucumbers.

8.—Shredded cabbage and shredded green peppers.

9.—Lettuce, cucumbers, watercress.—Woman's Century.

RADIATION DUE TO THOUGHT

The believers in thought-transference and telepathy have long been looking for a scientific demonstration of some form of radiation due to brain-action. It now really looks as if they have secured it, or have taken a step toward it. Dr. Charpentier, a noted French physiologist, who recently announced that the human muscles and nerves give off the so-called "N-rays," discovered by Blondlot, has now made the still more startling statement that the rays are emitted by the different brain centres in proportion to the activity of those centres. Thus, by testing for N-rays, a physiologist can tell, within reasonable limits, what his subject is thinking about. If it should be found that rays from a given centre stimulate the corresponding centre in a neighboring brain, telepathy at any rate for short distances, would obviously follow. This "if," however, is a pretty large one.

LANGUAGE OF PRECIOUS STONES

The following are some of the meanings attached to precious stones: Diamond, innocence; ruby, forgetfulness of and exemption from vexations caused by friendship and love; emerald, success in love; sapphire, acceptance; amethyst, sincerity; garnet, constancy; topaz, fidelity; turquoise, prosperity; opal, hope; bloodstone, courage; agate, health and long life; cornelian, contented mind, sardonyx, conjugal felicity; chrysolite, antidote against madness; malachite is not a precious stone, but its color, green, signifies hope.

By the use of an infinitesimal amount of radium objects which you wish to find, or to avoid, are now made visible in the dark through the use of radium luminous materials.

There is the "locater button," to be fastened like a thumb tack or attached by a rubber band or with adhesive material. One of these buttons can be affixed to a medicine bottle to identify it at night among other bottles in the medicine chest. A special luminous warning indicator can be put on bottles containing bottles containing poison, a danger sign on the poison bottle. These bottles can even be attached to the bed room hot water bottle or the bedroom slippers.

No need to plant a pair of feet on a wintry floor and hunt high and low for the comfortable slippers. Just one glance around in the darkness and where the two buttons dimly glow out of the darkness there are the slippers.

In certain parts of the country householders have attached radium illuminated number plates to their door fronts so that when friends come motoring down the street at pitchy night the house can be easily located.

Your Children Need Pasteurized Milk
The children will soon be coming back to school bright-eyed and healthy after their summer vacation. They have romped and played in the open country and frolicked in the open air. It is hoped that most of them have had a "royal time."
It will be your aim to preserve the health they have gained all through the coming fall and winter by supplying them with plenty of pure, safe milk. Your children will be helped to maintain that strength and health by safe milk quicker than by any other body-building food.

For their sakes increase your regular milk order—and be sure it's Peterborough Creamery Milk—from the rich rural farms where cows browse in the clover fields and grass.
Our milk is CLARIFIED and PASTEURIZED, and then sealed in sterlized bottles to make it perfectly safe, and comes off the cooling ice-boxe every morning to your door.
Buy tickets—it means a saving. Our milkman will take your order. Be careful and return the bottles regularly.

GIANTS WITHIN HALF A GAME OF THE NATIONAL LEAGUE LEAD

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, September 3. — Helped by the fast-moving St. Louis Cardinals, the New York Giants were within a half-game of the National League lead to-day. Though Pittsburg and the New Yorkers each have won 78 games, the Pirates have lost one game less than the Giants.

The Giants move again to-day on Brooklyn, a club which has been giving them more trouble this season than any team on the circuit. Pittsburg has another tilt with the Cardinals.

The Yankees are still out in front in the American League, and are moving in high gear. Huggins has another game with the Washington Senators, while the Indians are booked with the Detroit Tigers.

Breaks, still going against the champions, now have taken Covaleskie off the list. He is suffering from a strained back, and may be out of the game for some time.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Yesterdays hero; Everett Scott, Red Sox short stop played in his 800th consecutive game having been in every contest since June 20, 1916

The Sox beat the Athletics 4 to 3.

Babe Ruth hit his forty ninth home run and put himself eleven days ahead of his 1920 record, the Yanks beating Washington 9 to 3.

Fournier's double and Stocks single gave the Cards their straight victory over the Pirates 1 to 0.

Sisler got four hits out of five times up and helped the Browns trim the White Sox 3 to 0.

Central League Suspends Hills For Conduct on Field at Port Hope.

Alex Hills the Port Hope first baseman has been suspended by President Kimmel, of the C.O.B.L., for participating in the "free for all" at the Port Hope-Peterboro game on Saturday. Hills' suspension was meted out on account of his grabbing Umpire Claude Wilson by the throat during the excitement It is not likely that he will be in the game against Oshawa on Monday as the matter is pending an investigation by the Executive. Bob Chalk drew a stiff reprimand.

DOLLARS WORTH FOR A DOLLAR.

Suggests Change in Cities' Estimating.

Speaking to the Ontario Municipal Association on "A Dollar's Worth for a Dollar," Dr. Horace L. Brittain, the association's secretary, deal chiefly with the necessity for the preparation in cities of the annual estimates on more scientific basis than has heretofore obtained.

He advocated that the work should be undertaken prior to each year's end and the estimates complete be presented at the first council meeting in January being passed not later than mid-February, and the tax rate then struck on order that first tax payments shall be receivable by mid-March.

GRAND TRUNK RECEIVED TRIBUTE TO CONDITION OF ROADBED

The Grand Trunk Railway System has just received a remarkable tribute to the splendid condition of its roadbed and the care with which "The International Limited" train service is operated over the double track main line between Chicago and Montreal.

A gentleman who made the trip within the past few days states that a tall glass vase, containing flowers in water, with a base of about eight inches was undisturbed, although unsupported, during the entire journey of nearly 850 miles. It is probable that few railways on the American continent can lay claim to having received testimony of this character. 1d-3

AWARD OF THE I.O.D.E. BURSARY FOR ONTARIO

The Daughters of the Empire War Memorial Bursary, open to sons and daughters of soldiers or sailors killed or permanently disabled overseas has just been awarded to Mr. Gordon R. Maybee, of Napanee. Mr. Maybee is the son of F. R. Maybee, of the 71st Battalion, C. E.F., who was permannetly disabled in 1917. He has been attending the Napanee Collegiate Institute and has just taken very high standing in the Honour Matriculation examinations. Mr. Maybee's record at school has been excellent, not only in his school work, but in sport, rifle shooting, and various school activities.

This Bursary is awarded every year, and is of the value of $250 a year for four years. It may be held in any university in Ontario. A similar Bursary is awarded in each of the other Provinces. Last year, as one of the Provinces had no candidate, two Bursaries were awarded in Ontario, one to Miss Edna Green, Toronto, and one to Mr. William Penman, St. Catharines. These Bursaries are part of the War Memorial of the Daughters of the Empire, founded in memory of the Canadians who fell overseas.

Capitol Entertainment

THE Famous Players Canadian Corporation, Limited, announces the inauguration of a season of CAPITOL ENTERTAINMENT, Monday, September 5, in this theatre, in the Regent in Toronto, in the new Capitol theatres in Montreal, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, Vancouver, Victoria, and in twenty other magnificent amusement palaces in the leading cities from coast to coast in Canada.

When this corporation was formed two years ago, its officials determined to provide Canadians with the best, cleanest and most worth-while amusement possible in the finest chain of theatres that could be erected in the Dominion. During the past twelve months a dozen new links have been welded in this theatre chain. More links are being forged. Today the Famous Players Canadian Corporation theatres are a household word in every city where the company operates.

With the splendid new theatres in successful operation, the organization set about to improve its particular style of program. Capitol Entertainment is the result. Here is a guarantee of the best photoplays and screen novelties, the finest music and the highest class artists that can be brought to this city. It is a surety that every feature in every program released in its name has come up to a certain standard of entertainment value.

Those who patronize the theatre where Capitol Entertainment is advertised will quickly realize that its programs are BEST BY COMPARISON.

From the very outset, it has been the policy of the Famous Players Canadian Corporation, Limited, to provide its entertainment at the lowest possible cost to the public consistent with the high standard of amusement furnished. During the season which will begin Monday, the programs at this theatre will not only be better than ever, but the admission prices will be reduced to the following schedule:

Every Evening (excepting Saturday and Holidays) all seats will be 25c, Tax 2c---total 27c except 100 wicker chairs reserved in Front Balcony at 35c war tax included. A daily Matinee at 2.30 p.m.---Adults 20c, and Tax 22c. Children at all Matinees 10c and Tax 11c. Saturday Matinees---Adults 27c, Children 11c. Saturday and holiday Evenings---All Seats at 35c.

The greatest entertainment ever presented in this city will be offered at these popular prices. Practically all of the finest motion pictures — including the world-famous Paramount pictures—have been secured for exhibition here. With "the play the thing," rather than the high-salaried star, marked attention has been given to the selection of these pictures. Stories written especially for the screen by famous authors,, stories from widely-read magazines and stories filmed in England, interpreted by English favorites and bearing the trade mark of English producers, will be seen on the screen of this theatre most frequently. Even the comedies, travels, educational subjects and news weeklies have been chosen with the same high regard for the attitude of the Canadian public toward more wholesome entertainment.

There will be two complete changes of program in this theatre every week. In addition to the exceptional photoplays to be presented, there also will be two or more acts of refined entertainment by high-class artists. Some of the most accomplished talent ever presented in Canada will appear here during the coming months. Each picture will be accompanied by the best music in the city. Nothing that is bright, clean and worthwhile will be omitted from the programs. Anything unfit for any member of the family to see will not have its place in this entertainment.

There will be something of special interest to you in the first of the new and better programs at this theatre next Monday.

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE GRAND.

"The Valley of Doubt," an eight-reel picture adapted from the novel by Willard Mack and directed by Burton George, is one of Selznick's best offerings of the present year. So faithfully are the Canadian timber lands reproduced that one can scarcely believe that they were filmed in California. Coming out of the theatre I heard one person say she did not care so much for the picture, but I think I prefer that type of play—a story of the great out-of-doors. Of course if one goes to see a society drama amid luxurious settings, women gowned in the latest fashions, then it is disappointing to see only trappers' leather leggings and fur coats. But a good, red-blooded theme, a battle between two men for the possession of a girl will appeal to some people, when the conventional fails. And it was a fight. I am always terrified when I see the preliminaries to a battle royal between two full-grown specimens of the human male, but Thurston Hall, the heroic Jules Bonnivet of the play, fights cleanly and triumphs at last over Macy, the handsome villain. Arline Pretty as Marian Hilgrade, shows that she can snow-shoe and make her way over very dangerous country, hampered as she is by heavy clothing and furs. It is generally conceded that French vivacity adds much to any gathering, and from some of the parties out there in the wilderness I should judge that nothing can daunt the high spirits and natural gaiety of the coureur des bois. Anna Lehr gives a clever portayal of the French-Canadian girl, though her coloring seemed a trifle too dark to be natural—perhaps it was necessary to make the contrast with Arline Pretty, the heroine. Robert Agnew and all the other members of the cast filled their roles admirably — and everyone seemed to appreciate Jean, the dog who figures so prominently in the picture. In fact, I think he really saves the whole situation when he jumps on Angeles father and snatches the whip from his hand.

CAPITOL.

Advance press notices of "Black Roses," starring Sessue Hayakawa, warned us that it was an especially suitable vehicle for the Japanese actor. Written for him by E. Richard Schayer, the plot does full justice to the personality and talents of the popular Oriental. Sometimes it is difficult to believe that Hayakawa is Japanese, so perfectly does he wear Western clothing and assume the habits and manners of the Occident. Except for his eyes, the characteristic Eastern features seem to be lacking from his face, but anyone who saw him in the show now running at the Capitol could not help but admit that his methods are so astute, that they at any rate suggest "The Vengeance of the East." You will pardon my using a title from 'The Yellow Arm,' I hope—it seem appropriate though. During the untangling of the web of circumstances which had formed around Yoda, the gardener, I could not help recalling the similarity of the prison scenes in this picture and in the "City of Silent Men." It will be recalled that Thomas Meighan, in that play, was the object of a frame-up. We saw him in prison, then assisted in his daring escape by a fellow-convict, and succeeding in his mad dash for freedom. Oh, would the events of real life work out as happily as they do in the movies! Even the most admirably conceived plans go wrong and vengeance does not always overtake the evil-doer. But, everything said and done, it is a good thing the pictures are not too realistic and that some of our illusions escape the spoke before of Tsuru Aoki and her kimonas. They are lovely and worn by the little Japanese, they are most becoming. Mrs. Hayakawa is a good actress, too, and gave much pleasure by her cleverness. I wonder why Myrtle Stedman is not starred or featured more often. She is quite the best looking person I've seen on the screen for a long time, and I shall anticipate with pleasure seeing her name on an advance notice.

AT THE ALLEN.

Long ago a certain variety of show used to be proclaimed as "entertainment for the tired business man." The feature picture the latter half of this week at the Allen is called a "Blues Banisher." Well, I went to the show the other night, not a victim of blues, but I certainly was tired. At the end of an hour and a quarter of Carter de Haven fun I was ready for anything. Nothing has refreshed me so much in a long time as the hearty, unfeigned joy provoked by the humorous situations of "The Girl in the Taxi." It all seemed so natural—Mr. Stewart, in his capacity as stern parent refusing any more money — his friend, Mr. Percy, a man with similar ideas and tastes, and Bertie, Papa's son, already beginning to follow in Daddy's footsteps. Mr. de Haven's face expresses emotions and thoughts so rapidly that one never doubts what he has in mind. And in this particular comedy he is surrounded by good actors besides his wife, whose part is not quite so prominent as usual. When the after-dinner gathering in the Stewart home, consisting of the three Stewarts and Mr. and Mrs. Percy, their guests, was flashed upon the screen, I could not help thinking of the same scene enacted night after night in thousands of homes—no wonder the bored husbands were glad to see their knitting, virtuous wives go to bed, thus giving them the chance to slip out to the Cafe de Paris "and the girls." The men were all good sports anyway, and Father proved himself a rare one when he realizes that "Son" has it on him and comes across to the tune of an extra bottle of wine for little Bertie and Mrs. Smith. But then, of course, Mrs. Smith was young and charming, and Papa Stewart had been out with her before, so how could he blame his own son for his taste in the fair sex line and confirming his judgment? His smiling remark, "I certainly love these harmless little parties," was an evidence of rare good nature, but Oh! how I trembled for the dear, indiscreet little married woman hiding behind a thin curtain, listening to that great, handsome husband of hers, telling Bertie "he was terrible in his uniform." I am inclined to think she had been there before, however, for she was not much abashed by either the waiters or Papa Stewart, and I believe a real novice at the game would have shaken violently those dividing curtains when the gallant Major shouted, "It is my wife—that is the perfume I named after her."

COMING ATTRACTIONS

CAPITOL.

A week of special entertainment, beginning on Labor Day, September 5th, with many changes in the usual programme, is announced by the management of the Capitol Theatre. The price list is being revised, two special vaudeville acts afternoon and evening, every day in the week, are promised, and there will be a matinee every afternoon instead of the usual ones on Wednesday and Saturday. Lowering the prices is only another symptom of the times, and Peterborough's beautiful new theatre should have capacity houses.

"The Yellow Arm" will run for the first three days of the week, when the third episode will tell just what we wanted to know at the close of this week's chapter.

A feature photoplay that is really first-class is called "What's Your Hurry?" So if anyone asks you that question on Monday (Labor Day) tell them "to get to the Capitol to see Wally Reid." He will be there in very best form, handsome, daring and attractive as ever. Lois Wilson is Virginia MacMurron, and to win her and overcome the parental displeasure of stern old Pat MacMurron is the very difficult task before "Dusty" Rhoades. Needless to say, he accomplishes it successfully, drives a truck through the traffic at Los Angeles' busiest corners, breaks all speed records and saves a threatened disaster from a broken dam. The story is written by Byron Morgan and was personally supervised by the author for Paramount.

ALLEN.

James Oliver Curwood wrote some years ago a simple, gripping story of the north country with Sergeant Philip Raine of the R.N.M.P. as the hero. David M. Hartford has produced a screen version worthy of the original story, and "The Golden Snare," released through Associated First National, will be shown at the Allen Theatre for the first three days of next week, first performance being at the Labor Day matinee. Lewis S. Stone plays Sergeant Raine, Wallace Beery is Bram Johnson, the weird "Loup-Garou" man, and Ruth Renwick has the principal female role, that of Celie, the little child saved from the wreck of a schooner and brought up by the half-made man who, living alone with his wolf dogs, loves her as his own daughter. It is a rabbit snare made from her golden locks which lures Raine on into the wilderness, carrying with him the little babe left to his charge by the dying Frenchman who corroborated all the wild stories of Bram Johnston which have drifted back to the post. Coming upon Celie in the great timber lands, Raine and the baby are conducted to Johnson, who refrains from killing the Sergeant when he hears the girl's story. A terrific battle between Bram Johnson and Black Dawson, a white outcast among the Esquimaux, whose evil eye has fallen upon Celie, ends in defeat for Dawson. The rest of this remarkable picture is filled with thrills, with marvellous snow scenes, races between huskies and wolf dogs driven by Esquimaux; and by the final triumph of love and innocence over evil. The death of the alleged half-wild man, restored to sanity by a blow from Black Dawson, relieves Raine of the now hateful duty imposed upon him by the command "to bring back Johnson dead or alive."

GRAND.

A certain amount of mystery surrounding an event lends added attraction. So the very fact that Mr. Snelgrove announced his second offering, called "Liars," to be shown at the Grand for three nights and Wednesday matinee, beginning Monday (Labor Day) at 8.15 p.m., and tells us nothing more about it, stimulates interest and awakens our curiosity. He did say it was "polite comedy" in spite of the title and that it was one of Willie Collier's best shows. Knowing the aforesaid Collier, whose methods are so like those of our own Rex, I can assure the Grand patrons that whatever the story may be, it will be amusing in the extreme and worth seeing.

The success of this popular stock company seems to be assured, and it is a decided tribute to the judgment of the local manager of the Grand, Mr. W. L. Phillips, who took the matter up with Trans-Canada. To give the public clean, wholesome amusement is only good business, and the big corporations are aware of it, but to guage the popular taste in each community is up to the local manager, and Mr. Phillips must be well pleased with the encomiums received on all sides. Let us trust that 'Liars" will absolutely vindicate an honest and trustworthy press.

Since writing the above Mr. Snelgrove asks me to say "Liars" is not a version of "Nothing But the Truth," shown here by Chautauqua. It is a comedy in four acts and six scenes.

NEW PROGRAM AT THE CAPITOL

In association with the largest theatres operated by the Famous Players Canadian Corporation, Limited, in the leading cities from coast to coast in Canada, the Capitol Theatre of this city will, on Monday, Sept. 5, inaugurate a season of Capitol Entertainment.

Capitol Entertainment is the trade mark adopted by the big amusement organization for its new standardized program of divertissement. It is the guarantee of this company that only the best in photoplays and screen novelties, the finest music in the city and the best and most refined entertainment by high-class artists will be presented in the theatres displaying the Capitol Entertainment sign.

With the announcement that this new program will be presented exclusively in this city at the Capitol Theatre, also comes word that the admission prices at the Capitol will be reduced. Beginning next Monday, the following schedule of admissions will prevail:

Every evening excepting Saturdays and holidays all seats will be 25c (tax 2c), total 27c. A daily matinee at 2.30 p.m. Adults, 20c and tax, 22c. Children at all matinees, 10c and tax, 11c. Saturday matinee—adults, 27c; children, 11c. Saturday and holiday evenings, all seats 35c.

In speaking of the new policy, Jno. C. Green, district manager of Famous Players Canadian Corporation, said:

"It always has been the aim of the Famous Players Canadian Corporation, Limited, to provide the cleanest and best entertainment possible at the lowest prices of admission consistent with the high standard of amusement furnished. During the new season, which begins Monday, we will not only give bigger and better shows, but the prices of admission will be such that everyone can afford to attend our programs twice weekly and not feel that his pocketbook is hard hit.

"We will have the greatest photoplays ever made. There will be two changes of program each week — Mondays and Thursdays. We have made arrangements with a big booking agency to furnish us with two or more acts of high-class entertainment with each change of pictures. The artists who will be brought to this city are among the foremost in their particular line. Some of the Continent's most accomplished singers, dancers and instrumentalists will appear here during the season. The class of amusement to be provided will be of the same calibre as that presented in some of the largest theatres in Canada. I look for the biggest year in the show business that this city has ever enjoyed. Our Capitol Entertainment program is a surety that only the most worthwhile attractions will be presented here. I am proud to be able to announce that the Capitol has been given the right to display the Capitol Entertainment slogan in its advertising."

Although established less than two years the Famous Players Canadian Corporation, Limited, has made an enviable reputation for itself as a builder and operator of great theatres in which bright, clean entertainment is provided. Starting with one theatre in Toronto, this company has enlarged its scope of operations to include eight other houses in that city, the Famous Capitol theatres in Montreal, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, Vancouver, Victoria, Kitchener and Peterborough, the Algoma in Sault Ste. Marie, the Savoy and Strand in Hamilton, the Regent in Oshawa, the Temple in Brantford, the Regent in Galt, the Regent in Guelph, the Strand in Kingston, and many other splendid amusement palaces throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion. A beautiful new Capitol is being erected in Ottawa and others will soon be built. In all of these theatres Capitol Entertainment will be inaugurated next Monday. Chiropractic For Women

As the future welfare of the human race depends upon the physical condition of the women, it goes without saying that one of the most important of all scientific researches is the effort to find and banish the cause of so many diseases that are peculiar to the sex.

The nervous system of woman is designed to be high strung, it is finer and more delicate than that of man, responding to impulses and emotions which have no effect on the nervous system of the male.

Due to this, and to the uhique relation of woman to the perpetuation of the human race, her nervous system is very easily upset, this being followed by a train of troubles peculiar to womankind—

Headaches, Vertigo, Hysteria, Neurasthenia, Neuritis, Neuralgia, Goitre, Heart and Kidney Troubles, Tumors, Pelvic Disorders, Backache, Weak Limbs, Varicose Veins, Stomach Disorders, etc. Improper nerve supply, due to pressure upon spinal nerves, resulting in a lack of resistance, predisposes to the above disorders.

Chiropractic Spinal Adjustments, by correcting mal-alignment of vertebrae, equalizing nerve impulses, and toning up the nervous system generally, fortifies the system against these disorders, and if already contracted assists nature in restoring to normal.

By acting to-day you give nature a better chance to recover her proper balance and yourself a brighter future by shortening your days of suffering.

OFFICE STAFF BANQUET MISS GERTRUDE SCOTT

The office staff of the Cressman Company, Limited, were hosts at a gay little banquet held at the White House at 6.30 last evening, in honour of Miss Gertrude Scott, who has been attached to the staff for the last two years, and is leaving shortly to accept a position in Regina. Miss D. Walker, accountant of the Cressman Company, presided, and in a neat little speech, referred to the regret of the staff at the departure of Miss Scott, and to the pleasant and amicable relations that have existed during her term of service with the store. Hearty wishes for success in her new position were tendered by the speaker, to which Miss Scott replied in a few suitable words. During the course of the repast, a toast was proposed to "Our Firm," which met with an enthusiastic response, and the banquet concluded with the singing of "She's a Jolly Good Fellow."

A theatre party formed the ending of a very pleasant evening.

THE MARKETS

A. J. Pattison, Jr., & Co., Toronto, in their report on the unlisted markets of last week, say that a decided improvement in sentiment was evident. Technically, the market has for some weeks been in a shape to improve rapidly on any wave of buying. Buyers were scarce, and those that were in the market expected to obtain securities at practically their own prices. This condition changed considerably in the past week, and though no large advances were recorded, prices improved in a healthy manner. It is worthy of note that a number of issues sold ex-dividend at approximately the same figures as they did cum-dividend. This will give some indication of the small volume of stocks overhanging the market at present figures. Canadian Woollens Common and Gunns Preferred were both in steady demand all week on rumors of improved business, the former being bid up to 17, and the latter 57, with no offering obtainable. Home Bank ex-dividend 1 3-4 per cent. was fairly active at 96½-100. Sterling Bank changed hands at 106-109, unchanged from last week. Imperial Oil, ex-dividend 3 per cent. eased to 88½-93, with little interest evident either way. Goodyear Tire Preferred at 50-51½, continues to be steadily absorbed. Cockshutt Plow Preferred was in demand all week, orders appearing in the market for several large blocks of stock, only a small amount of which could be obtained. At one time the quotation was run up to 45-48 3-4, widening out before the close at 43½-48 3-4. Massey-Harris eased slightly to 68-71 3-4 on little trading.

Recipes

Caramel Cake.

One cup of butter, two of sugar, a scant cupful of milk, one cup and a half of flour, one cup of cornstarch, the whites of seven eggs and three teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Bake in a long pan. For the caramel frosting take half a pound of brown sugar, quarter of a pound of chocolate, half a cup of milk, butter the size of an egg and two teaspoonfuls of vanilla. Mix thoroughly and cook until it is stiff enough to spread. Spread thickly on the cake and set it in the oven to dry.

Pickled Eggs.

One pint of strong vinegar, half a pint of cold water, a teaspoonful each of cinnamon, mace and allspice. Boil the eggs until very hard and shell them. Tie the spices in a white bag, put them in the cold water, and boil; add the vinegar and pour over the eggs. Use as many eggs as the mixture will cover.

Date Pudding.

One egg, one cup milk, one cup molasses, one teaspoon baking soda, one box dates, three cups flour, one teaspoon salt. Cut up dates, add soda to molasses and let stand for a few minutes. Beat egg, then add to the dates and stir. Add molasses to egg and dates. Beat well together, then add the salt and add alternately with milk. Beat well and then put in a buttered steaming dish. Steam from three to six hours.

Meat Loaf.

Three-quarters pound cooked meat, chopped; three-quarters pound bread crumbs, a teaspoonful of onion chopped very fine (if like), salt, pepper, or little pinch of mixed dried herbs, four or five cold boiled potatoes, mashed, one egg beaten. Mix all well together, press into a basin, cover and boil for one and a half hours. Serve cold.

Bran Muffins.

Sift one cupful of whole wheat flour with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-half teaspoonful of salt and add two cupfuls of bran. Dissolve one teaspoonful of soda in one tablespoonful of boiling water and add one and one-half cupfuls of thick sour milk and one-fourth cupful of molasses. Stir the liquid into the dry mixture, add one-fourth cupful of butter (melted), beat thoroughly and bake in hot, buttered muffin pans for about 25 minutes.

Cup Custards (Boiled).

Heat a quart of milk in a double boiler, but do not bring it quite to the boil. Beat five eggs light and stir into them half a cupful of sugar. On this mixture pour the scalding milk very gradually, beating steadily all the time. Return to the double boiler and cook, stirring constantly until the custard is thick enough to coat the spoon. If boiled longer than this it will curdle and separate. Remove the custard from the fire, season with two teaspoonfuls of vanilla and set aside to cool. When cold nearly fill glasses or cups with the mixture and heap with a meringue made by whipping the whites of the eggs stiff with two tablespoonfuls of sugar.

Candied Pineapple.

Method—Pare and core thick slices of pineapple and leave in rings or cut into quarters. Boil one-half cupful of water with one cupful of sugar until well dissolved, then cook the pineapple in syrup until clear. Lay on waxed paper to dry after taking up. When quite dry place in tin box between waxed paper. A little lemon juice can be added to the syrup, and for pink pineapples add a few drops of fruit coloring.

Oatmeal Bread.

Four cupfuls of fine oatmeal, eight cupfuls of boiling water, one cupful of molasses, one tablespoonful of salt, one yeast cake, and four to make a stiff batter. Over the oatmeal pour the boiling water, and let it stand until cool, then add the yeast cake dissolved in a little luke warm water, molasses, salt and enough flour to make a stiff batter. Knead it with a little flour, allow it to rise, and then mould it into loaves. Allow This quantity will make eight loaves, to rise again, then bake for one hour.

LAST DANCE OF THE SEASON AT CHEMONG PARK, PAVILION

MONDAY EVENING, SEPT. 5. LABOR DAY

MUSIC BY THE SYMPHONY 3 ORCHESTRA AUGMENTED

THE REAL ISSUE

There is just one thing about Chiropractic that sick people are interested in and that is, "Will it make me well?" My friend, the everyday citizen enjoys the same privilege of opinion that I enjoy. I may argue with him from now till eternity on the merit of the premise upon which Chiropractic is founded. These things we may never agree upon; yet if we both see health come to a mutual friend after he has suffered for years, and if we learn that he has been regularly visiting his Chiropractor there can be no argument between us on the fact of what it has done for him. My friend cannot deny that Chiropractic is effective. We find that all our arguments have meant wasted effort and lost time; but the one thing worth while, the only thing that he, as a sick man is concerned about, is that Chiropractic brings health.

How can my friend satisfy himself that Chiropractic is effective, often where everything else has been tried? Let him investigate our National record and the record of his local Chiropractor. Our National record shows CHIROPRACTIC the leading drugless healing system today, while in 1894 it had not been born. Why this rapid development? Because millions of sane, straight-thinking people found themselves getting well under Chiropractic adjustments.

Just as sick people everywhere are interested in the one question, "Will it get me well?" So is the Chiropractor interested in the one issue of getting you well. He knows that his greater service to humanity in the future depends on his restoring health to you. You say, "Will Chiropractic make me well?" Our answer is our record of growth and this growth is exactly proportionate to the health Chiropractic has brought.

SIR WALTER CASSELLS, CHAIRMAN, AND SIR THOMAS WHITE, REPRESENTING THE GOVERNMENT, CONCUR IN JUDGMENT HANDED DOWN, STATING THAT WITHOUT RECENT GOVERNMENT ASSISTANCE THE SYSTEM WOULD HAVE BEEN FORCED INTO RECEIVERSHIP.

(Special and Canadia n Press Despatches.)

OTTAWA, Sept. 7.—The major ity ruling of the Grand Trunk Arbitration Board is that the common an d preference stock of the G. T. R. is worth nothing. Sir Walter Cassels, chairman of the Board, and Sir Thomas White, representative of t he Government, concur in the judgment handed out to-day. Hon. W. H. Taft, representative of the Company, dissents and presents a minor ity report.

Mr. Taft declares that the Government witnesses, Col. Montserrat in particular, showed "an enthusiasm of condemnation" in connection with the bridges, roadbed, etc., of the company, which was not justified. The system, he declared to be in as good operating condition as the average best roads in the United States. The standard set by the Government counsel and witnesses was a de luxe standard, which in these times was not necessary.

All three judges agreed that, to use the words of Mr. Taft, the association of the Trank Trunk with the Grand Trunk Pacific was the tragedy in the history of a system which had, by its pioneer efforts in Canada, earned the gratitude of the Canadian people. The burden which the latter roadbed imposed on the former was an impossible one to be borne and on this point all were agreed. The responsibility for the burden, however, the majority reports placed squarely on the shoulders of the Grand Trunk, which company, under President Hays, had entered into the contract without compulsion.

For the general efficiency and esprit de corps which existed among the officials of the Grand Trunk in Canada, Mr. Taft had high words of praise. "Had the policy of the company, as dictated from London," he said, "been as prudent and wise as that of the officials here, the fate of the company would have been vastly different."

In the opinion of the majority of the judges the Grand Trunk stocks in question would not have paid dividends in any case and the inevitable result without Government assistance would have been a receivership.

With the Grand Trunk Pacific obligations, to be contented with the situation was an unsurmountable one, and taking all things into consideration the stock had no value whatsoever. If any compensation were to be given that was for the Government and Parliament, and not for the Board to decide.

"Following all the evidence in the case," declared Sir Thomas White, "I have come to the following conclusions:

1—The actual earning power of the Grand Trunk before, during and since the war, and so far as can be estimated for the future, does not justify the assumption that any profits would from the date of the acquisition by the Government of the preferential and common shares, viz., May, 1921, ever have been available for distribution to the holders thereof, after providing for the conditional liability of the company in respect of the G. T. P. securities guaranteed by the company and dividends upon the guaranteed stock.

2—Having regard to its own continuing heavy deficits, the necessity for making provision for deferred and extraordinary maintenance and capital construction, and its heavy liability in respect of securities of the G. T. P. bearing its guarantee, the Grand Trunk Railway Company but for the financial support of the Government since May, 1920, must have been forced into receivership.

"Upon these conclusions I find that the preference and common stock of the G. T. R. Company of Canada have no value. Any question as to compassionate consideration of the shareholders must be for the Government and Parliament of Canada to deal with and not for this Board."

With this view Judge Cassels substantially agrees.

Under the circumstances as laid down in the majority report, the Government will only be liable in the acquistion of the system for its indebtedness and for the interest on the guaranteed stock.

Mr. Taft emphasized the fact that the Grand Trunk at its inception in 1853 had been financed by British money and that the shareholders were almost wholly in Great Britain. The capital stock had in all cases been paid. He declared that the tonnage business of the system had steadily increased, and that much foresight had been shown in the acquisition of land for terminals, etc. The operating efficiency was quite up to the average of that of the first class roads of the United States.

In the past heavy Government assistance had been given the C.P.R. and C.N.R., but very little to the Grand Trunk.

On the part of those whose duty it was to mete out and equip, the position of absent shareholders challenged consideration.

BETTES LITIGATION RIGHTS RESERVED

The incident is closed at last, and settlement with Russell-Townsend Co. for extra work on Hunter street bridge arranged in mutual satisfaction of both the city and contractors after several weeks' vexed controversy.

After but brief discussion of this matter in Council last night, the following resolution by Ald. Turner and Hamilton carried:

That Russell-Townsend Co. be paid $6,500 in full payment of all extra work done by them on the bridge, in accordance with the report of Engineer Frank Barber, and the legal opinion of City Solicitor Widdifield as to the City's liability; but that the rights of the City in respect to the Bettes litigation against Russell-Townsend Co. be reserved.

Originally, the contractors figured the actual extra work on the bridge at $105,000, and their plus commission at $13,600. For a quick settlement, some weeks ago, they offered to accept $6,500 in full payment of their claim, and Ald. Turner and Jones' motion that this offer be accepted was then turned down, but only to be agreed on in Council majority last evening.

This settlement of $6,500 means between 7 1-2 and 8 p.c. commission to the contractors on Engineer Barber's report of extras to the amount of $85,000 endorsed by him.

SEIZE LIQUOR TO VALUE OF MILLION

LAUNCH DRIVE AGAINST BIG LIQUOR RING.

(United Press)

NEW YORK, N.Y. Sept.7.—A million dollars worth of whiskey and two suspects were in the hands of the federal officials here today as they launched a drive what is alleged to be one of the biggest liquor rings in the country.

The men in custody gave the names of John Walton and Ellis A. Burnstein the latter is held as a witness. Further arrests are expected today.

The whiskey was seized on North River piers, shortly after it had been brought there from Kentucky and Maryland distilleries. There were more than 15,000 cases. This followed the discovery that 500 permits for removal of liquor from bond had been stolen from the office of prohibition director Hart. Three permits were used to get the liquor out of the warehouses. The ring is also believed to have transported big shipments of liquor to the United States from the Bahamas.

SETTLEMENT OF IRISH PROBLEM IS IN BALANCE

BRITISH CABINET MEETING IN SCOTLAND TO DRAFT REPLY TO LATEST NOTE OF REPUBLICANS.

PRESENCE OF KING THOUGHT OPPORTUNE

INVERNESS, Scotland, September 7. Canadian Press. — The British Cabinet at its meeting here today unanimously approved the reply of the government to the last note from Eamonn de Valera, the Irish Republian leader.

The reply was handed to Robert C. Barton, the Sinn Fein courier, who started for Dublin this afternoon at 4 o'clock with it.

INVERNESS, Scotland, Sept. 7.—(Canadian Press).—The settlement of the Irish question appeared to hang in the balance when members of the British Ministry met Prime Minister Lloyd George here to-day. It was said that the Ministers were not all in agreement as to the best method of proceedure to be adopted, some favoring further exchange of notes with the Sinn Fein. Others were said to be proposing that a virtual ultimatum be sent to Eamonn De Valera, giving him and his colleagues a fixed time in which to accept the British offer of dominion status for Ireland.

Mr. De Valera had apparently served notice in a statement issued to the press in Dublin yesterday that such an ultimatum would be regarded as tantamount to the denunciation of the truce which has been in force for the last two months. He stated that the ultimatum would be an "imposition of force and would mean war, not peace." This statement did not tend to make easier the task of the Ministers who arrived here to-day from London, but Prime Minister Lloyd George was represented as being opposed to breaking off negotiations with the Sinn Fein.

King George is staying at Moy Hall, near here, and his presence in the immediate neighborhood is looked upon as most opportune, as he has in the past few months played a particularly influential role in the work of handling the Irish question. Mr. Lloyd George and the King have been in close touch during the negotiations, and it was reported that the Prime Minister would confer with the Sovereign to-day, possibly before the note to the Irish Republicans was finally drafted.

CHEESE BOARD AT LOWEST MARK FOR MID-AUGUST MAKE

ONLY 711 BOXES OFFERED FOR SALE THIS MORNING—SOLD TO W. S. COOK, OF BELLEVILLE, AT 18 5-16 CENTS—ORMOND FACTORY NOT ON LIST TO-DAY.

The 711 boxes of cheese sold here to-day was the smallest make of August cheese on the records of the Peterborough Board, said the chairman, Mr. Thompson Bredin, when the total was announced.

It is partly explained by the absence of the Ormonde Factory, which was not represented by a salesman this morning.

"Probably we shall have to hold the Board at Lakefield after this," remarked Mr. Bredin in jest, for which there was considerable warrant.

"Or Warsaw," suggested Ed. Hawthorne.

W. S. Cook, of Belleville, cleared the Board at 18 5-16 cents, as compared with the 855 cheese at 21 7-16 cents at the previous auction.

G. A. Gillespie opened at 17 cents, and the price mounted up in sixteenths, passing the 18 mark.

T. Thompson, of Belleville, did not bid.

The factories boarded as follow: Warminster 75, Selwyn 86, Villiers 100, Warsaw 175, Young's Point 100, Lang 45, North Dummer 55, Killarney 75; total, 711.

The Board adjourned for two weeks.

THINK MURRELLS OUT OF LONDON

NOT ONE CLUE UNCOVERED BY POLICE IN INVESTIGATIONS.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 7. — After three days of energetic searching by city, Provincial and district police, no trace of Sydney and William Murrell, who escaped from the county jail Friday evening while waiting trial for murder and robbery, has been found. All leads followed by the officers run into thin air without so much as a clue being brought to light.

Last night and until three o'clock this morning, Provincial officers searched Manoor Park, former home of the fugitives, but without avail. A Provincial officer who has done good work in several cases in this district recently, is of the opinion that the fugitives have left this district.

EXTENSION FOR COLLEGIATE IS UNDECIDED YET

MRS. MORRIS SAYS INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL WOULD COST LESS AND WOULD REDUCE COLLEGIATE ATTENDANCE.

MR. KENNER SEES NO EFFECT ON ATTENDANCE

The Board of Education met last evening for the first time since the holiday season, with Dr. F. C. Neal in the chair.

There were present: Mrs. W. R. Morris, Messrs. G. H. Thompson, R. Denne, E. G. Patterson, J. W. Worth, J. A. McKone, J. M. Greene, and A. A. Fowler. Messrs. A. Mowat and H. R. H. Kenner were also present.

A communication was received from the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, requesting that the Board grant a half-holiday to the pupils of the Public Schools of Peterborough on Thursday, 15th September, for the purpose of attending the Exhibition; and, on the motion of Mr. Worth, this request was acceded to, on condition that the Exhibition authorities make the occasion a Children's Day, as is done in Toronto.

Mr. F. W. Miller, in a letter enclosing blank forms in connection with the enforcement of the new Adolescent Act, and recommending the installation of a full-time official with special office for this work. Up to date, 36 certificates and 2 home permits have been granted, 4 refused, and 6 promises of employment received. A number of children have given wrong ages.

A circular letter was received from the Ontario School Trustees' Association, asking the local Board to send a representative to a special meeting which takes place in Toronto in October to consider problems arising from the campaign carried on by the Teachers' Confederation.

School Boundaries.

Mr. A. Mowat reported on some of the difficulties surrounding the re-organisation of school districts in connection with the new Prince of Wales School. A line has been drawn between the King Edward School and the new school, with a centre at Charlotte and Park Streets, starting at Monaghan Road, allowing those north of Townsend and east of Aylmer Streets to go to the King Edward School as before. The King Edward School has been relieved of 100 pupils, and the attendance at the Prince of Wales School numbered 605 on the opening day.

The great difficulty lies between the Queen Mary and the new school, these lying so close together, and the proper distribution of the classes in the Central School, which opened yesterday was between 60 and 70 more pupils than it ever had before. According to Mr. Mowat, there is an astonishing number of five-year-old pupils, the Queen Mary and the new school each having between 70 and 80 of these young scholars to deal with in the kindergarten departments.

A suggestion that one of the forms in the South Central School be opened to relieve the congestion was referred to the Supervision Committee, with power to act.

The attendance in the Public Schools of the city easily numbers 200 more pupils than this time one year ago.

Collegiate Institute.

Mr. H. R. H. Kenner reported that the Collegiate Institute opened yesterday with an attendance of 450 pupils, the highest number last year being 406, eleven classrooms at the Collegiate being occupied, some to over-capacity, and that the commercial classes at the South Central School numbered 101 on the opening day.

Mr. Kenner had advised all parents desirous of sending their children to

EXTENSION OF STREET RAILWAY OVER RIVER REFUSED BY HYDRO ON GROUND REVENUE TOO SMALL

ENGINEER GABY REPORTS THAT POSSIBLE REVENUE WOULD NOT PAY FOR CONSTRUCTION OUTLAY—MOTOR 'BUS SERVICE UNDER CONSIDERATION—G. A. GILLESPIE CITY TRUST COMMISSIONER.

The Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario have flatly refused the city's request that the street railway be extended into East City, on the ground that its cost of construction would not be justified by the possible revenue therefrom.

This information was conveyed to the City Council last night in a communication from Hydro-Electric's Chief Engineer, F. A. Gaby, who, in part wrote that laying tracks along Hunter street to Rogers street, with overhead work, would cost $41,025.51. Add to that the cost of one new car—$11,000—and a total cost of $52,025.51 would be reached.

The alternative route suggested by Council, same as above, to corner of Hunter and Rogers street, thence north by Rogers, Dufferin and Concession streets to Nicholls Park, for track and overhead he estimated the cost at $67,268.65, to which would have to be added the cost of two new cars at $11,000 each, making a total of $89,268.65. Any such extension, Mr. Gaby figured, would result in a complete loss for the whole system. This mater went to the Railway committee.

Motor Bus Service.

In connection with the above, Ald. Turner suggested that when in Toronto on the Hydro radial railway matter, Council's committee inspect the motor bus at the Exhibition manufactured by Telling-Stevens Motor Limited, of England, and used with marked success in English cities. A couple of such busses might, he thought, solve East City's transportation problem if they could negotiate the snow in winter. Two of them would cost $25,000, less than building a street railway line from George to Rogers street. He would like to see a conference between the city and Hydro-Electric regarding such a buss line here in lieu of the street railway extensions refused. This motor bus is at present admitted into Canada free of duty for show at Toronto Exhibition. Were it demonstrated here or elsewhere in Canada the company would be assessed $500 duty charges.

A motion by Ald. Turner and Gordon that the Hydro-Electric Railway Commission be requested to consider the operation of such motor busses for East City transportation, carried.

Relieve Fire Sufferers.

A communication from the Mayor of Aylmer, soliciting financial aid for some 700 homeless and destitute people at Aylmer owing to the recent fire there, was sent to the Finance committee.

To Trim Trees.

The Bell Phone Co.'s request to trim trees on Charlotte street from Stewart street to the Monaghan road and thence north to Jackson Park, went to the City Engineer with power to act. This work is needed to remove all tree obstruction off their long distance lines to Lindsay and Port Hope.

Gasoline Tank.

Fire Losses.

Fire Chief George Grange reported the losses in this city for fire during August at $225. This report was received.

Police Court Fines.

The Clerk of Owen Sound forwarded a resolution from that city's Council, that it is not just for all fines under the criminal code and other statutes to go the Ontario government, when municipalities where such fines are collected bear all expenses connected therewith, including cost of police maintenance. These fines, a the resolution contended, should be paid to the municipalities where the offences are committe.

Council will endorse this resolution when submitted to the Ontario Municipal Association seeking for amendment, as implied in the foregoing.

Purchase Burnham Property.

On motion of Ald. Gainey, a cheque will be issued to the vendors of the Lundy property (old Rapid Tool Co., East City) for the purchase of that property. The amount is $6,250.

HOME FROM COLUMBUS KNIGHTS' CONVENTION

MR. W. S. MERRELL HAD ENJOYABLE AND EVENTFUL TRIP TO SAN FRANCISCO.

Mr. W. S. Merrell, who was one of the Ontario delegates at the Knights of Columbus convention at San Francisco returned home on Tuesday after an absence of seven weeks. The convention, he stated, was a memorable success. More than 5,000 delegates were registered, and with their friends numbered about 20,000 visitors to the city, which proved its boast that "they know how to do it." The entertainment features were lavish, including motor and boat trips, luncheons, and various attractions interspersing the business sessions. The civic welcome revealed the accustomed hospitality of San Francisco at its best. Mr. Merrell stated that the Canadian delegates, and escepially those from Ontario, were conspicuous in all the affairs of the convention, and helped materially in strengthening the cordiality between Canada and its big neighbour. Mr. Merrell was accompanied by his daughter Marguerite. They travelled West through the United States, and returned by way of Canada, meeting many friends in Edmonton, Saskatoon, and other Western cities. An unexpected surprise was his meeting Mrs. Merrell on a boat off Seattle. His wife has spent the summer on the coast, and will remain two months longer.

JAIL LIFE IS JUST TERRIBLE WITH NO SMOKES

So Says Mrs. M. Harrison, Recently Held in a Russian Prison.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. — Mrs. Margaret C. Harrison, correspondent of a Baltimore newspaper, who was recently released from a Russian prison, through the efforts of the American Relief Commission, arrived in New York recently.

"What was the worst privation you had to endure in jail?" asked the newspaper reporters, scenting stories of her subsisting on soup that came from old rubber boots and coffee fabricated from the bark of trees.

"I had no cigarettes," said rMs. Harrison. "It was terrible!"

She puffed vigorously at a "fag" as she spoke and on a table in her stateroom was a tray littered with a dozen or more cigarette butts. She is catching up for the time lost.

CENTRAL AMERICAN REBELLION QUELLED

NICARAGUAN TROOPS CO-OPERATE WITH HONDURAS.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Sept. 7.—(Canadian Press). — Prompt and energetic action by the Nicaraguan Government in sending three thousand well-equipped troops to the Honduran front has completely quelled the revolutionary uprising there. The revolutionists had captured several small villages, but were forced to flee into Honduras, where General Cardona of the Honduras army captured five generals, 17 colonels, 36 captains, 45 lieutenants and 1,208 soldiers.

PRETTY BACKGROUND WEBB-WORTH WEDDING

One of the prettiest backgrounds for the numerous pretty weddings of this season was provided on the occasion of the Webb-Worth nuptials which took place at All Saints' church on Saturday last. The sunlight pouring in through the purple-paned windows of stained glass behind the altar seemed to blend harmoniously with the color scheme of the decorations, carried out in mauve and white. A triple line of square arches, with soft draperies of mauve and white chiffon and long streamers, traversed each aisle, while a rounded arch with the same soft arrangement, topped by flowers held in large grey and purple silk-covered bowls, surmounted the first steps to the altar. The entire front of the chancel was covered with misty draperies in the same soft tones of orchid and white, banked by ferns in natural bark baskets, palms in tall standards, and masses of purple and white asters, intermingled with the feathery strands of tall cosmos blooms. Simulated pillars of pure white supported the arch, which was flanked by interlacing sections of white lattice work, twined and wreathed with the purple and white and green of the floral decorations, extending on and up to the altar, where three twinkling electric globes, hung pendant from an artistic lattice-work arrangement. Huge bowls of mauve and white asters topped the altar, completing a vista which gradually opened out from here down to the entrance in a mauve and white perspective of fresh and fragrant bloom. The whole decorative scheme, conceived and carried out by Messrs. Percy Blade, of A. Blade & Son, Florists, and Charles Lapp, of the Turnbull Company's staff, was a credit to their artistic ability along this line.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—(Canadian Press).—Further coverings of short contracts in Oils, Steels, Equipments, Motors and Food issues continued at the irregular opening of to-day's Stock Market. Mexican Petroleum, Crucible Steel, General Electric, Chandler Motor, American Sugar and Manat Sugar recovered early gains, changing from liberal fractions to almost two points.

Zoo extended its gain to four points and other rails of the investment and speculative types were in demand. Cotton carriers were materially strengthened by the further rise in that staple, and Wisconsin Central was conspicuous for its gain of 5 1-2 points. Tobaccos, Secondary Motors and Steels, North American and United Drug first preferred also remained strong.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Sept. 7. Canadian Press.—After opening 53 7-8 for September, 54 1-4 to 54 1-2 for December, and 58 7-8 for May there was a slight slump and at the end of the first hour corn was off shade to 3-4 from the opening.

Oats took the course of other grains. Trading was light.

Wheat opened 35 3-4, December at 33 3-4 and May at 42 1-2 to 42 5-8.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

TORONTO, Sept. 7.—(Canadian Press).—Receipts 755; trade light. Heavy beef steers, no quotation; butcher steers, choice, $6 to $6.50; butcher cows, medium, $3 to $4; calves, $10 to $12; lambs, $8 to $8.25; hogs, selects, $10.50 to $11.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, Sept. 7. — Canadian Press. -- This morning's session of the local stock exchange was featured by strength in Toronto rails, Steel of Canada and Brazilian. The first named stock advanced 4 points to 74, at the close on sales of close to 300 shares. No explanation is given for the spurt other than the oft-repeated assertion that the final settlement of the sale price will show the intrinsic value of the shares greater than the prevailing prices, Steel of Canada made a gain of 2 points, selling at 50 as compared with 48 yesterday. Brazilian's contribution to the gain column was 5/8 of a point with the last sale at 24 5-8 as against 24 yesterday.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, September 7.—Canadian Press.—This morning's session on the local exchange was without feature. Abitibi rose 3-4 of a point to 27 3-4, while Brazilian went up 1 1-8 points to 24 3-8 while Brazilian went up 1 1-8 points to 24 3-8. Brompton too was stronger and closed for the morning at 17 1-2, its last closing figure being 16 1-4.

I LOVE TO STEAL AWAY.

I love to steal a while away
From every cumbering care,
And spend the hours of closing day
In humble fervent prayer.

I love in solitude to shed
The penitintial tear.
And all his promises to plead
When none but God can hear.

I love to think on mercies past
And future good implore,
And all my cares and sorrows cast
On Him whom I adore.

I love by faith to take a view
Of brighter scenes in heaven;
The prospect doth my strength renew
While here by tempests driven.

Then when life's toilsome day is o'er
May its departing ray
Be calm, as this impressive hour
And lead to endless day.

SEES LESS PESSIMISM.

Worst Is Over When We Can Laugh Over Our Follies, Says Bank.

The National City Bank, reviewing the business situation, says the partial demoralization of industry is not confined to the United States and Canada, but is virtually the same everywhere. "The demoralization and poverty of Europe, resulting from the war, is of course a factor," says the bank, "but the chief cause, even in Europe, is not the losses of the war, but the unbalanced state of industry as between the producers of primary products, on the one hand, and the groups engaged in trading and transportation, on the other hand.

"There seems to be nothing to do but allow the economic forces to work things out in their own relentless way. The workers in each industry have the privilege of saying that they will not come down until everybody else does, and perhaps not then. Nobody has authority to say who shall come down first, or that anybody shall come down. They will have to settle it among themselves.

"Meanwhile, however, millions of men are idle and millions of wages are being lost. It is a pity the agony must be so long drawn out, a pity the inevitable adjustments cannot be quickly made, with intelligent comprehension and a co-operative spirit.

"Notwithstanding the many discouraging factors in the situation, reports from over the country indicate that pessimism is less intense than earlier in the year. People begin to feel better as they see their debts go down, and it is said in some parts of the West they have even begun to joke about the absurdities of the late extravaganza. When people are able to laugh over their own follies the worst is over. But they will not feel that conditions are right, nor be in position to resume normal buying, until the prices and wages which they have to pay have come down to correspond with the prices of their own products. And for this nobody can blame them."

MAN LIVING LONGER.

Average Life Lengthens Four Years in Past 25, Says Physician.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 7.—The average life of man has lengthened four years in the last quarter century, despite the crime wave, war, automobiles and other hazards.

"Within another generation, the allotted three score years and ten will be a thing of the past," Dr. George W. Hoaglan declared, basing his claims on mortality statistics of the American Insurance Union, of which he is secretary.

"Improvements brought about in sanitation, the nation-wide anti-spitting fight and other steps have contributed toward man's longevity," Dr. Hoaglan said. "Severe epidemics of typhoid and malaria, which formerly took such a huge toll of life, no longer are known."

CAMPBELLFORD PROVIDES QUARTERS FOR REGIMENT

COUNCIL PREPARING BY-LAW TO GIVE LEASE OF THE BIG OGILVIE STONE HOUSE TO "C" COMPANY OF 40TH REGIMENT FOR AN ARMORY

HOSPITAL IDEA REJECTED

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 7. — Lease of the Ogilvie property on Tice street to "C" Company of the 40th Northumberland Regiment, was virtually assured last night by the Council's resolution that a bylaw be prepared authorizing the Mayor and the Clerk to sign the agreement embodying a lease.

A counter proposal and request was made by P. J Soules,, present occupant of the big stone house on one of the town's main streets, who asked that it be rented to him for hospital purposes. His petition was signed by 99 other citizens, including D. A. Owen, J. A. Anderson, J. M. Ferris, R. A. Linton, H. B. Longmore, B.A., M.D., F. de F. Free, M.B., G. A. Hay, V.S., T. E. Half, H. O. Richardson, Chas. Benor.

Councillor Palliser moved that the Ogilvie property be inspected to ascertain its fitness for a hospital before any decision was arrived at.

In seconding this motion Councillor Wilkinson made a strong plea in support of Mr. Soules' petition.

The motion lost, and another resolution by Deputy-Reeve Stone, seconded by Reeve Davidson, instructing Town Solicitor I. A. Humphries, to prepare a bylaw empowering the Mayor and the Clerk to sign the lease. Councillor Wiggins voted for this motion, which carried.

The members present last night were Major A. J. Meyers, Reeve C. Davidson, Deputy-Reeve J. N. Stone, and Councillors C. W. Palliser, W. S. Wiggins and J. R. Wilkinson.

Councillors R. S. Southworth, W. J. Meiklejohn and T. S. Baker were absent.

The council's decision to abide by and fulfil their action, begun at a previous meeting, to lease the Ogilvie property to the Campbellford company, also had a subsequent effect of terminating a prolonged discussion of a proposal to buy from the Feris estate for $1500, a two-acre lot on Saskatoon and Second streets, for a memorial park. Mrs. Dr. Haig and Mrs. J. P. Archer, representing the I.O.D.E., ardently advocated their plans for a suitable monument to Campbellford's soldiers that could be erected in the proposed park.

Reeve Davidson opposed it on the ground that the Ferris lot was not sufficiently central and that it was too dear at $1500. He suggested that the front lawn at the Ogilvie property which the town was leasing to the regiment as a much better place for a soldiers memorial and would not impose the expense of purchasing property. This idea appealed to members of the council, and Mr. Wiggins, who had seconded Mr. Wilkinson's motion that the Council buy the Ferris property for a memorial park, withdrew his support.

The discussion therefore ended where it had opened except that apparently it was understood that the proposed memorial could not be better situated than on the Ogilvie lawn.

"Surely Campbellford can afford two beauty spots," Mrs. Haig pleaded ,and after listening until 10.20 o'clock to the Council's debate, she and Mrs. Archer left. "We

WOLVES, BUSH FIRES AND HUSKING BEES AT APSLEY

APSLEY NEWS BUDGET RECALLS THE PIONEER DAYS OF OLD —PESONALS.

APSLEY, Sept. 7.— The wolves are commencing their fall depredations already, three sheep belonging to E. L. Blackewll being killed on Saturday night. It is reported today that a farmer in Clydesdale, who had lost seven, shut the remainder of the flock in the barn at night. The other evening, hearing a disturbance amongst them, he went out with his rifle and fired indiscriminately, killing one wolf and wounding another, which he secured the next morning.

Bush Fires.

A bush fire is raging near Sandy Lake in Methuen township and is endangering a number of stacks of marsh hay in that locality. Many of the owners went out on Sunday to try and save them. Their destruction would be a calamity to many settlers, whoare depending on their supply of marsh hay for the winter's feeding of their stock.

Husking Bee.

One of the old itme "husking bees," which are becoming rarer every year, was held at the home of Mr. Albert Wilson on Monday evening. A number of young people, and some of the old ones too, spent a very busy two hours in husking the corn, the excitement of finding the "red ear or cob" which entitles the finder to certain osculatory privileges, adding zest to the work. After the corn was all husked the company were served with a dainty supper by the host and hostess and an enjoyable hour was spent in games and music. A very jolly evening was brought to a close with singing Auld Lang Syne. Among the huskers were noticed the Revs. Spence and Lord and Mrs. Lord, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Stevens, whose industry equalled that of the younger ones.

Church News.

The Rev. C. Lord, who for nearly twenty years was rector of the Apsley mission, and who left here ten years ago, is spending a few days in the village accompanied by Mrs. Lord.

On Sunday last he preached at St. Andrew's, Owenbrook, St. Paul's, Lasswade, and St. George's, Apsley, and large congregations attended each church to meet their former pastor. During his long ministry here, Mr. Lord worked assiduously and unselfishly for the spiritual and bodily welfare of all classes and creeds and that their affection for him has not waned was evidenced in the church attendances yesterday, many who attended having come long distances. One family had a 60 mile journey to cover by motor car after the evening service, to reach their home.

Card of Thanks.

Mr. Duncan Brown, whose store and house were destroyed by fire last week, desires to extend his sincere thanks to all those who worked so hard to combat the fire, and for their offers of assistance and sympathy.

Personals.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Dan Whitmore on the birth of a daughter on Saturday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman James motored from Dunsford to Apsley on Sunday.

E. C. Clarke and son Clinton, Gertrude M. Reager, Nina Johnston, Mildred Rousman, all of Pittsburgh, Pa., registered at the Union hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Shewen (nee Miss Doris Spence) are rejoicing in the birth of a son on Monday, September 5th.

BOATS COLLIDE AT EXHIBITION, 1 DEAD, 1 HURT

LEOPOLD VI. DRIVER HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER

TORONTO, Sept. 7.—(Canadian Press.)—In a collision between two of the fastest displacement motor boats at the National Exhibition water front yesterday, one man was injured so badly that he died on the way to the hospital, and another is in the General Hospital with serious injuries. The dead man is J. A. Pyke, Montreal ,builder and designer of the speed launch Clarie III. The injured man is George La Chappelle, Glen Road, Toronto, who was mechanic in the Clarie.

Alf. Rogers, owner of the Clarie, who was driving, was , pinned beneath the wheel and was carried under the water when the boat sank. La Chappelle, although badly injured, realized Rogers' desperate plight and dragged him clear of the wheel. The force of the impact threw Pyke out of the boat into the water, from which he was rescued.

Arthur C. Laus, engineer, aged 30, registered at the King Edward Hotel, who was driving Mr. Charles' Leonard VI, was taken into custody by Detective Koster at the Exhibition Grounds following the accident and charged with manslaughter. He was conducted to Claremont street police station, where bail of ten thousand was granted and he was released. He will be called in police court this morning.

SEPTEMBER MORN.

She Added Market Basket to Wardrobe in Cincinnati.

Milkmen J. F. Staehle and A. H. Dietz, going about their early morning round of front porches, saw a fair maiden, wearing only a market basket on her arm. She tripped lightly down the street, minding their glances not at all.

Staehle and Dietz called the police finally, and the girl was taken to headquarters, and then to a hospital, where physicians said she seemed dazed, and talked about trying to find a relative.

UNDERTAKER IS TO GO IN NAME

TORONTO, Sept. 7.—(Canadian Press.)—The old-fashioned "undertaker" is to go in name. This was practically assured as a result of the action of the executive of the Canadian Embalmers' Association at the afternoon session of the thirty-eighth annual convention, which opened yesterday in the Biological Building of Toronto University. The executive made the recommendation that the name of the Association be changed to that of the "Ontario Funeral Service Association," so that in event of the general body at the morning's session endorsing the executive's recommendations, which is probably, individual members of the profession will be known as "directors of funeral service."

When the convention opened yesterday morning there were 350, of a total membership of 600, present. Mayor Church welcomed the delegates.

HASTINGS AND DISTRICT NEWS

CABINET WOULD BREAK OFF THE IRISH PARLEYS

BUT LLOYD GEORGE'S DESIRE TO GIVE SINN FEIN ANOTHER CHANCE MAY PREVAIL TO-DAY.

MAY GIVE IRELAND MONTH TO ACCEPT

INVERNESS, Scotland, Sept. 7. —(By United Press.)— A peremptory note to Sinn Fein breaking off negotiations was considered by the British Cabinet, which met the Prime Minister here to-day. Nine members of the Government arrived here early to-day for the conference which is to determine upon the reply to De Valera's "unequivocal rejection' 'of the British offer.

Although the 'Cabinet first discussed the possibility of putting an end to the almost fruitless argument, there was said to be hope that Premier Lloyd Georges reported desire to give Sinn Fein another chance would prevail. The Cabinet's note to De Valera might set a time limit, possibly a month, it was said, to give moderate opinion in Ireland an opportunity to force acceptance of the British proposals.

The unusual feature of the meeting of the British Cabinet, which was practically to settle the fate of Ireland in this "Capital of the Highlands," far from the recesses of Downing Street, attracted many sightseers and curious Scots to the vicinity of the town hall, where the Prime Minister and his colleagues met.

Sir Neville Macready prepared to appear before the Cabinet, although it was understood that he had laid the military situation and the possibilities in case the truce was broken, before Lloyd George.

After breakfast, the Prime Minister motored to the town hall, where many of the Cabinet Ministers were already gathered, and they entered the Municipal Council Chamber together.

MESSAGES FROM MARS?

Once again we are assured by Marconi that signals are being sent earthward from its nearest planet, Mars, in the form of etheric waves ten times longer than those he claims were used on a previous occasion. One can hardly dispute with Marconi the existence of these etheric waves, but few will accept readily his contention that they prove Mars is inhabited, and that its people are endeavoring to get into communication with us by some system of wireless telegraphy. These undulations may not come from Mars, to which source, however, they are presumably attributed, partly because Mars is nearer Earth than any other planet in our Solar system. Then, again, this supposition may be entertained from astronomers declaring that of all the planets Mars would be the least unlikely to engender and support life resembling that here.

An authority in a New York exchange opines that Marconi's contention that Martians are signalling to us rests on an exceedingly shaky foundation, based in part on the belief of America's late astronomer, Percival Lawell, that through his telescope he could see on Mars a network of "canals," and that these were the work of beings with intelligence and needs much like our own. Mr. Lowell's recognized ability in his profession was such that his theories about Mars were heard and his books read with care and patience in and out of astronomical circles, but it was outside of those circles, not in them, that his "canals" gained credence and his conclusions from them were largely accepted.

DAIRY PRODUCTS.

As the result of campaigning in Baltimore, U.S.A., to demonstrate the nutrition properties of milk, its consumption during the past six months, despite general business depression, has shown a substantial increase; and a marked improvement has, in many instances, been noted in health of people there through the increased use of dairy products generally.

The principal work in increasing the consumption of milk has been done through schools, 148 of the 150 Public schools having milk at least part of the six months. A total of 1,537,424 half-pint bottles of milk were consumed by school children. Of this number 1,462,688 were paid for, 11.3 per cent. being donated by milk dealers.

Teachers in Baltimore are quite enthusiastic over the splendid results shown, as teachers in Peterborough would be were a similar policy for improving their scholars' physical and mental health adopted in our schools.

At Baltimore, as in many American cities and towns, in order that teachers might be instructed concerning the high food value of milk, nutrition lectures have been presented to groups of teachers on such subjects as "Milk for the Family," and "What Milk Will Do for Your Child." Essay and poster contests were conducted, fully 60,000 children writing essays. The many clever posters made indicate much interest among the children and a very good understanding of the large place milk occupies in the proper diet. Display posters were placed in such prominent places as restaurants, grocery stores, factories, etc. Lectures were also given before gatherings of parents, school nurses, milk drivers, etc., under the direction of that city's Dairy Council in co-operation with the Board of Education.

In furtherance of suggested education on the beneficial results accruing to the human race from making of milk and its products a generous daily diet, let us point out that it must be something more than a mere coincidence that the progressive peoples of the world live so largely on dairy products. In the United States Naval Academy, at Annapolis, milk is served in great abundance and each boy in training on the athletic squad is required to use a quart of milk each day. And there is abundance of evidence that milk, butter, cheese, eye, and ice cream are good for boys and girls, for people of mature years, for babies, for young and old, for everybody. People living in cities should use more milk even at present prices, and there is certainly no reason why a family living on a farm or in a suburban district should ever suffer for a lack of it. Health, comfort, prosperity, and a good living are only a few of the many benefits enjoyed by a family that appreciates dairy products.

BENEFITS OF TRADE MUST BE MUTUAL.

The recent instructions to United States Consuls in Canada to assist by every means in their power the restoration of exchange between the two countries to a more normal level will come as a rude shock to those who think that trade is chiefly a matter of tariff legislation. This is quite apart from the question of the relative merits of Free-trade and Protection as policies. It is based upon the fundamental law of trade, that in order to sell we must be prepared to buy. Trade consists not in the exchange of goods for money, but in the exchange of goods for other goods or services. Money is used, of course, but merely as a means of facilitating the exchange. Goods are first sold for money, but unless the money is used to buy other goods, it is useless. Any tariff is a tax levied by the Government on imports, and the effect is to reduce the amount of goods which the foreigner will obtain in exchange for the goods which he exports to that particular country. If the tax reduces the foreigner will obtain in exchange for the goods he exports to that particular country. If the tax reduces this too much, the foreigner will naturally go where he can get better returns, and the trade is lost.

In normal times when exchange between countries was around par, this was not so clear, but now when the majority of countries are operating with a depreciated currency, the real situation is gradually becoming more apparent.

As to whether Protection or Free-trade is the more desirable will depend entirely on local conditions in any country and the financial needs of that country. In Canada a tariff is absolutely necessary, owing to the need of revenue, but, if the tariff is such that foreigners cannot trade with us and make a profit, it will defeat its object, by making it impossible for Canada to market its surplus, and as this is essential for the prosperity of the country, the result of the reduced foreign trade will be serious.

A very hopeful sign in the instructions above noted is that the Consuls are to investigate opportunities for desirable investments for American capital. Such capital does not come to Canada in the shape of money. American money is no use here; it must be sent back to the United States to be used, and it will therefore reach us eventually in the form of goods. This is true whether the goods come in at the time, or whether, as is the case at present, the goods have already come in and have to be paid for. The payment which we make must be in the form of goods, whether payment be delayed or not. If payment could be made in gold it would still be in the form of goods, as gold is a commodity, whether in the shape of coin or bullion, and is exchanged by weight. All that a coin indicates is the weight and fineness of the metal it contains, and Jevons' definition of a coin is "An ingot of which the weight and fineness are guaranteed by the Government and certified by the integrity of designs impressed on the surface of the metal."

If American capital comes in as a result of the Consuls' investigations, one thing is certain, it means that in time the United States tariff must be adjusted to permit the import into that country of Canadian commodities at a profit to the Canadian exporter. Trade, if it is to exist, must be mutually profitable to both buyer and seller.—Financial Post.

LITERARY GEMS

"WISDOM OF THE EGYPTIANS"

The wisdom of the Egyptians was sumarized in various compends of proverbial philosophy. One of these written centuries before the birth of Moses is termed the most ancient book of the world. In common with other papyri of a similar character, it inculcates the study of wisdom, the duty of honoring parents and superiors, of respecting property, of being charitabe, peaceabe, contented, humble, chaste, sober, truthful and just. It shows, on th eother hand, that disobedience, strife, arrogance, pride, slothfulness, intemperance and impurity and other vices are wicked and foolish.

And the civilzed world today is far from living up to the moral teachings of even the heathen Egyptians. In fact it is feared by both Christian thinkers and materialists that so-called Christian races are rubbing shoulders with anarchy—that the "red flag" is too ever-present.

In India there are 70,000,000 Mohammedans who are strictly enjoined by their religion to wrap the bodies of their dead in fresh sheets that have never been used.

"The Courtesy of Kings"

"In business—as in football"—(says a subscriber) "insignificant openings often lead to important developments. We look on each telephone call as an opportunity to buy or sell service, so our men jump to pick up the receiver as soon as the bell stops ringing. Delays often lose business."

Promptness is the essence of teamwork. Louis XIV said it was "the courtesy of Kings."

WISE AND OTHERWISE

Some men always find a newspaper so interesting that they have to stop to read it when they see an intriguing bit of fluff on a street corner.

"Alimony," says the crabbed bachelor who lives next door, "is what you pay the oculist Marriage for opening the blind eyes of love."

Another thing which takes the joy out of joyriding is when you start out to have a blow out and a tire beats you to it.

Love is what makes a young man on his vacation-sit up half the night framing a letter to the girl back home.

Now that an election campaign is with us we can expect daily a gist of rumors which the headlines will declare dissipated the next day. Well, rumors are about all that can be dissipated these days.

While we are not interested in the business ourself, we take the following recipe for making Perkins' Home-brewed Hootch from The Winnipeg Free Press and place it before those who are interested in the preliminary details of their own funerals:

Then add:

Two gallons of pickle brine.

Six quarts of shellac.

Eight bars of home-made soap.

Four pints of sweet spirits of nitre.

Boil three weeks. Then strain through I. W. W. sock to prevent working. Bottle and add mule to each quart to give the proper kick.

And then, as The New York Evening Mail observes, there is one automobile for every fourteen persons in the United States and the other thirteen are always in the way of it at street crossings.

KENT JR. AND TOM BARNEY.

Chapter 56.

When Kent Jr. reached the interesting age of three years, he was a handsome kiddie. It was not just Kent's and my affectionate eyes that perceived it, but every one who saw him agreed heartily.

The boy had inherited his father's dark brown eyes, and yet his hair was a red-gold like mine. It was a striking combination. And he was as sturdy and strong as a boy of five years, and quite superior in intelligence—so we thought.

Kent Jr. and his father were devoted. The baby would wait and watch for Kent at night quite as eagerly as I did. I would often find him, his little face pressed close to the front window, looking out on the street, and he would look up at me inquiringly and say: "Daddy?" with real longing in his baby voice.

He was also very fond of all Kent's friends. He seemed much more interested in men and would go to them readily without any sign of fear of shyness. His willlingness to make friends with anyone masculine proved to be both a danger and a blessing.

He was unusually fond of Tom Barney, and Tom returned his love and trust ardently. Baby refused to call Tom by his first name, but insisted upon addressing him as "Barnee," with a rising inflection on the last syllable.

He seemed to deem it correct masculine style to use the last name when talking to one of his devoted pals. We laughed a great deal over it and even wondered what made him elect to address Tom in that manner, since even Kent usually called Tom by his first name as the rest of us did. Tom was his devoted slave and adored his new nick-name. He never came to the house which was decidedly often, without bringing some toy to Kent Jr. I declared he would spoil him, but Tom only grinned and continued the spoiling.

One afternoon in late September, Nancy asked if I would like to have her take the baby out for a walk. I had been suffering from a headache all day and was quite willing to let her. His little piping voice was not overly soothing to my aching head. So I told her to keep him right out in front of the house and not to stay longer than an hour. The days were beginning to grow shorter and it was almost dark by 5 o'clock.

After she had gone I went to the front window and watched for them to cross the street. I always felt a little nervous of the rushing automobiles and busses. I sat down in an easy chair by the window and watched them for a while. My eyes were divided between the beauties of the Hudson River and the Jersey shore beyond, and my motherly interest in the boy.

Nancy finally sat down on one of the benches along the edge of the park. I suddenly discovered that she was talking to the man who was sitting next to her. I did not like her to do that. And the man's looks did not appeal to me.

When she came in later I asked her about it.

"Yes, he is a friend of mine," she said, grinning foolishly.

"Please, Nancy, I don't wish you to entertain company during working hours. I give you plenty of time off—and besides, I don't care to have your attention diverted from Kent for one minute," I said sternly.

Nancy did not answer me, but I noticed a decidedly sullen expression pass over her face. She did not wait to help Kent Jr. take off his coat and hat, but flounced out of the room and back to the kitchen.

I let the matter drop, but I did not like the way she had acted.

Tomorrow—My Faith in Nancy Is Shaken.

HUN VESSEL RELEASED.

TAMPICO, Mexico, Sept. 7.—(Associated Press).—The German-owned ship Antonina which has lain idle in Tampico harbor since its internment in 1914, has received orders to clear for Hamburg, stopping at New Orleans for a cargo. The vessel was alleged to have been engaged in carrying arms and ammunition for the Huerta administration and was interned by President Carranza. When the United States entered the war it became impossible for the vessel to get out of the Gulf of Mexico.

CAN DO AS GOOD WORK AS ANYONE

DECLARES HE HAS PLENTY OF STRENGTH AND ENERCY SINCE TANLAC RESTORED HEALTH.

"Tanlac has restored me to perfect health, and the best I can say for it is not as good as it deserves," said John Kelly, an employee of the Fred Construction Company, residing at 129 Bold street, Hamilton, Ont.

"Two years ago I had a severe case of pneumonia which left me in an awful weakened condition, and a few weeks later I had an attack of grippe. My stomach got all out of order, and I could scarcely eat enough to keep me alive. For six weeks my legs were so weak I just had to hobble around on crutches, and my back and shoulders hurt awfully. I couldn't stoop over without hurting so bad I thought my back would break. I couldn't bring my hands together in front of me because of the pains in my shoulders. I was constipated nearly all the time.

"Well, since taking Tanlac I know it is a wonderful builder. It gave me a whale of an appetite after I had only taken one bottle, and instead of my food giving me indigestion like it used to, it got to agreeing with me perfectly so that I always had plenty of strength and energy. In fact, I feel as well today as I ever did in my life and can do as good a day's work as any man. Tanlac can't be recommended too highly."

Dear Jack,

Now don't "spoof" me — sit down right — and tell me "honest injun", do you really truly want me to come? 'Cause if you do, why of course I can come, — but I think it would be much more exciting for you to come up here.

I caught a fish yesterday! I won't tell you how large it was, because you wouldn't believe me anyway!

And Jack, the funniest thing happened this morning. I overheard a couple of men talking about Campana's Italian Balm. The one man was praising it up and telling the other how marvellously soothing it was after shaving — you just had to rub a tiny bit on the face, etc. etc. I felt like chipping in and saying, "you're right old man!" — (But I didn't!!)

Ever your old Peggy.

HOW TO END ACHING FEET

New-day treatment keeps feet in perfect condition

A little book, entitled "The Proper Care of the Feet," is helping a good many people to free themselves from the nervous strain and constant annoyance of paining feet.

It shows simple ways to keep the feet in proper condition—how to overcome excessive perspiration, how to soothe aching muscles and tendons, how to reduce swelling, how to get instant relief from corns and how to end them, in fact this little book is all that its name infers: "The Proper Care of the Feet."

This booklet accompanies each box of Blue-jay Foot Treatment, which may be obtained at your druggist, or a free copy of the booklet will be sent if you write to Bauer & Black, Limited, Toronto.

A Car as Fine As Its Wonderful Motor

Everywhere you hear the Chalmers motor spoken of with real enthusiasm by its owners.

It is due the Chalmers motor that it should be praised. For it is truly a wonderful car.

Its Great Performance

It is wonderful in the efficiency it gets from to-day's poor gasoline. In the added miles it returns. In the way it performs and stands up.

These things are largely due to preheating the fuel by the hot-spot before it enters the cylinders.

As a direct result of this fine performance, upkeep and replacement costs on the Chalmers are surprisingly low.

Motor Not Only Feature

But Chalmers excellence is far from beginning and ending with its motor. It is a car that is finely built in every detail.

It affords consummate riding comfort, drives with a minimum of effort, and is beautiful in design and finish. We invite you to look into Chalmers records and Chalmers standing without delay.

YOUNG WOMEN AVOID PAIN

This One Tells How She Was Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Regina, Sask.—"For two years I suffered from periodic pains and nauses so I was unable to get around. My mother had me take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am much better and able to go about all the time, which I could not do before. I recommend Vegetable Compound to my friends if I know they suffer the same way, and you may publish my letter if it will help any one, as I hope it will."—Miss Z. G. BLACKWELL, 2073 Osler Place, Regina Sask.

If every girl who suffers as Miss Blackwell did, or from irregularities, painful periods, backache, sideache, dragging down pains, inflammation or ulceration would only give this famous root and herb remedy a trial they would soon find relief from such suffering.

It hardly seems possible that there is a woman in this country who will continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, proving beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other medicine in the world.

For special advice women are asked to write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of forty years experience is at your service.

AN IDEAL SUMMER OUTING IN NORTH.

CHEMONG, Sept. 7.—The annual Canadian summer outing of the Cincinnati party, headed by James A. Green and guided by five guides from Chemong under the leadership of Alfred McCue, was one of the most ambitious and adventurous trips of its kind on record. The only interruption that excited the minds of the guides was when landing at Hudson, on the Canadian National, they found that their tents, blankets and cooking utensils had not been landed, but were carried on to Winnipeg. A canoe was also missing.

Not being able to secure hotel accomodation (as there is none at the place) the poor fellows had to spend the night without the necessary comforts in the forest, but fully trusting in kind Providence for protection. Fortunately, however, the missing paraphernalia arrived the following evening.

600 Miles.

The journey began at Lost Lake, near Sioux Lookout, in the Kerona district of Western Ontario, and ended at Ombabika, in the Nipigon district. The route was northward a hundred miles through Lac Seul and intervening rivers and lakes, through Lake St. Joseph, down the Albany two hundred and fifty miles, thence through a succession of lakes and rivers southward to the Nipigon district, one hundred and seventy-five miles, making a total of five hundred and twenty-five miles in all. Side trips were added, bringing the grand total to at least six hundred miles.

This route included fourteen separate rivers, twenty-five lakes, forty-two portages of a total length of nine miles and involved the making of twenty-seven separate and distinct camps, most of which were for a one night's stay and none over four.

A Grand Feature.

The Albany River was the grand feature of the trip, with its miles of rapids and mighty cataracts, but except an occasional ducking from the fast flying spray the floatilla of five canoes came through unscathed. Trout, the equal in size of any in the waters of the Nipigon or Sault Ste. Marie, were in all the rapids, but this region is so remote that the followers of Isaac Walton have yet to discover its real worth.

The party consisted of Mr. James A. Green, his son Matthew, his brother Lonsdale from Chicago, his cousin Herbert Randall and Misses Mary and Bertha Allin. Last, but not least, came Prof. Fenniman of the University of Cincinnati, one of the noted geologists of America, whose observations on the formation of the rocks and minerals was most instructive.

The Guides.

Mr. Alf. McCue selected as guides John Tobico, Wm. Smoke, Samuel Williams and Albert Taylor, all men that showed their mettle in the presence of the native crees of the Albany waters; and with the paddle or on portage path they did not travel so far away from home to take lessons in camp craft or any of the arts of out-door man or sportman.

The party visited the Lac Seul post, Osnahburg House and Fort Hope, posts founded by the Hudson Bay Co. in 1786.

On the 24th of August, soon after midnight, the guides embarked on the train at Ombabika, rejoicing on their way home to Chemong.

shall leave it with the men," Mrs. Haig remarked.

Treated 17 Patients.

"We've had a hospital there all summer," said Mr. Soules, presenting his petition. "We have had numerous patients. Three doctors promised to give a month each turn about for those who cannot afford to pay. They will be treated free if they cannot pay. They would simply have to pay for their rooms and board. The two Doctors Free, Dr. Richardson and Dr. Longmore, offered to give their services. We would have to put in an operation table, beds, hot water, etc. We do not ask the council for anything except the building to carry on in, and we are willing to pay the rent you decide on. We have already spent $300 on the building, wiring, painting and papering it."

Mr. Soules stated that 17 patients had been treated in the "hospital" since it was opened this summer.

Mayor Meyers reviewed the facts regarding the property whereby it had been bought for an armouries and had been donated by the town to the government. It was turned back to the town when the govtue decided that they could not proture,decided that they ould not proceed with the erection of the armouries.

"A hospital is a very desirable institution for the town," said His Worship. "If there is going to be a hospital here it looks to me as if there would have to be quite a bit of money spent on one. This petition asks us to take steps contrary to the purposes a former Council had in mind when they bought that property. There is no guarantee that the hospital would be continued. They would have to supply trained nurses."

Councillor Palliser moved, seconded by Councillor Wilkinson, that the Council be a committee to inspect the Ogilvie building in order that the members might be in a better position to know what action to take.

This motion was defeated.

Mrs. Soules, Nurse.

In supporting it, Mr. Wilkinson said that Mr. Soules kept the house in good repair. Doctors were taking patients there to be treated. Mrs. Soules was the nurse in charge and good work was being done. It was a great benefit to those who could not afford to go elsewhere for treatment. Mr. Wilkinson pointed out that most of the business men had signed the petition and he urged that it be carefully considered.

Deputy-Reeve Stone said that he was impressed by the signatories. He believed it might be wise to investigate before taking action. "If the building were to be used as an hospital why should not the town take it over themselves? It would have to be strictly sanitary and in every way suitable. Mr. Stone said that his own opinion was that the building should be used for the original purpose for which it was bought.

Military's Appeal.

Major Bygott stated that the local company of he Norhumberland Regiment needed a home. The Ogilbie property had appealed to him before he had learned that it had been bought by the town for military purposes.

"It is an ideal spot for the company," he continued. "Our present quarters are up three flights. I think we made a fair start with the company this year, and we are anxious to get a permanent home. The government is prepared to pay rental for any building taken over. We prefer a ground floor for our drills and because our equipment is heavy. The grounds around this building are suitable for drilling, and the front part would serve for band concerts."

Substantial Offer.

Mayor Meyers said it appeared that the town desired to have a company of the regiment. According to the proposed lease, the government undertakes to pay a rental, to keep the building in repair and the grounds in good condition. There was to be no disorderly conduct permitted. These were substanial considerations, His Worship said. "I appreciate the fact that we need a hospital, but if we are going into hospital work it should be done properly."

Deputy-reeve Stone—I believe our action will meet with the approval of the people.

He moved, seconded by Reeve Davidson, that a by-law be drawn, authorizing the Mayor and the Clerk to sign the agreement embodying the lease of the Ogilvie property to 'C' Company of the 40th Northumberland regiment. This motion carried on the votes of Reeve Davidson, Deputy-Reeve Stone and Councillor Wiggins.

Offered $500.

Mrs. Haig informed the Council that the I.O.D.E. would contribute $500 toward the memorial and park and the other chapter would guarantee a like amount. The Ferris lot had an especially appealing feature in the fact that the homes of six of the Campbellford boys who were killed were immediately around it.

Mayor Meyers stated that the cost of the property sligtly exceeded one mill, and $900 would represent three-quarters of a mill.

Councillor Palliser declared it a shame that Campbellford had not yet erected a monument to its soldier dead. It was almost certain that if it were to be financed by subscriptions the people who had given liberally to the various causes during the war would also be the only ones to contribute to the cost of the memorial. For that reason he considered that it should be paid for out of the taxes.

John Allen spoke of the advantages of the Ferris site, for the sale of which he was the agent, and stated that if the Council declined it other persons wished to buy it for building purposes.

Offered Time and Labour.

Councillor Wilkinson said he was delighted with the proposal. He considered that the Ferris acres could be easily made into a beautiful park. That done the memorial to the soldiers could be undertaken. Mr. Wilkinson offered to give his time and labour in the improvement of the property.

Mr. Haig said that it would have to be stipulated that the I.O.D.E.'s $500 was for a memorial. She referred to what Brighton and other neighboring towns had done, and particularly expressed her pleasure at the simplicity of the cobblestone fountain built on Brighton's public square.

Reeve Davidson Opposes.

"I'm not in favour of it being down there," declared Reeve Davidson. "We can surely get a more central place than that. I think it is dear at $1,500 and if the other man wants it let hi mhave it. There are lots of places to choose from without getting that.

Mr. Wilkinson's motion to buy the Ferris property followed, Mr. Wiggins seconding it.

Deputy-reeve Stone—"I can't consent to buying that property in the state we're in. We seem to be going headlong. Why should we spend $1,500 for the lot when we could tear down the old building on the Ogilvie property and put the memorial there?

Mr. Palliser said he had made a motion to that effect several months ago, but Mr. Stone had ridiculed it. "I moved, seconded by Reeve Davidson, that the building be sold, the buyer to fill up the cellar, and the property be converted into a park. I had a good idea it would be the place for a memorial.

Mr. Stone—Why didn't you say it.

Mayor Meyers—It seems to me we have a lot of uses for the Ogilvie property.

Major Bygott told the Council that "C" company would relinquish their request for the Ogilvie property if the Council decided to use it for a Memorial Park.

Mould Make Second Place.

Mrs. Haig—The regiment has assured the Council that they will keep the grounds in good condition. That would make two beauty spots. Surely Campbellford can afford two places of beauty. Let the regiment keep the Ogilvie place and give the Ferris lot to the I.O.D.E. for a memorial. We should have two places to go to then.

Mr. Wiggins was opposed to taxing the people for a memorial.

Mr. Stone pointed out that three members of the Council were absent, and he moved that the memorial question be deferred until next Monday night when a special meeting could be held.

Mr. Wilkinson — If they're not here it's their fault.

Reeve Davidson's idea that the Ogilvie property be used both by the regiment and as a site for a memorial monument finally appealed to the Council, and the Wilkinson motion was recalled by Mr. Wiggins' withdrawal of his support.

Need New Dumping Ground.

Mr. tSone's report on the conditions at the dumping ground did not meet with the approval of Mr. C. E. Wragg, who said that it would practically leave things as they were.

"The committee didn't see that place in its worst condition," he remarked. "It is a detriment to the property owners nearby. We are quite within our rights to ask that the conditions be remedied. That place, in fact, is not suitable for a dumping ground."

Mr. Wilkinson said that the Provincial Board of Health could force the town to erect an incinerator or by other means to make an expenditure of five or six thousand dollars. 'I should think we ought to go outside the corporation and get a lot," said Mr. Wilkinson. "We could get five acres at a nominal cost."

Reeve Davidson moved, seconded by Mr. Wiggins, that this committee continue its investigations with respect to securing a desirable place outside the corporation for a dumping ground.—Carried.

Report on Power.

At a special meeting on Monday night next, C. E. Wragg, chairman of the Water and Light Commission, will give, at the Council's request, a report on the conditions of the power house, the street lighting system, and other information pertaining to the Commission's work, including the reasons for the discharge of the manager, Mr. B. McLean.

Versatile Fall Fashions

TAKE THEIR CUE FROM COSTUMES OF ALL RACES

SMALL wonder that we feel like veritable globe trotters in these days of world inspired fashion developments. It is exhilarating and enlightening to find ourselves on intimate terms with such foreign topics as the mandarin flare, the Russian blouse, the Egyptian motif, the Spanish note—even the bloused back and picturesque cowl of the austere monk's robe in our very own coats.

New Fall Suits of Divers Mode

A hint of disagreement among authorities adds interest to the Fall Suit mode. Some favor the straight unbroken tubular silhouette, others are equally insistent upon the more careless, unbelted, slightly flaring type. All are agreed that it must be slender—and youthful. As a consequence of the controversy, you have the advantage of a diversity of charming models to choose from, all sponsored by accepted authorities.

Priced from $35 to $150.

Dressy Coats and Wraps Much Favored

Late arrivals show many handsome dressy models in Coats and Wraps of the heavier cloths, such as geronda, marvella, panvelaine, orlando, etc. Trimmed with fur and embroidery for the most part and most ornately lined. Cleverly designed wraps for general wear are an accepted mode also, and one many women will welcome for its grace and convenience.

Priced from $33.50 to $135.

Fall Street Frocks

Smartly Tailored from Silk or Wool

It seems quite incredible that the simplicity of the straight-line mode could develop so many and such wholly irresistible variations as are shown in these new Tailored Frocks. Often of crepe—kitten's ear, Canton or moleskin—their appealing softness is indescribable. Again they are of Poiret twill or piquetine, unassuming as a nun's habit, yet smart beyond words.

The Picturesque Trend of New Millinery

Hats both large and small seem to veer away from the conventional types of other seasons. Shapes and trimming are showing marked tendency toward the picturesque, ably seconded by a riot of color in all manner of garniture. Velour de Russe and hatter's plush are favored materials while trimmings cover a wide latitude, varying from fur ornaments to metallized ostrich.

SECRETS OF THE HOOTCH MAKER OPEN BOOK TO U.S. GOVERNMENT

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—(Associated Press).—Secrets of the "hootch" maker who manufactures synthetic whiskey or gin are as an open book to the Government chemists who test the products of violators of the Volstead law.

Evidence seized from rum-runners and bootleggers is brought to them for examination. How the chemical tests are conducted was disclosed today by R. A. Edson, chief chemist of the Government laboratory in the Federal Building. The walls of his office are lined with shelves filled with bottles of every kind and description containing every kind of beverage forbidden by the Volstead Act.

A fringe of stills seized in raids decorates the top of the shelves and there is a big pile of them in a corner. In the past year more than 8,000 samples of liquor, good, bad and indifferent, have been tested here and the results produced later in the Federal courts.

The first thing to be done by the chemists when a sample of suspected liquor is brought in is to test it for alcohol. Usually the prohibition agents try to get at least half a pint of whiskey and a pint of wine for the chemists to work on. But occasionally an agent comes in with a small bottle of liquid which, he explains, is a drink of whiskey which he bought at a bar and had to hold in his mouth until he could spit it out into a bottle without being observed by the barkeeper. And that is tested, too.

When the sample is large enough the hydrometer is used to find the amount of alcohol present. The hydrometer is a thermometer-like instrument of glass with the specific gravities marked on it. It is floated in the sample and the markings read. Alcohol being lighter than water the hydrometer sinks farther in a mixture of alcohol and water than in plain water. The amount of alcohol can thus be accurately determined by reading the markings.

Small samples of booze are tested by means of the pycnometer. A measured quantity of the suspected liquid is weighed and its weight compared with that of an equal quantity of water. By means of a few computations the amount of alcohol can easily be found.

For rapid work on beer and wine with small percentages of alcohol the ebulliometer is used. The evidence is heated and the boiling point learned. Water boils at 100 degrees centigrade and alcohol at a much lower temperature. A mixture of alcohol and water boils at a lower temperature than water and thus the chemists can rapidly calculate the amount of alcohol.

After the test for alcohol has been completed in the case of whiskey the color of the sample is tested. Whiskey that has been held in bond for some time has a color of its own, due to the inside of the whiskey barrels being charred by fire before the whiskey is put in. The manufacturing bootlegger making an artificial whiskey of grain alcohol and water uses caramel made of burnt sugar to color his product.

The Marsh reaction shows if the color of the whiskey sample is genuine or artificial. A quantity of amyl alcohol slightly acidified with phosphoric acid is mixed with the liquid to be tested. Amyl alcohol being lighter than ethyl alcohol, as ordinary grain alcohol is called by the chemists, rises to the top of the mixture. If the whiskey is genuine the color will mix with the amyl alcohol and rise to the top of the mixture. Test is made for wood alcohol if there is any suspicion of its presence.

Mr. Edson said that 90 per cent. of the liquor seized by the prohibition agents and brought to the laboratory to be tested is synthetic whiskey made of alcohol and water and a little color or just plain "hootch."

"We can usually tell whether the stuff is genuine or not by just smelling of it," he explained. "The synthetic stuff has a distinct smell of raw alcohol, which is not present in genuine whiskey no matter how bad it maybe.

"Lately we have tested a number of samples of synthetic gin. It is made of alcohol and water with a little oil of juniper to give the characteristic gin flavor. But the juniper flavor is ranker than genuine gin and I don't think any one gets much pleasure from drinking such stuff. The bootleggers usually put in too much of the oil of juniper.

"There is some artificial wine seized by the prohibition agents. It is usually made from alcohol and water flavored with fruit juice of some kind. The home-made wine that is submitted for test is very poor stuff. Usually there has been insufficient fermentation of the grapes after they are pressed and sometimes putrefaction has started. Such wine will contain about 7 to 9 per cent. of alcohol.

"Most whiskies contain 40 to 50 per cent. alcohol. Scotch whiskey has less alcohol than the other whiskies. We have found small quantities of creosote in some of the artificial Scotch whiskies that have been seized. The creosote is put into imitate the peat-smoke flavor of the genuine article.

"The making of home-made grape juice is dangerous from the standpoint of the Volstead Act unless precautions are taken to prevent fermentation and the consequent production of alcohol. The best way is to sterilize the grapes by pouring hot water over them or by boiling the juice. There is a wild yeast present on the grapes and floating in the air at grape-picking time and it is the wild yeast that starts the fermentation."

The Government chemists have even tested Chinese wine or ngkapy to determine for the Government if it was suitable for human consumption. A large quantity of the wine consigned to Chinese merchants here was held up by the customs officials on the ground that it smelled so bad it was not fit for human consumption. The Government's chemists found the wine was made from rice spirits and a decoction of herbs. They said it was all right for Chinese medicinal purposes, so it was allowed to be brought in.

BOY THROWS AWAY GEMS; KEEPS $2.

Purse Finder Spends Money for Penny Candy

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 7.—Two diamond rings, valued at $1,000 each, were found by a 9-year-old boy, who picked them up on the street. The gems belonged to Mrs. Max Tollin, and the manner of their being found reads like a fairy tale. Their discovery involves a small boy, a pocketbook, and $2 worth of candy, according to verification by the woman who lost the diamonds.

Mrs. Tollin went shopping and carried the rings with her in a pocketbook. When she returned home the pocketbook was missing. And on the same morning the little urchin, walking along John street, picked up the purse. Calling a boy friend, he surveyed the contents of the purse, extracted $2 from it, threw the pocketbook in one direction and the $2,000 worth of diamonds in another. Then they went to a nearby store and bought $2 worth of penny candy.

The owner of the gems started to hunt for them as soon as she discovered her loss. She first met a little girl on John street, who told her that two boys had bought a lot of candy in a nearby store. She saw the boys and learned that they found her pocketbook, but had thrown away the diamonds. Then began a hunt in the grass where the boys said they disposed of the gems. After more than an hour's searching both rings were found. Each of the boys received $10 and the girl $5.

CARUSO'S VOICE SO POWERFUL IT BROKE GLASSES.

Throat Specialist Who Treated Tenor Writes of Him.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—(Associated Press).—Dr. William Lloyd, throat specialist, who for many years treated Caruso, writes to The Daily Mail that, comparing him with other great singers, he found the following characteristics of the perfect singing machine:

"The most striking feature was the great length of the vocal tube; the distance from the teeth to the vocal cords, in Caruso was at least half an inch more than in any other great tenor I have examined.

"A second point was the length of the vocal cords, on whose length, breadth and thickness the pitch of the voice largely depends. The average length of the relaxed vocal cords in a man is 18 millimeters (about ¾ in.). Caruso's vocal cords were 1/6 in. longer than those of any other tenor I have seen.

"The capacity for vibration of the vocal cords is another most important factor, for the higher the note the more rapid must be the vibration. Caruso when singing his wonderful chest C sharp reached the phenomenal vibration for a man of 550 per second.

"Caruso's whole body seemed to have more average resonance, and one of the great secrets of his wonderful voice was the formation of the epiglottis, which was thick at the base, as in bassos, but exquisitely fine and delicate at the free end. The power of his voice was so great that he often fractured glass in my consulting room by singing their fundamental notes at the orifice."

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one or two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antiacid than Bisurated Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestent. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of pepsin pills or artificial digestents.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or citrate and in the bisurated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."

GIRL OF 21 IS ADMITTED TO LOS ANGELES BAR.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 7. — Miss Carrick Hume Buck, the youngest woman who ever received a license to practice law in Los Angeles, has been admitted to the bar.

Miss Buck is the grandniece of James Monroe, fifth President of the United States, her grandfather being Spencer Monroe, brother of the President. She is also a descendant of Lady Elizabeth Carrick, of Carrick Burgess, North Ireland, and is a collateral relative of Gen. Robert E. Lee.

In securing her legal education, Miss Buck has had to overcome many obstacles. Barely 21 years old now, she could have obtained her law diploma two years ago if she had not given up her studies for a time in order to care for an invalid mother, whose precarious health necessitated the family moving many times, interrupting her studies.

"I have had ambitions to become a lawyer since I was a very little child," Miss Buck admitted. "Perhaps part of my ideas along that line came from my mother having studied law in New Mexico, where she was admitted to the bar, being the first woman in the State to obtain a new license.

"As my mother married only a few weeks after receiving her license she never engaged in the practice of law, and I felt that I wanted to carry on what she had so bravely begun. She was a pioneer in the feminist movement, and it took courage and determination, as well as perseverance, for a woman to acquire a legal education in those days."

POLITE BANDITS

Did Not Molest Women or Children.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Sept. 7.—Two polite bandits, who refused to rob women or children, were sought by posses today in connection with the hold-up of Los Angeles limited No. 7 on the Union Pacific railroad near Ogden.

The bandits robbed all male passengers on the train of their money, watches and other jewelry. No estimate of the amount of their loot could be given by officials until a complete check-up is made.

the Collegiate Institute that they must be there on the opening day to take their chance of being admitted, and he was quite sure that a certain number had omitted to do this, and therefore would be out of accommodation for the coming year.

Considerable discussion took place here with regard to an addition to the Collegiate Institute, the question which was left over from last spring for the consideration of the September meeting.

Mrs. W. R. Morris contended that the question of an Industrial School for Peterborough which is in the air at the present time has an important bearing on the question of what sort of an addition should be made to the Collegiate Institute. If it is decided to go ahead with the Industrial School, and ask the Government for the grant which has been promised all municipalities taking up the proposition, 50 per cent. of the cost of erection of the building, the total cost of equipment, and 50 per cent. of the annual pay-roll, will be automatically lifted from the shoulders of the taxpayers by the generous Government grant set aside for this purpose, whereas an addition to the Collegiate Institute gets no help whatever from outside authorities. This addition, if carried out before the question of an Industrial School is definitely decided, might contain equipment which would afterwards be of no use.

Industrial School.

Mr. E. G. Patterson regarded Mrs. Morris' point as "well taken," but Mr. Denne regarded the matter of the addition to the Collegiate Institute as of prime importance. "With the institute overflowing and 100 pupils in the South Central, something must be done," he said, while Mr. A. A. Fowler was of the emphatic opinion that Peterborough was in no need of an Industrial School at the present time, that the question of such an institution should be shelved entirely and the pressing need of an addition to the Collegiate Institute considered with all possible despatch.

A motion was carried to ask the Industrial Committee to prepare a statement in time for the October meeting, as to what their recommendations are in this regard.

Mr. E. G. Patterson enquired of Mr. Kenner as to how many pupils, in his opinion, now in attendance at the Collegiate Institute would attend an Industrial School were such an institution in operation in Peterborough, and Mr. Kenner replied that "judging from the places in Ontario who have been dabbling in Industrial Schools, we would not lose any."

PLAN MAN HUNT WITH AIRPLANES

SEARCH FOR NOTORIOUS TRAIN BANDIT VAIN THUS FAR.

(United Press)

TAMOCA, Wash., Sept. 7.—An airplane hunt was being planned here today in search for Roy Gardner, notorious train bandit, who made his third escape from McNeils Island, federal penitentiary, Monday night.

All last night under the glare of searchlights heavy armed posses beat up the brush and timber of McNeils Island and the nearby mainland but they failed to find a trace of Gardner. Blood hounds were being brought here today and efforts are being made to secure airplanes.

1000 Eggs in Every Hen

New System Of Poultry Keeping—Get Dollar A Dozen Eggs—Famous Poultryman

TELLS HOW

"The great trouble with the poultry business has always been that the laying life of a hen was too short," says Henry Trafford, International Poultry Expert and Breeder, for nearly eighteen years Editor of Poultry Success.

The average pullet lays 150 eggs. If kept the second year, she may lay 100 more. Then she goes to market. Yet, it has been scientifically established that every pullet is born or hatched with over one thousand minute egg germs in her system — and will lay them on a highly profitable basis over a period of four to six years' time if given proper care.

How to work to get 1,000 eggs from every hen; how to get pullets laying early; how to make the old hens lay like pullets; how to keep up heavy egg production all through cold winter months when eggs are highest; triple egg production; make slacker hens hustle; $5.00 profit from every hen in six winter months. These and many other money making poultry secrets are contained in Mr. Trafford's "1,000 EGG HEN" system of poultry raising, one copy of which will be sent absolutely free to any reader of this paper who keeps six hens or more. Eggs should go to a dollar or more a dozen this winter. This means big profit to the poultry keeper who gets the eggs. Mr. Trafford tells how, if you keep chickens and want them to make money for you, cut out this ad and sent it with your name and address to Henry Trafford, Suite 580B, Court Bld., Binghamton, N. Y., and a free copy of "THE 1,000 EGG HEN" will be sent by return mail.

EXPECT EARLY AWARD G.T.R. ARBITRATION

OTTAWA, Sept. 7. — (Canadian Press).—Indications point to an early award by the Grand Trunk Board of Arbitration, which is now holding its final meeting in Ottawa, and in well-informed circles it is stated that the report of the Board will be made by the end of the present week.

EXTENSION OF STREET RAILWAY

bathing beaches another ten days or so was left to the discretion of Ald. Gainey, chairman of the Parks committee.

Sewerage Service.

The local Board of Health recommended that such sewerage service as is necessary for the requirements of St. Joseph's Hospital be constructed. Council will give notice of its intention to construct a sewer for connection with this institution either by way of Hunter street and Armour road or up St. Luke's street to Armour road.

Complied With Conditions.

On motion by Ald. Gordon and Crowe, the Mayor and Clerk will sign and seal a certificate that the Canadian Aladdin Co., Limited have lived up to their agreement with the city.

The Sutherland Report.

His Worship, Ald. Crowe and Morrison were named a committee to attend a meeting of the Hydro-Electric Radial Railway at Toronto to-day to consider the Sutherland report on radial railways.

Licenses.

On motion of Finance Minister Ald. Turner several eating house and billiard room licenses were granted.

G. A. Gillespie Commissioner.

A by-law appointing Geo. A. Gillespie City Trust Commissioner in place of the late G. Walter Green, passed its several readings.

Day Labour.

A by-law authorizing the construction of a sewer on George street from Prince to Lansdowne street, passed its three readings.

This and other work will be done by day labor.

Another $300.

A by-law authorizing an additional grant of $300 to the Playgrounds Association carried.

A Question of Fees.

On motion of Ald. Gordon and Crowe, the Chief of Police will be instructed that the City Solicitor is to prosecute all cases of breach of the O. T. A. Where the County Crown Attorney is engaged for this duty by a city official such as the Chief, the city has to pay his fees.

Fix Date of Trial.

Ald. Gordon and Crowe moved that in the action of Bettes against the Russell-Townsend for alleged damage to his property in East City by the construction of the Hunter street bridge, City Solicitor Widdifield move before Judge Huycke, in the County Court for an appointment fixing the day of trial, and thus have the matter cleared up at the earliest moment.—Carried.

Build Sidewalk.

Ald. Whitehouse supported an application from Mr. Borman on the south side of Edinburgh street, from Downie street to the creek.—This was granted.

Employment.

Engineer Parsons reported that plans for the sewage disposal plant will be ready in a couple of weeks. The Mayor thought they should then be immediately acted upon, to create work for the unemployed.

On motion of Ald. Gordon and Crowe, these plans will be at once submitted to a special council meeting and then forwarded to the Provincial Board of Health for approval.

Community Borrowing.

Ald. Gordon introduced a scheme by which the City of Birmingham borrows money from its citizens at 4 p.c. interest. His suggestion that our Finanace committee look into such a proposition for adoption in Peterborough, whereby 2 p.c. interest could be saved in avoiding overdrafts in the bank, met with approval.

His idea is that the City Treasurer should be authorized to accept deposits from citizens to this end. But special leislation would have to be secured from the Dominion government, and certain authority from the local Legislature also, before putting such a system into effect. Banks operate under a Federal Act.

Cost of Delay.

The Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario advised Council that their cost of $2,437.95 for the 18 inches of concrete pavement each side of the street railway track, south of the C.P.R. on George street, will be billed against the city, as the corporation had not yet lived up to its agreement for paving the remainder of the road. This was merely received.

A Souvenir.

Ald. Morrison brought back with him from the convention of Dominion Fire Chiefs in Three Rivers, Que. This was in the shape of a miniature combined fire and police alarm box, containing a serviceable thermometer. They and the originals are manufactured by the Northern Electric Company. This souvenir was presented to the City Clerk.

There were present Mayor A. A. McIntyre, Aldermen H. Gainey, J. Crowe, G. N. Gordon, Jas. Hamilton, J. J. Turner, R. Jones, G. L. Hay, Nagel Phelan, Morrison and Whitehouse. x

THE OLD-MAN-OF-THE-FARM

(R. E. Alexander, in the New York Times.)

They got me—I was eight years old
They never have let go their hold.
In rain or shine, in heat or cold—
The Chores.

They stood beside my morning bed,
In drowsiest hour of all, and said,
"Jump out of that; them calves ain fed!"
The Chores.

They waited at the close of day,
To steal an hour from my play,
Crying, "You, Jim! Git down tha hay!"
The Chores.

At Picnic, Fair, or "Biggest Show On Earth" a voice would whisper low,
"You've seven cows t' milk, yo know!"
The Chores.

I held Sue's slim, brown hand i mine,
And hinted wedding bells mus chime,
And heard, "It's them pigs' suppe time!"
The Chores.

The Golden Streets I hope to view,
But know just what will happen, too
St. Peter'll say: "Come in, and do—
The Chores."

SEIZE STREET RAILWAY LINE TO GET MONEY

LONDON, ONT., WILL OPERATE SYSTEM UNTIL $8,000 IS COLLECTED.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—(Canadian Press) At last night's meeting of the city council it was decided to seize the London Street Railway system just before Fair Wek and operate the same until $8,000 is collected. This amount represents approximately te company's share of the (illegible) pavement laid on Rectory stret for which the city received judgemen but has since been unable to collect. A sufficient number of councillers expressed themselves favorable to this move and it is claimed that the city solicitor already has gone on record as being ready to stand beind te council in this action.

LENINE EXPLAINS STATE CAPITALISM.

Points to Use of Concessions.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—(Associated Press).—In the first number of the new Labor Monthly, Premier Lenine explains the discovery of the Soviet Government of Russia that it could not get along without capitalism in some form and why it has compromised on what it calls "state capitalism."

"State capitalism," he says, "is incomparably higher economically than our present economic system—that is one point; and secondly, there is nothing in it that is terrible for the Soviet Government, for the Soviet state is a state which guarantees power to the workers and the poor.

"One of the simplest cases or examples of how the Soviet Government guides the development of capitalism along the path of state capitalism—of how it 'plants' state capitalism—is concessions. Everybody now agrees that concessions are necessary, but not everybody fully appreciates the significance of concessions.

"The Soviet Government secures the advantage in the form of the development of productive forces and an increase in the quantity of products available immediately or within a short period. We have, say, hundreds of enterprises, mines, forests, etc., we cannot develop them all: we have not enough machinery, food or transport.

"In 'planting' state capitalism in the form of conessions, the Soviet Government strengthens large production against small production, the advanced against the backward, machine production against hand production. It increases the quantity of products of large industry in its hands and strengthens the state regulation of economic relations as a counter-balance to a petty bourgeoise, anarchic relations."

TRACES BULLET FIRED IN VICKSBURG SIEGE.

A Confederate Soldier Coughs It Up 58 Years After Battle.

KELSO, Wash., Sept. 6.—P. J. Knapp, a civil war veteran, after 58 years, has traced the course of a bullet he fired at the seige of Vicksburg.

Some time ago Mr. Knapp read a news dispatch saying that W. V. Meadows, a Confederate veteran of Lanott, Alamaba, has coughed up a bullet which was shot into his eye at Vicksburg. Mr. Meadows, the account said, was a member of the 37th Alabama Regiment, and Mr. Knapp recalled an incident at the seige, when he and three other members of the 5th Iowa Volunteers were called upon to silence a Confederate sharpshooter who was firing through a small hole in a sheet of boiler plate.

After Mr. Knapp fired the sharpshooter's shots were discontinued, and it was surmised that he had been shot in the eye.

When Mr. Knapp wrote to Mr. Meadows, the latter said that he was the man behind he boiler plate and that the bullet entered his right eye. Mr. Knapp received a photograph of the bullet and of Mr. Meadows. The two veterans have enjoyed a considerable correspondence over the incident.

BLOOD TEST UPHELD TO PROVE PATERNITY.

Court Also Considers Facial Resemblance of Child.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7. — Science, art and the law are one in declaring Julius B. Sorine the father of the third child of his divorced wife, despite the woman's assertion to the contrary, but the court's ruling handed down denied his petition for custody of the child.

Dr. Albert Abrams reported to the court that a test of the blood of faher and son provided positive proof, in his opinion, that the child was Sorine's. Haig Patigian, a sculptor, by a series of facial sketches similar to those used in the famous Slingsby case in England, told the court the child resembled Sorine.

In the decision Judge Graham declared that "irrespective of these tests, the child was born during the lawful wedlock of the parties," but ruled the child should remain in the mother's care.

15,000 TOIL UP MOUNTAIN TO DO HONOR TO DEAD.

Visit Statue on Italian Mountain Peak.

MONTE GRAPPA, Italy, Sept. 7.—(Associated Press).—This mountain, 5,000 feet high amid the rugged crags of the Alps, has just been the scene of a vast pilgrimage of 15,000 veterans of the world war, women and children, who for days have been climbing to reach the summit where the statue of a Madonna and child was reconsecrated in memory of the Italian heroes who fought in these mountain fastnesses.

The road to the summit is 18 miles in length and winds through passes, skirts the edge of bottomless ravines and rises finally to giddy heights, where to the south one sees the plains of the Isonzo to the sea, to the north continue chains of towering Alps. It was thus that during the war the army that occupied Monte Grappa controlled the plain. It was the mountainous battleground of the Italian and Austrian armies and its changing of hands during the course of the war is the story of the whole campaign.

The Madonna, which has now retaken her place on the summit, was placed here in 1910 by Cardinal Sarto, patriarch of Venice. In May, 1918, while the stronghold was in possession of the Italians, an Austrian bomb struck the pedestal on which the statue rested. A captain of engineers and handful of men left their dugouts among the rocks, and in a terrific bombardment lifted the statue and took it to a place of safety. On a convenient day it was taken down from the mountain and carried back to the rear to remain until the end of the war so that it could be erected with safety.

For the ceremony of replacing the Madonna, which has just taken place, the King was represented by the Duke of Bergamo, who delivered an address on the sacrifices made by Italian troops in the defense of Grappa. Former Premier Orlando made the principal speech, in which he recounted the heroic exploits of the Italian army in overcoming the seemingly unsurmountable difficulties of the mountain strongholds. There were special commissions at the ceremony from the Senate and the Chamber of Deputies. After the addresses a mass was celebrated. The Cardinal of Venice with five bishops of the Veneto officiated in the religious ceremony.

General Giardino, known as the "Defender of Grappa," received a gold medal from the city of Treviso. While the ceremonies were performed a huge Italian dirigible hovered over the mountain heights signalling to the mountain villagers. It also carried a message to Grappa from the city of Venice, which reads as follows: "The bulwark of the air salutes the bulwark of the mountains."

PHYSICIAN DEFENDS MUCH ABUSED FEET

Says Only Third of People Walk Correctly.

London, Sept. 7. — The human foot is one of the most beautiful and useful instruments ever conceived, but unfortunately it is not what a motorist calls "fool-proof," says a physician writing in the London Daily News.

There is a great deal of misunderstanding about our feet. We treat them outrageously, as either custom or fashion may dictate. As a result, about one-third of the population is splayfooted, another third walks like a hen on hot cinders and the remaining third may be said to walk fairly naturally.

The foot has a graceful arch running fore and aft. We take this longitudinal arch, turn the toes outwards so that the heels meet at an angle of 45 degrees, and then pull all our pressure in askew direction across the arch. No engineer would dream of building a straight arch bridge to carry loads, neither across nor along the arch, but irregularly askew over it.

We ought to walk with our great toe pointed straight in the direction of progress, as Indian runners do, and "spring from the great toes." Instead, most of us "take off" in a lumbering sort of way from the ball of the great toe.

VOICE OF TEMPTER.

Waif Heard it Through Hot Huckleberry Pie.

Little Angelo Antonio, arraigned in the children's court to-day, couldn't understand a word of English, but the delicious odor of hot American pie, which was wafted through an open window, called with a voice he understood. So Angelo fell, and when the Brooklyn housewife returned to her kitchen he was just wiping off the crumbs.

Angelo told the judge through an interpreter, that his mother, who brought him here a few months ago, had just died, and that he was hungry. He said he slept in parks and washed in public fountains, and pilfered what food he could.

The Folly of Cheating Nature

Many people get the idea that they can keep their nerves on edge and their digestion upset year after year, and "get away with it." They sleep only half as much as they should—and never get properly and thoroughly rested.

If you tire out easily, if you are getting pale and anemic, if your food doesn't digest as it should, would it not be well to stop and consider whether tea or coffee is having its effect on you?

The thein and caffeine found in tea and coffee are drugs, as any doctor can tell you. Is it any wonder that the steady use of these drugs sometimes causes serious damage?

If you really want to be fair with yourself, and give yourself the opportunity you deserve in order to do your best work, make up your mind to quit tea and coffee for awhile—and drink delicious, appetizing Postum instead.

Postum permits sound, refreshing sleep which builds strength, energy and endurance.

Order Postum from your Grocer today. Drink this hot, refreshing beverage in place of tea or coffee for 10 days and see what a wonderful difference it will make in the way you feel.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

INCREASE IN NUMBER OF MOTOR CARS IN SASK.

REGINA, Sask., Sept. 7.—Recent figures published by the Provincial Government give the number of automobiles in Saskatchewan in 1920 as 60,325, as compared with 55,010 in 1919 and 46,880 in 1918. The total number of motor vehicles in 1908 was 74.

SCOTCH "FAMILY" REUNION COMING.

Thomsons, Glendennings, Macdonalds and Forfars Meet Near Toronto.

TORONTO, Sept. 6.—(Canadian Press).—A great army of Thomsons, Glendinnings, Macdonald, Forfars and others of Scottish names scattered all over Canada can trace their ancestry to rugged pioneers of the Township of Scarboro, on the borders of Toronto, and are interested in a big "family" reunion to take place there this month.

One hundred and twenty-five years ago David Thomson and his wife, Mary Glendinning, built the first home in the virgin forest, which has since become Scarboro Township. To-day their descendants—and there is scarcely an old family in the township which cannot trace some branch of its ancestry to the pioneer couple—are preparing to honor these two heroic settlers with a special service to be held in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday, Sept. 11, and with the unveiling of a memorial in the old churchyard on the following day.

A marble tablet now fast crumbling away relates that when Mary Thomson died in 1847, she was survived by more than one hundred descendants. In the intervening sixty-odd years this number has increased to an extent that will make the coming memorial service far more of a township function than a family reunion. In the earlier days of the county, the Thomsons had already increased to such an extent as to make it necessary to distinguish them by nick-names such as "Buffalo Dave," "Stonehouse Archie," "Squaw Village John," "Grandmother's Dave," "Springfield Jimmie," "Squire's John," "Fiddler Dick," "Shaky Charlie," and so forth, while when David Thomson raised a company of troops during the war of 1812, it was composed almost entirely of men of his own name.

The history of the old couple themselves is one full of romance and of great difficulties courageously overcome. Thomson was a Scotsman who found his way to Canada in 1795, and who reached Scarboro in the following year. He hewed out a home for himself and his wife in the valley of Highland Creek, but, being a stone-mason by trade, he found his employment in the neighboring village of York, where, when the new government building was being erected, he served as chief mason. As a result of this Mrs. Thomson would often be left alone in the log cabin from Sunday until the next Saturday night, when her husband would come toiling back through the woods from York, laden down with a week's supply of provisions. The first seven months which she lived in her new home passed without her seeing a single woman, and when one finally did happen to come to her home, it was an Indian squaw. During one of these periods when she was alone on the homestead, it is related that a marauding bear ambled into the clearing, and was just preparing to walk away with a young pig when Mrs. Thomson rushed forth with an axe and attacked the animal, forcing it to drop the squealing pig and seek safety in the bush.

However, Scottish determination and doggedness overcame these early hardships, and Thomson became so attached to the country that he persuaded his two brothers, Andrew and Archibald, to join him in the new land.

It is expected that when the reunion is held in September several thousand descendants of "father" and "mother" of Scarboro Township will be present to do honor to the old pioneers.

OPPOSE DUTIES ON CANADIAN LUMBER

Tariff Fight Continues in United States Senate.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 7.—(Canadian Press).—In spite of demands of northwestern shingle men that the duty of 50 cents per thousand as fixed in the Fordney Bill in the House be retained by the Senate, western pine interests oppose the duty and expect later on to make a strong showing against it. Senators on the Finance Committee are showing a marked disposition to oppose any form of lumber duties aimed at Canadian lumber. The reason is found in the pressure of farm organizations for free lumber. Testimony before the Finance Committee, moreover, has revealed that the British Columbia shingles are superior to those made on the U. S. side because the latter are kiln-dried to excess.

AT THE THEATRES

THE ALLEN.

Nothing more thrilling has been seen for a long time than "The Golden Snare," the James Oliver Curwood picture showing at the Allen. Added to the fact that an exciting story filled with heart throbs and moments of great emotion is told, the acting, scenic effects and detail are wonderful. The men in the cast are all known for their ability in these lines.—Beery is a traditional bad man of the screen and Lewis Stone an ideal mounted policeman. The force" is always popular with patrons of the silent drama, and Mr. Stone's role, in spite of cold and dangers from huskies and snow-slides, must be a thoroughly congenial one. A feature of the Curwood pictures which appeals so strongly to nature lovers and the kiddies is the menagerie that accompanies these productions. They say it requires four trainers to take care of these animals, and they would have had more only two reindeer failed to reach California though contracted for with much expense and trouble. They were shipped too late for the last steamboat out of Nome, Alaska, and had to be butchered for food when the schooner they were on was ice bound for many weeks. Miss Ruth Renwick, the owner of the "Golden Snare," seems to be overjoyed in the scenes with the baby, little Esther Scott, barely eleven months old. You see Ruth is the only grown-up female in the cast, and I fancy the Texas-bred girl was often mighty cold in spite of the wealth of furs and skins on her sledge.

The Allen Weekly, comedy and orchestra under Mr. Leader all contributed to a first-class programme.

CAPITOL.

Local speed fiends who saw Wallace Reid in "What's Your Hurry?" at the Capitol this week must admit that he is some driver and could give them quite a run even out on our new Provincial highway. It is an exceedingly dangerous pastime, but there is a great attraction for reckless youths and maidens to get ahead of everyone on the road, and in this photoplay under discussion the rapidly-driven truck saved countless lives and terrible disaster when the irrigation dam breaks. Even after the thrilling scenes in "Way Down East," the audience held its breath and gasped when Wally drives at top speed right over the steep sides of the dam and through the racing waters to plug up the hole. It is interesting to note that the realism attained in the motoring scenes is achieved by the fact that a preliminary heat was run with Wallace Reid by such famous racers as Ralph de Palma, Tommy Milton, Eddie Hearne and Eddie Pullen. Clarence Burton plays a prominent part, also Charles Ogle. From start to finish there is not a dull moment, and I thought that Wallace Reid, unlike some of the female stars, grows handsomer and younger looking every time I see him.

The third episode of the serial, "The Yellow Arm," is called "A Strange Disappearance." Doris Bain has disappeared thereby causing untold dismay and chagrin. Her father baffled and angry seeks to recover her or gain some knowledge of her whereabouts. The capture of one of the Chinamen promises success, but he refuses to divulge her hiding place.

As advertised last week, the beauty contest is on and daily the questions concerning it are pouring in. It really will be a difficult situation if the manager alone has to decide the respective virtues of gold, titian or raven locks, and bobbed heads also.

"LIARS" AT THE GRAND.

The second engagement of the Rex Stock Company opened on Monday night before an audience now thoroughly familiar with the cast of players, and liking them as we all do, there is evident between the stage and floor of the house that perfect rapprochment that comes of mutual sympathy and understanding. Miss Zana Vaughn, the talented leading woman, has firmly established herself in the hearts of local patrons of the theatre. Several times this week I have heard such remarks as the following: "Oh, isn't she wonderful!" "I think she is so pretty and wears lovely clothes!" But more interesting even than that is the fact that she is a clever actress. Her home is out in Los Angeles, California, and did it not seem a trifle out of place I should like to say her personality is so bright and pleasing it makes one think of the mild lovely climate of her native State and its sun-kissed orchards.

Miss Vaughn has many dramatic triumphs to her credit, but she really likes stock work better than tours, during which she occasionally has to leave home and Mr. Snelgrove. She says that a stock company that remains together several successive seasons becomes like one large family in which every member works heartily and willingly for the good of the whole. The chance to play so many varying roles gives a finish to one's acting that nothing else will do. And so many very fine actors and actresses do an occasional season of stock in order to acquire the training and discipline.

Miss Vaughn played the leading part in Eugene Walters' play, "The Garden of Paradise," in Chicago, and also in "The White Feather," a play that was most successful throughout Canada. The present season finds this versatile leading woman divlding her time between Kingston and Peterborough, and I think that she is quite pleased at the prospect of a season with her attractive husband, Mr. Rex Snelgrove. This week's programme is shorter and the two vaudeville acts as much appreciated as were the first offerings.

LAURA.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

AT THE GRAND.

The Great Blackstone, master magician, will be at the Grand Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. A show is often advertised as amusement for everyone in the family. We are told that there is something to entertain mother, father and the children. Well, sometimes the statement is absolutely true and sometimes—but there is such a variety of opinions that sweeping assertions are often difficult to prove. Concerning the Great Blackstone, however, there is nothing to fear from the use of superlatives. He is a wonder and the tremendous houses to which he plans everywhere are the best tributes to his ability. He is a worthy successor to the great magicians of a decade ago, but let no one who has seen Herman the Great, Keller and Thurston say, "I've seen it all before—those tricks don't interest me." Because Blackstone does things that nobody has done before. The skeptical may claim that legerdemain, disappearing acts, hypnotizing beautiful women, producing birds, rabbits and what not from empty space, crystal gazing and card tricks are antiquated and out of date. As far as being old the species of amusement certainly is old, but that very fact is one of the best arguments in favor of the Blackstone show. For that matter age ripens and mellows all that it touches if the essence of the thing is really good—hence, the best wines never see the light of day until they are aged slowly and carefully in cabinetable cellars. The false and meretricious will spoil—but as long as human nature remains true to itself the magician will awaken interest and enthusiasm. The marvellous enlightenment of our twentieth century responds to the same lure of the mysterious and occult as did the civilizations of Egypt and the Orient thousands of years before the Christian era. In fact, there is a world-wide interest today in spiritualism and many of the world's greatest writers are becoming imbued with the idea of communication with the spirits of another sphere. Blackstone never offends one's principles or theories. He is a master magician who interests, surprises and stupifies his audience by the wonders of his show. He makes no claims, advances no theories—he gives a wonderful performance that runs the gamut of comedy, drama and near-tragedy. Perhaps, besides the unfeigned delight of the children, the portion of the people who get the most satisfaction out of the performance are those who come to scoff and remain to gaze rapturously at the crystal ball with its secrets and pass in secret requests for information as to affairs of the heart, possibly even for love potions. Little Miss Inez Nourse, a clever banjo player, will also be seen for three days with Blackstone at the Grand.

BLACKSTONE, THE WORLD'S MASTER MAGICIAN, GRAND OPERA HOUSE, THREE DAYS, STARTING THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 8TH, SATURDAY MATINEE.

INTERVIEW WITH BLACKSTONE.

It is often strange to realize that actors and actresses, musicians and others in the public eye, lose their stage identity, and are just everyday human beings in real life. The title borne by Blackstone, that of "the World's Master Magician," sounds impressive, the feats that he performs are marvellous, but when I met the young man, he proved an agreeable surprise. He was just like any other man of the same age to be seen down town, or at one of the hotels, and very inconspicuous looking. The moment one meets him however any suggestion of mediocrity vanishes.

At the risk of giving a flat, inadequate description I must tell you what he looked like and what he he said. He is about five feet nine inches tall, wore a grey business suit, derby hat, and carried a stick. His eyes are very keen, piercing one; they are brown, and light up remarkably when he smiles.

A feature that is most attractive is his thick, wavy hair, brushed straight back from his forehead, and slightly streaked with gray, though from the floor of the theatre it appears to be very black.

In spite of lurid posters, suggesting mysterious powers, I was not at all afraid during our conversation and the young man was very modest. He said that he had studied other magicians from the time he was a boy and had practised for years before he had had any hope of becoming so adept as he is now. He makes no claim to supernatural powers and "spirit assistance," but his hypnotic ability, the dexterity with which he manipulates the cards, catches pigeons in the air, and does all his tricks with so little apparent effort, prove that in spite of his modesty, he had worked hard and long.

He warned me that the most difficult of all his illustions was cutting a woman in two in mid-air. The most interesting part of the show from his standpoint is crystal gazing. If one really wants any information there is no question about Blackstone being able to give one the answer from the depths of the crystal sphere.

During the course of our conversation Mr. Blackstone introduced Mr. Augustus Pitou, the producer, Mr. Dow, his manager, and his press agent ,Mr. Mack. They have recently come to Canada after opening across the line where they played to crowded houses. Toronto was a revelation with the air of "big business," and the streets thronged with exhibition visitors.

Mr. Mack said he always replied to the question: "Have you been out to the big show?" with the answer: "I am travelling with the greatest show on earth—with Blackstone the Master Magician."

AT THE CAPITOL.

"Sacred and Profane Love" is the title of a remarkable photoplay to be shown at this theatre for the remaining three days of the week. Elsie Ferguson, the screen's ideal interpreter of well-bred society women, comes to the studio for the filming of Arnold Bennett's clever story fresh from a six months' world tour. It requires a combination of talents to give perfection, so this latest Paramount release, "Sacred and Profane Love," is a William D. Taylor production and the scenario is the work of Julia C. Ivers, from "The Book of Carlotta." A mid-Victorian home presided over by a dear old aunt is the scene of Carlotta Peel's childhood days. Much reading develops her romantic nature and she quickly becomes enthralled by the genius of Diaz, a famous pianist of the Five Towns. Seven years after her aunt's death we find Carlotta a successful novelist fleeing from the attentions of her publisher, Ispenlove. Entanglements involving the suicide of Mrs. Ispenlove follow. Diaz now an absinthe drunkard in Paris is found by the distracted Carlotta fleeing from these sordid details, and in nursing him back to health the heroine finds her love has become sacred. Added to this big attraction is Harold Lloyd's very latest comedy, "Among Those Present," together with vaudeville. Herbert Camp Italian charater, singing violin, Doc Jones and Lively Sisters, Harmony and Nonsens.. It makes a really wonderful bill.

AT THE ALLEN.

"Jim the Penman," adapted by Dorothy Farnum from a famous story by Sir Charles L. Young, is the feature attraction at the Allen for Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. An unusual cast, headed by one of America's foremost actors, Lionel Barrymore, has been assembled by Whitman Bennet and directed by Kenneth Webb. Barrymore plays the part of a young bank clerk in a small town who commits the first forgery to save the girl he loves from shame and disgrace. Her father, President of the bank, has fallen into the hands of a gang of international crooks. To save him James Ralston forges a name, becomes embrolled in the same work as the notorious crooks and for twenty years lives in wealth and comfort. An accident brings the knowledge to his wife that Ralston forged the letter which separated her from the man she really loved, at the same time that the net draws closer and exposure at last threatens the whole gang. The man who forged to gain his wife gives his life to save his daughter. He and his companions disappear without a single exception. How? You must see this picture to really get the sensational ending.

The acting of Lionel Barrymore needs no comment. His wife, Doris Rankin, a relative, Arthur Rankin; Gladys Leslie, Charles Coghlan and many other favorites are in this remarkable cast.

AT THE REGENT

TomMix, noted William Fox star, will ride into town next week with another breezy western picture. He will be seen at the Regent Theatre in "Hands Off," an adaptation of the famous novel by William McLeon Raine, which was directed by George E. Marshall.

Needless to say, being a Mix picture, it is replete with action. Probably one of the biggest things Mix has done, it took more than two months to film the thrilling incidents so vividly narrated in written story. Among the big scenes is a stampede of a herd of wild horses, staged with real western realism.

In the path of this onrushing herd is a four-year-old youngster, snatched up just in time by the intrepid Mix and lifted to safety on his saddle horn. This is said to be a moment of suspense rarely found or dared in shadowland drama. Throughout the picture Mix will have ample opportunity to prove again his prowess with lariat and trusty "six," and a distinct novelty will be added in a comedy role interpreted by Mix's favourite horse, who is seen in a series of unusual close-ups.

Mix will be seen as a cow-puncher and a Texas ranger. His leading woman is Pauline Curley, a sixteen-year-old beauty whose talent has been demonstrated in various big screen successes.

CROWD CAME BACK STRONG LAST EVENING—REPEATED TONIGHT.

The Grand Opera House was again filled last evening for the presentation of the "Liars," by the Rex Stock Company, the clever organisation of players who have made a hit with Peterborough audiences during their short stay here. Mr. Rex Snelgrove and his golden-haired leading lady, Zana Vaughn, are versatile actors, and present this charming little play with a strong supporting cast. "Buck and Dave," the pair who start out to go crooked, and end up by a virtuous refusal to annex a bulging money bag in an open safe, are likeable and audacious adventurers, and the breezy methods of the former, who recommends peanut brittle to the Government as a cure for drunkenness, and in consequence receives an order for 100,000 pounds of this commodity, carry him along through a series of comical incidents. The detective in this offering is a real, honest-to-goodness sleuth, who imparts terror to the hearts of his auditors by his manner of saying "goodbye," and his dark, piercing glances. The inflexible landlady, who considers it a "sure sign that a girl is gone on a man when she starts spending money on him," and her husband, who is always on the point of doing what he is told by his stern spouse, add considerably to the enjoyment of a swift-moving, entertaining evening.

"Liars" will be presented to-night at the Grand Opera House for the last time.

BROTHER DOGS LEAD TO ARREST, LAW SUIT.

Owner Loses One, Sees His Twin and Calls Police.

PORT HURON, Sept. 7.—A case of mistaken identity in connection with Pekingese dogs resulted in Miss Florence Frink, of Saginaw, being asked to visit police headquarters by two patrolmen to explain where she got her pribe dog. As a result of got her prize dog. As a result of structed a Port Huron attorney to bring suit for humiliation and false detention.

Miss Helen R. Reid, daughter of Capt. J. T. Reid, also has a valuable Pekingese dog which she missed from her Gratiot Beach home. Miss Reid saw Miss Frink and a companion board a street car with a Pekingese dog under her arm and followed them to the Tunnel Station, where Miss Frink was about to board a train for Saginaw. Police headquarters were notified and two officers responded. They asked Miss Frink to accompany them to police headquarters. While Miss Frink was at headquarters, Miss Reid telephoned that her dog was safe at home.

It developed that the Frink Pekingese and the Reid Pekingese are brothers, although they have not met lately.

SPORT COMMENT

Ball teams coming out of Toronto have acquired the habit of trying to put over "Big City" stuff on the baseball public. The efforts of the Cassics on the holiday took a ludicrous turn in the ninth of the morning game, when the visitors put three runners on with nobody out. Deninson sent up an infield fly, and with first, second and third base occupied, the batter was out. Ashton proceeded to show how little about the game and got away from h[illegible]d,' ay ose who couldn't help but catch Deninson's fly, shot the ball over to Jackson, getting Ashton away from the bag making it a double killing and preventing the Classics from getting to the plate which might have meant he winning run.

Local fans are making selections for Saturday's big game between Belleville and Oshawa and not a few of them are favorable to the Quinte town team. Peterboro fans always have considerable respect for the pitching of Freddy Goyer, and the probalities are that Belleville will have a big following of rooters for the week-end battle.

"Oshawa by the way is just dying to win a championship of some kind and no expense is spared in the effort to muster a winning aggregation in any line of sport,, says the Hamilton Spectator. The lacrosse team pays its coach forty dollars a week and eventeen players were imported to try and win the championship. There are some large manufacturing establishments in the town and it is no trouble for the tour ng athelees to secure a position. The ball players are treated in the same liberal manner, and if Oshawa fails to win a championship it will not be for lack of trying.

Two major league records were established on Monday. One of them was made by Pitcher Walter Johnson, of Washington, who set a record of 2,293 strike-outs, by fanning six Philadelphia players. The old record, which stood for years, was held by Cy Young, the former Cleveland, twirler, who had 2,290 strike-outs in 22 seasons in the [illegible]. Johnson now is in his seventeenth consecutive year with Washington.

"RACE OF CENTURY" RUN AMIDST BOOES OF SPECTATORS.

HARTFORD, Sept. 7.—(Canadian Press).—The 'Race of the Century,' booked as the feature event of the Grand Circuit meeting here, was raced and completed yesterday afternoon amidst hisses and booes of the spectators. Peter Manning, champion trotter, won the event, taking each heat from Single G, unbeaten thus far this season, in 202¼ and 206.

In the first heat, Allen, driving Single G, went into the lead at the Wood, but was content with a slight margin all the way around to the home stretch. The horses went to the half in 103¼, and in the race home Peter Manning was stronger. They came the last quarter in 28 3-4 seconds. In the second heat Allen trailed with Single G, and the half was reached in 106½. This time Allen attempted to outbrush the trotter, but Murphy won easily. The last quarter was raced in 28 seconds flat.

HOCKEY MEETING NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT IN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Hockey enthusiasts are getting together for the coming season, and as a curain-raiser a meeting has been arranged for the Chamber of Commerce next Friday evening at eight o'clock. Everybody interested in the welfare of the game in this city, is invited to the meeting and it is hoped that the attendance will be large.

It is generally conceded tha Peterboro has not its best in the winter sport for several seasons. Any improvement that can be made will be welcomed. There is no scarcity of hockey material for competition in the junior and intermediate series of the O.H.A. With a good intermediate team last season, Peterboro failed to w.n it's group The same players went into the City League and made it a remarkable success. What the supporters of hockey want to know is this? If O.H.A. and other players can break all local records for a City Hockey League, why is it that these players cannot be brought together and make the O.H.A. series a success. O.H.A. players have the reputation of being trouble-makers. They certainly did not make trouble in the City League—they gave everything they had to their respective clubs.

THE BALL GAME IS CALLED OFF

BELLEVILLE AND OSHAWA WILL PLAY IN PORT HOPE, AND NOT AT PETERBORO.

Jake Solomon received a wire from the Extcutive of the Central Ontario League this afternoon, cancelling the second half championship ball game between Belleville and Oshawa, scheduled to be played in Peterborough Saturday next.

The game, it is announced, will be played in Port Hope on Saturday afternoon.

CIVIL STRIFE IN ITALY NOW ENDED.

ROME, Sept. 6. — Fascisti and Socialists, after months of guerilla warfare, have signed an agreement to abstain from fighting and have constituted, in case of new disputes, "a court of last resort," whose judgments shall be final. Meanwhile, there are occasional skirmishes, but peace has practically come to terrorized Italy.

The court consists of one arbiter, Enrico De Nicola, president of the Chamber of Deputies, who is clothed with supreme power in the settlement of disputes between the two factions. De Nicola was elected to the speakership of the Chamber at the beginning of this session by a practically unanimous vote. He has a nationally known reputation for fairness. In his inaugural address he brought the House to its feet, Fascisti vying with Socialists and Communists to applaud his words.

According to the agreement, each side purposes to discipline its own members, and to be responsible for their conduct, inflicting their own penalties for infractions of the peace pact. The return of all "the trophies of war" is demanded. Durmg the hostilities, the Fascisti commandeered and captured all kinds of Socialist spoil, including red banners, Socialist arms, emblems, office furniture, seals, record books and thousands of members' cards.

During the strife, the Fascisti also had forced many Socialists to resign their positions. Now they may return to work in return for the promise that they will in no way interfere with the patriotic propaganda promulgated by the Fascisti and will pay the respect due the Italian flag.

The Fascisti succeeded in the negotiations in persuading the Socialists to disown the organization of militant radicals known as "Arditi del Popolo," who have been ambushing innocent travellers as well as Fascisti. Several deaths and many wounded have been the toll of these ambushed parties. The Government is using every means to rid the country districts of them. Strong patrols of carabineers and royal guards reconnoiter the troublesome sections of the country.

The truce between the Fascisti and Socialists was largely due to d'Annunzio's former chef-de-cabinet, Major Giuriati, who has worked incessantly to bring both sides to an understanding. Mussolini, the head of the Fascisti, speaking of the pact said: "Since the Socialists have shown themselves inclined to love Italy and be patriotic, we are ready to offer them peace."

REASONABLE RENT

Return of Ten Per Cent. Considered Just.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The problem of the definition of "reasonable rent," which has been the subject of great controversy in the municipal courts since the amendments to the new rent laws were adopted, was settled to-day by the appellate division of the Brooklyn supreme court, which ruled that a reasonable rent was a return of 10 per cent. on the present value of a house.

In an opinion written by Justice Shelby and concurred in by Justices Cropsey and Lazansky, five rules, intended for the guidance of municipal courts, are promulgated. They are:

1. Determine the present fair market value of the premises.
2. Determine the gross rentals demanded by the landlord.
3. Determine the allowable operating expenses for the past year.
4. Deduct from the gross rentals the operating expenses, and this will give the net rental.
5. If this net rental does not exceed 10 per cent. of the present value of the property, then the rent demanded is not unreasonable. The reasonableness of a rent charge may vary under changing financial conditions.

THE UNITED FARMERS' YOUNG PEOPLE MEET

DEBATE FAVORED A LIGHTING PLANT FOR THE FARM.

A meeting of the United Farmers Young People's Association was held last evening in the rooms above the farmers' grocery on Simcoe street. There was a good attendance at this meeting, presided over by Mr. Vivian Milburn. The roll call, responded to by each member with a short commentary on some local event, was followed by a debate on the resolution: "That $600 is better invested in a farm lighting plant than in a Ford car." The affirmative was led by Mr. Harvey Webber, with Mr. Earl Petrie and the negative was taken by Mr. Archie Bulmer. His second being absent, the place was filled at the last minute by Mr. V. Milburn. Mr. A. S. Thurston, of the staff of the Farmers' Sun, Toronto, acted as judge, and awarded the decision to the affirmative side. His remarks and a few helpful criticisms on the conduct of the debate and the roll call were received with much appreciation by the members.

A paper on "The Tariff as it affects the young farmer starting in for himself," was read by Mr. Harry McKee, followed by the reading of the club paper by Mr. Stanley Cann, including contributions by members on the possibilities of developing trade with South America, and the advocating of the manufacture of lead pencils in Canada. A recitation by Mrs. Fred McNeely was received with loud applause, and the evening closed with the corn roast, which was a huge success.

On the first Tuesday in October, the club intends holding a pie social in their rooms, which will take the form of an open, general meeting. Members of the U.F.O. and U.F.W.O. will be invited to attend, and prominent farmers of the district will be asked to make addresses on topics of the day.

CAT SERVES MASTER AS AN ALARM CLOCK

Peter Knows Time Without Looking at Clock.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7.— A cat with a senseof time has been discovered in Germantown. The cat, which is known to almost every one in the suburb as just plain Peter, is its own chronometer.

Peter is so accurate that he awakens his master every morning several minutes after 8 o'clock. He follows his master to the car, sees that he is safely aboard and after waving farewell with his tail, returns to his own quarters. Several Persian cats and French poodles are there, but Peter, just a "plain cat," is supreme ruler. Peter's master is William C. MacLeod, a real estate man and harness manufacturer.

At precisely the same time every afternoon Peter is again on the job to meet the car bearing his master and escorts him home.

Peter does many other things, among them being to keep the other animals within the borders of the "runnery" surrounding his quarters, and keeping intruders away. Mr. MacLeod, who takes a nap Sunday afternoons, does not need an alarm clock to awaken at 4 o'clock, because Peter is scratching at the door at 3.55.

Peter was found when but a kitten last winter, huddled near a snowbank by Mr. MacLeod. When taken to a veterinarian it was found the kitten was ill, but after several months' treatment he became quite robust.

GRAFTON'S AEROPLANE DELIVERY.

Interested enquirers at the Grafton store this morning wanted to know if the store had installed an aeroplane delivery service. Mr. Conway's reply was not exactly, but the early morning flying machine was simply taking a bird's-eye view of the store to get the best ideas for the new front they are just starting to put in. Just so there would be no mistake about whose interests were being served by the airman, the word "Grafton's" was painted in immense letters on the bottom of the plane, where it caught every eye as it circled over the different parts of the city.

'Twas in the Bible.

"So you attend Sunday school regularly?" said the minister to little Eve.

"Oh, yes, sir."

"And you know your Bible?"

"Oh, yes, sir."

"Could you tell me something that is in it?"

"I could tell you everything that's in it."

"Indeed!" and the minister smiled.

"Sister's young man's photo is in it," said Eve, promptly, "and ma's recipe for face cream is in it, and a lock of my hair cut off when I was a baby is in it, and the ticket for pa's watch is in it."

U. S. S. MARYLAND, HEAVIEST ARMED SHIP IN THE WORLD

U. S. S. MARYLAND, HEAVIEST ARMED SHIP IN THE WORLD

The first fighting vessel in the world is the U. S. S. Maryland. She carries six 16 inch guns and although not the largest ship afloat, is the heaviest in armament. The "Maryland" weighs about 32,000 tons. She has the new clipper bow which has been adopted for the newest warships. Captain Charles F. Preston is in command, and there will be 100 officers in the crew of about 1,500. She will be the flag ship of the Pacific Fleet.

WILL NOTIFY UTILITIES COMMISSIONERS OF CITY'S DISSATISFACTION AND APPOINT AN INDEPENDENT INSPECTOR IN COUNCIL'S PAY.

That the Public Utilities must endeavor to give the city a more satisfactory street lighting service in the near future was quite evident by the Council's temper last night, when Ald. Turner raised the question of lights being out at nights here and there over the system, although, as Alderman Crowe caustically remarked, not a few burn day and night.

"We are not getting value for our money," said Ald. Turner, and not long ago all the lights were out on Water Street. The Utilities should, he contended, be charged for every light not in service; the Council is responsible for the spending of the people's money in this direction, and he would like to see, he continued, a resolution passed that the Council is dissatisfied with the lighting service rendered by the Commissioners. "We pay for a seven days' service," he added, "and why not determine to get exactly what we are charged for, or find some other means of assuring satisfaction for the public?"

Who Responsible.

Ald. Whitehouse would like to know, he said, who is actually responsible in this matter. "The lighting service for Smith Street Bridge is a disgrace; the same condition as to broken lamps again exists, although new lamps had been placed there last year, following complaint by him. If the Utilities Commission cannot assure a satisfactory street light service, let the Council take active steps themselves to do so, he urged.

Bear With Us!

Ald. Crowe averred that in the past Manager Fisk of the Utilities had promised a better lighting system here than in the great majority of cities or towns, if the city would only bear with the Commissioners for a year or two. Mr. Fisk had, Ald. Crowe replied to Ald. Whitehouse, by this statement practically admitted that our street lighting is poor; and he had pointed out that a new sub-station was needed. Mr. Fisk had also declared that the Commissioners were systematically replacing parts of the obsolete plants taken over by them from the former private electric lighting companies.

Ald. Crowe agreed that the Utilities should be charged for all lights not in commission at nights.

Appoint Inspector.

Ald. Turner here remarked that he was prepared for the Council to appoint an inspector for reporting lights out, his hours of duty to be from 4.30 till midnight, for the coming six winter months. This would, he said, give a job to some unemployed man.

Ald. Phelan—"Why not let the firemen or police perform that duty?"

Chorus—"That has been tried long ago, and found wanting."

Ald. Morrison—"The only way is to have an independent man on the job." The Alderman thought, however, such a course should not be necessary, as the Utilities Commission ought to look after this matter themselves.

Ald. Turner and Whitehouse's motion that the Council appoint an inspector, independent of the Utilities, to report on the number of lights not burning at night, carried.

Another resolution by Ald. Turner and Whitehouse that the Utilities Commission be notified of the Council's dissatisfaction with service given, and that it is the intention to assess the Commission for lights out at night, also carried.

ACCOMMODATION AT THE SOUTH CENTRAL

ARRANGING THE BOUNDARIES FOR THE NEW SCHOOL.

After the general meeting of the Board of Education last night, a meeting of the Supervision Committee, of which Mr. A. A. Fowler is chairman, was called to discuss the situation which has developed in Peterborough schools. There are over 200 more pupils in the Public Schools of the city this year than last, the new school has a total of over 600, the Collegiate is already overcrowded,, and further applicants cannot be received there, the overflow commercial classes are being accommodated at the South Central School, where 101 are registered, more than anticipated, and 16 more than last year's roll, and the Central School has 52 more pupils than there is room for in the building. The kindergarten departments of the Queen Mary and the new Prince of Wales Schools are crowded.

After some discussion, it was decided, in order to relieve the congestion to a certain extent, to open up two classrooms in the South Central building, to accommodate the small children of that district who have too far to walk to the Queen Mary or Prince of Wales buildings.

APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL ALLOWED TO STAND A YEAR

OTTAWA, Sept. 7. — (Canadian Press).—The Canadian Bar Association decided this morning to stand over for another year questions relating to the right of appeal from the Supreme Court of Canada to the Privy Council of Great Britain.

MINIMUM GAS CHARGE 75 CENTS PER MONTH IS UNREASONABLE

IN OPINION OF CITY FATHERS, WHO WILL PROTEST TO HYDRO ELECTRIC COMMISSION.

The Council will protest to the Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario against their minimum charge of 75c a month taxed consumers for gas whether they use that amount or not.

Ald. Gordon, in Council meeting last night, thought this charge manifestly unfair to many people, who in winter use no gas whatever, cooking by coal when they are burning that fuel for heating. No one should, he said, be forced to pay for something one does not use, and it dose not cost 75c to read a meter, in his opinion.

The Commission had announced their intention to charge a minimum rate of $1 a month, but Ald. Morrison pointed out, incidentally, that the Commission were only billing for 75c a month at present.

Ald. Whitehouse remarked that this is no time, in a period of depression, to raise the minimum gas charge from 50c to even 75c a month. The people simply cannot afford any additional financial burden.

The Council, in protesting against this charge, will request the Hydro Electric Commission to explain their reason for a 75c or any minimum rate, irrespective of gas consumed. This was the motion of Ald. Gordon and Phelan.

RELIEF FOR THE UNEMPLOYED

SAME MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE AS LAST YEAR TO ACT.

In relief for the city's unemployed, the same council committee, with Ald. Phelan as chairman, will act this year as last. The lay members of this committee are: Messrs. Harry Rush, S. Whatley, Hugh Robertson, and Relief Officer Miller.

On motion of Ald. Gordon and Crowe, this committee will deal with unemployed strictly resident in this city from now until December 31st, and the chairman is to certify to any orders for commodities issued.

In this connection the City Clerk has been instructed to write for information as to whether the Dominion Government and the local Legislature will each continue to pay a proportion of one-third of whatever relief is distributed by municipalities.

Visitors Stream to See Premier

LITTLE CAN BE GLEANED AS TO RESULT OF CONFERENCES

OTTAWA, Sept. 7.—(Canadian Press) Cabinet reorganization and the question of who will go and who will stay in the reconstituted Meighen Government is being discussed with interest in the capital A stream of political visitors, none of whom are mentioned as Cabinet aspirants, continue to flow into the office of the Prime Minister but little of a definite nature can be gleaned as resulting from the conferences which are being held. Among the Prime Ministers callers this morning were W. E. Middleboro, chief whip of the government party, and Dr. Blake of Winnipeg, one of his lieutenants. Both of them expressed confidence of the result of the coming election.

FORTY POISONED.
Tainted Corned Beef Sandwiches Served at State Fair.
COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 7.—Forty persons, who were guests at a dinner given stock owners at the state fair grounds late yesterday were slowly recovering from ptomaine poisoning in hospitals here to-day.
No deaths had occurred to-day, but at least eight victims were in a serious condition, and physicians feared they might succumb to the poison.
The dinner was tendered by the International Live Stock exposition to more than 200 stock owners from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky and other states.
Only forty were in serious enough condition to be removed to hospitals. Sixty persons were treated with stomach pumps and relieved.
The poisoning, physicians said, was caused by corned beef packed by a western concern. The meat was served in sandwiches. State chemists obtained samples of the food served, and were making an analysis to-day.

POLE MARCH WINS ST. LEGAER STAKES

LONDON, Sept. 7.—Pole March, owned by Lord Londonderry, won the classic St. Leger Stakes this afternoon from Lord Carnarvon's Franklin and Lord Glaneley's Westward Ho. There were only nine starters.

OH, INA!
New Haven Chief Stopped the Disrobing Act.
NEW HAVEN, September 7. — Disrobing, in New Haven, is reserved for bedrooms, Chief of Police William T. Smith informed Ina Claire to-day.
The Chief watched Ina start to get undressed in her new French farce, "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," at the Shubert last night, and stopped the show right when it was getting interesting.
"Uplift of the drama," one of Chief Smith's pet hobbies, clashed with the portending display, so the latter must be stopped, he insists.
William Harris, Jr., who produced the piece, indignantly said that he would seek an injunction restraining the police from interfering to-day.
Chief Smith is the man who once barred a show here because the comedians wore green whiskers.

JUST FOR FISHERMEN.
DENVER, September 7 (United Press).—A serious menace to fishing in South-western Colorado has been discovered by sportsmen in that section, and is puzzling officials of the State Game and Fish Department.
A very small animal, or bug, was noticed in the water of some of Colorado's best fishing lakes. It darts through the water and seizes the fish, according to those who reported the occurrence, and maintains its grasp, and the fish dies within a few minutes. The animal did not attack any fish more than six inches in length, nor did it eat its victim.
A number of specimens of the fish-killer were sent to the State Game and Fish Department, where officials are trying to establish the identity of the strange animal. None of the specimens captured were more than four inches long.

Nerve Pressure Causes Disease

If 100 per cent. of Mental Impulses are necessary to produce life in full in any part it sure must be delivered. If pressure on Nerves at point of exit from the Spine diminishes the capacity for transmission of their forces, the result will be a loss of function, or change of structure, at the place to where these Nerves lead. Removal of this pressure allows for the free carrying of Mental Impulses, making possible for Innate Intelligence to assert itself and restore the depreciated function to normal.
Compared to the application of electricity and judged scientifically, Nature can make all that is necessary for her maintenance from the foods you consume when working properly and fully. Simple as it may seem, it is attested by results achieved from the simple method used by Chiropractors for freeing these Nerves of the pressure upon them, allowing Nature to restore the abnormal parts to normal.
It is the simplicity that places the Chiropractor in a class by himself, because he knows how and where to find where this pressure exists and how to remove it in the simplest way. This makes his work positive, simple, and conclusive.
The chief object in Chiropractic as contained in the ruling motive of its discoverer, is to elevate the human race by freeing it from ignorance and traditional prejudice, by teaching and using a harmless system of health practice that painlessly eliminates the unnatural and unnecessary conditions called disease.
There is nothing in pure Chiropractic incompatible with the well attested facts of Biology and Physiology. All we claim for the science, with respect to adjustment for morbid conditions, has been amply verified by clinical experience.

ATTACK REPORT OF THE LEAGUE COUNCIL HOTLY

SWEDISH DELEGATE BITTER OVER DECISION AS TO ALAND ISLANDS, WHICH LORD CECIL DEFENDS.

BLAMES U.S. ATTITUDE FOR MANDATE DELAYS

By HENRY WOOD,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

GENEVA, Sept. 8.—The report of the League Council to the Assembly was the subject of bitter attacks during a strenuous debate to-day.

Branting of Sweden attacked the Council's decision regarding the Aaland Islands, declaring that the League of Nations had failed to fulfill the world's expectations. Branting charged that the Commission on the Aaland dispute had failed to take up certain cases and had permitted its decisions to be influenced from the outside in others, leading to the suspicion that the League was not impartial.

Lord Robert Cecil forcibly defended the Council's report. He admitted that it was in many ways "indigestible," and could not be understood everywhere in the world, but insisted that the sanction of the Saare Valley and Nattzig problems had been most effective.

Lord Robert referred to the Aaland settlement as a great achievement. He said the proper international court would be a monument to the League's effectiveness.

The delay in settling the question of mandates had been due, Lord Robert said, entirely to the attitude of the United States.

UNDERTAKER SPEEDS IN HEARSE; IS FINED

Gets Peeved When Job Proves Lively Corpse.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 8. — Though death and taxes are still pretty sure and certain, the undertaking business continues to have its ups and downs, and the possibility that the objective corpse may still be alive appears to be one of the chief annoyances of the trade. Robert Eiseman was in the Meriden Police Court and the judge apparently considered as extenuating and irritating a false alarm from New Britain, where, after a drive across half the state, it was found the corpse was alive.

The charge against Eisenman was reckless driving, and the court seemed inclined to hold that it was but natural to hasten home a little fast and furious, after such an experience.

Eisenman, chauffeur of the automobile hearse owned by Joseph P. Steigler, of Bridgeport, testified he received notice of a burial job in New Britain and immediately drove the 50 miles. Arriving, he found the "corpse" was alive and hourly improving further away from lighted candles and slow music.

Eisenman threw her in high and sent the big, shiny motor hearse speeding away sou'southwest toward Bridgeport. Passing through Meriden he collided with an automobile owned by Walter Johnson, of Meriden. When the disappointed undertaker told his story he was let off with a fine of $25 and costs.

FAINTS AND FALLS WHEN MAN SLASHES SELF WITH KNIFE

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

MILTON, Ont., September 8. —Through fear of being caught by an intoxicated manvidual, who had a knife in his hand, at Milton Public School yesterday afternoon, little seven-year-old Jean Robertson climbed into the branches of a tree for safety.

When she saw the man's blood-stained face after he had slashed himself several times, the little tot fainted and fell ten feet to the ground, breaking her right leg and receiving internal injuries.

The man was taken to jail.

BREAK IN CIRCUIT DIMMED THE LIGHTS

A damaged fuse or "junction box" in the south end last night threw a considerable section of the west and south-west sections of the city into darkness about 7.30 o'clock. The break in the circuit was finally wired temporarily, but in the meantime some of the residents tried out their spleen on the officials of the light and power department. "Well, how long are you goinfi to leave us without light?" "Say, do you know we've got no light down here?"

These and more cutting queries, all of them snapping with a sting to them, poured over the telephone for half an hour or so. When some of the light men and the department heads begin to believe that there is such a thing as the milk of human kindness, an accident like last night's happens to dispel their amiable opinions.

DISTILS HIS DEATH POTION.

Man Dies After Drinking Home-Made Liquor—Friend Survives.

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 8. — Arrested in a helpless condition from intoxication, Charles McGroarty, of 120 State Street, died in the Camden prison. Coroner Holl gave a certificate of death from acute alcoholism.

The police were unable to learn the identity of the man until they found Michael Kelly, of 230 Vine Street, who also was found intoxicated, the police say. Kelly laid his intoxication to liquor made by McGroarty, and took policemen to McGroarty's home, where a still was found in full operation in the kitchen, and near it were molasses, cornmeal and prunes. A still not in use was found in Kelly's home.

OPTIMISM NOW PREVAILS OVER IRISH OUTLOOK

DOMINION LEAGUE'S SUGGESTION TO ACCEPT BRITISH PROPOSALS HAD LITTLE EFFECT.

EXPECTS CONFERENCE TO MAKE SETTLEMENT

By CLYDE C. BEALS,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

DUBLIN, Sept. 8.—A wave of relief has swept over Ireland following reports that the British Cabinet's note does not summarily break off negotiations nor take the form of an ultimatum. It was felt here today that through conversations between Sinn Fein plenipotentiaries and the committee appointed by the British Cabinet, a peaceful settlement would yet be reached.

The joint letter of Sir Horace Plunkett and Captain Harrison, chairman of the Dominion League, to Valera, urging acceptance of Dominion status, will have little effect upon the Dail Cabinet, it was believed. It was to the ranks of the Sinn Fein that De Valera, Griffith and Collins are answerable, it was pointed out.

THE BRITISH REPLY.

By ED. L. KEEN,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, Sept. 8. — President De Valera was invited to bring Irish plenipotentiaries to meet with a special committee of the British Cabinet and discuss the Irish situation face to face on or about September 20 in a note sent by the Cabinet to Ireland yesterday and made public to-day.

The British note points out to De Valera that Government by consent of the governed is a fundamental part of the British constitution, but insists that such a principle cannot be accepted as a basis for the proposed conference. Ireland must remain within the Empire, the British note says.

The British note, which was handed to Sinn Fein's envoy yesterday at Inverness, reads as follows:

"The principle of government by consent of the governed is a fundamental part of British constitutional development, but we cannot accept as a basis for a practical conference an interpretation of that principle, which will commit us to grant any demands you might present, even to the extent of setting up a republic and repudiating the Crown. You are aware that a conference on such a basis is impossible."

HANDS OFF.

DUBLIN, Sept. 8. — (Canadian Press.) —Mr. De Valera, Arthur Griffith, Sinn Fein Foreign Minister, and Professor John McNeil, Speaker of the Irish Republican Parliament, arrived at Mansion House earlier than usual to-day. Shortly afterwards a statement was issued saying: "Neither President De Valera or the Cabinet know anything of the American committee which is stated to be proceeding to Ireland. We are quite certain all our American friends, while naturally anxious, realize that this question, affecting as it does the lives and fortunes of the people of Ireland, is one for the people of Ireland themselves to determine.

ACT SAFELY, THINK SAFETY

DRIVER'S INDECISION MAY RESULT IN DEATH

BROCKVILLE, Sept. 8. — Dr. Valiquette, of Ottawa, his father and his brother were injured, the first two seriously, yesterday, when their car was overturned at Glen Smail, two miles south of Spencerville, on the Prince of Wales Highway, on the sudden application of the brakes. The driver was undecided as to which road to follow ,and when the brakes were applied the car turned over, pinning the occupants beneath it. The eldest Valiquette is the most seriously injured and fears are entertained that he may not recover. All three have been removed to an Ottawa hospital.

JAMES H. BRIDGER KILLED IN CAVE-IN

SARNIA, Sept. 8. — James H. Bridger, aged 25, son of George H. Bridger, gardener, residing on the London road, a half mile from the city limits, lost his life yesterday when a well in which he was working, caved in and burned him, it being two hours after the occurrence before the rescue party succeeded in getting him out. According to Dr. J. G. Merrison, life had been extinct for an hour and a half when the body was extricated from the sand.

Women Runnig Rum at Border

BAR STRADDLING INTERNATIONAL BOUNDARY SWINGS ACROSS LINE WHEN OFFICERS COME.

(Special Despatch to the Examiner)

QUEBEC, Sept. 8.—Women bootleggers are the latest feature in the merry game of quenching arid throats along the Quebec-Maine international boundary line. Trim natty women motorists have plied this office for considerable time undeterred and the extent of their business has been large, as they have operated on a front of nearly one hundred and fifty miles, covering the frontier from Jackson to Lake Frontiers, Temiscouata and New Brunswick. Another novelty is the international bar which swings on a pivot and becomes situated, according to the exigencies of the moment, either in United States or Canadian territory. The bar is built straddling the border line and when warning is received of a raid from either revenue forces, the tricky proprietors merely swing their bars across the line and continue serving with impunity. There has been no cooperation between the Canadian and American revenue officers, otherwise the ingenious plan would fall flat.

NEW OUTBREAK OF FIRE NOW FEARED ANNAPOLIS ROYAL

DAMAGE ESTIMATED AT $500,000 —GOVERNOR ASKS HELP.

ANNAPOLIS ROYAL, N. S., Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press.)— Fires which destroyed a large section of this town yesterday evening, were to-day smouldering, and danger of another outbreak was feared if the wind sprang up. It was estimated that it will cost $500,000 to replace the buildings destroyed and McCallum ,Grant, Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia, has issued an appeal for help for the homeless townspeople.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press.)— Resistance to the recent rise in the stock market was indicated at the opening of to-day's session, Mexican Petroleum, Studebaker and American Sugar were under moderate pressure but Baldwin Locomotive, Crucible Steel, Pan-American Petroleum, General Asphalt, Chandler and some of the Rails were firm to strong.

Several of the more important industrials, especially Equipments, and various obscure specialties, made further gains in early dealings. The market reversed its course before noon, however, when Studebaker and the cheaper Motors reacted, Mexican Petroleum, Atlantic Gulf, American Sugar and United Drug also were heavy, the latter repeating its recent low record.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Sept. 8. — (Canadian Press.)—The market close for the morning was unfeatured by any special change. Most of the early advances were maintained. Abitibi, however, closed a half point lower at 28 1-2 and Atlantic Sugar went down three-quarters to 25. Brazilian remained unchanged at its opening figure. Dominion Steel was also unchanged at 28. Laurentide lost half to 67 1-2 and National Breweries a quarter to 55 3-4.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press.)—Numerous gains were scored on the local stock exchange during this morning's session. Canada Bread made the best showing, sales of 160 shares running the price up to 25, compared with 22 1-2 yesterday. Ontario Steel at 52 1-2 made a gain of 1 1-2 points over yesterday's last quotation while Steel of Canada and Brazilian advanced 1-2 and 5-8 points respectively. Toronto Railway showed considerable activity, and after early strength, sold off to 52 1-2, unchanged from yesterday's close. In the unlisted section, Brompton sold up to 19 with the close at 18 3-4 or 2 3-4, a net gain for the day.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

TORONTO, Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press.)—Receipts 166, trade light. Quotations: Heavy beef steers, not quoted; butcher steers, choice, $6 to $7; butcher cows, medium, $3 to $4; calves, $10 to $12; lambs, $8; hogs, selects, $10.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.— (Canadian Press.)— September Wheat opened at 127 1-2, December at 130 1-2 to 131 1-2, and May at 136 1-4 to 137 1-4. Corn opened 1-2 to 7-8 cents lower, with September at 54, December at 54 1-4 to 54 3-8 and May at 59 1-4 to 59 1-2. Oats were off at the start in sympathy with other grains, opening 1-8 to 3-8 cents lower, with September at 35 3-4, December at 39 and May at 43 1-8.

NEXT MOVE IN RAIL CASE IS GRAND TRUNK'S

COUNSEL FOR SHAREHOLDERS EXPECTED TO MEET TO CONSIDER ACTION FRIDAY.

APPEAL BY RAILWAY NOW SEEMS CERTAIN

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

MONTREAL, Sept. 8.— Howard G. Kelly, President of the Grand Trunk Railway, stated this morning that he had nothing to say on the question of the awards as made yesterday by the Board of Arbitration at Ottawa, in the case dealing with the present value of the shares of that company.

Counsel for the shareholders will, in all probability, meet to-morrow to discuss what action will be taken in the matter by the shareholders. Three members of the Council are at present in Ottawa, but are returning to-night for the meeting, and it is thought probable that after the discuussion they will issue a statement as to the future procedure.

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Sept. 8.—The next development in the winding up of the old Grand Trunk acquistion arrangements will emanate from London, where the holders of £37,000,000 worth of preference and common stocks have just been informed that their holdings are without value and that any compassionate consideration must, if it comes at all, come from Parliament and the Government. The finding of the majority must come as a deep disappointment, a disappointment which will be but slightly mitigated by the report of the dissenting judge, Hon. William Taft, for Mr. Taft practically agreed with the premises, on which Sir Thos. White and Mr. Justice Cassels based their findings, though he came to a different conclusion, mainly on compassionate grounds, and if value is to be injected into the stocks for such reasons, this, as the majority judges hold, is for the Parliament and the Government to decide.

The chief significance to be attached to Mr. Taft's report is that it opens the way for an appeal from the majority findings on the ground that, in arriving at values, the replacement cost of the system was not taken into consideration. An appeal must either be taken to the Supreme Court of Canada or to the Judicial committee of the Privy Council with the permission of the latter. That such an appeal will be taken is not doubted here, though decision in the matter must come from London. In the meantime, however, there is nothing to prevent the Government from going ahead if it so desires, with the consolidation of the Canadian railway system.

HEN HATCHES HER BROOD ON LIMB 12 FEET IN AIR.

MIDDLEPORT, Sept. 8.—Albert A. Smith, who resides on the Summer Hill farm, a few miles east and south of here, noticed two baby chicks under an apple tree and began a search to find where they came from. He was unable to find any clue to the mystery.

Later, while grain threshers were on the farm, one of the men noticed a hen sitting up in the tree under which the chicks had been found.

The farmhand located the hen setting on a nest on a large limb, which is a bit hollow. She has eight baby chicks and two eggs, making in all 12 eggs originally.

The limb is 12 feet from the ground. This is a new way of hatching eggs as far as local experience goes and has startled poultrymen.

NEW MINE WAR IS THREATENED

ELIABETHTOWN, Ill., Sept. 8.—(United Press.)—Nearly 1,000 striking miners, bivouacked in the hills near here, are prepared to march on this city and Rosiclare to-day, according to Sheriff Encox. Citizens and deputies were preparing to fight to prevent the invasion.

GETTING READY FOR THE RE-UNION

A meeting of the 21st Battalion Club took place last evening in the G.W.V.A. Hall, with President W. Harris in the chair. Business pertaining to the re-union of ex-members of the Battalion, which takes place here on 16th September, was discussed. A telegram has been received from Kingston, guaranteeing 35 men, who will travel by automobile. Cobourg Belleville, Port Hope, Trenton, Lindsay, Toronto, and Ottawa will also be represented.

A short parade is anticipated prior to the banquet, in which all delegates will participate.

The Peterborough Club believes that this will be the best re-union of its kind held in Ontario up to the present time.

The number attending the meetings of this club increases with every meeting, and the president expects a full, representative gathering on Wednesday, 14th September, when all final arrangements for the re-union will be made.

DETOURS IMPASSABLE

Motorists Make Complaints of the Long Detours

Oshawa—Motorists are vigourously complaining of the long detour they are required to make in Pickering Township near Dunbarton, for which they claim there is no necessity, says the Pickering News. The detour is one concession north, over roads that are deplorable, particulary after a rain storm. The Kingston road is being repaired by the detour, but the only real reason given for the detour is that a certain bridge is unsafe for heavy traffic. If this really is the reason, passenger autos might well be permitted to use it, and only heavy trucks obliged to detour. It is said the real reason of the detour is that interested parties want to have the detour road so badly cut up by traffic that the Government will have to repair it at its own expense rather than the Township of Pickering should do the work. This may not be true, but from appearances there must be some subtle motive in putting motorists over such a long rough detour when the Kingston road is passable.

HAVELOCK COUNCIL CAPITULATED TO MEN

HAVELOCK, Sept. 8.— Council having fixed the rate of wages for corporation work at 25 cents per hour, men at work on a drain struck and left the job. The work, only partially completed, facing destruction from rains, Council capitulated, and the men returned to work at the old wage, 30 cents an hour.

In an interview given The Toronto Globe last night, G. N. Gordon, M.P., declared that the Government incomplete as yet.

RUMOR ALL BUT FOUR RESIGNED FROM CABINET

SENATE CALLS SOME, RESENTMENT OTHERS

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

OTTAWA, September 8. — It is stated here that all but four of the members of the Cabinet have tendered their resignations. The four are: Premier Meighen himself, Sir Henry Drayton, Minister of Finance, Hon. Dr. F. S. Tolmie, Minister of Agriculture, and Sir Edward Kemp, Minister without portfolio.

The reasons for the tendering of the resignations vary. Generally speaking, the desire is to give the Premier a free hand in his plans of reconstruction. In the case, however, of Sir George Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, Hon. Dr. Reid, Minister of Railways, and Hon. J. A. Calder, neither intends to run again, and are said to be slated for the Senate, while Hon. C. J. Doherty is booked for Geneva, where he is at present engaged in the conference of the League of Nations.

His presence there precludes the possibility of his participation in the campaign in any case.

Hon. R. W. Wigmore, Minister of Customs, whose incumbency has been marked by certain political indiscretions, desired sanctuary in the Red Chamber to fill the vacancy left by the death of Senator Demville.

In Mr. Wigmore's place the Premier would like to bring back Sir Douglas Hazen, a former member of the Borden Government, and now Chief Justice of the Province of New Brunswick, Sir Douglas was tendered a place in the original Meighen Cabinet in July of 1920, but then declined.

In the case of certain others, who have tendered their resignations, resent at the bringing on an election is said to be a prime factor.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Militia, and Hon. G. C. Ballantyne, Minister of Marine, are said to hold the opinion that, apart from the protests of the West against failure to bring about a redistribution, the Premier was ill-advised to call an election in the very midst of hard times. They believe both, however, may be induced to remain.

New material is hard to find. It is a notable fact, however, that R. B. Bennett, of Calgary, who early last week pretty definitely stated that he had no intention of coming into the Government, is now halting between two opinions on the subject. He has declined the position of Alberta Chief Justice, a position which, it is now expected, T. M. Tweedye, M.P. for Calgary, will secure.

Mr. Bennett has a wide knowledge of railway affairs, and a Minister of Railways at Ottawa is badly needed.

It is well known that Premier Meighen has had several conferences with President E. W. Beatty of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company of late, and the rumour has been revived that the Shaughnessy proposal for a consolidation of all the Canadian railways under C. P. R. management and a Government guarantee of dividends is being considered as an arrangement to be carried out if the Government weathers the election.

Mr. Bennett, in days gone by, was counsel for the C. P. R.

Among those on the new slate are: John Stewart of Lanark and H. H. Stevens of Centre Vancouver, while L. P. Gautier, of St. Hyacinthe, is a possibility.

Among the probabilities for the new Cabinet positions to-day are: Edmund Bristol of Centre Toronto, at present engaged in organisation for the Meighen Government, and Dr. Manion of Fort William.

At the coming elections it is stated, the Government will run six straight Conservatives in Toronto.

OTTAWA, Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press) The Prime Minister will in all probality make an extended political campaign covering a large part if nit the whole dominion. There is as yet no indication as to when he will open his campaign, although it is stated his first speech will be delivered in his own costituency of Portage La Prairie.

FEATURE VAUDEVILLE ATTRACTIONS AT THE PETERBOROUGH EXHIBITION

The grand stand attractions at the Peterborough Exhibition this year are the best the directors could procure within their means. Included in the programme are the following features:

The Four Mellos—Sensational artistes of the trapeze and horizontal bars. This is one of the best aerial stage acts in the world. Throwing two fliers at one time, backward back somersaults in hands, double loop somersaults, are a few of their stunts.

The Royal Yositos—Japanese originators in two acts. Novel feats of foot juggling, "looping the loop" many times in rapid succession while balanced on flying trapeze.

Marie and Chas. Racko—One of the world's best equilibristic acts. The usual order reversed. Miss Racko doing the principal feats. She is said to be the most perfectly developed woman in the world.

D'Loura—The man of the steel pole, 75 feet in height. The extreme length and slenderness of the pole causes it to sway back and forth until it seems ready to snap in two. While at the top of the pole, D'Loura does marvellous feats in acrobatic work and balancing.

28-POUND LUNGE CAUGHT BY TWO CAMPBELLFORD MEN IS PRIZED

I. A. HUMPHRIES AND JAMES ARCHER QUALIFY AMONG THE FRATERNITY OF SPORTSMEN—ALEX. HUME WILL JUDGE AYR-SHIRES AT BRITISH COLUMBIA EXHIBITION.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 8.—Mr. Alex. Hume, President of the Seymour Agricultural Society's Exhibition, held annually in Campbellford, has left for New Westminster, B. C., where he will be a judge of Ayrshire cattle at the British Columbia Provincial Exhibition. This is a high distinction for Mr. Hume, a striking recognition of his knowledge of Ayrshires and of his abilities as a judge in this class, and also indicates the fact that his reputation is Dominion-wide. Mr. Hume expects to be back on the Monday preceding the Campbellford Fair.

Caught Big Fish.

Let no one start to unfold a fish story to I. A. Humphries, Campbellford's Town Solicitor, for if they stick to facts they will have to be armed with an achievement better than the piscatorial exploit performed on Labor Day by Mr. Humphries and James Archer off J. Boyce's resort at Percy Boom. While fishing with a Bristol steel rod and a trawling bait, Mr. Humphries hooked a 28-pound maskelunge that put up a great battle before it was overcome. They played it until it became fagged, and then, deciding to take no chances in landing it, towed the big fellow four or five hundred feet to shore, where it was successfully beached. Tuesday morning it was shipped to Peterborough to be mounted by Mr. Edwin Elcome. So, if anyone singles out Mr. Humphries or Mr. Archer as an audience for a fish story they've got to have something bigger than a 28-pound lunge to tell about, and, more than that, they must be more eloquent not to say voluble than either of the two local fishermen, who from now on may be counted among the self-starters among the sporting brotherhood whose pass word is, "That reminds me," or "You should have seen the one I got at, etc., etc." This fish was a beautiful specimen of maskelunge and the sight of it stirred up mild envies among the friends of the captors who were privileged to glimpse it. By the way, fishing has greatly improved since the turn of the month, not only at Percy Boom, but also in Crowe Bay, above town.

Cheque From Havelock.

The Lacrosse Club has received a cheque from the Havelock club covering the expenses of the local players, Johnston and Alexander, to Toronto, where they were called to disprove Havelock's protest.

Interest in Exhibition.

Considerable interest is being shown in the Peterborough Exhibition, not only by many townspeople, who have already decided to take advantage of the special night train on Thursday, September 15, from Peterborough to Campbellford, but also among farmers, some of whom are talking of making a bid for a chunk of the prize money. This district is rich in prize cattle and no one doubts that many of them would have but little difficulty in winning a big share of the Peterborough Exhibition prizes.

SCRIVEN MONUMENT DEFACED BY SHOTS

BOWMANVILLE, September 8. Canadian Press. — J. A. McClellan, manager of the Bank of Montreal here, and P. G. Pozier, Inspector of the Bank of Montreal Branches of Ottawa, who with Mrs. McClellan and daughter, motored to Rice Lake, stated yesterday that they recently visited the Bewdley burying ground where a fine monument was recently erected to the memory of the poet, Joseph Scriven, the author of the hymn, "What a Friend we Have in Jesus," and were terribly shocked to see that more than thirty bullets marks were on the monument, the inscriptoin being badly defaced and damage otherwise was great.

CAMPBELLFORD'S LACROSSE TEAM READY FOR FRAY

FINAL PRACTICE WEDNESDAY NIGHT FOR BIG GAME WITH OSHAWA ON FRIDAY.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 8.—The lacrosse team had their final workout last night in preparation for Friday's game here with Oshawa. There was a full line up, including the subs, and for an hour and a half "Dot" Phelan, coach, put the team through a strenuous session, with scarcely a let-up. The home field worked against the defense and kept up a continuous series of rushes from beyond centre field, every attack being pushed as far as possible toward the nets. Some of them broke through, others were broken up. Checking was sharp and the players went at it almost as though it were a real game. The players appear to be in prime condition and ready for the big game of the season. It has been generally felt that the winner of this round will be the Ontario intermediate champions. At the conclusion of practice the team finished up with a half mile run around the race track. "Dot" Phelan had a last confab with his squad and put it squarley up to them that the result of this game and the next one depended upon them alone. If they played up to their best form he felt confident that Oshawa would get a big surprise. Phelan, Dick Cole the manager, and some of the players were on the side-lines in Oshawa last Saturday for the game with Hamilton, but they refuse to form any opinions as to the comparative strengths of the Oshawa and Campbellford teams. They do not accept that game as a criterion of Oshawa's ability. Dr. Henry's outfit are heavy and fast and include several brilliant performers, and as a team they are not under-rated locally. But the Campbellford players are determined to do their best and are quietly confident of themselves.

Oshawa had intended to come in to-night, but they have telephoned that they will not arrive until Friday morning. The game is called for 3.30, with Harcourt and Labbett, of Toronto, the likely choice of officials. With fine weather there will undoubtedly be the biggest crowd ever seen at a local athletic event. The town is all tuned up with excitement, and the pulse of the fans is running above normal.

GOOD SEASON AT KAWARTHA LAKE RESORTS

PRE-WAR SPIRIT OF FUN, SPORT AND OUTDOOR PLEASURE PREVAILED—EXODUS TO CITY NOW

STONEY LAKE, Sept. 8.—The Stoney Lake season is over. The cottagers' gradual exodus, commencing in the last week of August, gradually gathered impetus until Labor Day, when the largest number to leave the lake in one day returned to town and city, principally with the idea of preparing the rising generation for the morrow, when with labored tread and resigned countenance Tom, Dick and Harry should commence the fall term.

Considered from a somewhat general standpoint, the past summer has been, if not more successful, quite to be classed even with those which preceded the war. Practically all the old patrons of the lake returned, many for the first time since 1914, and with a glimpse of the enticing water, the much-improved pavillion and the familiar landmarks, all the old spirit of fun revived, everyone forgetting the fact that a number of years had elapsed since they entered into such pursuits as masquerade balls, shore dinners and bonfires and entering wholeheartedly into them again.

The Fishing.

From early in the season when Mrs. Darcy of Burleigh landed her record lunge, all followers of Isaak Walton set out with the highest of fish hopes and few were doomed to disappointment. Mr. Allan Hunter only recently landed a whale of a lunge weighing twenty-two pounds and measing fifty-one inches from nose to tail. Tuesday's boat, the Empress, bore several trophys of fisherman's and fisherwoman's luck, varying in weight from five to eighteen pounds.

Other Kinds of Luck.

Nor was luck limited to fish. On Sunday, having bated his trap for any stray midnight marauders, Mr. A. L. Amys awoke to the firm conviction that he had succeeded in procuring some rare beast. Only the first sniff out doors convinced him of his luck, and he found he was indeed the happy possessor of a fifteen-pound skunk. Somewhat respectful of the Alaskan sables reputation, he gingerly lowered skunk and trap into the lake, recovering him when life—and danger—were extinct, awakened to the fact he held in his hand a highly effluvent neck-piece-to-be.

A Record.

Cottagers about the lake were rejoiced to see the veteran cottager, Mr. J. D. Collins, completely recovered from his serious illness of last winter, spending his sixty-fourth summer amongst his beloved islands. Mr. Collins' memories of the lake date back to the day of the occupation of the last remnants of the Red Man and of the free running of deer and bears about the now thickly populated islands. In all his experience, probably the most extensive of any camper at the lakes, Mr. Collins had never seen such a profusion of gull as are about this year.

Society Flourishing.

Teas, popular during the years the male population of the lake were at the war, have not been so prevalent as a diversion this summer and the cottagers have lapsed back in the habits of bonfires and picnics. Hard-

HISTORIC TOWN SWEPT BY FIRE

DIGBY, N.S., Sept. 7.— (Canadian Press.)—Advices received last night from Annapolis Royal, twenty miles away, were to the effect that fire which broke out there early in the evening was under control after having wiped out approximately one-third of the town, including a large portion of the business section.

Annapolis Royal was the site of the first white settlement in North America north of Florida and this week was the scene of historic celebrations.

PLAN ROUND-UP OF BOOTLEGGER RINGS IN U.S.

INFORMATION BEING GATHERED QUIETLY

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.— Federal and State prohibtion enforcement officials throughout the country are planning a bootlegger round-up smilar to the "Red" round-ups conducted during the war, it was learned to-day.

The fall offensive against liquor—the supreme effort to make the United States dry— probably will be launched in every big city simultaneously. Details of the plans are secret and no Federal official will openly admit that such a drive is contemplated.

Prohibition Commissioner Roy Haynes, who is en route to-day from New York to Columbus, Ohio, said before his departure that he was not planning any spectacular raids in this city and that, even if he were, he would not disclose his plans.

Information on which the nation-wide raids will be based is, however, being quietly gathered in all parts of the United States at the present time, it was learned.

Warrants on which arrests will be made will be sworn out in advance wherever possible, so there will be no chance for those captured to complain that they were not fairly treated or arrested without proper authority.

Great stocks of liquor are reported to be taken in the raids and warehouse space will be ready for it. The campaign will be aimed at smugglers who bring in liquor in wholesale shipments from Bermuda and the Bahamas, as well as bootlegers who retail the liquor.

CAPTURE ESCAPED GUELPH CONVICTS

FIVE MEN TAKEN INTO CUSTODY NEAR WOODSTOCK.

WOODSTOCK, September 8.—(Canadian Press) Five men who escaped from Gnelph Reformatory a few days ago were last night captured three miles west of Woodstock by local police.

County Constable Hill was notified Tuesday to be on the look out for seven men who had escaped from the reformatory and last night he received information from Beachville that a number of strangers were in the neighborhood. The constable secured the assistance of Chief Moore, Sergt. Jerry and Constable Brown of the local police and after a search located the men in a field of Diamond's farm, three miles west of this city.

BRITISH CABINET OFFERS TO MEET SINN FEIN DELEGATION IN NEW MOVE FOR SETTLEMENT

BELIEVED IN LONDON THAT SINN FEIN WILL ACCEPT AND CONFERENCE WILL BE HELD ABOUT SEPTEMBER 20.

TEXT OF LETTER NOT MADE PUBLIC

By ED. L. KEEN,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, Sept. 8. — Preparations for a conference with Irish plenipotentiaries were under way at Inverness to-day.

A Cabinet committee of ten was ready to receive the Sinn Fein delegation if it accepted the British proposal for further conferences contained in the note of yesterday.

It was believed here and by the Ministers at Inverness that the Sinn Fein would accept.

The text of the Cabinet's reply to President De Valera's rejection of its offer and insistence upon self-determination was to be published to-day, as soon as it had been received by the Sinn Fein Cabinet. It sets a date for the further conversations on the Irish situation asked for by De Valera, probably September 20, and insists upon the promise that

PROBE ESCAPE OF 2 BANDITS

INQUIRY INTO MURRELL CASE TO OPEN IN LONDON ON MONDAY MORNING.

NO TRACE OF PAIR FOUND BY SEARCHERS

LONDON, September 8. — Canadian Press. — Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop was notified yesterday that W. W. Dunlop, the Provincial Inspector of Prisons, will hold an inquiry at the Court House on Monday morning to ascertain the whole circumstances attending the escape from the county jail on Friday night of William and Sydney Murrell.

The bandit brothers have left no trace and though scarcely an hour passes without some report being made to the police station, no clue of any value has as yet been discovered. In the meanwhile circulars bearing photograhps and description and offering rewards totalling $3000, are being mailed out to all parts in increasing quantities.

WOMEN AND WAGE-EARNING.

The statement recently made by Mrs. Gompers, last year's bride of the Labor leader, that "A home, no matter how small, is large enough to occupy her mind and time," is a theorem which many wage-earning wives will not accept. A farm-house, "no matter how small," with chickens and pigs to feed, with cows to milk, with butter to churn; as well as meals to get three times a day, is indeed enough to occupy a housewife's mind and time. But how about the city apartment, with a light breakfast cooked on a gas stove, three rooms to be dusted, and no further real responsibility till dinner time? The gas stove, the baker's bread, and canned foods and vegetables, to say nothing of the temptations of the delicatessen shop around the corner, make such "housekeeping" trivial, at once unburdensome and uninspiring. Our conjecture is that the absolute boredom of the hours from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. has convinced many active young married women that to make useful citizens of themselves wage-earning occupation is essential. If they prefer it to lolling about in kimonas, or to the movies, they have chosen the good part. It shall not be taken from them.—Brooklyn Eagle.

BUSINESS PROPOSITION.

The City Council have actly quite consistently in insisting that unless the Utilities Commission give the street lighting service agreed on between them and the city, Council will deduct from their payments to the commission a pro rata amount for each lamp not burning at night. This may savor of taking money out of one of the public's pockets and putting it into the other, but, for all that, it is business. Citizens complain to the Aldermen, individually and collectively, of delinquency in the matter of street lighting, and as payment for the service is controlled by Council they are answerable to the public for such expenditure. There is nothing really aggressive in Council's action, and, no doubt, the commission will see the situation through similar glasses as worn by Ald. Turner in this regard—just a question of demanding satisfactory service and paying for the quality of service rendered. Most of us insist on that in business and private life.

No doubt there are more or less present drawbacks to assuming what Council anticipates in a satisfactory service, and Mr. Fisk admits that there is room for improvement, which will come in time. In the meantime we have reason to believe that he is planning a street lighting system perhaps second to none in Ontario.

MOTOR BUSES.

The proposition suggested by Ald. J. J. Turner that the Hydro-electric Commission of Ontario be urged to consider a plan for establishing motor bus line transportation for East City is one which should receive serious consideration by the commission. No doubt citizens across the river feel that they are in a measure discriminated against in this connection, although it seems a discrimination quite unavoidable from a dollar and cent angle. It cannot be expected that Hydro-electric should lay tracks from George street across the new bridge to Rogers street—a distance of not more than a mile—construct overhead apparatus and purchase at least one new street car, when their engineer, Mr. Gaby, concludes that revenue from the increased service woud not reimburse the commission for their cost outlay. In the face of his report that were this expenditure for street railway connection with East City undertaken, the system would be operated at a loss, public opinion would not endorse the adoption of such an unbusiness-like proposition. Hydro-electric Commissioners are trustees of public monies, and as such must frown on any scheme which presages insolvency.

And so, failing electric transportation for East City, with the need of public travelling conveyance to connect the east with the west growing more and more urgent every year, it is incumbent on either the municipality or Hydro-electric to furnish another class of transportation, if possible. And here's where the motor bus may come to the rescue and successfully cope with the problem.

The motor bus referred to by Ald. Turner, in Council, as probably adaptabe for Peterborough is of English make, and now on exhibition at the big fair in Toronto. In England these and other motor buses—which are in reality omnibuses—have replaced the old horse bus, and to most minds excel the street cars for service, while for comfort there is nothing lacking. Manufactured in several designs and sizes, they are mostly on the street car plan, some affording seating accommodation above, in the open air, as well as in their interior. They are an unqualified success, similar vehicles are in use across the border now, and many experts on public travel conveyances have opined that we shall shortly see the passing of the street car, even now in process of supersession by motor bus systems of public utility. And with paved roadways, no costly overhead and rail construction and maintenance, it is only reasonable to assume that, like the automobile, motor buses will soon find first place in public favor for cheap, systematized street transit, as motor cars and trucks are replacing he horse for private and business service. So far as Peterborough is concerned just now, were the Hydro-electric Commission of Ontario to embody in their transportation system here two modern motor buses, and in conformity with Ald. Turner's plan institute a route schedule from East City to George street north and south, with transfer privileges to the present street cars, citizens across the river would find adequate transportation, and it may be that the whole street railway system would find appreciable stimulation in steadily increasing patronage.

Motor buses in the Old Land have, perhaps, set the pace for the rest of the world; their charges range from two cents upwards, according to distance, the travel is cheap for the public and profitable for the bus systems. Of course, distances in Peterborough are short, even to the maximum covered by our street cars; but seven cents to travel from, say, for instance, the Monaghan boundary to George street is a fare not encouraging to patronage. It practically costs no more for power to draw a full car than one half loaded—we say this advisedly and engineeringly so—and could the commission but see their way clear to put into force a five-cent rate they might reap the benefit in increased total net revenue.

WOMEN SENATORS.

Canadian women are urging Premier Meighen to appoint Mrs. Emily Murrry of Ermonton to the Senate.

It has been the disposition of Canadians to regard an appointment to the Senate as an ante-mortem burial. In short, Canadians are prone to look upon the Senate as a house of retirement, which is really good for nothing.

The Senate, of course, is a conservative body, established, as the saying goes, "as a sober second thought." Sometimes this second thought is so sober as to be almost mechanical. And as a consequence Canadians have frequently advocated doing away with the Senate altogether, even though this step would cut off an important factor in paying political debts.

But since we have the Senate, the wisest course is to revivify it—have it function as a living organ of the body politic.

We know no better way to do this than to include such women as Mrs. Emily Murphy.

Mrs. Murphy is known throughout Canada as a very capable representative of Canadian women. She is an authoress of not. As woman police magistrate in Edmonton she has demonstrated her practical efficiency and a heart as wide as the prairie plains. Whatever office she was called upon to occupy, would be filled conscientiously and capably.

In British Columbia is another woman whose appointment to the Senate would enrich the capabilities of that body. Mrs. Ralph Smith has the interests of women at heart. She thoroughly understands the machinery of government and her field of activity and opportunities for good work would be greater in the Canadian Senate than in holding a complimentary season ticket to the meetings of the B. C.'s Cabinet.

With a few women of Mrs. Murphy's and Mrs. Smith's stamp on its benches, the Senate would soon become more than a refuge for retired political workers.—Vancouver Sun.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

From their titles we judge that these must be their favorite novels:

Artie Meighen—"To Have and To Hold."

Willie King and Tommie Crerar—"Great Expectations."

The season of the year is now at hand when the he-flapper with 25 cents in his pocket, arrayed in all the glory of his spats, sits in hotel lobbies looking like a million dollars.

And that reminds us of two local young men who, when in Toronto, eat at Childs and then proceed to the King Edward, where they buy 25-cent cigars, which they smoke in the mezzanine. When these are finished they descend to the street floor in the elevator, pause, and look around to make sure that someone has seen them.

Just because she has well developed shoulders is no reason for supposing that she shakes a wicked shimmy.

Yesterday we asked for raisin pie in a restaurant and the waiter informed us that raisins were not to be obtained. We should have known that nowadays most raisins are in cellars.

Does anyone remember the old-fashioned days when men ran for Parliament because they thought that the country needed their services? Of course, that was before the sessional indemnity was raised to $4,000.

In spite of the drought the tomato and cabbage crop is said to be fair, and it is rumored that the outlook for the aged egg crop is good. Rotten actors please take note.

Last night we were awakened by the phonograph next door playing "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" The piano on the other side of us was rendering "You'd Be Surprised."

If paper suits are sold in this country as proposed the newspapers can stop running funny pages.

SWEETHEART 50 YEARS AGO, MET AGAIN, TO WED

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—A romance of more than a half a century which had its beginning when the principals were children had its culmination in the marriage license bureau when Fred Langsdorf, 65 years old appeared befor Clerk Ferguson with Rebecca A. Butler, the same age, and obtained a license to wed.

Both have been married. Langsdorf, who was born in Germany, gave his occupation as gold-beater. The bride-to-be gave her occupation as a housekeeper.

THE TEST OF A MAN.

The test of a man is the fight he makes,
The grit that he daily shows;
The way he stands on his feet and takes
Fate's numerous bumps and blows.
A coward can smile when there's naught to fear,
When nothing his progress bars;
But it takes a man to stand up and cheer
While some other fellow stars.

It isn't the victory after all,
But the fight that a brother makes;
The man, who, driven against the wall,
Still stands up erect and takes
The blows of fate with his head held high;
Bleeding, and bruised, and pale,
Is the man who'll win in the by and by,
For he isn't afraid to fail.

It's the bumps you get, and the jolts you get,
And the shocks that your courage stands,
The hours of sorrow and vain regret,
The prize that escapes your hands.
That test your mettle and prove your worth;
It isn't the blows you deal,
But the blows you take on the good old earth,
That show if your stuff is real.
—Trumbull Cheer.

MY FAITH IN NANCY BECOMES SHAKEN.

Chapter 57.

I tried as long as the weather was nice, to keep Kent Jr. out of doors as much as possible. Every afternoon as soon as he had finished his nap I would take him out for a walk. I had refrained from letting Nancy take him ever since I had discovered her talking with the strange man in the park. It was not that the act in itself was so bad, but I did not just like the idea of it. I did not see how Nancy could be acquainted with someone who was loafing around in the middle of the day. Somehow it did not seem just right. Besides, I enjoyed being with Kent too well myself. And I did not like the sullen way Nancy had acted when I reprimanded her.

The boy had a great love for all flowers or anything that grew He was impartial in his admiration, whether it was a leaf, or a blade of grass, or the daintiest flower. Always after we had walked back and forth up the Drive for a time, I would sit down on one of the park benches and let Kent play near me.

"Look, Muvver!" he would cry eagerly, holding a tiny bunch of grass blades up for my inspection.

"So pretty!" I would enthuse, and he would lay them down carefully in my lap and run back happily for more.

And I soon learned that I must not be careless or disrespectful of Kent's treasured bouquets. Once when it was about four o'clock and time to take him in, I got up from the bench, forgetting all about the precious blades of grass, and let them drop unheeded to the ground. I did not even know that I had dropped them, and turned to take Kent's hand.

He saw them immediately and was down on his little knees in a moment, picking them up one at a time.

"Oh, Muvver!" he reproved, in a very injured tone of voice.

I was sorry at once. His quivery voice made me feel so big and cruel and thoughtless. I stooped over quickly and helped him gather them up.

"Mother is very sorry, dear," I pleaded apologetically. "I forgot they were in my lap."

When we reached the apartment I had to find a tiny litle vase and let Kent arrange the grasses in it carefully.

"Mother will buy Kent some pretty flowers," I suggested tactlessly.

"Don't you think they are pretty, Muvver?" he asked, looking up into my face with disappointed big brown eyes.

"Hello! What's this?" he asked, picking it up curiously.

"Those are Kent's flowers, dear," I explained, and then I went on to tell him about the incident.

"Bless his little heart," Kent said, tears in his eyes. "Do you know, mother, I wonder if it's fair to the boy to keep him here in the city? Lately I've been wondering whether we ought not buy a little cottage some place out of town."

"Why, Kent!" I exclaimed, going over to him eagerly. "It's the very think I have been dreaming of for a long time."

"All right, Babs. Let's buy a little white cottage somewhere, with lots of grounds and fresh air, and just hundreds and hundreds of grasses and all kinds of flowers for Kent to pick."

"Oh, Kent, if we only could," I whispered, my arm around his neck.

To-morrow—Somewhere—A Little White Cottage.

Give This to a Constipated Baby

Why Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is the Favorite Constipation Remedy with so Many Mothers

YOUNG Mothers in the midst of bringing up a family of small children should consider it a duty to investigate the action of the various remedies for constipation. This is the ailment most common among children, and it often leads to serious diseases. It is important for the mother to know the right remedy to give, for they differ widely in action.

Children do not take kindly to drastic drugs, salt waters, calomel, physics, castor oil, carthartics, mercurials and such things, and they find difficulty in swallowing these harsh medicines even when disguised in sugar-coated tablets or pills. It is not only that the child doesn't like the taste, but these drugs are so violent that they wrench the little system. They should not be given to children.

Thousands of wise mothers, after having tried many things, give only a combination of simple herbs with pepsin, known to druggists as Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. The formula is on the package. It is a mild, gentle remedy, free from all narcotics, that relieves constipation and its symptoms, such as headache, biliousness, colds, fever, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, and it does it without griping or weakening. A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin can be bought at any drug store for sixty cents and is enough to last an average family many months.

Last year over eight million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin were sold in drug stores, the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, and as the preparation has been on the market over thirty years the second generation of mothers are now giving it to their babies. No careful, well-regulated home will be without a bottle for a mild, safe constipation remedy like this may be needed by someone in the family any minute. Every bottle is guaranteed to do exactly as claimed for the ailments of the stomach, liver and bowels or your money will be refunded.

TRY IT FREE!

There are heads of families who will want to prove to their own satisfaction that my Laxative Syrup Pepsin is as effective in constipation, as mild and gentle in action, as pleasant-tasting and safe, as I claim. Let such write me for a free sample. It will be sent postpaid. Simply say "Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 19 Front Street, Bridgeburg, Ont.: Send a free trial bottle of your Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin to—" and give your name and address. I will see that the rest is attended to promptly.

Peterboro Horticultural Society Will Put On An Aster Exhibition

The Society Has For Its Main Object the Improvement Of Home, Factory and Public Grounds--The Options

The aster show which the Peterborough Horticultural Association is putting on in the Turnbull Company's building on Saturday next should be well patronized. There are many ladies in Peterborough who are enthusiastic growers of aster blooms, perhaps more, as they are easier to grow, than those interested in gladioli, the first public showing of which in Peterborough was staged by the association some weeks ago. This was a splendid success, and the aster show promises to eclipse it in popularity.

The Peterborough Horticultural Association, which has for its main object the improvement of home, factory and public grounds in the city, is making a special offer of bulbs at the present time. For the very small fee of $1.00 anyone may become a member of the society and have a choice of bulbs which is unequalled by the offers of horticultural societies elsewhere. The options include: 25 named early flowering tulips; 25 named hardy narcissus, 25 jonquils, 50 crocuses, 2 named varieties of peonies.

The association, which has been working in a quiet way throughout the season, is responsible for the beautiful beds in Central Park, where geraniums are still blooming after three months' growth; for the triangular piece of ground at Park and Reid streets, which was changed from an unsightly stretch of unkept green to a pretty blossoming corner, and for the bed at Inverlea Park. This bed, surrounded by curbing, lacks the necessary top soil to complete it, but will be finished shortly. The membership in Peterborough, when compared with a small place like Trenton with 600 members, is deplorably small, numbering at present only 298.

HOME-MADE ICE CREAM

(By M. JESSIE LEITCH.)

"I want ice-cweam," wailed the little sick child, over and over again. Her mother, busy with the hundred and one tasks of the average farm home, wondered why people who borrowed things seldom returned them within a reasonable length of time. The family ice-cream freezer had been loaned to the family on the next section. There was no one to send after it. The little sick child was wailing for "ice-cweam." And there was no reason why she should not have it, save, of course, that the freezer was eight miles away.

Busy as she was, the mother decided that the child should not be disappointed.

So, leaning over the little bed drawn out on the sun porch, she said softly:

"If my little girl will be good and wait 'till mother gets the men's dinner ready, there will be ice-cream for a little sick girl that I know." And her hand smoothed the yellow curls back from the thin little face.

"Pink ice-cweam? Please make it pink," murmured the child.

So the ice-cream was pink.

Having seen her men folk safely off to the fields after a noisy dinner, topped off with slices of pie and many doughnuts, the mother searched for an empty baking powder can, and a small tin pail into which it went, leaving space about it for the ice and salt.

First she made the ice cream mixture. There was not much, as she used an individual recipe, but she knew it would be more than enough for the little sick girl.

Into a bowl she measured a quarter of a cup of preserved strawberries, because it was past fresh berry season. These she mashed and strained through cheese cloth.

Two tablespoons of pounded white sugar were added. A speck of salt and one-half cup of thin cream followed. Before the cream was added the fruit and sugar was allowed to stand five minutes, that the sugar might all be dissolved.

Then the mixture was poured into the baking powder tin. Ice, pounded fine, and salt was packed in alternate layers around the can, there being one part salt to three parts ice.

Then the cover was taken off the can and with an eggbeater, the rosy mixture was beaten until foamy. The cover was replaced. Sitting down on the porch the mother turned the can in its pack of ice for 20 minutes, removing the cover occasionally to scrape the frozen mixture from the sides of the can.

When it was quite frozen, she dipped a strip of cotton in melted lard and wrapped it around the outside of the cover, to keep out the salt water.

Then on a small plate covered with a paper doily, in a glass dish that the little girl particularly liked, the strawberry ice-cream, which was very pink, was served.

And the little girl was tremendously happy, especially as her mother picked a late rose from the bush by the kitchen door, and placed it on the plate beside the pink ice-cream. For as she ate her ice-cream, she held the pink rose in her hand.

MINERAL OIL

FOR CHRONIC CONSTIPATION

By buying this produce from us, you can get the Highest in Quality that can be procured at an ESPECIALLY LOW PRICE.

There are many thin Oils on the market that are not suitable for internal use; other Oils have irritating qualities which render them also unsuitable. The one we are selling is Guaranteed thick and entirely pure.

It is recognized that a good grade of Mineral Oil is one of the best remedies for CHRONIC CONSTIPATION that is being used. It acts mechanically and does not irritate the intestinal tract, nor does the dose have to be constantly increased as is the case with ordinary purgatives.

It is much better and cheaper than Castor Oil as a laxative for Children, since Castor Oil has two effects, the first of which is purgative and the second or after-effect, which is Constipating.

Peterboro Collegiate Institute Pays Tribute To Miss Sanderson

Pamphlet Just Issued Deals With Activities of the School For The Current Season.

"The Peterborough Collegiate Institute," a very decorative little pamphlet dealing with the activities of our local high school, contains in its announcements for 1921-1922 a page referring to the late Miss Lenore Sanderson, as follows:

"In memoriam, Lenora A. Sanderson, B.A. Became a member of the staff of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute in September, 1917. Died June 15th, 1721. She was, indeed, a gentle spirit, loved by her pupils, held in affectionate regard by her colleagues, a teacher in love with her profession.

"While spring breezes blow, while streams flow down to the sea, while flowers bloom in the hedges, while the sun holds its course through the skies while God rules in His heaven, while the gates of glory stand wide open, there is no death!

"All life has risen out of death! And all death is but to be made into life again! Life is immortal, though it seems to perish as the leaves. Man cannot die!"

Miss Helen Keller

Miss Helen Keller, who is this season appearing once more in refined vaudeville, might well be classed with the wonders of the world. It seems strange to hear of this girl, who, blind, deaf and dumb from the age of nineteen months, yet is now happier than most normal human beings, is able to speak, hear through the medium of her sensitive fingers, and almost able to see through the keen perception of her sensitory nerves. She is a lovely woman with a perpetual atmosphere of radiant happiness about her and an air of being intensely alive. With two fingers of her left hand placed on the mouth of the person desiring to speak to her and the others resting lightly on the vocal cords, she translates the spoken word almost as rapidly as it falls from the lips. Her own voice, discovered, as one might say, from the depths of darkness, is sweet and rather high-pitched, with a muffled quality, and, curiously enough, has a noticeable French accent. Her sightless eyes are large and expressive and her face is absolutely unlined by any marks of care or worry. Her hair is beautiful and abundant and she is always gowned to perfection. She recognizes the applause of her enthusiastic audiences through the medium of air waves, which transmit the beat of their clapping to her sensitive nerves, and she enjoys the rythm and throb of music in the same way. She is always laughing and seems to enjoy every minute of a life which would seem to others to be that of a mole in a dark cavern, unable to see or hear the wonders of the living world.

Women appointed to posts in the British civil service have the same status and authority as men.

By having her pre-war dresses altered, Queen Mary of England is able to keep her clothes bill down to about $1,500 a year.

Fall Fashions

Carlo Norway, the inventor of the hand-painted frock, which is to be an autumn fashion feature in London, is about to embark for the United States to introduce the fashion there for the fall season. The artist, one of the leaders of the younger art colony in London, has been the success of several recent exhibitions in London with his varied work in pastel, applique, wall and window decorations, glassware, vases, curtains and wallpaper. He conceived the idea of painting on silk after ten years of painting and etching in different methods.

A few months ago he began stencilling on cloths, and through the advice of a brother artist, Louis Fox, thought of the possibility of applying the stencilling to dress materials. The frocks were an instant hit. The Duchess of Rutland, Lady Cunard and Lady Hamilton were pioneer wearers, and before long orders from individual dealers came pouring in. Any sort of design is possible, and it is almost impossible to duplicate designs except from the original stencil. Most of these are figures; in some, allegorical designs of animals, birds and fish have been used. The oil paint used is impervious to water and will not crack.

AN EPITAPH.

Here under this ground and under these trees
Lies buried the body of Solomon Pease;
But under the sod lies only his pod,
His soul is shelled out and gone up to God.

Silence is a massive thing. It is strength. It is grandeur. Do not be a shallow, babling brook. Be the silent, onward, rushing force of the mighty river. Be the calm, serene and silent depths of the ocean.

Keep still.

Peterboro Wants Its "Ashburnham"

Some of the older residents of the city, particularly the feminine element, do not care for the appelation of East City, which is generally applied to that portion of Peterborough which lives and moves and has its being on the further shores of the Otonabee. Ashburnham was the old historic name for this section of the town, and Ashburnham it still remains in the hearts and minds of those who care for the preservation of the older ideas. After all, as one lady rightly remarks, Toronto has its Rosedale and Montreal its Westmount—then, why can't Peterborough have its Ashburnham? And if East City, why not South City, instead of Brownton, which is just about as ugly a name as one could find to wish onto an unresisting portion of the populace? Peterborough can never go on record as being a place of pretty or euphonious names, either in regard to its streets, parks or sections, if one excepts possibly the name of Auburn, and, to the innocent bystander, Ashburnham seems like a much nicer distinguishing cognomen for the district across the river than East City.

Marry At All Ages

Once, if a girl was not married at thirty, her life must be a failure and tragic. But now women marry at all ages, and it is considered idle to speculate whether they will mate or not.

A woman well known in New York society recently had an alarming experience at one of the fashionable New England summer resorts. It is no secret among her friends that she has spent a good deal of her time and income taking treatments from "beauty doctors" who have undertaken to restore her somewhat faded "youthful" beauty. While taking a refreshing dip in the sea she noticed that she was attracting more than ordinary attention from beach loungers Hurriedly retreating to the bath house, she discovered that the sea water, acting upon the cosmetics, had turned her complexion purple, and her carefully dyed Titan hair to a vivid green!

The Dowager Countess of Carlisle, whose death is reported from London, was for many years the President of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Great Britain. Lady Carlisle was a leader in many reform movements and had the reputation of being one of the most radical women in Britain, not only on the drink question, but in other things. Although belonging to the highest nobility, she favored the abolition of woman's advancement so far that she would employ none but women servants in her houses and on her estates, and she was so democratic that when her daughters were entering society she made a public announcement that they would not be allowed to marry any but commoners. Consequently they made love matches. Lady Carlisle was well known to many women in Canada and the United States, having crossed the Atlantic several times to attend conventions of the W.C.T.U.

ROOT TO HEAD WORLD JUSTICE COURT, RUMORED

ELECTION CONSIDERED PRACTICALLY ASSURED.

By HENRY WOOD.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

GENEVA, Sept. 8.—Elhiu Root will accept the Presidency of the International Court of Justice, members of the League of Nations were privately informed to-day. His election is practically assured.

The probable composition of the world court will be a representative of the United States, Britain, France, Italy, Japan, Russia, Germany, Holland, Sweden or Norway or Denmark, China and Brazil.

CROP CONDITIONS

Following is a summary of the reports made by the agricultural representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

An unusually large acreage of fall ploughing has been done, although for the last week the land has been in need of rain.

Renfrew reports seeing five horses attached to a one-furrow plough. A good deal of after-harvest cultivation is aso being done.

Some fall wheat is already up, and is looking well. The bulk of the crop will be put in this week, and perhaps later, to escape the Hessian fly.

Eastern Ontario is likely to considerably extend its areas of fall wheat compared with its present comparatively limited acreage.

Frontenac says that the difficulty of getting a catch of grass seed with spring grains is prompting farmers to try more fall wheat.

Renfrew states that a farmer in that county threshed 756 bushels of fall wheat from 15 acres.

Waterlo reports that the new seeding of clover is looking well, and in many places the red clover and alfalfa are starting to biossom.

The splendid corn crop is referred to by a number of representatives. Kent says that corn grown from the ear is nearly all ripe, and that while the fodder may be shorter than last year, the grain is exceptionally good. Others tell of the large yield of silo corn.

Lennox and Addington reports that 50 per cent. of the corn has been cut, and that 25 per cent. of the silos are filled.

There are some complaints of damage done by the European cornborer, and Norfolk has the following to say of another insect pest: "An insect that has caused much concern among farmers lately is the bumble beetle. It attacks corn, cleaning every kernel from the cob. As many as fifteen beetles were found in one cob. Inquiries regarding this beetle have come in from all parts of the county."

Two representatives speak of fields of mixed sunflowers and corn being grown for the silo.

Buckwheat is filling nicely in the eastern counties, while Norfolk reports the first cutting.

Elgin says that beans are being harvested, and that they will be a good crop.

Hay is very variable in price. In Huron and Bruce it is being sold to balers at from $16.0 to $18.00 a ton. Waterloo quotes sales at from $20.00 to $25.00 a ton, while in some districts east and north, prices are still higher.

Kent says that grass cattle have been doing well of late.

Bruce reports that last week five carloads of choice steers were shipped from Paisley.

Leeds and Addington says that many farmers are disposing of their poorer cows on account of the scarcity of feed, and adds that buyers from Western Ontario have been in the county recently buying springers.

Leeds quotes very low prices for young cattle, grass calves selling at from 2c to 2½c a pound, and young bulls at 3c a pound, while the market for dairy cows is practically dead.

Manitoulin reports a number of shipments of catte recently, but says that many farmers are holding their animals for shipment in the latter part of October.

Frontenac quotes cheese selling on the board at 18 3-4 cents a pound.

Peterborough reports that pine trees in the northern part of the county are being much injured by the borer, many trees being either dead or dying.

Voice of the People

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL AND TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

Editor, Evening Examiner:

Sir,—Believing that an Industrial School and technical education to be very much needed; if we are to reduce as far as possible, the present waste of time and effort of young employees and of their employers due to the absence of effective vocational counselling, and of a satisfactory apprenticeship system, I, with Mr. Patterson, think Mrs. Morris' point for the establishment of an Industrial School as soon as possible, is well taken. The need for greater accommodation at the Collegiate Institute cannot be gainsaid. But the greatest good to the greatest number, and not least; the amount of financial assistance obtainable are factors which should not be overlooked. Now that the Adolescent School Attendance Act has become operative, the demand for these industrial schools is greater than ever. I notice in a government report on technical education for Peterborough out of 319 adolescents 133 are attending school, 260 are not. The classes provided by a well conducted industrial school could provide these 260 with a proper education in part time classes. What a number of young and ambitious mechanics would be glad of the opportunity to go to a technical school for a course in a certain line appertaining to their vocation, such as mathematics as applied to the trades and industries, blueprint reading as needed by many of the trades and industries; mechanical drawing; machine design and advanced draughting; salesmanship and secretarial work; machine shop practice and tool making; electrical work; industrial studies, subjects too numerous to mention here.

And if our Canadian mechanic is to keep up to an efficient standard to compete and compare with others, then technical education is a national asset. I am surprised to read the statement of Mr. A. A. Fowler, that Peterborough is in no need of an industrial school, and that the subject should be shelved. There is not a city in the province which needs a technical school more than Peterborough, if the many different industries situated here are to have first class mechanics from the home town.

Dr. Miller of the Provincial government, made an exhaustive investigation into the needs of Peterborough. He was so much impressed with the great possibilities to be obtained through technical education by the establishment of an industrial school in Peterborough that the government published a blue book dealing with the subject, as it affected this city. In this blue book it states that Peterborough would be fully justified in having an industrial school. In the light of the facts gathered therefore, to suggest shelving such a question would not be, to say the least, a justifiable act. Mrs. Morris' stand in this matter, I am sure receives the highest commendation from the majority of interested citizens.

GOOD SEASON AT KAWARTHA LAKES

ly a day passed during the past two months when several parties neglected to gather on the shores of White Lake and Eels Creek. One outstanding social success was the bonfire and dance given last week by Mr. Tom Wilson at his cottage, which was attended by practically all the cottagers left on the lake.

Closed Their Cottages.

On Tuesday Sheriff Hall closed his cottage for the season. Mr. R. B. Rogers returned several days ago after having been the host of one of the jolliest camps of the lakes. Today Mr. E. R. Tate returned to Lakefield with Mrs. Tate, Mrs. Fred. Lefeuvre of Chili and Mrs. Strickland-Blackburn of Toronto. By the end of the week probably only such devotees as Mr. Ernest Walters of Montreal, Mr. Arthur Amys and Mr. Harry Denne of Peterborough, each of whom intend to see October well through, will be left on the islands.

The Shooting.

For some inexplicable reason the wild ducks have changed their habits, altering the time of their occupation of the lake from September, when they would be most welcome, to the latter weeks of October. Only an odd shot has been heard at Stoney Lake so far, but it is fully expected that October will bring great luck for the hunters.

Just Apply This Paste and the Hairs Will Vanish
(Boudoir Secrets)
The judicious use of a delatone paste insures any woman a clear, hairless skin. To prepare the paste, mix a little of the powdered delatone with some water, then apply to the objectionable hairs for two or three minutes. When the paste is removed, and the skin washed, every trace of hair will have vanished. No pain attends the use of the delatone and it will not mar the most sensitve skin, but to insure results, see that you get real delatone.

COUNTIES UNITE FOR JUDICIAL PURPOSES.

Judge Huycke to Act With Judge Ward of Northumberland and Durham.

Port Hope Guide: It is understood that Judge E. C. S. Huycke, County Judge of Peterborough, will act with Judge H. A. Ward, Counties Judge of Northumberland and Durham, in County Court work on these counties. The three counties, in compliance with the recommendations of the Ontario Civil Service Commission, will be grouped together for judicial purposes. With the death of the late Judge G. M. Roger passed the last Junior Judge of the united counties, and as the work is too heavy for one man, Judge Huycke of Peterborough will come to these counties when he is needed. The united counties of Northumberland and Durham comprise one of the largest judicial districts in the Province, having eleven Division Courts, and with the other work imposed on the County Judge, it would, at times, be impossible for one man to do the work alone. Judge Huycke is well known in these counties, having practiced law in Cobourg for some years until his appointment as County Court Judge in Peterborough about 12 years ago.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

CAMPBELLFORD, September 8.—Miss Carrie Potts of Toronto spent the week end holidaying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Potts.

Miss Zeta Rellis left this week to assume her duties as teacher, at Whitby.

Miss Meagher of Rochester, N. Y., is renewing old acquaintances in town.

Mr. Ray Oliver of Cannington is in town this week.

Married — In Campbellford, on Wednesday, September 7th, by the Rev. C. E. Clark, rector of Christ Church, Marshall Henry West to Ethel Shearn.

The schools reopened on Tuesday with a large attendance, consequently it was found necessary to secure an extra teacher for the High School, and Miss Ruth Carnahan is supplying until a teacher can be secured. The staff is as follows: Principal, Mr. T. E. Moffat, B.A., assistants, Miss Kathleen O'Shaughnessy, B.A., Miss Smith, B.A., Miss McKay, B.A., and Miss Kathleen Ferris, B.A.

The public school has quite a number of new teachers, the staff being as follows: Mr. G. A. Kingston, B. A., acting Principal, during the illness of Mr. C. A. Moore: assistants, Miss Mary Watson, Miss Bessie Locke, Misses Payne, Smith and Martin of town, Miss Fitzgerald, of Goderich, Misses Heslop of Niagara Falls, Miss Smith of Warkworth, and Miss Weir.

Mr. W. J. Meiklejohn, is in Toronto this week attending the Exhibition.

CHANGE OF WATER WAS THE CAUSE OF DIARRHOEA
People moving from place to place are very much subject to diarrhoea on account of the change of water, climate, diet, etc. Prompt treament with in such cases relieves the pain, checks the diarrhoea, and thus does away with the suffering, the weakness and oftentimes collapse associated with an attack of this kind. It does this by checking the too frequent and irritating stools, settling the stomach and bracing up the weakened system, thsu rendering it without a peer for the treatment of all bowel complaints of both old and young.
DR. FOWLER'S
Mrs. Ernest S. Beaton, Grayburn, Sask., writes:—"Coming out here from the East, my two little girls took very sick, the change of water, etc., giving them diarrhoea. They were so pale, and used to vomit everything they would take, so I finally got a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and I must say it certainly helped them. I have also used it when my children were teething and it is all you claim for it."

BRITISH CABINET

Ireland must remain within the Empire. To this De Valera has never disagreed, and it was felt here today that the proposed conference, if Ireland accepts and sends delegates, may lead to peace.

The British Cabinet, meeting at Inverness, reached its decision in short order. It was said that the note was forwarded to De Valera in accordance with the ideas of Lloyd George, who was unanimously backed up by his Ministers.

Because of the Premier's long conference with King George immediately before the Cabinet meeting, it was believed that the British Sovereign approved, and possibly urged, the continuance of negotiations and the proposals for a conference later this month.

INVERNESS, Scotland, Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press.)—Tension over the Irish question is over for the time being, now that the British Cabinet's reply to Eamonn De Valera is well on its way to Dublin. Members of the Cabinet who attended yesterday's meeting have split up in different directions, pending receipt of the Irish leader's rejoinder. Lord Birkenhead, Austen Chamberlain, J. MacNamara, Stanley Baldwin and Sir Alfred Mond returned to London last night and the others went to Brahan Castle with Mr. Lloyd George, expecting to disperse to-day to different Scotch resorts.

TRAINED MISS NINA MORGANI, SOPRANO

INSTRUCTOR OF CARUSO'S PROTEGE RESIDENT IN PETERBORO NOW.

John J. Ball, recently of New York, has opened a studio at 588 Harvey street for instruction in voice and piano. Mr. Ball is also a singer himself and comes to Peterborough highly commended as a baritone of excellent quality, sonority and expression. He has trained artistes for the Metropolitan in New York, including that brilliant protege of the late Caruso, Miss Nina Morgani, now leading prima donna of that famous opera house. This talented soprano Mr. Ball found singing at the Pan-American Exhibition in Buffalo, and recognizing in her latent vocal talent only awaiting development to win for the lady, then very young, a leading place among famed singers, he took her under his tuition, which he continued for seven years. Mr. Ball has a number of autographed photographs of Nina Morgani, with expessions of appreciation of his work with her.

This new addition to Peterborough's musical talent, in the person of Mr. John J. Ball, is also an organist, in which capacity he served Our Lady of Sorrows' Church in New York City.

Crew Learns of Salvage Award After Months.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—Officers and crew of the steamship West Isleta, in port here, have just been informed that they will receive a big salvage award for saving he Danish steamship Uffe off the coast of Scotland last January. British courts made the award.

Letters telling the men of their good fortune followed them about the world for months, arriving at ports in both the Atlantic and Pacific just after the steamer had sailed. It was only on their arrival here yesterday that the letters "caught up" with them.

The Uffe was found drifing helplessly toward the rocks of St. Kilda West Iseta dropped a hawser overboard which was picked up by the Uffe's crew. The steamer then was towed to Aberden. British courts decided that the only thing to be considered was the amount to which the West Isleta's crew was entitled. But before decision was reached the steamer had sailed.

CARRIED IVORY.

Even the ubiquitous ropes of pearls have given way to the fashion for long necklaces of ivory beads, which look far more in keeping with street toilettes than real or imitation pearls.

The most popular type of necklace is that made of small ivory beads strung on a knitted silken thread and finished with a beady white silk tassel, while smaller necklaces show graduated ivory beads of great beauty.

Nor does the ivory craze stop at necklaces. Carved ivory handles, representing birds and animals that are veritable works of art, and on all the smartest sunshades and umbrellas this season, the tips and ferrules being of the same delicate substance, while the most lovely handbags have beady ivory mounts, some showing delicately etched engravings.

PETERBORO RADIAL RAILWAY

By F. H. DOBBIN

Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—Your editorial on street noises, printed a few issues ago, was timely. That is, it should be printed at any time and, in fact, at all times. Never out of place, for these infernal street noises that no one seems to think worth while to attempt to suppress go on eternally.

Of course, men selling oil stock and gold mine locations up at the jumping-off places are so engrossed that they pay no attention. But the stay-at-homes have to listen and revile. No more flagrant example of wholly unnecessary noises sprinkled along the principal streets can be heard and vilified than the wholly gratituous clang and and clatter of several of our street cars. Remonstrance has reached the Toronto management as to this disease some time ago, but as the road is said to be not making money, or, indeed, not more than self-supporting, there is no fund for betterments. Still it seems to the unprejudiced and unmechanical bystander that all that is really needed is a ten-pound sledge and a willing arm. Such benevolent violence might extinguish the noise making propensities.

Take No. 30, for instance. A peach of a car, of a kind. I have sat on the stoop, with others, and dreaded the advent of the noisy thing along the rails. It makes more uproar than all five candidates combined that swelled the tumult at the late Dominion election, and that was really phenomenal.

Start No. 30 at Hunter street. It groans for hundred feet in a deep complaining diapson bass, gradually rising along the gamut of sound until at the Y.M.C.A. corner it is shreiking in a high falsetto a tale of woe. At the McDonnel street corner the brakes have to be put on, and then—skiddo, crash, thump, groans and a gradual painful silence. To be repeated each block if called for.

But No. 30 can do much better, thank you. No trouble to her to show goods. Our customers are always our pleased patrons. Travelling in single harness to No. 30 is no sinecure. But hitch her up to No. 11 trailer and stand back and put your fingers in your ears until the rolling concussion passes. Given a discreet length of coupling rod and the effect is charming. The twain go ripping and rolling, bounding and bumping, curvetting and clattering along the King's highway. Everybody is relieved when a bill of divorce is fyled and the twain separated.

What the underworks of No. 30 needs is an operation. Amputation good and plenty. Give the efficient John McCann a ten-pound sledge, instructions and opportunity and he could make a good if not neat job of it. No one street car should be permitted to carry at one time all the noisy attributes that have been conferred or acquired by No. 30. She's too darned richly endowed. Enough for five cars, at least. It's positively wasteful.

To hear No. 30 in all her pristine richness of appalling uproar sit up some night and wait until it is her run up George street from the night C.P.R. train. With all clear and no autos to be afraid of and the general public off the street, she shows her paces and sweeps along until out of sight, but not out of mind. In a rollicking crescendo of rising and falling roar. Fact. Stay up and listen, for you're mighty sure to listen even if you don't stay up.

It is the daring hope of North Ward residents, especially those who may have sickness in the house and who suffer under the infliction of this rowdy No. 30, that some night, some warm night, if the hands should drop off at Kendry's cooling factory, to take on a lump of ice, that the car would take the bit in her teeth, whirl along Water street and have momentum enough to carry her down to the precincts of the Goose Pond and spirit and efficiency to dump herself into the drink. There to stay while enquiring friends could call around to view the remains.

Now look at car No. 6. A perfect lady. Discreet, reserved, amiable and tractable. Takes the brakes in a sort of deferental way, slides comfortably to rest. Almost apologizes for intruding on the street. No. 6 has car manners. Shows her breeding. Why can't all our cars behave like No. 6?

There are others in between. The Black Beauties that seem so diffident that they never get above Hunter street, are decorus and quiet. Start off quietly and give a contented service.

There is one car with an infirmity. For the sake of her friends, we will not quote the number. Has a flat wheel. The results are variegated and impressive. Leaves car in about the same shape as a speedy trotter with a split roof. You can't patch up a split wheel, no more than you can patch up the flat political situation now impending. But both should be eradicated.

The underpinning and rolling fixtures of several cars are about worn out. Lift off the bodies, whack on some new axles, gears, motors and brakes. With these additions and replacements we might get a certain amount of silence. But what we need is plenty of it.

Nothing in what has been exploded above is to be taken as comment on the staff of operation. The cars are scrupulously clean, well lighted and heated, when needed. The staff attentive and courteous. Anxious that no auto, for instance, shall harm itself or the inmates in collision. Careful to the point of hesitancy that the man or woman or child on foot shall be protected. In such respects the road is admirably run. It is one or two rowdy cars with Bolsheviki tendencies that make the whole disturbance.

Now look at this thing in a practical way. If these cars were motor busses, on route, they would be carefully groomed and the slightest defect remedied. One of the cars cost as much as four or five decent automobiles. Yea, as much as, say, thirteen Ford cars. The ownership of an auto has given the average man some knowledge of and concern for the structural deficiencies of things that go rolling along on wheels. The owner of a $3,000.00 auto is deeply solicituous of thecondition of his car. Would not for a moment let it groan and complain and raise a row. And this same owner can't understand why our street cars are to be kept in service when the repair shop is plainly the needed destination. George street road bed is as good as any in the country. It's the under half of the rolling stock that is at fault. Can't this be remedied?

Yours hopefully,
F. H. DOBBIN.

FINISHING TOUCHES FOR FALL MODES

Flowers are one of the high lights of the mode. They will be used not only as girdle and trimmings on our frocks, but they are to be very much featured in our coiffures, a charming custom that was often in fashion during the Civil War and, again, in a lesser degree when the bustle ruled the mode, says Vogue.

The headress is one of the most interesting ideas of the moment Paris has been wearing it for a couple of seasons, and New York first took it seriously last winter. Its name is legion-it varies from the simplest laurel wreath to a Bacchanalian headdresss a mass of jewels and color. Naturally, earrings accompany it frequently, for even if we do not go so far as to show our ears, as Paris would have us do, at least we acknowledge them with earrings.

Fans, which have such possibilities of adding coquetry and charm, will be carried everywhere. Odd, primitive designs in feathers, as well as those of the delicate Louis Seizeenth period with its fragile charm, vie with the vivid qualities of the Spanish type.

Hats for the evening, absolutely distinctive from the others, were seen at every restraunt in the Bois in Paris late in the summer. Many were large-brimmed, black hats, whose most lovely lines came from the drapery of lace, heavy and Spanish pattern, which fell from the brim to the waist-line. For the daytime, small velvet toques with high trimming in the direct center and very swathed turbans in fuchsia tones of violet and red are worn most effectively with the ever-present earrings.

Sleeves certainly demand attention—always long for the street, sometimes narrow, sometimes wide, sometimes a slashed musketeer, thin for afternoon and sure to be colorful. Sometimes half is of one fabric, half of another, again, part is embroidered in color.

Belts are more noticeable than they have been in some seasons. Gleaming metal or gay colored belts in the daytime, soft sashes in the afternoon and everything from flowers to jewels at night.

MOVIE ACTOR IS MISTAKEN FOR A CHILD'S SLAYER.

Feared Lynching Before He Was Released.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Sept. 8. — (United Press).—Garbed as a railroad laborer and answering the description of a murderer, Edward Lewis, a movie actor, recently had a thrilling experience.

Lewis was taking the role of a navvy. He was dressed in khaki pants, blue coat and soft hat. His hair is jet black and he is dark complexioned. He looks like an Italian laborer in his costume. Lewis was on location near here with a company of players filming a scenario for a Canadian motion picture company. He had been imported from New York City.

Lewis separated at noon from the balance of the group and started to walk along the railroad tracks where the scenes were being filmed, picking berries. He had walked about a half mile when he saw three men running toward him. Thinking they intended to assault him, he fled into the woods. The trio chased him, and after a pursuit of about three miles they captured him. He was taken, despite his protests, to the police station, and lodged in a cell. In the evening, the manager of the company came at his summons to the police station and formally identified him as a member of his company.

Lewis had been arrested as a murder suspect. The man who enticed little, nine-year-old Sadie McAuley from St. John on the pretense of picking berries, was described as dark complexioned, with jet-black hair and wearing khaki pants, blue coat and an old soft hat. Lewis answered this description to the letter. Lewis said he feared lynching if he had been in custody much longer, as feeling was intense.

The murderer of the McAuley child is still at large. The body was found seven days after the disappearance of the girl. It had been placed under a rock.

GREEK CAMPAIGN IS STAGED IN COUNTRY RICH IN MEMORIES.

Follows Routes of Many Historic Asiatic Expeditions.

ANGORA, Sept. 7. — The Asia Minor campaign of the Greeks to break the power of the Turks, the decisive battle of which may take place near this city, is staged on the fields among the richest in the world with battle memories. Midas, Alexander the Great, Zenobia of Palmyra, the Romans of Augustus and Caracalla, Mithriadates, Cyrus the Great, Harun-al-Raschid and a host of others passed here with their armies, robbing and plundering, sometimes stopping to build fortresses and castles, making the place a stronghold and transportation centre midway between Persia and the seas.

The fortune of war may have it that General Ismet Pasha will deliver battle on the plains of Chibukabad to the north of this city, on the very plains where Tamerlane, with his Mogul hordes, in 1396 defeated Bayezid, the latter marching from Constantinople to stop the Mongol.

The advance of the Greeks is through a thinkly settled country of treeless, rolling ranges of limestone mountains, two or four thousand feet in height, rising dry and hot out of well nigh waterless, malarial valleys. At dawn and sunset the face of the country is mantled with a velvety screen of rose coloring which the traveller learns to love and almost repays for the stifling heat and dust of broad day, hardly untempered by the scorching winds that blow steadily across the limitless, bare distances.

"Ours is rather an unhappy country in summer," explained a Turkish army doctor at one of the halts along the railway to Angora, where the soldiers were poisoning and filling in the well after taking a last supply of water. "I spend my days and nights feeding quinine," he added. "About here only Turks, sheep and shepherd dogs can live."

Nearer Angora, or in the districts distant from the valleys through which pass the railway, however, are sometimes discovered villages and towns seeming like little paradise by contrast. They are planted in valleys beside streams or springs of living water which the heat of summer does not entirely devour. Seen from the mountain tops as the traveuer approaches with their lofty poplar trees and green gardens and white mosque, there is a brief fear that they are but mirages seen in the desert countries.

Once in along while the valley is made fertile by abundance of water, as at Tachibuk and then are seen silvery olive trees quivering in the heat, delicious grassy prospects, horn larks with cardinal red tops twittering by the roadside, green and brown jaybirds, darting magpies with handsome black and white bodies, pink sweet Williams peeping from the bushes and, if the season be not too far advanced, ripe melon patches and orchards of white and red cherries.

DISINFECT STREETS OF BUENOS AYRES.

BUENOS AYRES, September 8. —Sunrise every morning finds Buenos Ayres, in the downtown section in particular, fresh-washed, and clean as a Dutch housewife's doorstep and smelling like a hospital.

This is a result of the thorough washing given all the streets every night and the liberal doses of disinfectant that are spread about in order to check communicable diseases.

About midnight every night gangs of white-clad men, armed with hoses and brooms, appear and undertake to rout out any chance germs that may be lurking in guters and dark corners. But this is only part of the city's constant war on disease. It also carries on educational campaigns, using posters principally in order to warn the people of the means by which disease is spread.

EXHIBITION NOTES

Seven church societies will have eating booths on the grounds.

"The Whip" will arrive from Toronto Exhibition on Tuesday next.

There is an extraordinary entry of cattle.

Things are busy on the grounds already. Exhibits for the Manufacturers' Building were coming in today.

The grounds are now a picture, the grass is being cut and all fences and poles treated to a coat of white.

Keep booking; be on hand for the opening, Wednesday night next.

PETERBORO HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY

Encouraged by the success of the gladioli exhibit and to stimulate the interest in the city in the cultivation of flowers, it was definitely decided at the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Horticultural Society, held last evening in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, to institute the astor exhibit next Saturday.

Through the courtesy of Mr. H. E. Hodgens of the J. C. Turnbull Co. window space will be used in the store for the exhibit.

The following conditions will govern the exhibit:

Date—Saturday, September 10th.

Time—Exhibits to be in by 10 a.m.

Judging—Mr. F. Wise will be requested to act at 10.30 a.m.

Prizes—1st, $3.00; 2nd, $2.00; 3rd, $1.00.

Proceeds—Exhibits will be sold by the society on Saturday night between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m., and proceeds will go to assist the society.

Entrance fee—None.

Names—Names and address of entrant to be placed on ticket with the exhibit.

Any further information required will be gladly furnished by the President, Dr. J. E. Middleton, or the Secretary at 'phone No. 1360.

Society Membership.

Although there has been a considerable increase in the membership of the society as compared with last year, the three hundred (300) memberships is still small and arrangements are now being made, with the assistance of the Exhibition Board, through the representation of Mr. W. H. Young, to give an opportunity to any citizens so desirous of receiving a special option of fall bulbs, and memberships to be taken at the Floral Tent during the exhibition. The membership fee is only $1.00.

A choice of the following options has been arranged for all new members for the remaining portion of the year:

25 named early flowering tulips.
25 jonquils, sweet scented daffodils.
50 named crocuses.
2 named varieties of peonies.

The society directors expect that this special offer should result in a large increase in membership, and all interested in flowers will do well by visiting the flower show at the exhibition.

Members' Fall Options.

Owing to the decrease in the Government grant to the society and the increase of its activities in the beautification of the city, the fall bulb option to the members will be two each of hyacinths, daffodils and narcissus.

Any member not desirous of receiving the fall bulb option, will assist the directors by making such intimation known to the Secretary, 358 George street, or by 'phoning 1360, as soon as possible.

City Beautification.

The appreciation of the society was expressed by the directors at the meeting for the contribution of $50 donated by Mr. P. J. Carroll to assist in beautifying the corner of Park and Reid streets.

Owing to the difficulty in securing sufficient top soil for the triangle as constructed at the southwest corner of Inverlea Park, the society has not yet been able to complete the necessary work at that place, but it is hoped that this will be available in the near future and another prominent corner beautified.

BRITISH PRIVATE KIDNAPPED, IRA ACT IS REPRISAL

FOLLOWED THREATENING OF SINN FEINERS.

BELFAST, Sept. 8.— (Canadian Press.)—Private Hobson, of the Essex Regiment, was kidnapped at Bandon, County Cork, yesterday, and it is claimed the kidnapping was carried out by Sinn Feiners as a reprisal measure. It is explained that two members of the "Irish Republican Army" were stopped early in the day near Bandon Bridge by two policemen who brandished revolvers and threatened the two men. The kidnapping followed.

The memorial erected through the efforts of David Kidd Byrne and others, on the Bewdley road, to commemorate the memory of Joseph Scriven, the author of that well well known hymn, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," has been defaced by bullet marks. It is time the municipal authorities took action to prevent a repetition of such vandalism.

KEEPS HER KNEES BARE IN ATLANTIC CITY JAIL.

Authoress Holds Out For "Constitutional Rights"—Policeman to Push Assault Charge.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Sept. 8.—Miss Louise Rosine, who says she is a California authoress and 30 years old, is still in the Atlantic City jail, laboring under an added disadvantage besides that of being arrested for assaulting a beach policeman who insisted that she cover her bare knees. It appears that Miss Rosine has forgotten the number of her lodging place on Connecticut Avenue, so she is left with no other wardrobe than the bathing suit in which she was arrested.

From her cell in the city jail Miss Rosine issued the statement that she still believed bare feminine knees to be allowed under the rights guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States.

The young woman used a blanket obtained for her by her jailer to sleep in last night, but went back to her bathing suit and is still wearing her hose "rolled down" to show her knees.

Miss Rosine now faces a more serious charge than that of merely displaying bare knees on the beach in defiance of rules. Beach Policeman Shaw, who was given a lusty blow by the California writer for trying to tell her what she should wear in the line of knee covering, insists on pushing the charge of assaulting an officer on which she was technically jailed. Unless Miss Rosine can put up bail, it looks as though she would remain in her cell until the charge which will be heard before Magistrate Joseph Paxton.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

AN ANSWER TO FATHER.

Dear Mr. Editor, — In your issue of September 6th appears a letter signed "A Father," in which he refers to a ten per cent. cut in wages amongst the factory managers. This reduction may be warranted and reasonable or it may not. Not being conversant with the circumstances I am not in a position to say. He states that he is the father of a family of seven children. I wish to very sincerely congratulate him. May God bless him and his good Christian wife and his family.

He enumerates his expenses for a week's groceries; we will also pass that along without a discount. He then goes on to ask what is left to dress his children when his wages are reduced to 40c an hour, of 45 hours a week.

In regard to slack times, we all feel the pinch at times, high and low —very often the higher the greater the responsibility and the tighter the pinch. I have no doubt as to the sincerity of Father's statements. As to the fairness of the dealing only an investigation would decide.

As to the answer—

Let us look at the other side. Factories in general manufacture goods or products in general; the products are placed upon a market where they are met by the keenest competition, as to quality and price, and if the quality and price is not such as to meet this competition, there can be no sale, consequently a slack up, the wheels of industry must go slower, perhaps a tie-up; the capital invested not earning a cent, expenses still going on. The fellow high up feels the pich, and feels it hard.

What is the remedy?—

Six days shalt thou work. What does those six days mean? 45 hours don't make or mean six days. We learn that 24 hours make one day, and six days make one week, that is 144 hours. Now if I work 45 hours there are 99 hours left—for what? Not for sleep and rest.

The world has gone mad. We must have leisure, and pleasure, and sport, and a general good time. What matters it it costs valuable time and money; yes, and very often costs life and limbs, and, sad to say, sometimes principal and character, too. Very few want to WORK—just get in a few hours a day, and draw all the pay you can ,and have a good time.

The years have gone by when I had seven, yes, nine, of a family around me; they were fed and clothed and schooled, and I am pleased to say that they are good Christian citizens to-day. But it was not done on 45 hours a week or at 40c an hour. I admit that the times did not call for 40c an hour, but they called for a good honest TEN hours a day and it was given cheerfully, and often thankful to get overtime, 10 or 12 hours in a week.

I know nothing about expensive gambling but I would like to challenge Father at a game of chess or checkers or yes, an old-fashioned four hand game of euchre. Yes, we had enjoyments at home and at our neighbors. We were not slaves. I had more sleep and rest than the average man of to-day, but a great deal less SPORT and PASTIME. I am to-day a hale and healthy old man after a life of toil and labor—real work, the coat off, not 45 hours a week, just put in. I have to-day children and grandchildren, in the schools and colleges, and a home for myself and mother in our declining years—but not on less than 60 hours a week and often 70 and 75.

More REAL WORK and LESS PLAY—that is the answer from GRANDFATHER.

There is a country though beaten flat that is fast coming to their feet by adopting those very principals. Let us beware before it is too late. I hope, Mr. Editor, that you will find space in your valuable paper for the above reply in toto.

SOVIETS EXECUTE 61 FOR PLOTTING

SIXTEEN WOMEN AND SIX AMERICANS AMONG VICTIMS.

RIGA, Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press.)—Sixty-one persons have been executed by the Bolsheviki, charged with participating in a recent Petrograd plot, according to an official list printed in the Pravda of Petrograd. Among those put to death were sixteen women, most of whom were accused of renting rooms or otherwise sheltering male participants in the plot. Six on the list were described as "American spies or couriers."

WHY CHILLY WEATHER BRINGS RHEUMATISM

Says skin pores are closed and uric acid remains in blood.

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. If not the most dangerous of human afflictions it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat less meat, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure and, above all, drink lots of pure water.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed ,thus forcing the kidneys to double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twingeof rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning fo ra week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to noraml action ,thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rehumatism.

$21 A MONTH TOP PAY REPORTED IN RUSSIA

Lowest Wage is Said to be $7; Bread 7c. a Pound.

RIGA, Sept. 8.—Establishment of a minimum wage scale under which workmen are to be paid sufficient money to enable them to buy necessary food supplies has been decided on by the Russian Soviet government. The present system of payment of bonuses in the form of commodities is to be abolished.

Wages are to be divided into 17 categories, ranging from a minimum of 227,500 rubles monthly to a maximum of 682,500, which sums are figured as approximately equal to $7 and $22. A pound of bread now costs 2,000 rubles, or 7 cents.

The Moscow Provedo says that as soon as the collection of grain for the natural tax is finished the Soviet government will turn its attention to the problem of decreasing the issue of currency and stabilizing its value.

At the present rate of growth, India will have a population of 450,000,000 in 1950.

SONS OF ENGLAND OPEN CLUB ROOM

NEW QUARTERS WILL INCLUDE A BILLIARD ROOM.

That ancient, well-known and time-honoured association known as "The Sons of England," have had a branch in this city for some thirty-five years. The Landsdowne Lodge, the name of the local affiliation, has, as is no doubt well known, its habitation on Hunter street, over the Campbell and Best hardware store. The governing powers have just modified their premises and added to their spacious accommodation, a commodious billiard room and social club room, where all manner of games will be indulged in.

The billiard table is a fine specimen of its particular style of furniture. It is a full-sized English type of table, with pockets manufactured by the Brunswick-Balke-Collander Company, of Toronto, which firm bears about the leading name of builders of billiard tables in the Dominion of Canada. This table is completely equipped with all accessories.

The new rooms will be informally opened to members of the S.O.E. on Friday night next. Later on a formal dedication will take place — probably on Friday, Sept. 23—of which due notice will be advertised in the Examiner. On this occasion there will be a good programme and refreshments will be served.

The new room is very attractive and newly decorated. The idea of the alterations is to attract the younger section of the community. The rooms will be open every week-day evening throughout the winter months, in charge of a responsible officer. This should form an ideal club room for the sons of Englishmen who have been born in Canada.

The "Sons of Englnad" in Peterborough has a membership of between two and three hundred. The aggregation is not merely limited to those born in England, as the offspring of English-born, although born in Canada, are admissible.

The new arrangements, should prove to be a good method of holding the members — both old and young—together; the officials of the order being evidently desirious of providing healthy recreation for the members.

GREEK AMMUNITION MUST BE CONSERVED

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press.)—Greek forces engaged in the offensive against the Turkish Nationalists along the Sakaria River have been obliged to relax their assaults on the Turkish positions because of the expenditures of ammunition entailed. Reports from the battle front indicated that the struggle has been subsiding.

FIND WOOD BORER SPENT 40 YEARS IN BIRCH BOARD

WASHINGTON, Sep. 8.—Insects longevity records appear to have been broken by the finding of a soft white wood boring grub that had spent more than 40 years in a thoroughly seasoned birch board, five eighs of an inch thick, in a bookcase at Mt. Pleasant, Ia. The owner of the old bookcase discovered a newly--made opening and a conical pile of wood chewings, extracted the matured Larva, and gave it to H. E. Jaques of the Iowa Wesleyan College.

Being a bioliogst, Mr. Jaques put it in a box and let it develop into an adult beetle. It proved to be Eburara Quadrigeminate Say, a longicorn commonly known as the honey-locust borer, which is recorded as an inhabitant of hickory ash honey locust.

In a communcation to Science, the official journal of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Mr. Jaques wonders how and why this insect should have spent so many humdrum years in a board without coming out for air and water.

Previous records show that two similiar beetles were found in an ash doorsill, when scientists were sure that the eggs were laid there 19 years before!

40 ROBBED OF $5,000 IN DAYLIGHT HOLD-UP

Four Armed Men Raid Open-Air Craps Game and Search Players as Neighbors Look On.

NEW YORK, September 8.—Four armed men, with faces concealed by blue, polka-dotted handkerchiefs, interrupted a craps game in the rear of 49 Allen street, about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and after leisurely and systematic search of forty or more players, fled with money and jewelry valued at $5,000 to $10,000.

The lining up and search of the victims at the point of revolvers was accomplished in broad daylight and in view of the occupants of several tenements surrounding a court yard, in which the craps game was being played. The robbers' flight attempted in a taxicab, through the crowds in the lower east side, was equally bold, but it led to a chase that ended in the arrest of one man whom several of the crap players identified as one of the bandits.

The scene of the hold-up according to persons who live in the neighborhood, has been a rendezvous for crap shooters for many months. The players, in the parlance of the district, are all "wise guys," and the stakes have been heavy. The courtyard, where the games are played, is surrounded by high board fences, and its only entrance is through the tenement of 49 Allen street. The games have been secure from the police interference although they have been the subject of gossip in the neighborhood.

Masked Men Appear Through Hall.

The players had about $150 piled on the concrete pavement when the four masked men appeared through the tenement hallway. The command "hands up" was followed by another from one who seemed to be the leader of the quartette:

"Come, put em up quick and get against that wall.'

One of the masked men stood at the doorway. A second covered the forty men. The other two divided the forty players off into equal sections and began the search. The sight of scores of heads poked out of the tenement windows led the leader to exclaim to one of the band:

"Hey, Jimmy, work a little faster. You act like an amateur. You have been out of that class long ago.'"

There was nothing amateurish, so far as the thoroughness of the search was concerned. No pockets were overlooked. Hats, shoes and socks were carefully examined and seams were examined with the eyes and fingers of experts.

Two men known in the Allen St. neighborhood as "Juba" and "Turk," ere made to strip before the bandits. A total of $1500 was found in their possession. One of the victims began to let his arms fall through weariness, but "Jimmy" gave him a blow across the mouth with the butt end of a revolver and said:

"Where is that pin you had?"

Other demands of the bandits indicated a familiarity with the players' affairs.

CANADIAN WOOLENS HAVE THEIR STAGE ALL SET FOR SATURDAY'S FIELD DAY

ENTRY LIST CLOSED EXCEPT FOR JUNIOR EVENTS AND PRIZES PURCHASED—SPECIAL PRIZE FOR HOLDER OF PROGRAMME WITH LUCKY NUMBER—LIST OF THE VALUABLE PRIZES OFFERED BY THE C. W. ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION.

The Canadian Woollens' Athletic Association have completed all their arrangements for their first field day of sports at the Exhibition Park on Saturday. Entries have been numerous in almost every event, and the programme committee have put the list in the hands of the printer. In this connection the public should be reminded of the fact that programmes will sell at five cents each on the ground. They will be numbered and a drawing will take place, the holder of the lucky programme receiving a handsome prize. So don't throw away your programmes.

The prizes will be on exhibition in the window of Warne's Diamond Hall on Friday morning. Particular note should be taken of the children's races which have been thrown open to the field. The association has taken this step in order to give all the children present a chance to compete and also with a view to stimulating among the young folks interest in track events.

WHATTAM HIMSELF COMING FRIDAY TO PLAY MAYNEORD

DONOR OF THE TRAVELLING CUP THAT HAS REMAINED LONG IN PETERBORO ON OSHAWA RINK.

Jack Mayneord's rink of bowlers, successful defenders, so far, of the Whattam Cup, are beginning to feel that they are nearing the end of their tether. They have run up a string of five victories, but they realise that they can't keep on winning for ever.

There's that legend of the pitcher that went to the well, a homely homily, and yet a true one, to remind them that change is inevitable, and that the best of them are bound to slip.

On Tuesday night Mayneord's rink defeated W. L. F. Campbell, of Port Hope, by the score of 25 to 16.

McMurtry, of Belleville, was next on the list of aspirants, but he has defaulted. This brings Arthur Jermond, of Oshawa, next into line, and his engagement will be staged here on Friday night, beginning at 6 o'clock.

The Jermond rink includes the donor of the cup, J. L. Whattam. It is regarded as one of the big rinks among the district's bowlers, and while there is something premonitory in the coming of Whattam himself, the local rink would gain that much more satisfaction by handing Jermond a trimming.

Elsie Ferguson in "Sacred and Profane Love"
A Paramount Love

At the Capitol—Balance of This Week

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

"SACRED AND PROFANE LOVE," WITH ELSIE FERGUSON

Harold Lloyd in His Newest 3-Reel Comedy—Two Big Special Vaudeville Acts.

Tonight and for the balance of this week the Capitol offers a most excellent show. Their daily matinee and reduced admission prices has increased the patronage to a very noticeable degree. The entertainment offered today and for Friday and Saturday is of exceptional merit. Elsie Ferguson, the clever emotional star, in her very newest production, "Sacred and Profane Love." Harold Lloyd appears in his latest and greatest 3-reel comedy scream, entitled, "Among Those Present." Two big vaudeville acts, one a two-people act and one a three-people act. This, combined with the excellent array of short-reel serials, travel pictures, etc., will complete a great show. The 6-piece ochestra is also one of the splendid drawing attractions at the Capitol.

It is Conrad Nagel, who plays "Diaz" in "Sacred and Profane Love," the William D. Taylor production of Arnold Bennett's play, which will be the feature today, with Elsie Ferguson in the star role. It is a Paramount picture.

Mr. Nagel's impersonation of the pianist who descends to the depths only to be saved by the love of a woman is all the more impressive because the character is completely the reverse of his own life. The incident of "Julius Caesar" as an accompaniment of a drunk scene indicates the constant study Mr. Nagel undergoes to improve his dramatic technique. He is constantly reading and is quite the most persistent bookworm of Hollywood's film colony.

FAN-FAN.

AT THE GRAND.

THE BLACKSTONE SHOW.

The development of stage craft bridges a long gulf back to the days of Shakespeare, in whose time and before, a courtyard, a park, a bare stage, or a single piece of tapestry comprised the entire scenic equipment of all the dramatic performances of the time.

Today and for the preceding twenty-five years the theatre public have grown used to finesse in detail. When the scene plot calls for a particular set, the world is searched for the detail of the set. This in a measure is a splendid angle of public education and interior decoration specifically has accomplished great strides from the object lessons of the stage sets of the theatre. It has likewise become extremely beneficial in the study of tones of color and color blending, and many instances are recalled when stage sets meant the actual success of the show.

The Great Blackstone who appears at the Grand for three days, commencing tonight, recognizes this salient fact, and in consequence, has spared neither time nor expense, in costuming, finish and detail, to give his brilliant performance the magnificent settings it deserves.

The costs of drapings, paraphernalia and hangings, as costs go now, are absolutely staggering. Yet in the appreciation of the public, Blackstone feels his show deserves it, and his public appreciates it.

AT THE ALLEN.

NOTED NEW YORK DANCE PLACE SCENE OF NEW TORCHY COMEDY

Many of the most famous show places in New York have furnished the settings for Torchy Comedies, made feom the stories by Sewell Ford and starring Johnny Hines. "Torchy Mixes In," the latest of the series, which comes to the Allen Theatre today, is no exception.

A considerable portion of the picture consists of exteriors and these were taken on the principal streets of New York, incluting Fifth avenue. A bit of the action takes place on the top of a Fifth avenue bus, but the main scene is on the Hotel Majestic roof, which is known as "the hurricane deck" on account of the breeze that is generally prevalent. In these scenes a typical New York dance crowd is seen and a number of the best known show girls on Broadway, including Dorothy Mackaill, one of the principal members of the Midnight Follies, and Dorothy Leeds, who has a big part in "Hitchy Koo," as well as a number of others appear.

All of the Torchy comedies are made in New York City, since they deal with the adventures of the red-headed office boy whose feats take him all over the great city.

BARRYMORE A SUBTLE VILLAIN IN MELODRAMA

"Jim The Penman," a Strong and Gripping Play that Avoids Garish Incongruities of Most "Melos."

Llonel Barrymore in a melodrama! And playing the role of the villian in the piece!

That is the entertainment that is being offered by the Allen Theatre in presenting "Jim the Penman," which opened today for 3 days. Mr. Barrymore doesn't threaten to foreclose the mortgage on the old homestead unless the gur-el marries him. He is too subtle a villain for that, and also there isn't any old homestead in the play. He gets the girl, played by the ever pleasing Doris Rankin, by exercising his talent for forgery.

He sends a letter to her lover signed by her that she never wants to see him again. He sends one to her signed by the lover to the effect that the scandal which has been hinted at in her family has made their contemplated marriage impossible. Then he catches the girl on the rebound.

It is melodrama, but it is the best entertainment Barrymore has ever offered on the screen. He begins his villiany by forging the girl's name on his dance program so that he can claim more than she has been willing to offer. Then he attempts to save her father by another forgery and gets caught and barters away twenty years of forgery to a criminal gang to keep from going to jail.

But Barrymore is altogether too human to remain the hardened villain to the end and he rights everything before the final scene. The story is as gripping as any melodrama that has ever been produced, but it lacks the garish incongruities of most of them.

For one desiring the highest form of emotional entertainment "Jim the Penman" provides the opportunity.

AT THE REGENT.

TOM MIX DUE IN NEW PICTURE "HANDS OFF"

Tom Mix, his trusty "six," his lariat and his famous horse will be the feature attraction at the Regent Theatre commencing to-day, in "Hands Off" which report says is one of the breeziest action pictures that this Willia Fox western star has appeared in. It is a story of Texas from a novel by William McLeod Raine and was directed by George E. Marshall.

Mix takes the part of a roving cowpuncher who drops into the fighting frontier town of Tascosa in time to become mixed up in a number of stirring adventures, including a gang fight, a bank robbery, an attempted lynching, a murder and a stampede of wild horses —quite enough to keep even him busy.

Pauline Curley, though only sixteen years old, is Mix's leading woman, and has a very charming part in Ramona, a ranchman's daughter.

REGENT THEATRE OPEN FOR SEASON

The Regent Theatre, which opened for the season, this week, presents a fresh and attractive appearance. It has been treated to a thorough cleaning, the floors have been oiled throughout, and the walls have been decorated by a local man in a very pleasing manner. Tinted a rose-pink, they are done in separate panels, each centered with an elongated conventional ornament in a soft brown. The result is unique and striking. The large and comfortable lobby, cool in warm weather and warm in winter, has been done in pretty shade of pale green and white, with conventionalized border of a delicate shade of blue. Two gilt plaster of paris figures surmount the entrance to the theatre where fresh chintz hangings provide a pleasant contrast to the dark brown of the woodwork.

The Regent has added an organ to its musical equipment, which will be used during the season. With its seating capacity of 650, its gradual slope, its excellent ventilating system both above and below the stairs, its soft overhead lighting, and good programme of first-class picture plays, this theatre provides a pleasant place to spend an afternoon or evening in.

Bluefield, W. Va., county jail has become so crowded that there is not enough room for those given jail sentences. By a plan adopted those sentenced will be allowed bail and take their turns at serving the sentences as soon as other prisoners terms are completed.

TAXPAYERS' PARADISE EXISTS—OUT IN IOWA.

No School, No Teacher, No Educational Levy There.

LA PORTE CITY, Ia., Sept. 8.—A school district without pupils is disclosed in reports by school officers to H. C. Moeller, county superintendent of Black Hawk County. The district is No. 4, Big Creek Township, and a census shows that there is not one child of school age, 5 to 21 years.

Iowa laws do not permit any outside power to force this district to join with another district. Hence this district is hailed as the taxpayers' paradise, for without the school levy the tax is comparatively light.

E. M. Myers, of La Porte City, secretary of the district, reports that there is no school building, no teacher, no school board, no tax, no one of school age. According to the report the school district is an entity almost without existence. No one in the district is deaf or dumb or blind. There is one freeholder living on his land in the district with his wife, and they have no children. The few other residents are tenant farmers without children.

WEDDING BELLS

VICKERY—COON.

The marriage took place on Saturday, 3rd September, at 10.30 a.m., at the home of the bride's mother, 580 Aylmer Street, of Helen Maude, daughter of the late Rev. Chas. H. and Mrs. Coon, of Peterborough, to Reginald James Vickery, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Vickery, Lindsay. Rev. W. Harold Young officiated. The bride, who was unattended, was charmingly attired in white silk crepe over lace, the dress materials being sent from Chungking, China, by the bride's sister. Litle Miss Winnifred Dobbin, of Lindsay, was the charming ring bearer.

Mr. and rMs. Vickery will reside in Lindsay.

BELLEVILLE FAIR ONE OF BEST EVER

Third and Final Day Brings Large Attendance.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Sept. 8. — There was a large attendance at the third and final day of the Belleville Fair, and upon the whole it was one of the best held here for years. The number of exhibits in the various classes was in excess of former years, and the display was much admired. The program of events the horse races and baseball games, were the means of providing amusement for the spectators, whilst a midway was an attraction for the younger generation. Many special prizes were awarded, chief of which was a handsome silver cup donated by E. G. Porter, K.C., M.P. for West Hastings. Mrs. William Cole, of Prince Edward County, secured the trophy, which was for the best pair of carriage horses, 15 hands and over. The winner also handled the team. Mrs. Clarence Vermilyea won a special prize as best lady driver on the grounds.

BROADWAY ATTRACTIONS FOR THE "OPRY" HOUSES

CHICAGO, September 7. — "Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model," and her sisters of melodrama, heroines of the gallery gods, have been buried by the Central Managers' Association, representing theatres in more than 50 small towns.

The curtain has been run down on the shop worn thrillers, the theatre-owners said, as Main street wants the same shows New York and Chicago see.

"We are going to insist that some of the Broadway stars stop off at our towns," Nathan Appell, secretary of the Association, said.

VOL. XLIX., No. 59 PETERBOROUGH, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1921 PRICE THREE CENTS

FLOODS ARE CAUSE OF HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE IN TEXAS CITY

THE GRAND TRUNK ACCOUNTS WERE MANIPULATED PROVIDE DIVIDENDS TO STOCKHOLDERS

THE MURMERING STOCKHOLDERS WERE APPEASED AND GOVERNMENT CLAIMS LEFT UNPAID.

CASSELS COMMENT

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.—(Special to The Examiner.)—Not the least interesting feature in connection with the findings of the Grand Trunk arbitrators is the manner in which Sir Walter Cassels, chairman of the Board of Arbitrators, deals with the point raised by Mr. W. A. Tilley, counsel for the Crown, that the accounts of the Grand Trunk railway system were so manipulated as to render the accounts as presented by their books unreliable and unsatisfactory. Another important point discussed by Sir Walter is that, for reasons of his own, dividends were paid when to the knowledge of the chairman of the Grand Trunk, Sir Alfred Smithers, there were no earnings applicable to the payment of such dividends, and those moneys so paid were diverted from paying claims due to the government, which should have been, leaving the government claim unpaid to the present time." In this connection an interesting series of cablegrams passing between E. J. Chamberlain, former president of the Grand Trunk on this side of the Atlantic and Sir Alfred Smithers, chairman of the Board of Directors in London, was produced. In these cablegrams Sir Alfred suggests certain treatment of the company's accounts so that a dividend may be paid and the murmuring stockholders appeased. Despite the opinion of the Grand Trunk Company's counsel, Mr. Biggar, that under the Act dividends on the stocks in question are only payable in case sufficient net earnings are available, Sir Alfred cabled that failure to pay dividend after the showing to the end of November, 1916, would create grave dissatisfaction among Grand Trunk shareholders and would doubtless result in agitation against the Board of Directors and application to the courts. He goes on to explain that the "relation of the Board and shareholders in England is quite different. One can suddenly drift into a very uncomfortable position."

In another cable message on March 10th, 1917, marked confidential and unofficial, Sir Smithers informed Mr. Chamberlain that after a long sitting with a committee of the Board it had been agreed that the best course was to pay a dividend on Grand Trunk second preference stock while holding in suspense £400,000 for renewal. I can get this through a general meeting and avoid agitation," Smithers added. Finally, on March 10, 1917, after further exchanges, Sir Alfred cabled that the Board had decided to pay the Grand Trunk preferred stock dividend in full and he advised that Mr. Chamberlain show the accounts should be dealt with. The crisp comment of Sir Walter Cassels with regard to this proceeding is: "Dividends paid; unpleasantness to directors avoided. Neither Sir Alfred Smithers nor Mr. Chamberlain were produced as witnesses on the part of the Grand Trunk railway company of Canada. Further comment is unnecessary."

FUNERAL TO-DAY.

The funeral of the late David Condon, of Lakefield, whose death occurred at St. Joseph's Hospital on Thursday last, took place at 8 o'clock this morning from the Sacred Heart Church to St. Joseph's Cemetery in Douro. Mr. Condon, who was in his 79th year, was an old resident of Douro. He is survived by his wife, Katherine Hogan, two daughters, Mrs. L. Guerin, Toronto, and Mrs. P. McGrath, Lake Street, and two sons, James, of Minnesota, and John at home.

REWARD OFFERED FOR MEN WANTED

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS FOR SLAYER OF NAPANEE POLICEMAN.

KINGSTON, September 10. — The Ontario Government is offering a reward of one thousand dollars for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the men wanted for the murder of Patrolman Beard, of Napanee, who was killed a week ago last Sunday morning.

Last night three young men of the city were questioned by the local police concerning the case but were allowed to go.

WOMAN ENTERS FEDERAL RING

MRS. H. S. LAWS HAS CAST HER BONNET IN POLITICAL ARENA.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

CAYUGA, Ont., Sept. 10.—Canadian Legislatures already have several women memebrs, but the Federal Parliament is still without representatives of the superior sex. However, this shortcoming may be remedied after the next general election. The first woman in Canada to announce her candidature for the House of Commons is Mrs. H. S. Laws, of Cayuga, Ont., secretary of the United Farmer Women of Ontario, who will endeavor to take the measure of Frank Lalor, M.P., of Dunnville, who sits for Haldimand County, and is one of the high priests of protection.

In the election for the Ontario Legislature, W. H. Stringer, U.F.O. candidate, defeated Dr. Jacques, Conservative member, who previously represented Haldimand in the Ontario House.

Mrs. Laws is well-known throughout Ontario, having delivered scores of addresses at U.F.O. picnics and women's meetings. She is a good politic speaker, with the knack of making bulls' eyes.

F. D. KERR MEMBER EXECUTIVE DOMINION BAR ASSOCIATION

MEETING IN MONTREAL WAS OF UNUSUALLY INTERESTING CHARACTER.

Mr. F. D. Kerr, K.C., who has been in attendance at the meetings of the Dominion Bar Association held at Ottawa on the 6th, 7th and 8th inst., returned home last evening.

Mr. Kerr states that the meetings were of an unusually interesting character, there being in attendance, in addition to the members of the Bar and Judges from all the provinces of Canada, distinguished jurists from Great Britain, the United States and Japan. Among those who delivered interesting addresses were the Rt. Hon. Sir John Simon, K.C., Hon. Malcolm McNaughton, K.C., London, England, Ex-President Taft, now Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, Alton G. Parker of New York, R. Masujima, of Tokyo, Japan, Mr. Justice Riddell, Mr. Justice Hodgins, Toronto, and Sir Francis Lemieux, Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Quebec.

It was announced that Sir James Aikens, the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba ,President of the Association, recently donated $50,000 for an endowment fund.

Mr. Kerr was elected a member of the Executive Council for the coming year.

The next annual meeting will be held in Victoria or Vancouver, British Columbia in August, 1922.

FELL TEN STORIES ESCAPES INJURY

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.— (Canadian Press.)—Martin Pearman, aged six, of Bronx, altogether has fallen ten stories and is still unscathed. Martin fell six stories yesterday from the top of an apartment house, where he was flying a kite. He landed only slightly bruised, in a baby carriage. A few months ago Martin fell out of the fourth story window and escaped serious harm by landing on a clothes line.

STRANGE WILL WAS PROBATED YORK COUNTY

DECEASED PAID A TRIBUTE TO HIS SWEETHEART—DIED ON ACTIVE SERVICE.

TERMS OF WILL

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

TORONTO, Sept. 10.—Probate was granted to-day to one of the most unusual wills ever fyled at the Surrogate Court of the County of York.

"Had I been rich, I would have left her an income for life," said Peter Clifford Frederick Norton of his sweetheart in his will. He said, "She has been a splendid, true and loving girl, and in event of my not marrying her for reasons I know not of, I hope she will find a good and true man, and one that will treat her with every kindness, and let's hope, will live with her happily for life."

Clifford Frederick Norton was a young English immigrant to Canada, who purchased while he was here lot No. 34, Norman Avenue, Toronto, valued at $800; 12¾ acres of farm land near Severn Bridge, Simcoe County, and lots near Welland and Windsor, Ontario. His real estate in Ontario is appraised at $1,625, and he had assets in England valued at $1,453.

He died while on active service at Kilwa Kwingi on October 24, 1917. His will was made at 10 p.m. on November 16, 1916. His will opens with a prayer a page in length, in which he thanks his Creator for his life, and confesses that he has made many errors. He expresses gratitude for a good father and mother.

If he should die in London or in England, he directs that he be buried with full military honors. He desires that his grave be lined with brick, with a bottom of gravel, and a coffin made of "good old English oak." He wishes to be interred while clothed in ful dress, "as they are in Canada or America."

If he should be drowned at sea or in a river, a reward of ten pounds is to be paid to the person who recovers his body.

SPLENDID SPECIMENS OF ASTERS EXHIBITED

ATTRACTIVE SHOWING IN TURNBULL'S WINDOW TO-DAY—THE WINNERS.

The aster exhibit put on by the Peterborough Horticultural Association in the J. C. Turnbull Company's window this morning was very successful. There was a large number of amateur entries, many of which had the full 12 varieties. All of the exhibits were good, and some of the vases of better quality than the prize-winners, but lacked the requisite variety. Messrs. J. & A. Saunders had very commendable entries. The prizes went to the following: First, Mr. G. W. Downer, 71 Morrow Street; second, Mrs. R. T. Hounsell, 232 Edinburgh Street; and third, Miss N. Hobbins, 381 Queen Street. Each of the winners displayed the whole dozen varieties, and Mrs. Hounsell's exhibit of Boltz Dwarf and Sutton's Tom Thumb, miniature button asters, was very attractive.

The Entries.

Mrs. Wood, 300 Pearl Ave.; G. W. Downer, 71 Morrow Street; R. Winson, 577 Harvey Street; Mrs. Pearson, 178 Aylmer Street; A. Deyell, 61 Crescent Street; J. Saunders, 213 Romaine Street; Jas. Heffernan, 640 Reid Street; C. Barett, 402 Murray Street; R. Sedgwick, General Delivery; W. H. Loung, 592 Chamberlain Street; J. Grierson, 197 Mark Street; D. Fraser; H. C. Huffman, 311 Elias Avenue; Miss N. Hobbins, 381 Queen Street; Mrs. R. T. Hounsell, 232 Edinburg Street; Mr. Boddison, 575 Patterson Avenue; Mrs. Ecobichon, 763 Aylmer Street; Mrs. W. A. Wood, Barnardo Avenue; Mrs. Simmons, Brownton; Mr. A. Saunders, King George Street; Miss Lacheur, 554 Romaine Street; Mrs. Geo. Carter, R.R. No. 9; Mrs. D. Rose, 639 Patterson Street.

COLD RUSH ON THE RED DEER RIVER.

RED DEER, Alta., Sept. 10. — (Canadian Press).—Signs of a gold rush on the Red Deer River, 30 miles east of Red Deer, became apparent to-day when several placer claims were staked in that vicinity.

The district has been under observation since 1902. T. B. Stephens and some associates in Calgary have staked eight miles of the river below Content Bridge, attaining the dredge rights in that area, and at the same time have staked 14 claims on the river bank.

ELECTION NEWS

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 10. — While no official announcement has been made from headquarters of the National Progressive Party that Farmer candidates would contest Winnipeg seats, it is believed the organization is merely waiting political leaders of the three local constituencies to take the initiative in placing candidates in the field to run on the Progressive ticket. The name of Hon. A. B. Hudson, formerly Attorney-General of Manitoba, is mentioned prominently in political circles, and he is certain to be a candidate in South Winnipeg to run in support of Hon. T. A. Crerar, Agrarian leader.

Mr. Hudson resigned from the Manitoba Cabinet and left the Legislature in order to devote his time to private business. Mr. Hudson is mentioned for the portfolio of Minister of Justice should the Progressives be placed in power after the Federal elections. Mr. Hudson is acting now as political and legal adviser of Mr. Crerar.

According to information received at the office of the Progressive party this morning, the Canadian Labor have not approached Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the National Progressive Party, with proposals for a working agreement during the campaign between the two parties. At the last meeting of the C. L. P. officials of the organization were instructed to get in touch with Mr. Crerar.

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 10. — "The fate of the Federal Government is sealed," said Hon. J. E. Perreault, Minister of Colonization, Mines and Fisheries for Quebec, in an interview to-day. Monsieur Perreault is returning from a five weeks' trip to British Columiba.

"A Liberal victory in Quebec is considered assured. In Ontario the battle is expected to be the fiercest. British Columbia, where I have the honor to meet many political authorities, will be split practically evenly between the Liberals and Conservatives. The Prairie Provinces, I should say, from my observations, are for the Farmers."

TWO INCHES OF SNOW IN WEST

CALGARY AND ALBERTA COVERED WITH BLANKET OF THE BEAUTIFUL.

EDMONTON, Sept. 10.—(Canadian Press).—With two inches of snow at Calgary, Southern Alberta and Saskatchewan also covered, and heavy frosts reported from McMurray, Dunvegan and Spirit River last night, the Edmonton district to-day is awaiting its turn.

So far there has been only a suspicion of frost here. The weather is cloudy, following rain yesterday. Crops are nearly all cut now in this district, and threshing under way.

FARMERS' MARKET WELL PATRONIZED

POTATOES PLENTIFUL—HONEY PRICES ON DOWN-GRADE.

The farmers' market was well patronized this morning. All sorts of farm produce and fruits were on display, and potatoes were more plentiful than last Saturday. They were selling at 50 cents a peck, with one man offering his lot at 40 cents just at closing time. Butter was selling at from 45 to 48 cents, eggs from 40 to 45 cents, and chickens at 30 cents per lb. Peaches were still $1.50 per basket, grapes 65 cents, crabapples 40 cents per peck, tomatoes 30 cents a basket, and corn 20 cents per dozen. Pickling onions were going at 35 cents a peck, and honey sold for 15 cents for buckwheat and 20 cents for the clover. Two little boys had five small, silken-furred Scotch collie pups, which they offered for $2.75 and $3.25. They disposed of three at closing time, one tiny, fuzzy little soft-eared ball whining his lonesome way up George Street in a pair of friendly arms.

CHAPLIN GETS THE GLAD HAND IN OLD LONDON

FIFTY POLICEMEN DETAILED TO PROTECT THE COMEDIAN FROM FRIENDLY ASSAULT.

THE RECEPTION

(BY CHARLES M. McCANN)

LONDON, September 10 (United Press). — Charlie Chaplin has arrived. Never in history has a conquering hero received the spontaneous, wildly enthusiastic reception that was extended to Charlie when he stepped from the train at Waterloo Station to-day, and drove to his suite at The Ritz.

As this is cabled, Charlie is barricaded from his frantic admirers, who are held off by a special squad of fifty policemen detailed to defend the comedian from the friendly assault.

He appears constantly on the little balcony outside his suite, and waves and speaks to the cheering thousands who have made traffic through Piccadilly impossible. They have stood there since early morning, and will probably be there until late at night.

There were more than 5,000 people in the throng that met the boat train and fully that number have already passed beneath Charles' windows, gazing up and refusing to "move on" though the mounted police do their best, until they catch a glimpse of their idol.

Newsboys are shrieking extras in the streets.

The pictorials show him in every concrude posture. The dignified dailies have editorials about him.

And the children—. They were outside the station and along the route to The Ritz, which was policed off as though for a Coronation procession. The crowds raised such a cheer when it caught sight of Chaplin his seldom been heard in London.

But the children were almost dumb —only a faint murmur of protest went up as the first shout of delight from the adults died away. For Charlie did not have the little moustache, nor the trick hat, and his cane didn't spring up and hit him on the nose.

Charlie himself, in his first interview, expressed his fears at revealing himself to the kiddies, as he really is in private life a dapper, extremely well-dressed ,and graceful individual.

Scenes at Waterloo Station.

Waterloo Station was jammed long before eleven o'clock, the time of the boat train's arrival. He was escorted to a waiting automobile, held on the shoulders of four, strong-armed policemen, tipping his bowler hat in answer to the cheers. Only once was the slow progress halted—a proud father placed a small boy, dressed like the Chaplin of the movies, directly in the path of the comedian, and Charlie shook the child by the hand.

At Southampton, when the Olympic, hours late, docked, the intended ovation had been somewhat curtailed by official foresight. The authorities were mindful of the near-tragedies of last year when Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford arrived.

When the Olympic received the mail from shore early to-day, before docking, it was found that for Charlie Chaplin there were 150 letters, 130 telegrams, and 12 parcels—equallingthe mail of all the other passengers.

THE BODY FAILED TO ARRIVE FOR FUNERAL

But Full Military Services For Lieut. Hoffman.

DETROIT, Sept. 10.—(Canadian Press.)— Full military funeral services were held yesterday for Lieut. Edward Hoffman, who lost his life overseas, despite the fact that the casket containing his body failed to arrive as scheduled, with the bodies of twenty-four of his comrades.

Hundreds of friends of the dead officer gathered for the services, looked on as is no untoward incident had occurred, as the solemn rites were pronounced, a firing squad saluted and the bugler sounded the taps. No indication of the failure of the body to reach here has been received.

TWENTY-TWO BODIES TAKEN FROM THE FLOODED RUINS OF SAN ANTONIO IN TEXAS

PRISONERS DUG WAY TO FREEDOM

DUBLIN, Sept. 10.—(Canadian Press.)— A tunnel requiring many weeks to construct, was employed Thursday night in effecting the escape of some fifty interned Sinn Feiners from Curragh internment camp in County Kildare, where about 15,000 prisoners were under guard. The camp is surrounded by several rows of barbed wire entanglement and is heavily guarded by soldiers. The prisoners built a tunnel under the barbed wire, using some of the flooring of their huts for props. The most difficult part was to elude the guard. This was done by creating a diversion Thursday evening. Numerous prisoners gave songs and recitations which received great applause both from other interned men and, it is said, from the guard. While this was proceeding between 40 and 50 men passed through the tunnel and have not been seen since.

COCKSHUTT FOR GOVERNORSHIP

ANNOUNCEMENT TO THIS EFFECT MADE BY PREMIER TODAY.

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.—(Canadian Press). — Lieut.-Col. Harry Cockshutt, of Brantford, has been appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario to fill the post made vacant by the death of Lieutenant - Governor Lionel Clarke. An announcement to this effect was made by Premier Meighen this morning.

PROPERTY DAMAGE WILL RUN INTO MILLIONS AS RESULT OF FLOOD DUE TO HEAVY RAINS.

THE RESCUE WORK

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 10. —(Canadian Press.) — Many are known to be dead and property in the central portion of the city has been damaged to the extent of several millions by the flood which swept through Antonio last night. Estimate of the loss of life and property damage is difficult early this morning. Troops from Fort San, Houston, aare patrolling the city and aiding in rescue work. The water supply is cut off, as is the electric light and telephone power. Estimate of loss of life reaches as high as five hundred by police and fire officials.

Swollen by heavy rains of the past few days, San Antonio river and Alazan creek overflowed into the downtown district of San Antonio this morning, spreading over an area of about twenty-four blocks and inundating ground floors on many of the prominent buildings of the city.

Twenty-two bodies, mostly those of women and children, were in the morgue at noon. Estimates of probable loss of life continue to be large, police still placing it at 500. The property loss is certain to be many millions. At the waters reacted, organized bands of workers and rescuers are searching ruined houses.

With 22 bodies recovered out of an estimated death list placed by some as high as 500 and with a property loss variously estimated at from one to three million dollars, San Antonio early this morning suffered the worst flood in its history. A cloudburst in the Olmos Valley, north of the city, sent a flood of water down the San Antonio River, which joined with the flood waters from the Alazan and San Pedro creeks on the west, completely inundating a large part of the business section and several residential sections. The residence sections in which the greatest loss of life occurred, is occupied largely by Mexican families. A total of 30 bodies have been recovered.

Cotton Crop Destroyed.

ST. VINCENT, Windward Islands, Sept. 10.—(Canadian Press.) —St. Vincent's sea island cotton crop for 1921 was almost entirely destroyed by the cyclonic storm which swept over Windward Islands Thursday. Sugar cane fields were laid flat and numerous cocoanut trees were uprooted or stripped.

Killed in Cyclone.

SIOUX FALLS, South Dakota, Sept. 10.M(Canadian Press.)—Two men were killed at West Sioux Falls and many small farm buildings were destroyed in a cyclone which struck just out side Sioux Falls city limits early last night.

Tropical Storm.

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, Sept. Sept. 10.—(Canadian Press.)—Tropical storm of great violence, which struck Trinidad Thursday, caused two deaths and did damage to shipping estimated at $150,000.

OSHAWA HELD CAMPBELLFORD TO TIE IN SEMI-FINAL GAME

GREAT EXHIBITION OF LACROSSE IN INTERMEDIATE O.L.A. SERIES ENDED WITH SCORE OF 4-4—OSHAWA EVENED UP WITH TWO MINUTES TO GO—TRENT TOWN TEAM DEMONSTRATED THAT THEY HAVE FIGHTING CHANCE —CHECKING WAS CLOSE.

CAMPBELLFORD, September 9. —Oshawa held Campbellford to a tie, four goals to four, in the first of the home and home games in the semi-final round of the intermediate series of the Ontario Lacrosse Association here this afternoon. With only two minutes to go, the visitors scored the goal that put the teams on even terms for the return game in Oshawa on Saturday, September 17th. By one of those heart-breaking freaks of mischance the tieing counter was the easiest of the eventful afternoon, bounding slowly past Fat Kelly before he had a chance to see it. The Campbellford goaler had played a brilliant game, the best he has shown this season, and probably one of the best of his long career. He had stopped a number of difficult shots, three or four of them had been spectacular, and then in the dying moments when Campbellford seemed to be safe with a lead of one, this fluke bounder from in front of the crease beat him. Ganton and Sarles had worked in close to the Campbellford net. Both were being checked. Tom Thomas was a stick's length in front of Kelly and checking Sarles. From the side it seemed that Ganton tried a pass to Sarles who missed it. The ball bounced under the stick of Sarles and Thomas and into the net. Kelly's view was obstructed by the men right in front of him and the ball was past him before he saw it. He actually swung it as it went by.

This was the only disappointing feature of the game from the spectators' standpoint. It was the fastest of the season, and all predictions as to the attendance were amply realized.

The big crowd had come from all over the Trent District, from Peterboro and Picton on the east to Oshawa and even Toronto on the west, and with the exception of the first quarter in which the teams were "feeling each other out" the game was fast and strenuous without being rough. Oshawa was leading by 3 goals to 1 at the end of the first quarter and were still ahead 3 to 2 at half time. The third period was a blank but the final session was a hummer. The home team set the pace and got two goals to Oshawa's one, and that one has already been referred to.

The Line Up.

The teams were as follows:

ORDINATION TOOK PLACE IN CHURCH AT LAKEFIELD

DELEGATES FROM PETERBORO ASSOCIATION—LAKEFIELD NEWS

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 10.—The ordination of Thomas Laing White to the full ministry of the Baptist Church took place on Wednesday evening in the Lakefield Baptist Church and was largely attended. Delegates from all the churches of the Peterborough association formed the council and met in the afternoon and examined the candidate and found him fully prepared for the great work which lies before him. Mr. White passed the examination tests very creditably. Rev. A. S. Lavitz gave the opening prayer and Dr. Scott read the Scripture lesson and Rev. Mr. Frazer led the devotional exercises. Mrs. Young and Mrs. Joe Mann contributed a duet, which was very much appreciated. Rev. J. R. Webb of Peterborough was the moderator and Rev. H. S. Bennett of Campbellford the clerk.

The ladies of the Lakefield church served dinner and tea to the delegates.

There was even a large attendance at the ordination service, which took place on the evening of the same day. Rev. S. F. Dixon, Rev. P. L. Jull and Rev. Frank Vipond were present, representing the 16cal clergy of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Anglican Churches, respectively. Rev. P. L. Jull and Rev. F. Vipond each gave a short address expressing their pleasure at being present on such a happy occasion and testifying to their esteem for Mr. White.

Rev. J. H. Boyd of Toronto preached the sermon, which was very impressive. Rev. Mr. Wood gave the ordination prayer and the laying on of hands was done by all the ordained Baptist ministers present.

Rev. H. S. Bennett sang a solo in splendid voice.

The right hand of fellowship was extended by Rev. Mr. McClelland and Rev. L. H. Coles gave the charge to the candidate, while Rev. Mr. Rich gave the charge to the church.

Rev. T. L. White pronounced the benediction. The whole service was most impressive and will not soon be forgotten by those present.

District Local Council.

The Peterborough District Local Council of the A.Y.P.A. met in St. John's school room, Lakefield, on Thursday evening. Delegates were present from All Saints' and St. John's, Peterborough, and St. Thomas Church, Millbrook, and a satisfactory meeting was held. It was decided to invite the Dominion conference to meet in Peterborough in November.

SEASON'S CROP LOST IN FIRE

FARMER NEAR BETHANY SUFFERS HEAVY LOSS—BETHANY NEWS.

BETHANY, September 10. — A fire occurred on a farm one mile east of Lotus, owned by Mr. Ernest Nicholson, but rented and occupied by Mr. Wm. Mitchell, between three and four o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. It appears that some repairs had been made on the barn, and some chips and old shingles had been raked up and set on fire some distance from the barn. It is thought a spark from the fire blew into a crevice in the barn, and before it was noticed the building was in flames. It contained the summer's crop, a new buggy, waggon, cutter, set of heavy harness, and some hens. This will be a big loss to Mr. Mitchell, as he has only started to farm.

Personals.

HAYWOOD HAS NEW SCHEME

INVITES THE UNEMPLOYED TO SEEK A HAVEN IN RUSSIA—FORM COLONIES.

By JOHN GRAUDENZ,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

MOSCOW, Sept. 10. — "Russia holds out the solution to the unemployment problem in the United States. American workers will find the social and industrial freedom they have sought all their lives over here to-day, Big Bill Haywood, I. W.W. leader, told the United Press correspondent in an exclusive interview to-day.

Here is the scheme I have been planning sinc eI arrived in Mosow," Haywood said. "It's my idea to form, in certain properous parts of Russia, all manner of workmen's uniots, such as lumber men, industrail workers, coal and metal miners, and so forth.

These will form their own industrial administration within the Russian state, exchanging with the government their production for tools and those daily necessities which they cannot produce themselves.

"I had planned the workers' unit at length, theoretically. Now to inaugurate my scheme practically.

"One hundred and eighty-six American lumber jacks who recently arrived from Seattle found a basis for such work at Kuznetsky basis, east of the Urul mountains. There they found several small colonies of miners, living in two family flats, in houses which seemed palaces compared with the houses of coal miners in England and the United States. There's the necessary machinery for a start. Other such colonies will speedily be built, by industrial units.

Those Seattle lumber jacks start next week. They are busy now completing their necessary outfits of warm clothing, tools and so forth, with the Soviet government readily supplying them.

The lumber jacks will be pioneers, cutting the wood that is necessary for building houses before the arrival of their fellow workers. It will not be long before such communities reach the American standard of living. Their work will also influence the Russian workers and give them an idea of American "pep." Haywood has appointed a commission of seventeen to remain at the basin and has sent others to favorable places in the Don region and in Turkestan.

"While there are nearly 10,000,000 unemployed in America and many millions of others elsewhere, here's the opportunity for them to build the idealistic state they's been dreaming of and fighting for all their lives.

From a political viewpoint we ought to tell the workers to remain in America. The more unemployed the better. "But as a friend of the workers, say to all my friends who are looking for real better, come to Russia."

HASTINGS AND DISTRICT NEWS

HASTINGS, Sept. 10.— Another aged resident of Asphodel has passed away, in the person of Mr. James Stewart, who had reached the advanced age of 80 years. Deceased had been a farmer in the vicinity of Hastings for many years, and only a few years ago disposed of his property and moved to Toronto, where he and his wife took up residence with their son, Dr. Archie Stewart. The summer seasons they spent here in their cottage on the Trent, where he passed away. The funeral was held on Friday afternoon from his summer home to the Presbyterian church, where service was conducted by Rev. D. A. Thomson, his pastor for many years. After the service the cortege proceeded to the Trent Valley cemetery, where interment was made. The floral tributes were numerous, showing the esteem in which he was held. Their remains to mourn his loss, besides his sorrowing widow, a family of sons and daughters.

The many friends of Miss Madeline Scriver will be sorry to learn of her serious illness, which suddenly developed, and her physician decided that an operation was necessary. She was rushed to the Peterborough hospital, where the operation was performed and latest reports are that much hope is entertained for her recovery.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed in the Presbyterian church on Sunday next, preparatory service being held on Friday evening.

The lacrosse team from Oshawa arrived here on Thursday evening and remained until to-day, when they proceeded to Campbellford to play the team there.

On Wednesday afternoon a large number of friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Stinson, it being the occasion of the 92nd anniversary of Mr. Stinson's mother. During the course of the afternoon a congratulatory address was made and the guest of honour was presented with numerous tokens of remembrance. Mrs. Stinson, who still retains her brightness, made a suitable reply and thanked all those who had contributed to make the occasion so pleasant to her. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in pleasant and social intercourse, all joining in wishing her still many happy returns of the day.

The regular meeting of the town council was held on Friday evening with the following members present: Reeve Dr. Hess, Councillors Lynch, McGrail and Chapman.

Minutes of regular meeting of August 5th and adjourned meeting of Aug. 8th were read, and on motion confirmed.

Mr. Dailey, of the Children's Aid Society of Port Hope, addressed the Council on account of aid for the Society.

Moved by Mr. Chapman, seconded by Mr. McGrail, that Mr. Dailey of the Children's Aid Society of Port Hope, get a grant of $25.00.

The following accounts were read: Fowlds Co., Ltd., electric lights, $128.90; Bell Telephone Co., $1.54; G.T.R. flagman, $16.75; T. A. Coughlan, general, $11.00; the Waterous Engine Works Co., $92.40; A. B. Spellman, fire department, $8.25; Geo. Lynch, salary fire department, $6.25; Wm. Dickson, salary as constable, $25.00; Wm. Boyle, salary, $8.33.

Moved by Mr. Lynch, seconded by Mr. McGrail, that the accounts as read be paid and orders drawn on the treasurer for the several amounts.—Carried.

By-laws No. 656 and 657 passed their several readings, signed and sealed, the Reeve in the chair.

The Council then adjourned.

Mr. Robt. Reid of Peterborough, was in town on Friday attending the funeral of the late Mr. J. Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Spooner have returned from a visit in Toronto.

An aeroplane passed over this district on Wednesday, flying in an easterly direction.

Mrs. A. Brown, who has been confined to her bed through illness, is, we are pleased to report, on the road to recovery.

Messrs. B. E. and T. C. Moise, of Newcastle, are guests of their sister, Mrs. Frank Hawkins.

Mrs. M. L. Hinton and daughter Mae have been visiting friends in Watertown.

A number of our people went to Campbellford on Friday to enjoy the lacrosse game between Campbellford and Oshawa.

Miss Reta Dodd has accepted a position in Toronto.

Mr. Bert Dodd of Kingston, spent a few days with friends here.

Mrs. Robt. Dyson of Guelph, has returned to her home after a pleasant visit with Hastings friends.

The farmers in this locality are busy filling silos, the corn crop being unusually heavy, and owing to the length of the season, well covered with well developed cobs.

The picture show, "Huckleberry Finn" was played in the town hall on Thursday evening to a fair house.

We are pleased to see Mr. Ray Ellis around again after his recent illness.

AUCTION BLOCK FIASCO STILL GOING IN BOSTON

FATTY ARBUCKLE IN A NEW ROLE

VOLUNTEERS TO TELL WHAT HE KNOWS OF STRANGE DEATH.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 10 (United Press). — Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle telegraphed the police here to-day that he would come to San Francisco to discuss with the authorities the death of Miss Virginia Rappeo, a beautiful young movie actress.

The girl is alleged to have died at a hotel here after a party, at which Arbuckle, the well-known picture comedian, and a number of other men and women were present.

The police announced that the whole affair would be thoroughly investigated. When this word was given out, Arbuckle wired from Los Angeles that he would come here to assist the police to clear up the case.

The movie people who attended the party motored here from Los Angeles, arriving last Sunday. They asked to have a phonograph sent up to their suite.

On Monday afternoon, investigators informed, one of the women telephoned the hotel manager saying Miss Rappeo was hysterical.

Assistant Manager Boyle went upstairs. He told the police he found Miss Rappeo lying on a bed, partially clad.

There were a number of bottles on the floor, he said.

Men in the party told Boyle Miss Rappeo had taken three drinks and then became hysterical.

Later she was removed to a hospital, where she died of peritonitis and other intestinal trouble.

The coroner has ordered her stomach examined.

ONE ENTRY COLLAPSED JUST JUST AFTER HE HAD BEEN SOLD TO HIGHEST BIDDER.

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—The collapse of Edward Dixon, of Philadelphia, apparently from malnutrition, just after his services had been sold to the highest bidder, brought the second day of the auction block for the unemployed men on the Common to a close after 12 men had been promised work.

Dixon, a war veteran, had prepared an appeal which Urbain Ledoux leader of the unemployed group, read to the thousands of persons gathered around the bandstand. As Ledoux was reading an account of the death of Dixon's father in the war which had left the young man alone, Dixon swayed and collapsed. One meal a day and some times not that had been his portion, he said Physicians said tonight that his experience and exposure from sleeping on the Common made his condition serious.

Bidders were more pentiful today than yesterday and many pledges of food and clothing for the men in addition to payment of wages were forthcoming. Women acted as auctioneers and put the men stripped to the waist through exercises to show their capability.

Ledoux said that the auction would be continued tomorrow in an endeavor to find work for all the men in his care, as the best he could do for them now was to feed them once a day.

NUPTIALS

Roblin--Vosper.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemized on Monday September 5th in Bridge Street Methodist Church, Belleville by Rev. Dr. Clearn, when Lillian P. Vosper daughter of the late John T. and Mrs. Vosper of Campbellford became the bride of Mr. A. Overton Roblin, of Belleville. The young couple will reside in Belleville. The bride is one of the popular young ladies of the town and will be missed here by her many friends.

Friends here are congratulating Mr. W. A. Hume son of Mr. Alex Hume of Seymour township in being a prize winner at the Junior Farmers' judging competition for Dairy Cattle at Toronto Exhibition. Mr. Donald Stewart of Guelph formerly of Seymour was also a winner in the Beef Cattle class of same competition. Both are rising young farmers and much credit is due them

The milliners of town, Misses Oulton, Shannon and Nancarrow have displayed in their windows and in their stores all the latest creations for fall and cordially invite the ladies to their openings on Saturday Sept. 10.

The first grand rehearsal for the Operatta "Goldilocks" and the Three Bears" given under the able direction of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Cowell will be held on Monday night Sept. 12 in the Opera House and the play will be given on Thursday and Friday nights, September 15 and 16. There will be chorus by 150 children pretty dances and bright costumes There will be a "Frog Drill" by 34 boys. The play is under the auspices of the Seymour Agricultural Society and those who were fortunate enough to see the "Gypsy Carnival" presented by Mr. and Mrs. Cowell last spring, will be most anxious to see this play, which promises to be the best yet. Already the tickets are selling like hot cakes.

PROBABILITIES.

ENGLISH-SPEAKING UNION.

Lord Byng, Canada's Governor-General, sounded a welcome note when before the Canadian Bar Association at Ottawa he strongly advocated an English-speaking Union, which he characterized as "one of the finest of all ideals" before Anglo-Saxons and their descendants today. But let us hope that this so far theoretical scheme may eventuate into something more than an ideal and find consummation in a union by which all English-speaking nations may pledge mutual co-operation for the weal, not only of those whose national tongue is English, but in the interests of the whole civilized world and universal peace.

Lord Byng, when giving utterance to the advocacy cited, no doubt included in his mental vision the great American nation, the best of whom by blood and inherent characteristics are, like we members of Britain's mighty Empire, Anglo-Saxons in origin and certainly voice the English tongue. He also, perhaps, visualized what is apparent to so many, deep thinkers just now, that Yellow Peril, which, unless awed by the might and preparedness of an English-speaking Union, may yet, impelled by a growing need for territorial expansion, aggressively bid for dominating place and power in English-speaking countries. The eyes of both Japan and China are ever directed westward where surplus yellow millions long and plan and hope to join that industrial army of their flourishing compatriots who are even now gaining economic control of too much American and British territory in California and British Columbia.

Financially backed, encouraged and fostered in acquiring land holdings, and to engage in business enterprise, in the North Americas and Australia by large, well organized exploiting corporations with unlimited Japanese and Chinese capital—all finding growing impetus from political machinations at home in China and Japan — in whole districts on the western coast, and California especially, English-speaking peoples have been practically ousted by that Yellow competition with which a white man can hardly compete in his own country.

And so America can see a real living peril in Yellow ambition and economic need, as should all English-speaking races. For this reason, and because of exercising a greater controlling influence for maintaining, enhancing and inculcating universally that spirit of true democracy which in itself should presage world peace, a union of English-speaking—League of Nations or not—is above all things altogether desirable.

FIVE PLAGUES OF HUMANITY.

The social tribulations of the world have their causes, according to Pope Benedict XV., in five plagues which are at present afflicting humanity. They are (1) an unprecedented challenge to authority, (2) an equally unprecedented hatred between man and man, (3) an abnormal aversion to work, (4) an excessive thirst for pleasure as the great aim of life, and (5) a gross materialism which denies the reality of the spiritual in human life. Whatever else may be said about the basic causes of the prevailing unrest, these five cannot very well be questioned.

Carl Marx had much to do with sowing the seeds of discontent among the working classes, and leading them to the defiance of authority. He saw but two forces operating in society, capital and labor, the one tyrannical and unjust, the other subservient and suffering. The purpose of capital, he declared, was to enslave and exploit labor for its own aggrandizement. The remedy clearly suggested was revolution. Although he was utterly unable to define what he meant by capital, nor to give it a personality, his vague theories and his insane suggestions have been given a place in the minds of men who would not pause to think. The Russian Bolsheviki believed him; and have written one of the blackest chapters in human history in trying to give effect to his doctrines. They failed to see that common safety at all times demands some form of authoritative government under the sanction of the governed. Anarchy comes in as authority goes out.

That there has been a growing aversion to work throughout the world is among the outstanding challenges to the assumption of increasing general intelligence. It is at bottom an effort to accomplish the impossible, to dispute the plain teachings of nature. Yet millions are trying to win their way by working less, and in so doing have created both a collective and an individual problem in our modern social life. With the history of nations and individuals telling a consistent and logical story of the one way to strength and success, great bodies of men are today casting the record aside and taking the easy road. If they would but look around them, they would see beyond doubt that all the men who have risen to place among their fellows are hard workers and familiar with the law of self-denial. There is no other way. There never has been, and cannot be.

Side by side with the mistaken effort to escape from work has come the fourth plague—a craving for pleasure. We may all be agreed that toil should be offset by recreation, that to overwork is a fatal error, that there is in every normal life an instinctive leaning toward the things that give joy, and that the pursuit of pleasure is not necessarily a wrong thing; but when men and women are lured from the serious pathways to live among the bright lights they are really giving up the substance for the shadow. The peoples that were once strong and prosperous sank into decay and darkness along that road. Pleasure is as necessary as work for a wholesome life; but when it becomes the chief aim of existence it always destroys. A sound division of time between work and play will make for health and happiness.

Are these merely sentimental observations, lacking in real practicality? Let the answer come, not wholly from Pope Benedict, but from a serious survey of the conditions which just now confront the world. The destructive forces of war have laid the great task of reconstruction on the shoulders of the nations. The way out will not be found by an idle or a pleasure-loving people. It will be found only by a hard-working people. Yet to work successfully and swiftly toward a definite goal there must be unity. If men are so short-sighted as to permit themselves to be split up into classes, and separated by conflicting aims they will inevitably fail. Co-operation alone can win. There is perhaps no menace to our economic well-being more real or alarming at this juncture than the assertion of class consciousness. It is the antithesis of the co-ordination which must prevail to bring back the shattered strength of the world. It is sheer folly, and folly always loses. —Ottawa Journal.

COMBINED ACTION.

In that international gathering of chemists in New York City we are reminded that from the science of chemistry there orginated that detestable invention called "mustard gas," with which Germany startled the world by demonstrating the abhorent part science can play in war, when she resorted to its inhuman application for destroying her foes, chief of which at that particular moment were the Canadians. And in this connection, it is to be hoped that the world will profit by the advice of the late Baron Moulton of England, Director General of Explosive Supplies during the war, when he said:

"To my mind there is one overmastering lesson to be derived from the contemplation of all that science has done for war. * * * Uncontrolled indulgence either on the part of a nation or of an individual in the exercise of the powers that science has placed within its reach is directly fatal to civilization itself. It is easy to criticise the League of Nations and to point out the difficulties and even impossibilities with which it is faced, but let us never forget that some combined action of that type is an imperative necessity. Another such war as this has been would wreck all that humanity has built up through long ages past with so much toil and patience and would create a well-founded despair of any enduring future."

CLEARING A LITTLE.

The prettiest girl in the village was blessed with a father who resolutely snubbed all young men who came to see her.

One evening a bashful young man called and papa, as usual, gave him no encouragement.

"It looks as if it might rain," the young fellow ventured timidly.

"'Tain't goin' to rain," was the gruff response.

For about a quarter of an hour they sat in silence. Finally the old man's curiosity got the better of him.

"Who are you?" he growled.

"Bill Jones, sir."

"What! Not old Bill Jones' son?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, well," said the stern parent, relaxing, "it may rain; It may rain."

DETROIT DEAF MUTES TO ORGANIZE LEAGUE.

Sponsor of Plan Explains Lip Reading Value.

DETROIT, Sept. —Plans for the organization of the Detroit League for the Hard of Hearing will be completed September 4 at the Board of Commerce when persons interested will meet Mabel R. Linder, Drayton, O., who has been brought to Detroit to promote the League.

John Orr, Highland Park, and Mrs. Rodney C. Dewey, of Toledo, will explain the value of lip reading which, for many deaf persons, solves their difficulties.

"Scores of persons can read the lips so perfectly that their defective hearing is completely covered up," says Miss Linder. "This is particularly valuable to those who have to earn their living. Then there is the social side of the person who is hard of hearing which lip reading aids."

BOY, 18, CALLED HEAD OF AUTO THEFT RING

CHICAGO, Sept. . — Thirteen men, including William Ott, president of the Oto Sales Co., were arrested yesterday in connection with the operations of a ring of automobile thieves. Five of those under arrest were employed at the Ford assembling plant here.

Patrick Frain, 18 years old, according to police, was head of the ring. He was quoted as saying after his arrest that he would have soon been the head of a $500,000 concern of automobile thieves. The Ford employes, police said, aided in the thefts by supplying the numbers of new cars and juggling the numbers of the cars as they left the plant.

Among those arrested were William Schneider, head of the S. & L. Ford Agency and a former Ford employe, and Leland Jackman, son of the head of a novelty specialty company. The Otto Sales Co. also handled Ford cars.

KENT JR. ASSERTS HIMSELF.
Chapter 39.

As the weather grew colder I took Kent Jr. downtown one day to buy his winter coat. His father was to meet us at 12 o'clock and take us to lunch and then afterward go with me to inspect whichever coat had appealed to me the most. We were both perfect fusses about the boy's clothes and both demanded a hand in the final decision about them.

At one of the large stores on Fifth avenue, which deals exclusively in men's and boys' clothing, I finally found a couple of little coats that I felt were within our means and yet good looking and suitable.

Kent Jr. had the time of his life and inspected himself curiously in the long mirror each time the good-natured salesman would try on a different coat. We had soon attracted the attention of an admiring crowd, but it did not seem to disturb Kent in the least.

He would strut up and down in front of the mirror and examine each coat minutely. The pockets and buttons seemed to claim the greatest amount of attention. One little coat with double rows of brass buttons was his favorite, and I felt confident it was because they brought him a vivid mental picture of esteemed elevator boys and policemen.

Then at lunch he sat up at the table as straight and manly as if he had been ten years old, and in less than five minutes had claimed the admiration and untiring solicitude of the waiter.

Of course, there had to be ice-cream for dessert, and his dark brown eyes nearly closed up tight as he very carefully lifted each delicious spoonful to his little round, red mouth. It was hard to tell which he enjoyed most, buying coats or eating ice-cream.

After lunch Kent went back with us to look at the coats. Somehow just the way he handled them told me that he was not quite satisfied. His pride was limitless where Kent Jr. was concerned.

"Let's see something else—something better," he told the salesman.

The man finally brought out a darling little soft brown coat with ad sedgrake light beaver collar and cuffs.

When it was put on Kent Jr. and fastened up tight around the neck and his almost black eyes looked up at me, I just wanted to hug him.

"Now we have a nice little beaver hat to match the coat," he salesman suggested, bringing the hat over and pushing it down on Baby's golden curls.

Kent inspected the coat carefully and turned little Kent around and around while he seemed to be trying to decide.

"Do you think it's good enough for him, dear?" he asked me with fatherly pride written plainly on every feature. "Is it all right? Does it suit you, Babs?"

"Oh, Kent, he is wonderful in it," I exclaimed hesitatingly. I could not bear to think of buying another coat once I had seen him in this. But I was fearful of the price. I knew it was very much more expensive than the ones I had selected. Yet I did not have the heart to subdue Kent's rash extravagance where Kent Jr. was concerned.

"All right—we will take both the coat and hat," Kent said, turning suddenly to the salesman. "I'll give you a check for it right now," he added.

I turned to admire Kent Jr. He looked so temptingly fascinating and hugable. I noticed many admiring eyes upon him and somehow it made me shudder. I was foolishly fearful lest someone or something might take him from us. I rebuked myself silently for such morbid thoughts and tried to force a smile to my face as I leaned over to unbutton Kent's coat for him.

He was stroking the fur cuffs with gentle fingers.

"Nice pussy!" he declared looking up at me.

TWO BROTHERS INJURED WHEN STAND COLLAPSED AT CAMPBELLFORD GAME

TWO SCHOOL BOYS WERE SITTING BENEATH IT ON THE GROUND WHEN OVERCROWDED BAND-STAND CRASHED—ONE OF THEM MAY HAVE INTERNAL INJURIES.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 9. — Ten minutes after the start of the lacrosse match between Oshawa and Campbellford at the Exhibition grounds here this afternoon, one side of the band stand, which was packed with spectators, collapsed, injuring Jack Dooher, aged 8, and his brother, Harold Dooher, aged 11, sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dooher, Inkerman street. A bone in the left knee cap of the older boy was dislocated, but was put back into place by the attending doctors. Some of the muscles and cartileges in his leg were wrenched and he was also bruised. Jack Dooher's injuries are more serious it was reported this evening. One rib is broken and another cracked in the region of the kidneys, one of which it was feared might have been punctured. Whether or not there are internal wounds could not be determined until a later and more searching examination is made.

The band stand is a weather-beaten and ancient looking frame structure set up on posts at one corner of the playing field. The floor is three or four feet above the ground, and the sides are unboarded and open. Long before the game had been begun the choice places along the side fencing the field had been pre-empted. Several selections had been played by the band as a harmonious preliminary to the match, and the nearest half of the stand was crowded when the ball was faced off. A group of boys had chosen as their vatange point the ground seats immediately under the edge of the stand looking toward the game. It afforded them a clear view and shelter from the sun.

Crowd Heard Crash.

A few minutes after Campbellford scored their first goal, making them a tie with Oshawa, an ominous rending of timbers sounded above the cheering. The heavily weighted front of the band stand had broken beneath the excessive load. Its occupants were thrown forward to the ground and most of the others behind them were also tilted from their positions. None of them was injured as far as could be learned, but the little chaps sitting on the ground beneath were caught by the splintered beams, the planking and the falling crowd.

The game stopped automatically. Chief Duncalfe who was close by, J. Kerr and other members of the two lacrosse teams quickly liberated the two Dooher boys. First aid was promptly given by Dr. Longmore and Dr. Richardson, and a few minutes later the boys were taken to their home. Other boys received bruises, but were not seriously hurt.

Solicitous For Brother.

While one of the doctors was attending to Harold, while the two of them lay on an automobile rug, his first thought was of his brother. "Is Jack all right doctor?" he asked. Both boys had been at school until they were dismissed at three o'clock to see the game. At the grounds they met their father, who had been near them until a few minutes before the stand gave way. He told them that he was going further over to see better.

"I never thought of anything happening to the lads," he told the Examiner. "Looking back at it now I can realize the danger they were in."

Collection For Boys.

The circumstances were just those every day kind of oversight or thoughtlessness that cause most accidents. Men crowded on to that bandstand with never a thought of the possibility of it collapsing, and the boys sat beneath them in the same sense of security. Some men afterwards did think quickly and kindly when they took up a collection, making a circuit of the entire field, and apparently gathering a considerable sum which it was stated was to be given to Mr. Dooher.

OMEMEE NEWS

Finely Built to the Least Detail

There is so much enthusiastic comment on the fine Chalmers motor, that other excellent Chalmers features seem to be taken for granted.

But they are worthy the careful consideration of all motor car buyers. For here is a car that is finely built to the least detail. Engineering and car building experience have applied themselves in masterly fashion.

Design and Finish Beautiful

Every element of beauty and style is incorporated in the Chalmers.

The wonderful motor is satin-smooth in its pickup, starts easily, and warms up at once. The car rides with remarkable ease and comfort.

The Fuel is Pre-Heated

The Chalmers motor has played its important part in winning this reputation. Fuel is pre-heated by the hot-spot. This means greater mileage on gasoline; and very much better motor performance for longer periods without overhauling.

We invite you to investigate the Chalmers and permit us to demonstrate superiority.

The Beauty Contest May Interest Number Charming Peterboro Girls

"Beauty Unadorned is Fairest"--Homely Girls are Scarce in This District.

The beauty contest to discover the ideal Canadian girl, which is being run by the Paramount theatre people during this week, should have a certain number of responses from Peterborough. There are lots of girls in our city who might qualify as sufficiently pretty and charming to have a place in the Paramount hall of fame. Visitors to our district have been unkind enough to say that there aren't many pretty girls in Peterborough, but everyone knows that isn't so. A comparison with Toronto, where feminine pulchritude really abounds in a great quantity, isn't exactly fair, because the city damsels have a habit of patronizing the rouge pot and powder jar with much more frequency than our young ladies. The old song says, "Beauty unadorned is fairest," but modern young women don't agree with that pronouncement. And as for Montreal, one sees very few beauties there running at large. The prevailing dark tint of skin may have something to do with it, or the tendency on the part of French maidens towards a pleasing plumpness which seems to detract slightly from their charm, but, anyone's opinion to the contrary notwithstanding, the fact remains that if Peterborough hasn't any large number of beauties to her credit, a pronouncement which is open to argument, there are exceptionally few real homely girls in the city.

A Man Claims to Know Women

(By MRS. J. E. LESLIE.)

A famous editor of a famous woman's magazine claims that the reason he made such a success of his magazine was because as a man he knew women and what they wanted so much better than they knew themselves.

Maybe the editor is right. It would be hard to bring proof to the contrary—just as hard, methinks, as the great editor would find it to prove his assertion.

Mr. Editor has many disciples in his belief of men's knowledge of women.

They know what women should wear, what they like to read, what is the proper work for them to do—all these far better than women know themselves.

When a woman remarked to one of these followers that she noticed that the magazine editor was careful to fortify himself and his staff with the best women writers of the time and the place, the reply was, that those were just the bricks with which to build the house. Woman couldn't help remarking that it wouldn't be much of a house without bricks.

This same follower, asked if he thought that women knew men, just as men claim to know women, emphatically said "No," which seemed to the woman like considerable conceit on the men's part. They know both women and men—woman knows neither—nobody. Man only laughed and had the grace to look ashamed when accused of his belief in his own supreme knowledge.

It does no harm for the man to have such confidence in himself. Women would not disturb it for the world, but we get even and laugh to ourselves when we see some little bundle of feminine affectation making some big, self-confident masculine creature believe she's what she "ain't," by a whisk of her rouge puff, a stroke of her eyebrow pencil or a droop of her eye. Any woman can see through her—and she knows it. Equally well she knows that all-understanding man takes her for what she poses.

We would not "give our sex away" in this frank fashion, if we thought the men would believe it. But they won't. It won't move the self-confidence of these men one jot or one tittle, and the other class of males who assert that they understand nothing that woman says, does, or thinks, will not believe, and would not see if they did believe.

"VIROL rallied him"

BABY JOHNSON.

140, Raglan Avenue, Toronto,
May 13th, 1920.

Dear Sirs,

This is just a word to express our appreciation of the virtues of Virol as a food for babies. Just after our little son was born, his natural supply of food having failed, he developed a bad case of diarrhœa, losing weight rapidly. He went down from 9½ pounds to less than 6 pounds. Virol was the food that rallied and sustained him. We have since been giving him Virol, and now at the age of seven months he weighs nearly 20 pounds. His flesh is firm, his skin is clear, and he is healthy in every way.

Yours sincerely (Sgd.) CHAUNCEY E. JOHNSON.
(Sgd.) (Mrs.) PEARL F. JOHNSON.

Virol is used in large quantities in more than 2,500 Hospitals and Infant Clinics. It is invaluable for the expectant and nursing mother herself, whilst for children it supplies those vital principles that are destroyed in the sterilising of milk; it is also a bone and tissue building food of immense value. Virol babies have firm flesh, strong bones and good colour.

Local Church Organizations Have Designs on Peterboro Exhibition

Will Conduct Several Lunch Counters on the Grounds--Women Will Judge Some of the Exhibits.

Feminine members of different church organizations in the city are busy just now with preparations for the coming Peterborough Industrial Exhibition. Ladies of St. James' Church will have charge of the dining tent and lunch counters will be maintained by All Saints', Knox Church, Park Street Baptist Church, several societies belonging to George Street Methodist Church and the Catholic Women's League.

Women have charge of the judging of several of the exhibits, including those of art and fancy work and of the work of Public and Separate School pupils throughout the year.

One Girl's Work

The initial meeting of the season for the Girls' Work Board for Canadian Girls in Training was held at the Young Women's Christian Association rooms on Thursday evening last, with the President, Miss Charlotte Layton, in the chair. Arrangements for the coming season were discussed, and it was decided to hold an open meeting of the Girls' Work Board on Tuesday evening, Sept. 20, to which teachers of 'teen age girls in the city will be especially invited, and representatives of the leaders' conference held at Couchiching this summer will be asked to report on the meetings there. Members of the C.G.I.T. groups from St. Andrew's, Mark Street Methodist, Trinity Church, George Street Methodist, Park Street and Murray Street Baptist Churches and Grace Sunday School were present at this meeting.

PAINFUL NEURALGIA TORTURING SCIATICA

BOTH COME FROM THE SAME CAUSE—THIN, WATERY BLOOD.

Most people think of neuralgia as a pain in the head or face but neuralgia may affect any nerve in the body. Different names are given to it when it affects certain nerves. Thus neuralgia of the sciatica nerve is called sciatica, but the character of the pain and the nature of the disease are the same. The pain in neuralgia is caused by starved nerves. The blood which carries nourishment to the nerves has become thin and impure and no longer does so, and the pain you feel is the cry of the nerves for their natural food. You may ease the pain of neuralgia with hot applications but real relief from the trouble comes by enriching and purifying the blood. For this purpose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are strongly recommended. These pills make new rich blood and thus act as a most effective nerve tonic. If you are suffering from this most dreaded of troubles or any form of nerve trouble give these pills a fair trial and note the ease and comfort that follows their use.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Recipes

Broiled Ham With Champagne Sauce.

Most shops sell what is known as plain boiled ham and the Virginia baked ham. The latter, although a little more a pound, is well worth the difference in price, as it is more tender and of much better flavor. Broil as for ordinary ham. For the sauce blend together three tablespoonsful of hot pork fat with two rounding tablespoonsful of browned flour. Then add gradually a cupful and a half of cider, an inch piece of stick cinnamon and four whole cloves. Stir constantly until the sauce boils, add a quarter of a tablespoonful of salt, a pinch of paprika and a tablespoonful of brown sugar. Set over hot water for 10 minutes, remove the spices and serve, poured over the ham.

Marshmallow Queens.

Place a marshmallow between two small, salty square crackers, or any kind of small unsweetened cracker, and sprinkle on the top cracker a little granulated sugar colored a light brown with ground cinnamon. Slip these cracker sandwiches into a very hot oven and leave them there just long enough for the sugar on the cracker to melt slightly, and for the marshmallow to become soft enough to begin to run. Press the hot crackers together a little and let cool before serving.

Raspberry Ice.

The best raspberry ice is the easiest to make. It calls for one quart of the berries. Extract the juice and add to one pint of granulated sugar, dissolved in the juice. Add the juice of one good sized lemon and a half pint of water. Freeze in the usual manner. The addition of a beaten egg white or a tablespoon of granulated gelatine soaked in cold water adds somewhat to the smoothness and flavor of the ice.

On Fashions

Parrot feathers are quite he vogue for hats.

Coat dresses in satin and cloth will be stylish this fall.

The pump with separate matching anklet is one of the season's newest novelties.

Narrow shoulders will appear on tailored suits and frocks, but the severe cut lines will be softened by the addition of much fur trimming.

A long 12 or 16-button glove will be a favorite for fall wear. This type of glove is often shown with an embroidered back in self color or in a darker shade. The ever useful two-button glove is seen with a fancy crocheted back.

A noticeable feature of many of the smart tailored frocks shown for the coming fall and winter season is the matching cape.

Umbrellas are growing a little longer and slimmer, but they are still intended for sun and rain use and the covers are still bright and gay.

There is an increasing tendency to feature tailored and simple undergarments, especially if they are made of silk, as against the more elaborate lace, embroidery and ribbon-trimmed affairs.

Household Hints

When frying doughnuts have the dough soft; too much flour makes hard, dry doughnuts. Turn the cakes as soon as they come to top of fat and turn frequently during the cooking. This will prevent the large cracks and give nice, smoooth doughnuts.

Boiled salad dressing can be canned, sealed, and it will keep for some time.

Lift off the tops of little cakes and insert a spoonful of soft icing. Re-top after filling.

Never use soiled suds for washing colored clothes unless you expect them to be muddy looking.

When broiling, the oven door should always be open. Heat the oven for 1 or 15 minutes, with the door closed, before putting in the food.

Have a frame fashioned for a shallow drawer in the kitchen, into which each kind of knife will fit with the blade lifted so that it does not touch anything.

CHOLERA INFANTUM
THE FATAL DISEASE OF CHILDREN

Mothers should look well after their young ones during the hot summer months as this is the time of year when this summer complaint is most prevalent. It begins with a profuse diarrhoea, the stomach becomes irritated, vomiting and purging set in, and the matter ejected from the stomach has a bilious appearance; the child rapidly loses flesh and is soon reduced to great languor and prostration, which in a great many cases, terminates fatally.

To quickly offset the vomiting, purging and diarrhoea

DR. FOWLER'S

should be administered.

Mrs. Charles Kretlow, Wideview, Sask., writes: "I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for summer complaint. I think it saved my little girl's life one time as she was so bad that I thought she was going to die. A friend advised me about "Dr. Fowler's," so I got a bottle and it helped her right away."

Don't endanger your child's health by acepting a substitute, but get the genuine "Dr. Fowler's," price 50c a bottle: put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Mrs. W. Beesley, Mille Roche, Ont., writes "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for the past eight months and would not be without them. I used them for indigestion, and teething, and my baby is cutting his teeth without any trouble whatever. I can highly recommend the Tablets to other mothers." What Mrs. Beesley says thousands of other mothers say. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative, which regulate the bowels and also sweeten the stomach, thus driving out constipation and indigestion and making teething easy. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Correct Corset

That the corset is one of the most vital elements of dress most women will agree. Yet, strangely enough, the average woman seems to know little about how to judge a corset or how to have herself correctly fitted. An incorrect corset can ruin any figure, no matter how perfect, and a correctly-fitted corset of good lines can improve any normal figure, no matter how poor. Furthermore, corsets today are scientifically made, and the women of this age emphatically demand comfort. Doctors and experts say that properly fitted and accompanied with exercises which keep the abdominal muscle, firm and off-set dependence on the corset it is probably an adjunct to health. Stress is laid on the fact that a badly-fitted corset will do harm, while a well-fitted corset, made on the proper lines, may be an actual stimulus to good posture.

In order to get the greatest comfort out of a corset, first it should be the correct model for your figure, and, secondly, it should be adjusted to your figure, not simply to fit irregularities, but to correct any existing condition, bring out best lines, and give needed support. Do not buy a corset until you have enough time to try it on properly.

And further: If you are short don't try to get too long a corset. It will be uncomfortable and throw your body out of its normal poise. If you are tall or big, don't try to get too short a corset. If you are full over the abdomen, get a front-laced corset. If you are full over the hips and in the back, a back-laced corset is needed. When a corset is adjusted on the body, the tightening of the lacer exerts control. This control changes the position of the flesh and for that reason should come where the woman has the most flesh. A correct corset can improve every figure and bring out the wearer's best lines. With judgment and thought you will find the one to suit you.

Instead of making your figures fit a corset, find one to fit you. In addition to keeping the normal figure in the proper body poise, a corset, if properly fitted and adjusted, can correct an abnormal or irregular figure and improve the comfort, health and appearance.

Parents' Neglect

"Cigarettes, late hours tolerated by indifferent parents, and the movie craze is causing a slacking in the progress of Canadian High School students," according to educational authorities. Also: 'Movie devotees are known by their distaste for all serious study and their lack of appreciation of good literature."

Women follow 325 gainful occupations. This includes almost every known trade and business, except oailing.

Choosing a Hat

An authority says:

When choosing a hat consider well the following points:

A stout woman, generally speaking, must wear a wider brim than the slender one, since width in the brim and height in the crown will tend to overbalance roundness of the face.

The short, slender woman with a small face should almost never wear a hat with a brim averaging more than three to three and a half inches in width.

The long faced woman, especially if she is tall, should avoid the tall crowned or tall trimmed hat. She may, however, wear a wider brimmed hat than the short, slender woman.

The tall stout woman is often stunning in a large brimmed hat, because her height makes it possible for her to wear a hat which would make the short, stout woman appear grotesque.

Hats with mushroom brims belong entirely to youth. Downward turning lines in the face are not desirable, and should therefore not be emphasized by downward turning lines in brims of hat.

For the person who wears glasses, hard lines and edges in hats should be studiously avoided. An edge may be softened by a bias fold, a ribbon slightly fulled, or a band of fur.

A hat with a stiff monotonous edge is not likely to be becoming to many persons, especially to those who are no longer young.

The most successful child's hat is the soft, pliable kind which may be pulled down on the head and subjected to more or less rough treatment without very materially injuring its looks and wearing qualities. Stiff, fussy hats have no place in the wardrobe of the child.

For every-day wear, a Tam O'-Shanter made from old dress skirts, coats, or other woollen materials will serve well.

CHOICE RECIPES

By A. L. WYMAN, M. C. A.

Baltimore has claims for more original, distinctive culinary triumphs than any other city in America. Who has not longed for Chicken a la Maryland, Terrapin Maryland or Baltimore Jockey Club, Oysters on the half shell and twenty other ways, soft shell crabs fried in butter, hard shell crabs devilled, Maryland beaten biscuit and fresh corn fritters with green peppers without thinking of the city where these dishes originated and where they are served better than any other place?

Hotels, cafes and inns vie with each other in their service of these truly wonderful gastronomic delights, the cooks who prepare them have been trained from childhood and for the most part are negroes, whose parents were cooks in the same houses where they now work.

We have made many, many friends among the catering fraternity and have partaken of some of the above dishes served by them, the recipes which I will give in this letter.

Chicken a la Maryland.

Clean and split a young chicken down the back, lay in fresh milk for one hour, dust with flour, dip in beaten egg and milk, then cover with cracker crumbs. Season with salt and fresh ground black pepper. Place in a frying pan six tablespoons of butter and when the butter is hot lay in the chicken, cover and fry a golden brown, be very careful not to burn it. It will take about fifteen minutes for a young chicken. While the chicken is cooking prepare a white cream sauce with one cup of table cream, a tablespoon of butter and one egg. Pour the sauce over the bottom of a hot platter, lay on the fried chicken and garnish with strips of broiled bacon and corn fritters. On each end of the platter place two potato croquettes and a sprig of watercress.

Green Corn Fritters.

For the corn fritters grate eight ears of fresh corn and add to the grated corn half a cup of finely chopped green pepper, a well beaten egg and a seasoning of salt. Drop by spoonfuls into hot butter and turn same as hot cakes.

Imperial Deviled Crab.

Crabs are at their best here and all cafes serve them. One of the most popular crab dishes is called Imperial Deviled Crab and is made by removing the meat from the body and claws of a large hard crab after steaming. Make a sauce by blending four tablespoons of butter with one tablespoon of flour and one cup of rich milk, when well mixed place on the fire and stir constantly until thick and smooth, now add one well beaten egg, mixed with a little cold water, one teaspoon of mustard, half a cup of finely chopped fried onion, a seasoning of salt and nutmeg. Mix the sauce with the crab flakes and add half a cup of fine bread crumbs. Place the mixture into the cleaned crab shell, dot with butter, sprinkle with chopped parsley and brown in the oven.

Another tasty crab dish is called Crab Ravigote. This is made by mixing one finely chopped green pepper, one finely chopped fresh pimento, two chopped tomatoes, and one tablespoon of chopped parsley with two cups of fresh cooked crab meat. Add half a cup of lemon mayonnaise dressing and a seasoning of salt and paprika. Place in cleaned crab shells or scallop shells and garnish with lemon and pickle slices. A very tasty addition to this dish can be made by laying on top of each shell two fillets of anchovies.

Crab Flake Cocktails.

These are served in the best places by placing a small deep dish, like a dessert dish, in a larger dish filled with cracked ice, in the center of the small dish place a small glass filled with a good oyster cocktail and heap up around the glass cold cooked crab flakes. Garnish with lemon slices and serve with an oyster fork.

Original Lady Baltimore Cake.

One of the many very fine inns, to which we owe some of these recipes, serves what they claim is the original Lady Baltimore Cake and the lady manager was kind enough to give me the recipe. For this cake beat to a cream three cups of sugar with two and a quarter cups of butter, now add one at a time three eggs, beating vigorously as each egg is added. Sift five cups of flour three times, then measure so as to have five cups after sifting the last time, add to the flour three level teaspoons of baking powder. Add to the butter mixture one-half of the flour and three cups of water, beat smooth and add balance of the flour and two teaspoons of almond extract. When well mixed divide equally into three large round layer cake tins and bake in a moderate oven twenty-five minutes, cool and fill and cover the top and sides with Lady Baltimore filling. For the filling boil two cups of sugar with one cup of water until it will spin a thread when dropped from the side of a spoon, then beat the syrup slowly into the well beaten whites of two eggs. Beat until it thickens and then add one cup of chopped seeded raisins, one cup of chopped walnut meats, and one teaspoon of vanilla extract.

Maryland Beaten Biscuit.

Rub one cup of lard into five cups of flour and when it is like coarse meal add enough cold water to make a stiff dough. Beat on a heavy wooden block with an iron pestle until the dough is full of blisters. Cut with a small round cutter, prick with a fork and bake in a moderate oven. In serving split with fingers and place a piece of butter inside.

Five Baltimore Salads.

Our friend who conducts the tea room has on her menu a list of salad combinations that she serves with her lunches and I have her permission to copy them.

No. 1 is called California Salad and is made with equal parts of diced bananas, pineapple, seeded raisins, grape fruit and mayonnaise, served on lettuce leaves and garnished with cherries.

No. 2, Salad Royal. This is halves of peaches filled with Royal Ann cherries and served with whipped cream.

No. 3, Roman Salad. Halves of Bartlett pears filled with a peanut butter salad dressing and seedless raisins, served on a lettuce leaf surrounded with slices of banana and garnished with strips of pimento and chopped parsley.

No. 4, Bon Mot Salad, made with equal parts of diced orange, pineapple or fresh apple, bananas and chopped walnut meats combined with mayonnaise and served in lettuce cups.

No. 5, Spanish Salad, is thin slices of tomato, onion, shredded green peppers and cubes of avocado served on lettuce leaves with French dressing.

Will You Ever Be a Millionaire?

THAT DEPENDS UPON YOUR HEALTH.

Health, wealth and happiness go together, but you must have health to have wealth and happiness. You cannot think clear, you feel tired, all out of sorts, you may have indigestion, headaches, constipation, kidney trouble rheumatism, etc. These are all signs that your liver is out of order and is not excreting bile into the intestines, your bowels become filled with waste, and poison is carried to all parts of the body by the blood, causing all these aches and pains. You are only about 10 per cent. efficient, and you cannot expect to attain anything when you are in this condition. Doctors say take one Tanated Calomel Tablet before each meal or two at bedtime. Doctors recommend this because it is the only thing known that acts directly upon the liver. Tanated Calomel is sold by one druggist in each city—F. C. Weber is agent for Peterborough.

Conduct a Home

Messrs. T. S. Simms & Company, Limited, of St. John, N. B., conduct a home for the female employees of their plant at Falls View Cottage, St. John. This home was made necessary by the shortage experienced in female help when the company moved recently to the suburb of Fairville.

The nucleus of the undertaking was a medium-sized house with a capacity of nine inmates, but the experiment proved such a success that after eighteen months an old residence was purchased which would hold 27 people. A wing added last year brought the capacity up to 65. The "Cottage" is now equipped with a spacious dining-room and kitchen with large serving pantry and a large living-room, attractively equipped with lounges, cosy corners, piano, etc., with a sun porch and French windows and every known magazine of interest supplied by the firm.

A light and airy laundry, equipped with eight set tubs, is almost constantly in use outside of working hours. A special heater supplying a thousand-gallon tank for hot water furnishes abundance of hot water for the laundry and ample baths.

The bedrooms are 10 by 12 feet, equipped with 2 single beds, dresser, 2 chairs, clothes press, there being hardwood floors throughout, with a single rug in the centre of each room. A specially arranged trunk room is provided where each trunk is easily accessible. No trunks are allowed in the bedrooms. Each girl is required to make her own bed, but aside from this the housekeeping is taken care of by the house staff, consisting of a matron, cook and three housemaids.

Board is charged at the rate of $2.50 per week for the first six weeks, the assumption being that, if an employee is going to prove a success, she will be entitled to a raise by that time, $3.00 per week being the subsequent charge. Figures for the month of March show the outlay per girl to be $2.58 per week. This includes salary of matron, help, light and all supplies, but does not include any rent, heat, interest charges or allowance for depreciation.

The chief factor, of course, in making this low figure possible is the competent management of the matron who looks after all buying, with the assistance of one of the office staff of the firm. In the three years that the present matron has had charge, there has been not a single complaint about the food, which is quite an achievement considering that complaints of this nature furnish one of the chief topics of conversation in the average establishment of this nature.

There are several factors which are essential towards the successful running of a home of this sort. First, the matron, who must be a good manager and possessed of wide tactfulness. Second, every possible care must be exercised in the employing of the girls. When an enquiry is received three forms are sent, one requiring certain information from the applicant, one asking certain questions and requiring the consent of the parent or guardian, irrespective of the age of the applicant, and a third, requesting the recommendation of the minister of the church attended. The third important item is the house rules. These are the outgrowth of experience and are rigidly adhered to. One of them is the rule that all girls must be in by 10 p.m. and lights out at 10.30 p.m. The fourth factor is the activities. Sewing classes are held here twice a week, under an arrangement with the Vocational Board of New Brunswick, the local churches furnish attractive social features for many of the girls, and in the summer time, several outings are arranged for, in addition to the annual picnic.

Two marked advantages noticeable in employees living here instead of at their own homes are, first, there naturally has to be a good reason that would pass muster with the matron before a girl stays home, the percentage of lost time thus being reduced to a minimum; second, it has proven to be the case that probably on account of the effort necessary to leave home and come to another community to earn one's livelihood and also on account of the care taken as to recommendations, etc.; the quality of employees obtained in this way has been markedly above the average of those drawn from the surrounding community.

THE TEA MARKET.

Since March last the cost of teas has shown a greater advance than has ever been registered during a like period in the past 40 years. Good average tea now costs 15 cents or 16 cents a pound more at the gardens than it did six months ago. There is no doubt that increased consumption in many countries, and the fact that Russia is now taking a large quantity of tea, has had something to do with this almost unprecedented rise in costs.

A feature much talked of for fall is the shoulder-to-hem panel at the back.

CATCHING THE SPEAKER'S EYE.

During debates in the House of Commons, as soon as one member sits down possibly several others rise at the same moment to continue the discussion, says Tit-Bit.

Of course it would not do for all to speak at once, and the question of which was first to rise would be very difficult to answer. The problem is decided by the Speaker, who makes a sign to whichever member is to remain on his feet. That is called "catching the Speaker's eye."

The custom came into being during the famous Long Parliament, in 1640. At this time there was much dispute as to the precedence of members, and as each was backed by his own particular friends, a great deal of the time of the House was wasted in deciding who was to have the first hearing. Finally a rule was made leaving the choice to the Speaker, who naturally gives the honor to the member who he considers was on his feet.

Any occupant of the front benches, where the cabinet ministers and leaders of the Opposition sit, has precedence over the ordinary members.

If the garbage can has a thin lining of newspaper it will be much more easly cleaned.

QUEBEC FARMER WAS DRUGGED AND ROBBED.

MONTREAL, Sept. 10—(Canadian Press).—Rushing into police headquarters in his bare feet and without a hat, a farmer from near Quebec, who is on his way to Western Canada, last night informed the officers that he had been drugged and robbed of a sum of $125 not to mention his hat, shoes and socks. "I am robbed, drugged, murdered," are the words he shrieked at the detectives. When he had finally calmed down, he told his story, which was to the effect that he had arrived in the city yesterday morning on his way to work on a farm in Saskatchewan. While resting in Place Viger Square, three men approached him and invited him to come and have a drink. "I went," he said, "and when I woke up, I found that I had been drugged and robbed of my $125."

He was given shoes and fresh socks, and being fortunate enough to discover two five-dollar bills about his person which his "friends" had overlooked, he was able to continue his journey.

THE LAND OF REGRET.

There is a city whose gates are wide,
Its pavements pure and clean,
Where shadow forms flit side by side
On the road called "Might Have Been."

But folks walk there with their heads bowed low
And heavy eyelids wet,
For ev'ry corner is haunted so
In this, "The Land of Regret."

They meet the ghosts of these other years
In dreams of memory sweet,
And wet with passionate, frenzied tears
The graves which lie at their feet.

But never, long as their lives shall last,
Can they ever again forget
Who once have walked with ghosts of the past
In this, "The Land of Regret."

They feel the touch of a hand-grown still,
Its fingers softly press,
The tender passion of kisses thrill
Their own in a fond caress.

Ah, me, but pity the folks who stray
Where long the sun has set,
And walk with the ghosts who're laid away
In this, "The Land of Regret."

COMBINATION HIGH SCHOOL AND TECHNICAL BUILDING FOR CITY

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I would not like my attitude on the matter of the extension to the Collegiate Institute to be misunderstood. For several years the Collegiate has been overcrowded, the staff and pupils have worked under many disadvantages and the Inspector has severely criticized conditions.

At present the eleven class-rooms are occupied by 450 pupils—a maximum attendance for the accommodation, also over 100 pupiis enrolled in commercial classes had to be placed in the South Central School.

The Collegiate lacks gymnasium, manual training and domestic science facilities. The Board of Education pays an annual rent to the Y.M.C.A. for the use of their gymnasium for the boys. The girls have had only a limited physical training in the assembly hall of the Collegiate. It will be readily seen that an immediate extension is necessary. At this same time (September) the Adolescent Act becomes operative. For the future all adolescents between the ages of 14 and 18 years (unless exempted because their earnings are needed at home, or because they have already reached a certain stage of educational development) must attend school for full time.

What shall we provide for this large new group? Shall we offer them a high school education leading to one of the professions? A certain percentage of them wish for this opportunity, and should have it.

Will any portion of this new group require something different? If so, they are as much entitled to what they want and can use as the other group.

The ideal way of meeting the needs of all classes of adolescents would be adequate High School accommodation, and adequate Technical School accommodation. But municipalities, like individuals, must consider the cost. If the ideal is beyond our means, what reasonable compromise can we afford?

The solution lies, I think, in the building of a combination High School and Technical Institute. This could be built on the property to the west of the Collegiate Institute, which is owned by the Board of Education; or a wing to the Collegiate Institute could be built containing additional class-rooms to meet requirements for ten years, with another building, containing gymnasium, domestic science and manual training rooms for the use of Technical School students and High School students, in the same property.

Any new building, whether High School or Technical School, must give accommodation for commercial classes. If they are provided for in a Technical School we will receive 50 per cent. of the cost of construction, 100 per cent. of the cost of equipment, and about 50 per cent. of the cost of salaries. If they are included in a Collegiate Institute extension the city will have to finance them entirely, except for the very small annual Government grant. A Technical School must include gymnasium and facilities for manual training and home-making courses. Collegiate Institute pupils should have all these facilities, but if they are supplied in a Collegiate extension the city will have to bear the entire cost of building, equipment and salaries.

Dr. Miller made an exhaustive survey of Peterborough's needs as to technical education. He reports that a Technical School is necessary, desirable and advantageous. His report was in the hands of each member of the Advisory Industrial Committee of the Board of Education this year. It was also printed in the annual Government report, and a copy sent to every member of the Board. None of us can plead that we do not understand the situation, or that we lack expert investigation and advice.

To summarize:

A combined Technical School and Collegiate extension would give us:

(1) Class-rooms for Collegiate pupils (say up to 700, the maximum attendance desirable). This cost to be borne in full by the city.

(2) Two gymnasiums, one for boys and one for girls, 50 per cent. of the cost met by the Government grants, making the cost to the city no greater than the cost of one gymnasium in the Collegiate. Two gymnasiums make it possible to enroll more students than the class-rooms will contains, as one room is vacant when girls and boys are in gymnasium at the same time.

(3) Manual training and home-making course, available to students of both Technical and High Schools, instead of duplicating.

(4) Accommodation for commercial classes, 50 per cent. of the cost of the class-rooms, 100 per cent. of the cost of equipment and about 50 per cent. of the cost of salaries met by the Government grants.

(5) One heating unit instead of two.

The purely industrial side of a Technical School would be provided for by machine shop, electrical workshop, etc., to the degree permitted by space and financial considerations, all with not less than 50 per cent. grants towards buildings, salaries, and 100 per cent. of the cost of equipment.

This combination building has been tried out with complete success in a number of centres—Sarnia and Niagara Falls being the latest Ontario cities to adopt it.

You would be conferring a public service, Mr. Editor, if you were to invite discussion of this important matter.

EFFORT TO STOP RIOTING IN BELFAST — MEETING WEDNESDAY.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

DUBLIN, September 10. — The Sinn Fein reply to Lloyd-George's latest note probably will insist upon DeValera's interpretation of self-determination, avoid the issue of "no separation from the Empire," and agree to a conference to decide what relation with Britain is possible, the United Press was authoritatively informed to-day.

Formal decision to accept the British proposal for a conference at Inverness will wait uponthe secret session of the Dail Eireann next Wednesday.

"There can be no doubt that the entire country demands acceptance," a correspondent closest to the Sinn Fein and the sentiment of the country declared to-day.

"Ireland will be angry with the Sinn Fein if more risks are taken," said another.

AGREED TO TRUCE.

BELFAST, September 10 (Canadian Press). — An important move toward stopping the rioting in Belfast was made to-day. On the invitation of the military authorities, representatives of the rival parties in the York Street and North Queen Street areas, the scenes of the recent fighting, met in the Henry Street Barracks, and agreed to a truce.

The feeling was so bitter that but for the mediatory step a fresh outbreak of hostilities seemed inevitable.

The military, with Lewis guns, was on duty to-day in Donegal and North Streets, having been warned of a threatened attack on shipyard workers.

WORK DEFERRED NOT COMPLETED, STATES BEATTY

C.P.R. PRESIDENT SAYS EXTENSIONS WILL BE NECESSARY THIS YEAR.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 9.—Predicting a gradual return to prosperity in Canada and affirming his faith in the soundness of the country, Edward Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway and one of the world's youngest men in a high executive position, reached the west today. Mr. Beatty, and party, including Senator Beuique of Montreal, Vice President of the Bank of Hochelaga, and Sir Herbert Holt, prominent eastern financier, arrived in Winnipeg tonight after a stop of a few hours at Fort William where he was greeted by civic officials and prominent westerners in the company's service. The C. P. R. President and his party are travelling in a special train and will remain in Winpeg until Sunday.

They will proceed west via the main line and Kettle Valley line, making their next stop of at Regina. After visiting the coast the party will swing toward Edmonton and return east through the northern section of the prairie provinces. This is Mr. Beatty's second annual inspection of the company's western lines and it is expected that his visit will result in a decision to proceed with much development work that has been held within the last five years.

Mr. Beatty was joined at Fort William by D. C. Colown of Winnipeg, Vice President for the west, who will accompany him on his tour of the western provinces. In Mr. Beatty and Mr Colean is an example of the old adage that youth would be served. Mr. Beatty, who is president for the world's greatest transportation sysem, is only 44 and he has been on the job for three years Mr. Colean is but 49 and was only 39 at the time he became vice president for the west. He is the youngest vice president that has ever been in the companys service.

Th visit of a C.P.R. president to Western Canada is always looked forward to with keen interest by business men of both east and west. It is felt not one is in such a favored position to put a finger on the pulse of business than the head of of a great railway system which develops such a large part of its business west of the Great Lakes. Consequently there has been considerable expectancy about the coming of Mr. Beatty at this ime. Wherever he is trying to get a reliable estimate of business. Mr. Beatty, on his arrival in the west, did not care to discuss the coming federal election or current public events but he was quite willing to say something about business conditions. He was frankly optimistic, basing this information on the fact that there is an excellent crop in the west, that in near future the country will have to get on with work that in the near future the country will have to get on with work that is necessary but which has been held up. "Work deferred is not work complete" he said "and extensions and additions to existing plants will be necessary even to meet normal expansion of business next year." While in Winnipeg Mr. Beatty will be entertained by civic officials and by officials of the company. The time here will be taken up with conferences with western heads and business men and inspectons of the company's equipment at Winnipeg.

Discussing the business situation Mr. Beatty said "while there still exsts a pronounced quietness in businesss, especially in eastern Canada, it is possible that during the fall months of the year there will be an improvement largely due to the stimulus of increased purchasing power, because of the excelent western crop. It is not to be expected that the revival in general business will be other than graduall, and it may easily be next spring before a general tendency toward normal conditions is observed."

Unemployment exists in particular localities to a considreable extent but it will not I think become acute during the fall months. There will undoubtedly be considerable unemployment during the winter but the possibility of it has been thoroughly approached for months, and the governments, municipalities and corporations are prepared to take such steps as they legimately can reduce it by the only proper means namely by providing work wherever possible. Any other method of relieving the situation should only be considered because of absolute necessity. "There is still some shortage of labour on the railway for maintaince work, and while good weather prevails the forces may be increased and thus provide employment for those who are willing to undertake this kind of labor." There is also. I am glad to say, a steady improvement in the financial situation and a good demand for high grade securities, especially in the United States. These conditions undoubedly will be reflected in a short time." There is nothing in the situaion which should cause pessimism. The problems we have to face are known and therefore capable of being dealt with. The period of rigid economy which we have gone through was not without its advanages. In no oher way could an adequate appreciation be obtained, and while available expenditures of necessity have been deferred is not work completed and extensions and additions to existing plants will be necessary even to meet a normal expansion of business next year.

Conditions in Canada are fundamentally sound. There has been noting in the nature of an acute depression especially as compared with other countries. It is, I think, a fact however that the two great necessities for countrys advancement namely, the containing of suitable settlers in a large numbers as possible and the attracion if capital for extension of Canadian enerprses should be given the most serious consideration, now and not later. It polcies which are intialed in the eyes of depresson that are usuallyaarsrh-o oet"tosaolld-v,se-ogu ually those of super caution, and not founded on either hope or courage, but there is nothing in conditions to warrant the lack of either.

Governmental economy still should be a watchword and the monies necessary for the maintenance of the countrys institutions and the meeting of its obligaions should be obtained by measures which will bears as slightly as possible upon the individual taxpayer. I think it will be highly desirable because of the consequent releasing of movies for industrial and commercial expansion The aggregate monies for investment thus made available will be considerable and while it is impossible for us to meet the capital demands of the country with Canadian capital only, the more of our monies which are invested in Canada the better for the country. The best Canadian, is he who has a personal stake in the enterprises."

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

OSHAWA HELD CAMPBELLFORD

Oliver. Spares, Ed. Lee and Norman Irwin.

Campbellford — Goal, Pat Kelly; point, C.Alexander; cover point, Tom Thomas; 1st defence, Charlie Montgomery; 2nd defence, B. Gannon; centre, Abe Jacobs; 2nd home, Jack Nesbitt; 1st home, L. Harte; outside home, Jim Kerr; inside home, Pete Johnston. Spares, Jim Blute and C. Weston.

Referee, W. R. Harcourt, Toronto. Judge of Play, Charles Parkinson, Toronto. Penalty Time-keeper, Harry Chapman, Hastings.

The Game.

At the face off Lovegrove drew the ball to Oliver who lost it before he had got far. Campbellford tried out the Oshawa defence twice but failed to get right inside. Barney Gannon and Jacobs both shot, but without effect. Ganton broke away down the field, combining with Graham and Sarles, who drew first blood. Sarles as uncovered, and had lots of time to shoot from fairly close quarters.

The Oshawa team was an unknown quantity to the home crowd, and if they had been secretly entertaining doubts about their own team's comparative abilities, these were quickly dispelled. Campbellford came right back with the flashiest play of the day. Jack Nesbitt started a rush from around centre field, passing to Jacobs to Kerr, and finally Pete Johnston took a difficult pass a few feet from the goal, and with a quick toss flipped the ball past Jacques. It was a lob shot, and a beauty. From that on Oshawa's husky defence kept the Campbellford forwards well outside until near the end of the game. There were frequent dashes through but the checking was too close, and the fast running passes that had been a feature of Campbellford's play all summer were mussed up by the defense or were muffed by the sheer necessity that they had to be fats and just about perfect.

Johnston and Oliver were benched. Jacobs tried to get through, but Cook intercepted his pass. Big Tom Thomas was blocked outside, and Beacham stopped Jacobs. Graham took a pass from the defence, and went down with Ganton, who returned the pass. Graham scored Oshawa's second goal.

Johnston and Harte almost got through the defence but were blocked close inside. Clapper, Lovegrove, and Graham showed a nice piece of combination, but Kelly took care of the shot from Lovegrove. Oshawa's defence looked airtight at that stage. Kerr tried a long shot but it went wide. Ganton started a rush, passing to Lovegrove, who turned it back to Ganton, who passed again to Sarles for Oshawa's third goal.

The Second Quarter.

Lee went in for Oshawa, but Campbellford made no change during the entire game. Cook intercepted a pass from Kerr. Thomas broke up a play by Oliver and Ganton. Cook's sore thumb, a souvenir from the game in Hamilton, was twisted, and he went off taking Nesbitt. Alexander broke up a rush by Lee and Oliver, and Alexander drew five minutes in the penalty "box." Play was up and down the field for ten minutes without anything happening. Oliver went off for hitting Thomas. Harte whiffed a fast pass to Kerr, but it got away. Campbellford pressed hard. Harte missed Johnston's bullet pass near the net. Nesbitt finally started a play working with Jacobs, and Johnston, who with a quick shot breezed the ball into the Oshawa net.

Campbellford went right in again from the face off, but failed. Alexander bumped into a combination Ganton, Clapper and Graham were engineering, and at the other end Kerr's shot from outside went wide. The locals appeared to have a chance but frittered it away passing the ball out instead of going through with it. Ganton bumped his way through the Campbellford defence, and was right on top of Kelly with a shot that looked like a certain goal. Kelly made a wonderful stop.

Third Quarter.

Irwin replaced Lovegrove for the rest of the game. He is a former Norwood boy and a son of the Rev. Mansell Irwin. He learned the game with the Norwood juniors. He has improved immensely since last year, and handled himsel like a veteran. Neither team scored in this quarter, which was marked all the way by hard, close checking on both sides. Charley Montgomery showed up splendidly for Campbellford and turned in his best game of the season. Kelly stopped what looked like a sure goal from Sarles stick, by checking him quickly as he drew back to shoot after a pass with Ganton and Graham. Clapper stopped Jacobs and passed to Ganton who bounced one over the Campbellford goal. Towards the end of the period Jim Kerr got through the Oshawa defence with a big chance to score. His shot was inches outside the foot. It was a neat play and deserved a goal.

Final Quarter.

Ganton attempted to raid the Campbellford defence but Alexander and Montomery bumped him. Sarles went off apparently for tripping Nesbitt. Harte's pass went awry, and Nesbitt grabbed a pass from Irwin to Ganton. He threw fast to Kerr but the ball was high. Kelly stopped one from Ganton. Nesbitt and Harte sent in, but the latter's shot was wide. Jacobs and Thomas started a combination but the ball got loose. Johnston tried to elbow his way through the Oshawa defence, but he slipped. He still kept possession of the ball with two Oshawa men above him. He passed out from his prostrate position to Kerr who shot it to Harte close in, and Harte scored, putting the teams on an equal footing.

Irwin rushed but was stopped short by Alexander. Kelly blocked a hard shot from Sarles. Ganton, Oliver pulled off a fine combined play but it failed. Shortly after that Harte scored again with Johnston and Campbellford went out in front for the first time during the game. The crowd demonstrated with a hat barrage in which some of the faded straws were used as footballs.

Before play resumed Harcourt chased Art Warwick from the grounds for crabbing. It seems that the Oshawa coach had been "riding" the referee in several other games lately. To-day a final warning went unheeded, and as a last resort Harcourt ordered Chief Duncalfe to expel Warwick from the field, an order that met with the hearty approval of the crowd, especially the small boys. Harte and Gannon went in fast but missed. Only a few minutes remained. Ganton and Irwin bumped into the home defence several times but could not dint it. And then came the tieing goal which is chalked up to Ganton's credit, but which looked very fluky from the side lines. The gong sounded as Harte intercepted a pass from Graham to Oliver.

If there was any outstanding figure in to-day's game it was Orville Ganton, (No. 7.) The close checking did not admit much spectacular stuff, but Ganton starred by reason of the fact that he "kept coming" all afternoon. Beacham at point was also exceptionally good. He had the lid pretty tight on Pete Johnston. Campbellford's defence appeared to better advantage than their home, Montgomery, Thomas, Alexander and Gannon showing up well, and Kelly had it on the much heralded Jacques.

Judging by to-day's play the teams are well matched, and Dr. Henry's squad will have their hands full in the return game. Campbellford had none of the breaks, and their home were clearly not at their best. The Oshawa defence many have accounted largely for that, but had the running passes by the local home field been handled as in previous games the score would have been different. "Dot" Phelan and Dick Cole have every reason of regarding their chances in the play off as good as Oshawa's though the game will be played on Oshawa's grounds.

Would not be Without Zutoo Tablets At Any Cost

Mr. A. O. Norton, the millionaire Jack Manufacturer, of Boston, who recently died, was a great "booster" for Zutoo Tablets.

He suffered from headaches from childhood and when he found Zutoo Tablets stopped these headaches in a few minutes and left no bad effect, he began recommending them to his family and friends.

In an unsolicited letter, Mr. Norton says in closing:

"My family use them when ever needed with equally good results. I have frequently given them to friends who were suffering from Headache and they never failed to give quick relief. I always carry Zutoo Tablets in my grip on the road and WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT THEM AT ANY COST."

Brown, according to his story, was fleeced by two men in a betting fraud, whose acquaintance he made by chance while on a journey from Quebec. The men, whose names were given as Miller and Barton, inveigled Brown into betting $10,000 on a "sure horse." He did so, and won, but was then informed that his winnings could not be paid until he had definitely established himself.

Briefly this meant putting up $15,000. To do this, Brown was forced to embark for England, where he got together all his money and returned to Canada, where the confidence men quickly relieved him of it.

BOSTON, September 10 (Canadian Press). — Passengers on a crowded street car in the West Roxbury district, many of them women, saw Charles A. Wells shoot his divorced wife, Ella A. Wells, and her counsel, A. Louis Altmeyer, yesterday. The woman died almost instantly, and the attorney soon after arriving at a hospital.

Five shots were fired from a revolver, to which Wells had tied a wedding ring with a piece of black string.

The operator of the car threw open the doors. While some of the panic-stricken passengers fled, others seized Wells and turned him over to the police.

He expressed no sorrow at his act to the officers, telling them he had purchased the weapon a week ago with the intention of killing his former wife and Altmeyer.

The latter acted as counsel for Mrs. Wells in her recent divorce proceedings. They were on their way to Court to-day to press alimony proceedings, and to seek action against Wells, who was alleged to have been annoying his former wife.

Mrs. Wells obtained her divorce on the grounds of cruel and abusive treatment.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH NOW RE-OPENED AFTER EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS

St. John's church was formally re-opened last evening after undergoing extensive repairs, for which it was entirely closed during the month of August, services being held in the parish house. The Bishop of Toronto was present and took charge of the re-opening ceremony following immediately after the opening hymn. Rev. H. A. Brooke, of Christ church, Deer Park, Toronto, was special preacher. Evensong was conducted by the Vicar, Rev. Dr. Blagrave, the lessons being read by Ven. Archdeacon Davidson and Rev. T. J. O'Connor-Fenton. Rev. Canon Sawers acted as Bishop's chaplain.

In addition to the clergy mentioned above there were present: Revs. Canon Allen, of Millbrook, Rural-Dean Clarke of Campbellford, E. R. James of Omemee, S. R. Spencer of Millbrook, G. R. Maconichie of Lindsay, T. R. Haughton of Bobcaygeon, G. Bounsfield of St. Luke's, W. A. Courageof St. George's, H. B. Grobb of All Saints'.

Before the service a congregation supper was held in the parish house, at which the Bishop and clergy were entertained. At this function the Vicar explained to the people the nature of the improvements made about the church, and welcomed the Bishop and clergy to the parish. In response an address was given by Archdeacon Davidson, whose many years of service here has endeared him to the hearts of St. John's people, as well as to the hearts of the whole church. The ladies are to be congratulated upon the success which attended their efforts in catering.

The Improvements.

The following is a list of improvements that have been made during the last few months:

The stone wall on Hunter street has been painted, and where necessary, rebuilt, and the driveway from Hunter street repaired. Many dead pine trees have been removed from the grounds and several stumps from the lawn on the east side of the church, where also the ground has been levelled and resodded. The fence on Brock street, on the outside of which leaves and grass were wont to accumulate, has been removed and the ground sodded; also the fence between the rectory and the church, and the ground levelled up. Two flights of cement steps leading up to the church have been built with stone sides and pillars, in keeping with the architecture of the church. A tile floor has been laid in the vestibule. The walls of the church have been repainted and thoroughly repaired, as also many parts of the room. A new vacuum-steam furnace has been installed, and a stone chimney built to accommodate it. The interior of the church has been thoroughly cleaned and decorated by the Thornton-Smith firm of Toronto.

Slight repairs have been made to the walls of the rectory, and screen doors and windows as well as storm doors added. The interior of the rectory was thoroughly painted and cleaned by Coleman Bros. before the arrival of the Vicar in January. In addition to the above a handsome memorial altar and reredos was recently installed and dedicated, the gift of Mr. H. Denne.

It will be seen from the above that the people of St. John's are keenly alive to the value of the church and property which they have to enjoy, and to the need of maintaining the whole in such a condition as to be at once an ornament to the city, a credit to themselves, and an honour to the name of Him who is Head of the Church—the Lord and Master of all.

Beautiful Interior.

The decorative color scheme of St. John's interior is now light blue, cream, white, gold and several shades of brown, together with mahogany finished ceiling. But the tints being mostly soft and tastely blended, the effect is a happy, harmonious whole, with the chancel standing in a bold relief of light blue walls, dominated by the handsome oak altar and reredos, above which triplet stained glass windows bordered with gold give a finishing touch of richness, yet not glaringly ornate.

The walls of the nave are cream with a deep top scroll border of quietly arresting design in blue, brown and cream, which decorating summit scheme, with a touch of gold, is carried around the chancel, and also bordering the Gothic arches, springing from their supporting deep grey pillars. This interior improvement is a commendable specimen of the art decorative bright and cheerful in effect, and conveying an impression of added height and increased spaciousness generally.

Of Venerable Age.

This stately old church was first built in 1835 and completed in 1882. Its first rector was Rev. Samuel Armour. The people's chimes were dedicated in 1911.

St. John's is now one of the most beautiful and most tastefully decorated churches belonging to the Anglican community in this province. Rev. H. A. Brooke, who preached the sermon last night, referred to the splendid equipment enjoyed by St. John's for the Master's work. The context of his message to the large congregation present was based on the subject, "equipment," and in the course of a fitting address, he saw analogy between Christian conditions to-day and the situation of the children of Israel in Egypt, when God instructed Moses to deliver them from Egypt's bondage, using for equipment nothing but his simple rod and faith in the Almighty. The reverend gentleman visualized great multitudes to-day waiting to be delivered from the bondage of sin and pointed out that the means for their rescue lay most of all and first of all in the churchman's simple, living faith in a living God to use him effectively.

While Christ's apostles, he continued, had no printed books, no missionary societies, no Christian schools, or churches like that of St. John's, nor cathedrals—nothing, but only a lively faith in a living God—still they tumbled the whole world upside down. But although our scholarship is ripe, our treasury full, and our church machinery excellent, is it, he asked because, having too much faith in our machinery and not enough faith in the living God that still the cry comes to the Church from the Master to deliver his children from the bondage of sin; make them free and give them hope and liberty in Jesus Christ. He here urged all to use the equipment given them—let it be one, five or ten talents—by responding, first to the appeal of opportunity in every parish; secondly, to the appeal of responsibility in the sight of God; and, thirdly, to the appeal of the Divine Teacher.

In conclusion, the speaker, congratulating St. John's congregation on their beautiful church and splendid external equipment for carrying on the good work of God the Father, also directed their attention to the need for using their simple talents of time, money, sympathy and friendship in extending the Kingdom of Christ.

The Lord Bishop.

Bishop Sweeny, in a brief address from the chancel, touched briefly on the many interesting incidents in St. John's history since the time of its first rector, Rev. Samuel Armour, in 1835, when this was one of fifty-seven rectories created by Sir John Colborne in that year. Following fitting eulogy of the late Rev. John Walton Romeyn Beck, who assumed the rectorship in 1858, his lordship spoke in glowing terms of the splendid zeal and energy of Mr. Beck's successor, Rev. J. C. Davidson, who succeeded him as rector, was later created a Canon of St. Alban's Cathedral, and who is still non-resident Rector of St. John's as well as Archdeacon of Peterborough.

The Bishop here went on to congratulated the congregation on having, at the beginning of the incumbency of their new Vicar, Rev. Dr. Blagrave, responded to and co-operated with his vision of the fitness of things churchly by repairing and beautifying the house of God in their midst—an expression of a spiritual sense of fitness in recognizing there should be nothing lacking in God's house.

Archdeacon Davidson.

At the congregational supper Archdeacon Davidson, on rising to speak, was greeted with great enthusiasm. He hoped that his reception indicated that the feelings of the congregation still went out to him as his feelngs did to them. His eyes rested with delight on the familiar countenances around the table after his year's absence. Their unsought generosity had enabled him to take a greatly needed holiday on the Gaspe Coast, bringing health and vigor for future work, and other unmistakable evidences of personal support had cheered him in the wonderful mission which had been entrusted to him, which he considered only second in importance to that of the Bishop. In campaigns of almost thrilling interest he came into close and privileged contact with the keenest spirited men and women in different parishes and he was greatly impressed with the strong calibre of church men and church women whom it was his business to further develop and bring into wider work and influence. But none shone brighter than the tried workers of St. John's, as proved in their wonderful accomplishments of late. Mr. Davidson hoped that his old friends would not call him by his official title. When he saw it on the envelope it filled him with awe, but when it was spoken it caused acute bodily pain, and amid laughter he pleaded for mercy. The short address was an informal outburst of affection, evidencing the speaker's delight at being once more among his old associates in his old city.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.— (Canadian Press.)— The further advance of quoted values in stock market today was accompanied by the largest and most varied turn over of any week end session in many months. Shorts again covered in Oils, Steels, Equipments, Coppers, Motors, Leathers and Sugars, many of these issues making additional gains of two to five points.

To-day's session of the stock market opened with further buoyant advances in various speculative favorites. Mexican Petroleum was a leader, gaining 1 1-2 points at the outset and immediately extending its rise to 2 1-2 points.

Sterling exchange irregular. Demand 3.73 1-2. Canadian Dollars 10 11-16 p.c. discount.

CHICAGO MARKET.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10. — Fresh strength developed in the wheat market to-day owing largely to upturns in value of common and common stocks. May delivery of wheat reached the highest price yet this season. Heavy profit taking sales took place, but had only a transient effect. Opening quotations which varied from unchanged figures to 3-4 cents higher with Dec. 1.35 1-2 to 1.36 1-4 and May 1.41 1-2 to 142 were followed by gains all around, interrupted temporarily by a sharp set?-back. Railroad embargoes on shipments of grain from Georgian Bay to Montreal weakened the Corn market. After opening 1-4 lower to 3-8 higher, including Dec. at 56 to 56 1-4, the market under went a material general sag. Oats were easy with Corn. Starting unehanged to 1-2 cent higher, Dec. 41 5-8 to 41 3-4 and then declining all around. Provisions advanced as a result of good demand for Lard.

MONTREAL MARKET.

MONTREAL, Sept. 10.— (Canadian Press.)—The tone of the market continued decidedly strong to the close, Brompton being actively traded in during the last half hour, this issue recording a gain of a point and a half over opening at 20 1-2 in final transaction. National Breweries was another favorite, holding its early strength and closing at 55 1-2.

TORONTO MARKET.

TORONTO, Sept. 10.—(Canadian Press.)— Moderate activity and a show of strength marked the closing session of the Toronto stock exchange this week. In listed stocks gains were made by Abitibi Steel of Canada and Ontario Steel, while in the unlisted section Laurentide and Brompton were both higher.

After an early advance from 53 to 54, Steel of Canada reacted half a point with a net gain of half a point for the morning. Ontario Steel on a fair amount of trading gained 3-4 of a point over yesterday, closing at 53, while Abitibi's last sale at 29 1-2 was half a point above Thursday's quotation. Dominion Steel Corporation was unchanged as was also Brazilian. Laurentide's gain of 2 1-2 points was made by an odd lot sale, while Brompton advanced half a point to 19 1-2 on light trading.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 10.—(Canadian Press). — Still a further improvement in business conditions throughout Canada has been manifested during the past week, states the weekly trade report of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association issued here.

Montreal and Quebec Province, Ontario and Maritime Provinces all report more activity in manufacturing circles reflected from increased orders being received by manufacturers. This is most pronounced in boots and shoes, dry goods, men's and women's wear and such lines. An encouraging feature also is the booking ahead by retailers, who are generally reporting favorably on conditions, although certain allowances must be made for the usual demand for seasonable goods.

In Winnipeg and Manitoba wholesalers find an improvement in orders, more especially in dry goods, boots and shoes, underwear, musical instruments, etc.

Retail trade shows an improvement, especially in dry goods, furniture, men's and women's wear and light hardware.

Regina reports covering Saskatchewan generally show an improvement over last week, and a greater demand for merchandise by retail merchants.

DAIRY PRODUCTS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Butter, steadier; receipts, 7,180; creamery, higher than extras, 42½-43; creamery extras (92 score), 41½-42; creamery firsts (88 to 91 score), 36½-41; State, dairy finest, 34½-36; packing stock, current make, No. 2, 26.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The raw sugar market was unchanged early yesterday at 4.37 for Porto Rico centrifugal, and 4.86 for Cubas. There were sales of 48,000 bags of Porto Ricos, prompt shipment, at 4.37, and 27,700 bags of San Domingoes at 2.75 c.i.f. Raw sugar futures were steadier on covering and prices at mid-day were 1 to 3 points net higher. The volume of business was light. Refined was easier with leading refiners reducing prices 10 to 15 points to the basis of 5.60 to 5.65 for fine, granulated. Refined futures were easier in sympathy with the decline in refined and prices at midday were 5 to 7 points net lower.

BUTTER SALES.

MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—(Canadian Press).—At the Quebec Agricultural Co-operative auction sale held here to-day there were 1,090 packages creamery butter offered, of which 380 packages pasteurized creamery sold at 36 5-8c per lb.; 500 packages finest creamery at 35 7-8c, and 210 packages fine at 34 7-8.

LARAMIE HOLDS THE RANGE

By Frank H. SPEARMAN.

Onlookers, knowing what a refusal would mean, held their breaths. But McAlpin, white and stubborn, with another oath, again refused.

"Fill it, McAlpin," urged a quiet voice behind the bar. Looking quickly, like a hunted animal, around, McAlpin saw Harry Tenison, white faced and cold pushing the bottle in friendly fashion toward him. Every man save one, watching, hoped he would humor at least that much his expectant murderer. But the barn boss had reached a state of fear and anger that inflamed every stubborn drop in his blood. He swore he would not fill his glass.

Tenison spoke grimly: "Will you drink it if I fill it, you mule?" he demanded, picking up the bottle and pouring into both glasses in front of him.

In the dead silence McAlpin's brain was in a storm. He collected a few of his wildly flying thoughts. Perhaps he remembered the wife and Loretta and the babies; at all events he stared at the liquor, gulped to see whether he could swallow, and, reaching forward, picked up the glass. Stone lifted his own. The two men, their glasses poised, eyed each other.

Stone barbed a taunt for his victim: "Goin' to drink, air you?" he sneered, wreathing his eyes in leering wrinkles.

"No," said a man, unnoticed until then by any except Tenison and Luke, and speaking as he pushed forward through the crowd to face both Stone and McAlpin. "He's not going to drink."

Stone's glass was half way up to his lips; he looked across it and saw himself face to face with Jim Laramie. Laramie, who, unseen, had heard enough of the quarrel, stood with his coat slung over the right shoulder; one arm he carried in a sling, but as far as this concerned Stone, it was the wrong arm. Daring neither to raise the whisky to his lips nor to set the glass down, lest Laramie, suspecting he meant to draw, should shoot, Stone stood rooted. "McAlpin's not going to drink, Stone," repeated Laramie. "What are you going to do about it?"

The mere sight of Laramie would have been a vastly unpleasant surprise. But to find himself faced by him in fighting trim after what had taken place in the morning was an upset.

"What am I going to do about it?" echoed Stone, lifting his eyebrows and grinning anew. "What are you going to do about it, Jim?" he demanded. "You and me used to bunk together, didn't we?"

"I bunked with a rattlesnake once. I didn't know it," responded Laramie, dryly. "Next morning the rattlesnake didn't know it."

"Jim, I'll drink with you just once for old times."

"I wouldn't drink with you, Stone. No man would drink with you if he wasn't afraid of you. And after tonight, nobody's going to be afraid of you. You're a thief among thieves, Tom Stone; a bully, a coward, a skulker You shoot from cover. When Barb made you foreman you and Van Horn stole his cattle and Dutch Henry sold 'em for you and divvied with you. Then, for fear Barb would get wise, you and Van Horn got up the raid and killed Dutch Henry, so he couldn't talk.

"Now you're going to quit this stuff. No more thieving, no more man-killing, no bully-ragging, no nothing. Tenison will clear this room. Hold your glass right where it is till the last man gets out. When he gets out set down your glass; you'll have time enough allowed you. After that, draw where you stand You're not entitled to a chance. God, Stone, I'd rather bunk with a rattlesnake than with you. I'd rather kill one than kill a thing like you. Your head ought to be pounded with a rock. You're entitled to nothing. But you can have your chance. Get the boys out of here, Harry."

Not for one instant did he take his eye off Stone's eye or rais his tone above a speaking voice, and Laramie's voice was naturally low. To catch his syllables, listeners crowded in and craned their necks. Few men with drew,but every one courteourly and sedulously got out of the prospective line of fire.

What it cost Laramie even to stand on his feet and talk Tenison could not shrewdly estimate. From behind the bar he coldly regarded the wounded man. He knew that Laramie must have escaped Carpy and Belle to look for the men that had tried that morning to kill him. Having found Stone he meant then and there to fight.

Tenison likewise realized that he was in no condition to do it, and promptly intervened: "Don't look at me, Jim," he said. "But I'm talking. There's no man in Sleepy Cat can clear this room now. Most of this crowd are your friends. They want to see this hell-hound cleaned up. But you know what it means to some of 'em if two guns cut loose."

Stone saw the gate open. He welcomed a chance to dodge. Eyeing Laramie, he swallowed his drink, set his glass on the bar. With a voice dried and cracked he cried: "Keep your hands off, Tenison. I'll give Jim Laramie all the fight he wants, here or anywhere."

Tenison was willing to bridge the crisis with abuse. 'Shut up, you coyote," he remarked, with complete indifference.

"You'll throw a man down no matter how much of your whiskey he drinks, won't you, Tenison?" cried Stone.

Tenison, both hands judiciously spread on the bar, seemed to fail to hear. "McAlpin," he said contemptuously, "walk around behind Laramie and lift Stone's gun."

Stone started violently. "Look out, Tenison! I lift my gun when there's men to stand by and see fair play!"

A roar of laughter went up. "I don't lift it for no frameup," he shouted, turning angrily toward the unsympathetic crowd. "Get out!" cried one voice far enough back to be safe. "Send for Barb," shouted a second. "Page Van Horn," piped a barber, as Stone moved toward the door.

The baited foreman turned only for a parting shot at Laramie. "I'll see you later."

"If I was your friend," retorted Laramie, unmoved, "I'd advise you not to' If you ride my trail don't expect any, thing more from me. And I make this town," he hammered home the point with his right forefinger indicating the floor, "and the Falling Wall range my trail."

"Stone ought to have tried it tonight," observed Tenison at the cash register. He was speaking to his bartender long after Stone had disappeared, Laramie had been put to bed again, and the billiard hall had been deserted. "He'll never get a chance again at Laramie half shot to pieces."

Laramie, held for a week in bed, learned from the doctor of Belle's outburst at Kate and, acting through him, arranged peace.

Complaining of a cold, with her other troubles, Belle took to bed when Laramie was moved to the hotel and Kate turned in to nurse her.

"You won't starve while she stays Belle," declared Carpy, leaving Kate in possession at the cottage, "and while I think of it," he added, turning to Kate, "Laramie says he wants to see you. You call him up on the telephone, will you?"

"What for, doctor?"

"To oblige me, girl. I want to hold that fellow in his room a few days more and keep his arm in a sling. He's no easier to handle than a wildcat."

Kate looked perplexed. "What shall I say to him?"

Carpy stood at the door with his hand on the knob. "Jolly him along—you know how. He says he's coming down here for dinner tonight. Tell him Belle's sick."

Belle listened. The more Kate considered the mandate the more confusing it seemed. But she rang up the hotel, called for Laramie, and heard presently a man's voice in answer.

"Is this Mr. Laramie?" she asked.

"It is not," was the answer.

"Isn't he there?"

"No."

"Can you tell me when he will be in?"

"He won't be in."

She sighed with impatience. "I want to speak to him. And I think this is he speaking. You know very well who I am," she persisted.

"I do."

"And I know very well who you are."

"In that you may be mistaken."

"Surely I'm not mistaken in believing Mr. Laramie a gentleman."

"But you are mistaken in believing any person by that name here."

"There is a person there who loves to persecute me, isn't there?"

"There is not."

"Is there one there that likes to have his own way?"

"No more than you like to have your own way."

"Is there a man named Jim there?"

"Speaking Kate."

"I've a message from Belle."

"What is the message?"

"She is in bed with a cold and fever and wants you not to come tonight. As soon as she is up she will let you know."

Belle held her peace till Kate left the telephone. "I can't make Dr. Carpy out," she grumbled. "If he didn't want Jim Laramie down here, what did he ask you to call him up for? If he doesn't know any more than that about doctoring," she added, contemptuously, "I'd hate to take his medicine."

She waited for Kate's comment, but Kate possessed the great art of saying nothing. "I guess," continued Belle at length, "it's time to take that pill he left, but I guess I won't take it. What do you think about it?" she asked, referring again to Carpy.

Kate was not to be drawn out. "I found out a long time ago that Dr. Carpy doesn't tell all he knows," she observed, dryly. "But I do know he wants Mr. Laramie to stay in his room. He says his shoulder will never heal if he doesn't keep still."

To this Belle made no response, but when Laramie knocked at the door in the evening she knew who it was. Kate received him.

Talking in leisurely fashion to her, he walked to the door of Belle's room, looked in, wanted to know whom she had been fighting with, and asked if she would get up and get supper for him.

He carried his right arm at his side with the thumb hooked into his belt. "Where's your sling?" demanded Belle, tartly. Laramie pulled it out of his pocket. "I put it on when Carpy comes around," he explained.

"You keep fooling around the streets this way and they'll get you sometime," said Belle, tartly.

He turned the remark. "That idea doesn't seem to worry me as much as it used to. Have I got to cook my own supper?"

This venture after discussion was assumed by Kate. She put on her hat to go across the street to get a steak, Laramie insisted on going with her. She asked him not to.

"Why not?" he asked.

Kate was keyed up with apprehension. "Why take chances all the time?" she asked in turn. "Some one might shoot from the dark."

Belle answered for him. "Nobody in this country would shoot a man when a woman's with him," she said. "Go along."

The butcher, stumping in from the back room to wait on them, showed no surprise at the two from hostile camps asking for one steak, but he tried so hard to watch the pair and to hear what they were saying that he nearly ruined one quarter of before he got what Kate wanted. What he finally cut off and trimmed looked more like a roast than a steak, but neither customer seemed disturbed by this.

Laramie paid, over indignant protests, and, placing the package in the loop of his left arm, opened the shop door for his companion. He passed out behind her in excellent spirits. The butcher, looking after them, took his surreptitious pipe from his pocket, watched the shop door close, shook his head, and, ramming the burnt tobacco down hard with the finger that lacked the first joint, stumped back to his lonely stove.

The kitchen was farthest removed from Belle's rooms. Laramie started the fire with kerosene. When he lighted it there was a flare back that alarmed Belle in her bed, but she could hear nothing of what was going on in the kitchen. While the supper was being cooked, Laramie stood on the other side of the stove from his enemy's daughter, watching every move. If Kate walked over to the cupboard, his eyes followed her step—she walked with such decision and planted her heels so fast and firm. If she turned from the stove to the table his eyes devoured her slenderness in amazement that one so delicately proportioned could so crowd everything else out of his head.

As the supper progressed, Laramie watched almost in awe the short arm jabs she gave the meat on the broiler The cuffs of her shirt waist, half back to her elbows, revealed white arms tapering to wrists molded like the ankles, and hands that his eyes fed on as a miser's feed on gold. The blazing coals flushed her cheeks, and when she looked up at him to answer some foolish question her own eyes, flushed and softened by the heat, took on an expression that stole all the strength he had left. When she asked him how he liked it, he exclaimed, "Fine," and Kate had to ask him whether he liked the steak well done or rare.

"Any way you like it," he stammered.

As he watched her laugh at his efforts to help her by picking up the hot platter, a sense of his own clumsiness and size and general roughness overcame him

She was too far removed, he told himself, from his kind to make it possible for her ever to like him.

The closer he got to her daintiness and spirit and laughter, the more helpless his wild dreams seemed. Whenever she asked if the steak were cooked enough, he suggested—to prolong the pleasure of watching her hands—that she give it one more turn. Every moment he saw something new to admire. While she was attending to the meat he could look at her hair and see where the sun had browned her pink throat and neck. As the broiling drew near an end, almost panic gripped Laramie. The happiest moments of his life had been spent there at the stove. They were slipping away. She was lifting the steak the last time from the fire. He asked her to turn it once more.

"Why look at it!" she exclaimed; "it's burned up now; hold the platter closer."

It brought him closer in spirit than he had ever been to heaven, to feel her elbow brush against his own, as she deftly landed the smoking steak on the platter while Laramie held it.

A great melancholy overcame him "What do you want me to do?" he said suddenly.

Kate's eyebrows rose. She looked at him. "Why, set it on the table," she laughed.

"No, I mean what do you want me to do—myself."

She could not wholly misunderstand his look, though little did he realize how she feared it, or what a dread respect she secretly had for the grave eyes so closely bent on her own. She laughed, really to gather courage, and it was easy to laugh a little because he did look so odd as he stood before her, with the platter in both hands, but terribly in earnest. "Set the platter on the table before you burn yourself," she pleaded.

"You must want me to do something," he persisted, "get off the earth or stay on it—now, don't you? Say what you want me to do, and, by——' He checked himself. "And I'll do it.'

She could restrain him, but she could not turn him. He put the platter on the table without getting any answer, but now that his mind was set, it reverted stubbornly to the one subject, and when supper was over and they sat opposite each other in the little dining room talking, she said she knew he had burned his hands. "I wouldn't mind if I had," he remarked frankly. "Almost every time I've talked with you I've held the hot end of a poker; I'm getting to look for it." He drew a deep breath. "You never liked me, did you, Kate?"

"That isn't so."

"You always kind of held off."

"Perhaps I was a little afraid of you.'

"You're not afraid of me now—are you—with one arm out of commission? Are you?"

She looked at him in a troubled sort of way. "Why, no—not very," she ventured, half laughing.

"You were never half as much afraid of me as I was of you," he murmured.

His eyes across the table were growing very importunate. She could not realize how flushed and soft and tantalizing her own eyes were, framed by the warm color high in her cheeks. She rose with a hurried exclamation and looked dismayed at him her hands tilted on the table, her brows high, and her burning eyes still laughing: "We've left the light on by the stove all this time," she whispered. "Belle will be furious!"

She slipped hurriedly out into the kitchen and turned off the light. Her face was hot. She was thirsty, and stepping to the water faucet she picked up a glass. The mountain water tasted so cold and good; in some way it made her think of great peaks and the crisp, clear air of his home far up among them. She had not realized how heated she was. "Do you want a drink?" she called back to the dining room.

He was standing directly behind her. She turned, only to stumble against him, and before she knew what had happened he was raining kisses on her resisting cheeks. Then his lips found her, and, faint with the moment, she resisted no more.

After a long time she got one hand around his neck and laid the other across his mouth. "Don't make so much noise," she whispered wildly. "Belle will hear us!"

The hush that followed the brain storm in the kitchen put Belle, quite unsuspecting, to sleep. Laramie, with a tread creditable to a cat—and a stealth natural to most carnivorous animals—closed the door without breaking her heavy breathing. The shades, always drawn at nightfall, called for no attention. In the living-room there was preliminary tiptoeing, and there were futile efforts on Kate's part to cool her rebellious cheeks by applying her hands to them—when she could get possession of either one to do so. The small couch which served as sofa was drawn out of range of even the protected windows, and the floodgates were opened to the first unrestrained confidences together.

Your Boy's Future

The Boy's future shall not be left to chance.

The Boy can be interested in his own future.

The Boy's ideas are "steadied" by the knowledge of his Father's early investment for him.

Success and Marriage close the first chapters of the Boy's Future, and the early plans made for him are brought to completion.

What are his chances for a good start in life?

Of course you have plans for him. It is easy, however, to think of what you intend to do for your boy, but what if your plans should fail? Do not overlook the fact that ordinary plans are dependent upon you being here to carry them out.

You can make sure of your boy's future—you can put your entire plan for him into immediate effect.

The Canada Life offers a simple and convenient way by means of a small yearly deposit; through the

which is arranged to mature when you think it will be most needed by your boy. In this way $1,500, $2,000, $5,000, or more, is sure to be ready for his first serious step in life; whether you are here or not. This plan, of course, applies equally well to your Daughter's future.

Our New Plan

1st—The Vocational Endowment Fund is guaranteed in cash at the time selected by you.

2nd—In the event of your death, no further deposits are required and the fund will be paid at the time selected.

3rd—All deposits will be returned with 3½ per cent. compound interest if the child should die, providing such a sum does not exceed the amount of the endowment; 4th, if desired, the benefits of the policy may be transferred to another child.

There are many other valuable features which will be explained in full on request.

Do Your Part Without Delay

The uncertainties of life call for immediate action. A yearly deposit which is very small in proportion to the Fund guaranteed enables you to make sure, absolutely, whether you live or die, that your Boy's future is assured.

The following accounts were ordered to be paid. W. J. Byers, supplies for sidewalks, $22.99; T. O. Arnott, repairing bridges 75c; A. McDonald, plank for bridges, $9.18; John Patton, 206 yards gravel, $30.90; W. J. Byers, groceries for charity, $9.54.

Council then adjourned.

But now by Jinks! we're all gone under
We took the weak ones by the hand
Of the good old deserted Tory band
And showed them all over the promised land
But now oh! where are they?
They felt for it all the poor little boobs
But now we're all up a tree in the woods
Oh! what are we going to do?

TORY JACQUES.

Peterborough, 10th Sept., 1921.
Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—I notice in your issue of 7th September that the street cars are not coming to East City. I think this is a great time to spring this on the East City people after the bridge is completed and ready for cars. To say it is not a paying proposition, I am of the opinion that it would be the best paying branch in the city, and I think it is up to East City ratepayers to get busy.—Yours,

W. J. Rome.

POPULATION OF TORONTO TOTALS 722,566 NOW.

Growth in Last Half Century Has Been Phenomenal.

TORONTO, September 10 (Canadian Press). — The growth of Toronto during the past half century has been phenomenal. In all those 50 years there has been a steady and rapid increase in the population, with the exception of the years 1876, 1893, 1915, and 1916—the first two years of depression and the latter two years of war—when there was a decline in the population.

The population is nine times what it was in 1871, six times what it was in 1881, three times what it was in 1901, two and a half times what it was in 1901, and one and a half times what it was in 1911.

Miss Kate Wagon, age 22, of Bartlesville, Okla., has the distinction of being the only full-blooded American Indian girl assistant secretary of a chamber of commerce.

GEORGE STREET CHURCH.

The regular services will be resumed tomorrow in George Street Church, the pastor, Rev. Mr. Young, being the preacher both at 11 o'clock and 7. His topic at the morning service will be, "The World's Challenge to the Church," and at the evening service he will speak on 'Standards of Growth." The choir will render the usual inspiring music under the leadership of Mr. Renwick. All members and friends of the church are cordially invited to these services.

JAPANESE TO VISIT BRITAIN AND THE STATES.

To Make Clear Japs' Sincere Attitude on Disarmament.

TOKIO, Japan, September 10 (Canadian Press). — The announcement of plans by a number of prominent Japanese business men to visit Great Britain and the United States in the near future is described by the Nichi-Nichi Shimbun as the embodiment of a plan of commercial elements to start an extensive propaganda intended to make clear Japan's sincere attitude."

The mission's idea is to give moral support in the form of a strong background to Japan's official delegation at the conference of Limitation of Armaments in Washington.

MAY SETTLE THE IRISH QUESTION ON WEDNESDAY.

Plenary Powers for DeValera and Colleagues.

LONDON, September 10 (Canadian Press). — Prime Minister Lloyd-George's invitation to Eamonn DeValera and his colleagues to confer as to the basis for a settlement of the Irish controversy, must await action by the Irish Republican Parliament.

That body will meet in secret session netx Wednesday, at which time it is assumed the Prime Minister's latest note to Dublin will be submitted, and a decision reached as to the acceptance or rejection of the invitation.

It was understood, when the Republican Parliament adjourned at Dublin recently, that it had conferred plenary powers on Mr. DeValera and his colleagues.

A note from Mr. DeValera, however, is asserted to have brought a factor into the situation which made it necessary for the Dail to meet and widen the scope of the mandate it gave its leaders.

"MOTHER" OF TWENTY STARS.

Claire McDowell, who plays the title role of Thomas H. Ince's "Mother O' Mine," at the Allen Theatre next week, has had more than a score of screen stars as "sons" during the past three years. In other words, Miss McDowell has been cast in the mother roles of over twenty dramatic vehicles of well-known players.

WILL SHOW IMPORTED STALLION AT THE EX.

"PATCHEN M'KINNEY," OWNED BY G. N. GRAHAM, IS STANDARD BRED WITH FINE PEDIGREE.

"Patchen McKinney," a standard bred stallion, owned by G. N. Graham, of the Empress Hotel, will be shown in front of the grandstand at the Peterborough Exhibition on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Its registered number is 3242-53005. "Patchen McKinney" was sired by "McKinney," son of "Alcoyne," and the dam was "Grace Bogue," whose sire was "Patchen Wilks." The public generally and horse-breeders especially will be interested in Mr. Graham's most recent addition to the Empress stables. "Patchen McKinney" is a handsome brown stallion, 16 hands high. He is registered in the American Trotting Register and also in the Canadian National Livestock Record. Bred in Batavia, N.Y., he was sold to Frank Donovan, of Brookline, Mass., from whom Mr. Graham purchased him. Although "Patchen McKinney" has been trained for trotting, it is understood that Mr. Graham does not intend to race him, but bought him for breeding purposes to help improve the stock of this district. None of the Empress Hotel horses will be entered in the Exhibition this year.

AT GOSPEL HALL.

To-morrow will be a special day at Gospel Hall, being the annual rally day, when the assembly and schools meet at three o'clock in the afternoon in open session to listen to an address by Mr. A. S. Brown, of Hamilton, who is one of the most successful Sunday school superintendents in the Hamilton district. Anyone interested in Sunday school work heartily invited. On Monday night the ladies will entertain the school at a fellowship tea in the hall. All scholars and their parents are invited.

FOR VOCAL STUDENTS.

Mrs. W. D. Golding, of the Toronto Conservatory staff, is arranging to come to the Peterborough Conservatory one day each week. This is a rare opportunity for "vocal students" to take up Toronto Conservatory work in Peterborough. Mrs. Golding has been very successful in preparing pupils for the examinations at Toronto Conservatory. At last mid-winter exams., two of her pupils took the highest marks at Conservatory in "junior voice," and at recent exams. one of her pupils received "honors" in her A.T.C.M. Voice. Pupils desirous of studying kindly call at Peterborough Conservatory, where all arrangements can be made.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor Examiner:

I don't know when my indignation has been so thoroughly aroused as when I read in your paper of the damaging of the Scriven Monument in Pengelly Cemetery. I believe it to be a premediated piece of villany and wanton destruction as no person carrying a firearm, however irresponsible he might be, would think of firing thirty shots at a monument. It is clearly a case for the authorities to take up and the penalty should be nothing short of a penitentiary term.

Yours truly,
W. S. BRIDGEBURG.

EDITOR—We understand that the monument which was damaged by bullet marks is located on the Bewdley road and not in the cemetery referred to above. Two monuments have been erected to the memory of Joseph Scriven.

AN ANSWER TO GRANDFATHER AND FATHER.

I was very much interested in Father's and Grandfather's letters, and I think by reading between the lines of Grandfather's letter it is easy to see it comes from one higher up than the average workman. He states that products in general are placed upon a market where they are met by the keenest competition. Well we all know that but to meet that competition the manufacturers are not satisfied with a little less profit (which by the way would not be noticed owing to the enormous profits made by some during the war) the first thing that is discussed is a cut in the Employees wages. We have been told if we accept these cuts, orders can be obtained, but I have not seen any particular rush since these cuts have been made. Wages should not be paid according to how many hours a day a man can work, but according to how much it takes a man to live (providing of course the man does a fair day's work accordingly. Say, Grandfather, do you ever hear of the wages of Directors and Presidents etc. of the big concerns being cut? And don't forget that at the time your grandchildren and children were raised, it was far different to conditions existing to-day. You know there has been a big war and the world is upside down. I don't know but I guess you had some of the family in that war. I should hope so anyway. Here is a good argument for the Returned Soldier. During the years he was away his dollar a day kept declining in value, The "Wise Guys" (apologizing for those who could not go) stayed at home and made big money. The consequence is the soldier came back and had to start where he left off. Those who made this big money do not feel the pinch of these cuts in wages like the returned man. And about that Country, though beaten flat is rapidly recovering. Would Grandfather like to go to work in Germany? Does Grandfather know the conditions the German people are working under and the wages being paid? Hadn't he ought to be glad he was on the winning side? My answer to Father is thatt the Fair Wage Board should be invited to Peterboro to investigate the Wages and Conditions of some of the Factories and correspond them with the price of living including Rents, Taxes and Rates etc And my answer to Grandfather is "Could you keep a wife and Seven Children on $18 a week under the present conditions?" In fact could any of the critics to Father's letter do it?

Yours,
Fair Wage and Fair Play.
Helps you to save for a Rainy Day.

Sir:

A western paper has the following beautiful lines of poetry on the coming elections and as a sample of what we may expect this fall. Perhaps you would be kind enough to print it:—

Tune (Three little man's from school.)

Oh, where oh, where oh! where are we,
Fifty-fifty fakirs free
All high up in an election tree
Oh where oh where are we?

We had a scheme that was quite worth while
Full of guise and full of guile
We collared the party and the plunder

More Heat at Less Cost

The direct heating principle of the Findlay Pipeless Furnace eliminates all loss of heat and floods every corner of every room with warm, moist air at a saving of 35% to 50% on fuel.

There are no pipes or costly plumbing fixtures. A hole cut in the first floor for the register face, the furnace in place in the cellar, the smoke pipe connected up and your Findlay Pipeless is ready to heat the house from top to bottom. It does not heat the cellar which may, therefore, be used for storage of fruits, vegetables, etc.

The Findlay can be installed quickly and cheaply in any home, old or new. The job is easily done in a day, so you can light the fire a few hours after the furnace is delivered at your door; and from that time on, every corner of your home will be warm, healthy and comfortable, no matter what the outside temperature.

Will you let us send you the full facts about this economical heating system? The attached coupon, filled in as indicated, will bring you all particulars by return mail. Mail it today.

Why It Pays You to Use Firestone Tires

When you buy Firestone Tires, you get more than an ordinary tire. You buy twenty year's experience of an organization of specialists. This experience is reflected in perfect balance, low internal heat and friction, sure traction and other features of Firestone design and construction.

These features have so well proven themselves in actual use that Firestone leadership has long been acknowledged, and most miles per dollar, the Firestone standard of tire value, accepted as the best measure of tire costs.

And with Firestone prices on their new low level, most miles per dollar acquires a new meaning that will be a revelation even to the most enthusiastic Firestone user.

Rub Backache Away

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica or maybe from a strain, and you'll get blessed relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil." Nothing else takes out soreness, lameless and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on and out comes the pain. It is perfectly harmless and doesn't burn or discolor the skin.

Limber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle from any drug store, and after using it just once, you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years.

My Terrible Eight Days in an Open Boat

The Only Woman on The Ill-Fated Ausonia Tells Her Thrilling Story of Suffering, and Is Now Once Again at Sea Because She Really Likes the Ocean Better Than the Land.

Mrs. Theresa Edgar, Heroine of a Torpedoed Liner, Who Has Overcome the Resulting Horror of the Sea by Shipping Again as a Stewardess.

"After the Sixth Day a Terrific Gale Set in, and Fearful That the Boats Would Collide We Had to Cut Them Loose."

By Helen Hoffman

YOU might well have thought Theresa Edgar would never again be found on an ocean ship. If you had gone through her ordeal you probably would feel that you had a right to a prejudice. And yet she has just "gone back." Perhaps the lure of the sea was too strong for any counter prejudice.

And besides, there are no more submarines!

From behind that gray veil of mystery which shrouded life at sea during the perilous days of war, now and then is revealed recitals of superb heroism which rival the extraordinary deeds of bravery and courage exhibited on the battlefields of Europe.

Tales of the Tragic Days

One cannot cross the Atlantic today without meeting one or more of the crew of a liner who has experienced the close-to-death sensation on a torpedoed steamer. Many of these men after having been torpedoed once, and narrowly escaping death in a lifeboat tossed on a turbulent sea, merely waited till their clothing had dried out before shipping again.

I heard of one British sailor who had "been torpedoed" seven times, but those "English ducks," as the American doughboy called them, gave not overmuch concern to such occurrences as being dumped out of their berths to shift for themselves in the rough Atlantic.

But of all the thrilling encounters with submarines which the war produced, that told by a young English woman who spent eight days in a lifeboat until finally picked up by a British destroyer, is in some ways most thrilling.

One can understand how a seafaring man would have the pride to resent being driven from the sea by a little experience with a submarine which cast him afloat on the broad blue ocean.

But this is the story of a little woman, who, lover of the sea, and fearless to the last degree, has, after those terrible days last year in an open boat, courageously put to sea again as stewardess of the big Cunard liner, the Orduna, which plied continually between American and British ports, and transported thousands of American soldiers and war workers during the entire war period.

The Woman Who Goes Back

Hardy old captains of the sea who ploughed their ships through the danger zones scores of times since 1914, freely spoke their astonishment the other day when they learned that Mrs. Theresa Edgar had gone to sea again.

It was little short of marvellous, remarked Capt. Taylor of the Orduna, whose ship made more than ninety trips through the submarine waters during the war.

Mrs. Edgar, the young widow of a seafaring man, has a considerable war record herself, for aside from her terrible experience after being torpedoed, she has successfully crisscrossed the Atlantic danger zone sixty times.

"I was on the Mauretania, a few days out from England, when war was declared," she said the other day in the lounge of the Orduna, while it rested in the port of New York. "We were chased by a German raider and ran into Halifax."

This was the beginning of Mrs. Edgar's war experiences at sea.

Mrs. Edgar says she is certain she has some sort of a protecting spirit watching over her, for, as she points out, she "stopped at home" after making the last round trips that the Lusitania and the Laconia made before they went down under the fire of the German submarines.

Mrs. Edgar, an attractive little person, with the fresh coloring of the English woman, and a pretty oval shaped face framed in a tossing mop of auburn hair, was the stewardess and only woman aboard the ill-fated Ausonia when that ship was lost about 900 miles off the Irish coast.

Had Stopped Thinking of Danger

"I had been through the danger zone so often that about the last thing that I thought of when we sailed on that trip was submarines," she said. "Two other passenger boats accompanied us and we were escorted by six destroyers.

"The second day out, while we were at luncheon, we heard that a submarine had given chase. The destroyers had dropped depth bombs and it was believed that the sub had been sunk.

"Whether it was the same submarine that sank our boat two days later we do not know. The following evening, Wednesday, the third day out, the destroyers left us, and we regarded ourselves in the zone of safety.

"Late Thursday afternoon, being very tired and having nothing to do, I lay down in my cabin and was soon fast asleep. A terrible explosion awakened me a little while later. It was about 5 o'clock. Thinking the danger had passed when I lay down, I took off my blue dress and slipped on a kimono. I had my shoes on.

"Merely curious, I walked out into the alleyway, when the chief steward came rushing down the stairs. 'For God's sake,' he called to me, 'get on your lifebelt! The boat is sinking!'

"I hurried on deck and saw that the stern was dipping down into the sea."

Then Mrs. Edgar told of an incident that revealed the only hint in that whole terrible experience, of her essentially feminine make-up.

"I had just bought a new spring hat in London," she said. "It was a pretty shade of pink. I liked it better than any hat I had ever had. I rushed back and got that hat. That is the only thing I saved. I put it on and wore it for one day when the waves did their worst. I lost all my personal belongings.

"The boats had been quickly lowered and as we carried no passengers the whole crew, with the exception of one boat load, including the chief officer, physician and about twenty others, was rowing away from the sinking ship when I climbed down the rope ladder into the boat. At the same time, on the portside, Capt. Robert Capper, the last to leave, was jumping into a boat to save his life, when it was seen the ship was past saving.

"There were seven lifeboats in all. The submarine when it saw our men could not operate our ship's guns, came to the surface, and running in between us, fired about forty rounds into the Ausonia. The ship seemed fairly to leap out of the sea, stood for a fleeting minute on her nose, as it were, and dropped into the water.

The Germans Standing By

"With the Germans standing at their guns, the captain of the submarine whipped out a revolver, and pointing it at the men in the different lifeboats ordered them to come alongside.

"Covered with the revolver, as one after another drew up before him, he ordered them to throw up their hands, while he questioned them as to the name, destination and mission of the boat. When he spied my pink hat, he seemed surprised, and remarked, in perfect English to his comrades, 'Why, there's a lady in this boat!'

"Finally after having questioned the last boatful, to their satisfaction, the crew smiled at us—or rather, it was a sarcastic sneer I should say—and turned and left us to our fate.

"I believe it was Capt. Capper's foresight that saved us, for with his wonderful optimism, he reminded us that we were in the wake of steamers with a good chance of being rescued, but he said it may be longer than we think, so we will at once go on rations.

"If we hadn't done that we probably would have starved to death, as we have reason to believe the men in two other boats did.

"In order to divide the rations so they would last till we could be picked up, we had three tablespoons of water three times a day, a half of a biscuit three times a day, and a slice of bully beef once a day. I didn't eat the beef, because I suffered so from thirst, which the beef seemed to increase, and while the men urged upon me their share of the water, I did not want to accept any undue favors, so that they would regard me as a nuisance.

"The weather at the time we were torpedoed was fine, but during the night the breeze freshened, and at daybreak two of the boats were not to be seen. They never came to shore.

"We stretched a rope from boat to boat so that we could all keep together, but after the sixth day a terrific gale set in, and fearful that the boats would collide, we had to cut them loose.

"With sails up, this gale helped us to speed toward land. Waves sprayed us and rains drenched us. I don't know how we managed it, but we all felt somehow that we would be saved and we never gave up hope. During the nights my sensations were sad, I can assure you.

"The captain had thrown a bag into his boat and this contained a white flannel shirt, which he gave me. I think I should have perished without it. This, with one of the blankets with which the lifeboats were supplied, kept me from freezing.

Terrors of the Night

"We battled with heavy seas at times, and often during a night when it was as black as pitch, out chances of ever seeing home again seemed small indeed.

"On Friday, eight days after we had been torpedoed," said Mrs. Edgar, "the gale that had helped to speed toward shore died down. This was when the weary sailor men began to show signs of the effects of exposure and lack of food. They had no strength left to pull the oars. For several hours they remained in this plight, and I think the thought pierced every one's mind sometime during that day, that unless help came very soon we couldn't stick it out much longer. But still hoping for the best, the chief officer stirred us all by declaring that he was sure he had sighted land.

"Then at last real hope did come!

"There was a light we saw in the distance Friday night, presumably a lighthouse, and Capt. Capper sent up some red flares. Never shall I forget that tiny ray of hope that showed itself in the east, with death staring us all in the face.

"That lighthouse was our salvation. It signalled a rescuing British war vessel, and about 3 o'clock Saturday this ship bore down upon the most grateful group of people the Atlantic has ever looked upon.

"We were a terrible looking lot; the men unshaven and wet to their skins; my hair, which hadn't been combed for nine days, blowing every which way; and bedraggled and half dead we were pulled aboard the warm, cosey compartments of the warship.

"None of us will ever forget that wonderful breakfast, which we devoured like hungry wolves, after we had made such toilettes as the accommodations afforded.

Landing in Ireland

"The ship ran us into Bearhaven, County Cork. We stayed at the hotel for a few hours and then journeyed on to Dublin, then to Holyhead. Crossing the Irish sea, I thought, 'Now I can finally rest,' but no sooner was I resting in my cabin when I was warned of the danger we faced, and again we drew in our breaths and steeled ourselves for any new experience that might overtake us. All the other boats made land, except the two lost sight of the first night out. One sailor boy, who had his ankles broken by a piece of wood that fell on him when the explosion occurred, we had taken into our boat. He died two days after reaching the hospital in Liverpool. The rest of us suffer at times from rheumatism or from our feet, but otherwise we are no worse for the experience.

"I love the sea. I am happier on it than on land. After my husband died I had to earn my living, and I prefer this to anything else. I try not to think of that experience in a lifeboat. Perhaps if I should dwell on it I should go crazy. I do not deny it was terrifying. Crouched in the bottom of a boat, drenched for days, not knowing what moment would be our last, was not an experience to be forgotten in a hurry. But why dwell on the past when there is so much worth living for in the future?"

Mrs. Edgar and other women of the sea who braved the submarine dangers year in and year out, viewed their work philosophically and from the high level of patriotic duty, for, as many of them remarked: "Our men are in the trenches braving death. Shouldn't we take equal chances with them?"

Capt. Capper of the Ausonia, who was saved at sea, himself in 1913 saved more than one hundred passengers and the crew of the Spanish steamer Balmes which had taken fire on a voyage from Havana to Cadiz. For this he was rewarded by the Spanish Life Saving Society with a gold medal, and received the official thanks of the Spanish government.

Is This the World's Oldest Song?

ASKED to name the oldest tune in the world, few persons could give the correct answer.

It is that to which is sung the words "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and the air, which can be traced in distant Asia and Africa, as well as in most European countries, has an interesting history.

Its origin is lost in antiquity, but it is supposed to have been learned from the ancient Babylonians by the Egyptians, who popularized it in Africa and Asia Minor. Arabs still sing it.

The Crusaders caught the tune from their Saracen enemies, and sung it under the walls of Jerusalem, which today, perhaps, vibrate to the same notes, chanted by the victorious troops of the Allies. The air was ultimately carried into Europe, where it survived, in various forms, among the folk-songs of the different nations.

In 1709, after their defeat at Malplaquet, the French, following a false rumor of the Duke of Marlborough's death in battle, composed a satiric lament, "Mabrook is Off to the War," detailing the supposed death and burial of the English general, and the ascension of his soul to heaven.

The words were sung to the old, popular air, whose lilting rhythm lent itself to the swing of the 22 verses.

Like most topical songs, this one was of short-lived popularity; but in 1781, it suddenly echoed from one end of France to the other. The young Marie Antoinette gave birth to an heir, and the baby prince, in accordance with French custom, was placed under the care of a robust peasant foster-mother. The nurse used to put her royal charge to sleep, with the old song of her village home. The girl-mother began, almost unconsciously, to repeat the simple refrain and as if by magic the song became the craze of the day.

Napoleon himself, though a hater of music, never mounted his charger to go into action without singing a few bars of the ancient melody.

The air is still popular in France, as it is in England and America, but few of the Doughboys, Tommies and Poilus humming in chorus, can have suspected the varied history of the simple tune.

BIG HOCKEY MEETING PAVES WAY FOR EARLY START IN WINTER GAME

C. R. WIDDIFIELD HEADS HOCKEY EXECUTIVE TO WORK WITH THE P.A.A.A.

It was a big hockey meeting in the Chamber of Commerce, last night. The attendance was large representative and enthusiastic. A splendid start was made and at the present time there are no signs of cross currents .It is now up to the Peterboro Amateur Athelitic Association and the officers elected at last night's meeting to get to work.

When the hockey situation was reviewed by the meeting the feeling appeared to be in favor of cleaning house and making a fresh start. R. M. Glover offered suggestions and advice that came at an opportune time and were welcomed by everybody. (

Eddie Wright was asked to open the meeting and in doing so, briefly stated the objective of the meeting—that of making an early start in the interest of the winter sport.

The meeting first decided that the organization to be formed should affiliate with the P.A.A.A. and through that body apply to the Ontario Hockey Association for the franchise.

The following were elected officers:—

Hon. President—J. P. Bond
President—C. R. Widdifield
Vice President—Eddie Wright
Secretary—Frank Convery
Treasurer—Don. Loucks

The matter of a manager and a coach was left with the executive afer Jerry Coughlin who was nominated for the job, said he was not in a position to give a definite answer.

Dr. A. P. Rogers a newcomer from Galt, brought a glowing report of the successful activities of Galt A.A.A. which body promoted all branches of sport and last winter secured the services of Percy Lesuer former professional hocky players to handle the hockey team. Galt went out and won Intrmediate honors.

President Widdifield in addressing the meeting promised good service on the part of the officers and asked for the cooperaion of all friends of the game, in the interest of hockey in this city.

The new hockey executive will next hold a conference with the Atheletic Association.

KICK LACKING IN THE TENNIS EVENTS TO-DAY

ANOTHER WALK THROUGH IN PROSPECT FOR THE NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP SECOND ROUND AT PHILADELPHIA.

By Henry LaFarrell, United Press.

PHILADELPHIA, September 10. —Another walk through was in prospect for the second round of the National Tennis Championship to-day, at the Germantown Cricket Club, and unless a master key fails to throw back the bolt all the favorites should walk through an open door into the third round.

Serious opposition is so much missing that 5 feature matches of the day could almost be classed as exhibit features.

William T. Tilden meets Philip Goldsborough, Baltimore; William M. Johnston meets Edward Challan, Merchantville, N. J., Zonzo Shimidzu, the tiny Jap, faces Marshall Allen, Seattle, and Richards plays Walter Hays of Chicago.

Richards ,the Yonkers boy wonder, may have a contest with Hays, who has held the western championship, and is now the little soldier of the Clay Courts.

Fifty four players survived the first round in a series of matches that lacked a kick. The field will be cut in half by to-day's matches in the second round.

BASEBALL

In the third game for Tri-County honors played at Uxbridge yesterday afternoon, Sutton defeated Uxbridge by a score of 9 to 6. Sutton has now won two games, both of them in Uxbridge. The paid attendance was two thousand. Alex Kay and Kevin Murray handled the game.

A FORMER STAGE FAVORITE

Betty Ross Clark, who appears in the all-star cast of Thomas H. Ince's "Mother O' Mine," at the Allen Theatre next week, received her early daramtic training as a leading woman with several Eastern and Middle Western stock companies. During the past year she has played opposite numerous prominent screen stars.

MAYNEORD WINS HIS SIXTH GAME

The J. L. Whattam cup is still with us. Arthur Germond's Oshawa rink, including Mr. Whattam himself, as lead, made a big bid for it last night, but Jack Mayneord managed to nose out another victory by the score of 19 to 18 in an extra end. It was a ding-long game from the start, and was tied up six or seven times. Both rinks had temporary leads, but they were all even on the 21st end, the regular length of a game. Mayneord scored one in the extra frame, giving his rink a further lease of the cup, and counting his sixth successive victory. The rinks were as follows:

J. L. Whattam	R. Eliiott
J. Johnston	A. Ross
Fred Hobbs	W. J. Oke
A. Germond	J. Mayneord
Skip 18	Skip 19

Last night's game was the closest of the series the Mayneord rink has played since securing possession of the Whattam cup. Monday night they play a rink skipped by Fred Hobbs of Oshawa, who "viced" for Germond. The challengers who have been defeated by the local bowlers have been: C. W. Dettenbeck, Oshawa; Reg. Hayden, Port Hoe; Capt. McCullough, Cobourg; J. A. Webster, Bowmanville, and W. F. L. Campbell, Port Hope. Blake McMurty of Bowmanville, was on the list, but defaulted his game.

GOLF

Calgary Herald: It is natural that golf should take a great hold upon the people of Canada. We are decidedly an out-door people, winter and summer. The outside world hears of our winter weather reports as house-locked, seeking warmth. How false this picture is, Canadians all a constantly growing host of winter visitors know. The snow and ice of our winter we convert into vehicles of splendid pastimes, and tobogganing, skating, skiing and snowshoeing make it a time of splendid and exhilarating sport. Then comes the Canadian summer—a season, usually of medium heat, in the West, marked by long hours of sunshine and light. Golf then comes into its own. It is the ideal individual game. To the old it offers its joys as well as to the young. The former are not so energetic, but more thoughtful and patient, possessing perhaps more of the golf temperament, and while age may have to give way to youth when the visible prizes of the games are distributed it reaps equally the rewards that golf gives in other ways—play in the open air and the sunshine, the pleasant companionship of friends, the zest of competition, exercise not too strenuous. It is a game that yields its secrets not readily to any who seek them, and it plays no favorites among its rich or poor; the man of great strength and size has no advantage over his smaller competitor who is able to keep his eye on the ball and make a clean stroke.

BORDEN AND DOHERTY MAY BE JUDGES.

GENEVA, Sept. 10. — (Canadian Press).—The International Court of Justice, on which the hope of the League of Nations seems now largely to be centred, was foremost in preoccupations of delegates of the League Assembly here yesterday, and likely will remain so until the judges of the court are elected next week. The Assembly committee in the meantime will establish a basis for the work of the session on disarmament, amendments and blockades.

Sir Robert Borden and Hon. C. J. Doherty are mentioned as judges.

OTTAWA, September 10 (Canadian Press). — The Dominion convention of the G.W.V.A. of Canada opens at Port Arthur on 17th October. Problems of national interest will be discussed, also amalgamation.

TO-DAY—Wm. Fox Program

THEATRES

This evening concludes a varied and entertaining programmen of entertainment at the local theatres The last three days has seen excellent offerings at all four. The master magician, The Great Blackstone, has been drawing crowds to te Grand Opera House, to witness the manifestations of a man with brain and hands trained to the very highest point of efficiency. With a wave of his masterly fingers, he summons all manner of interesting thinge out of the void causes human flesh and blood to appear and disappear at a mystical sign, and completely severs the body of an unprotesting lady. His seance with the crystal ball, in which he answers enquiries from the audience is very interesting and the little banjo fiend, Miss Inez Nourse, adds much to the attraction of a varied and stimulating programme.

THE ALLEN

Lionel Barrymore enthralled his audiences at the Allen with his portrayal of a "good" bad man. Jim Ralston is the crook with the facile pen who forges cheques with no compunction whatever, but hesitates not for an instant to take upon himself another's guilt when he sees his daughter's future jeopardized. Lionel Barrymore in all his versatile career, has seldom done anything better than the part of "Jim the Penman," and every detail of the picture, down to the old-fashioned costumes of feminine actors, has been studied with the close attention that leads to perfection. A comedy de luxe, Johnny Hines in "Torchy Mixes In" and Tarzan serial complete the Allen offerings for the last thre days of this week.

THE CAPITOL

At the Capitol there is Elsie Ferguson, the dramatic screen beauty who executs difficult society parts in a finished manner. Her beautiful gowns and the wonderful backgrounds provided for this production add much to the charm of the picture, which is a delineation of supreme passion, requiring much strong emotonal acting. As Carlotta Peel, the incentive to renewed life for one man and for absolute self-abandoment for the other, she has some wonderful scenes. The plot is out of the ordinary. The musician whom she loves seems to be unworthy of her and is an absinthe addict, but later, through her influence, turns from sordid ways to a fresh start in life, while the publisher, Ispenlove, pours out his whole heart and love and finally dies for the woman who cares nothing for him. Strong human emotion is the keynote of this picture and rises to the heghts and sinks to sordid depths.

Lloyd is at his best in "Among Those Present" and "The Yellow Arm' serial is as thrillng as ever. The vaudeville provided, which has its last performance here this evening, is of entertaining variety, the Italian fiddler getting much applause from enthusiastic audiences.

THE REGENT

The Regent has the popular star, Tom Mix, in a William Fox production, "Hands Off' where this well liked player appears as a member of that great band of guardians which for years preserved law and order in Texas. Mix is the hard-riding fast shootng ranger, with Pauline Curley as Ramona, the heroine, who provides stimulus for hero's deeds of derring-do. The big scene is the stampede of horses thrilling and wild, when a herd of wild steers imperil the life of the little sister of the heroine. A Fox Sunshine Comedy, "The Simp", and Hoot Gibson in "Supersition" round out a good entertainment.

SHOWS NEXT WEEK

The popular Rex Stock Company has a full week's showing at the Grand Opera House next week with performances every evening and Saturday afternoon. A comedy-drama in four acts, "What Happened to Mary" is the offering for Monday and Tuesday, with a complete change of programme on Wednesday and Friday evenings. The usual entracte selectons of polite vaudeville will accompany the performances.

AT THE CAPITOL

he feature picture for the first three days of next week at the Capitol Theatre is "The Princess of New York," a British production with David Powell in the stellar role. The story deals with a young American girl, the daughter of a steel king, who goes to England and falls into the clutches of a polished card sharp, being finally rescued by an Oxford undergraduate. Buster Keaton n a two-reel comedy "The High Sign' several short reels and a chapter of "The Yellow Arm" complete the programme, with a double vaudeville act, Alice Remsne English cofedienne, and Stanley, Doyle and Reno, in a harmony singing act entitled "Who Did It."

AT THE ALLEN

An all-star cast of unusual merit will be feaured in Thomas H. Ince's latest melodrama, "Mother O'Mine" at the Allen Theatre for the first three days of next week. Joseph Kilgour, who recenly received high critical praise for his splendid performance if Ince's "Beau Revel" is so successful in his own partcular type as to be regarded as "the meanest man on the stage" Betty Blythe a clever stage beauty Lloyd Hughes Bety Ross Clark and Clare McDowell form the leading actors. Mother O'Mine just recently completed a long run in Toronto, and will be featured here by a prologue enacted by local talent, Mr. Verne Morphet and Miss Wright appearing in songs and recitations dedicated to this picure.

The balance of the programme includes Lloyd Hamilton in "Moonshine" a mermaid comedy, and the production of "Orpheus" by the Allen Orchestra.

AT THE REGENT

For the first three days of the coming week, the Regent Theatre offers "The Money Changers" from the story written by Upton Sinclair and Benjamin B. Hampton. A setting unequalled in richness, bizarre and exotic beauty; a setting mysterious and luxurious; and atmosphere were odors of sandalwood incense and opium mingle with the scent of Chinese lilies, form a colorful background for a thrilling story of love, danger and intrigue. Robert McKim, Claire Adams and Ray Stewart appear in this production. A thrilling episode from 'Ruth of the Rockies," with Ruth Roland in the title role, and numerous small reels form a pleasing programme.

A Boy's Vacation

(By Nixon Waterman.)

Little Tommy Doodle and his mother spent a week
At Gran'pa Doodle's farm, where Tommy tumbled in the creek
And got his lungs so full of wet he couldn't get his breath
Till poorold Gran'ma Doodle had been frightened 'most to death.

He ate some poison berries that he found along the lane;
It took a doctor half the night to soothe away the pain.
He tried to ride "kicky" colt —a risky thing to do—
'Twas quite a little while before they really brought him to.

He stuck a stick into a hive of bees—oh, sorry day!
He couldn't see a thing until the swelling went away.
He teased the goat to see if it was cross as he had heard:
They had to work with him awhile before he spoke a word.

And then climbed a cherry tree—just like a boy—and fell
And broke his arm, and — sakes alive! you ought 'a heard him yell.
His mother took him back to town to get a little rest,
But Tommy says, of all his life that week was far the best.

Moonshine and Miners' Strike

(By Oliver F. Holden, in The New York Times.)

"Them strikers ain't 'ut'rested in reco'nition o' no coal mine unions no more than what you or I be."

The speaker was Tolbert Hatfield, a patriarch of the Kentucky-West Virginia clan notorious for having very nearly totally extinguished their rivals, the McCoys, in the terrible mountain feud that grew out of the accidental slaughter of a razor-back hog.

Uncle Tolbert is a sage of the hills, cautious in forming his opinions and still more cautious in giving them utterance, all of which may account for his having lived to be 65 in a section where arguments are settled expeditiously between individuals, but carried on by survivors of the families concerned. Moreover, since the President of the United States has been asked to intervene, the dicta of a front porch mind are very pertinent. Uncle Tolbert spend a great deal of time on his front porch

I was on the engineering corps of one of the coal companies operating near Williamson, W. Va. Four of the staff climbed over the hills into the fastnesses of the moonshine region to locate prospective new mines. A nephew of Uncle Tolbert, who was one of the party, vouched for our innocence of connection with the law, and we were freely accepted by the mountaineers. We stayed at the house of Uncle Tolbert, who is disappointingly genial and law-abiding.

The Tolbert Hatfield house is on Blackberry Creek, in Pike County, Kentucky. It is about six miles from Matewan, Mingo County, on the Tug River, where Sid Hatfield reigned as Chief of Police until about a month ago, when he was killed, and where more than a score of men were slain in May, 1920. A large proportion of mine workers are mountaineers, so I thought Uncle, Tolbert's opinion on the strike question would be illuminating. He gave evasive answers to my questions at first, but I hived a swarm of bees for him and he became my friend and talked freely.

"Those fellers," said Uncle Tolbert, "are just naturally hot-headed and lookin' fer trouble. Jus' give 'em a shot o' moonshine an' let some o' them furriners get 'em in tow an' all hell can't stop 'em until there's been a ruckus."

His words pictured for me a mob of red-eyed, lanky mountain men, led by long-haired, pasty-faced radicals of Slavic origin, struggling with olive drab-clad deputies hired by the coal companies. I was wrong, of course. "Furriners" are simply strangers from outside the mountains. They may be Americans of the oldest stock, but if they are not hill folk of several generations' standing they are "furriners."

"You think," I asked, "that the strikers have no real grounds for complaint against the operators?"

"I ain't sayin' that," replied Uncle Tolbert. "I dunno but there's some right on both sides. I reckon a heap o' times these here killin's could 'a' been avoided if both sides could 'a' seed how the other feller looked at it. But what I do say is that while there's young blood an' corn likker in the hills they's goin' to be trouble. It jest happens to be over the unions now, but if'n they gits that settled they'll think o' somethin' else to row about."

Difficulties of a Solution.

Although Uncle Tolbert's solution does not quite satisfy, it seems to me to be about as good as any I have heard. I talked to well-informed men on both sides and each was convinced that the other was totally wrong. I worked in the mines and I ended by investing my hard-earned savings in a share of stock, so that I would be qualified to speak as a worker and as a capitalist. I am just as far from having an unchangeable opinion on the causes and aims of the coal strike as when I first went into the coal fields, and am content with Uncle Tolbert's solution until a better one is offered.

The workers claim that without the unions they are ill paid for work that is done under intolerable conditions. The Mingo-Pike County district is the last trench of the owners in their struggle against unionization. The miners, because of high coal prices and the general belief that their work is extraordinarily hazardous, have usually had the aid of public sympathy in their conflict with the "coal barons."

My work took me inside the mines as well as into the undeveloped territory. I saw coal loaders, dynamiters, motormen, track layers and tipplemen at work. The coal loader, the man who digs the coal and loads the mine cars, is the doughboy of mining.

There is a thrill of danger when one first enters a mine. That sense of danger remains until one sees a cautious coal loader at work. The careful miner tests his roof at frequent intervals to be sure that the slate is in good condition and not likely to fall. If there are signs, easily discernible to the practiced eye, of an impending slate-fall, he reports to the foreman and is assigned to another room, or he lays off until the condition is remedied or a decision made to abandon work in that section. If the roof is good the loader places timbers under the slate as he advances. There is always danger, of course, but I believe that a report of mine casualties would be no greater proportionately than a report of railroad worker casualties. The prospective danger is lessened by the miner's knowledge that his life depends upon his own thoroughness in timbering and his own caution.

The greatest drawback to mine work is its lonesomeness. This condition exists and will exist in all mines, regardless of unions or any inclination of the owners.

How Men Work in Mingo.

The Mingo district workings are all "drift mines"; that is, there is no vertical shaft. The openings penetrate directly into the hillsides and are composed of long halls branching out to the right and left, known as "flats," "butts" and "rooms." A mine map is similar to a map showing city streets and squares, the squares in the mine indicating immense pillars that are left to support the top. The timbering is simply an auxiliary support in the hallways.

All penetrations are made in duplicate with "brattices" of wood constructed in the connecting chambers, in order to provide free circulation of air. Great fans suck the air out of one opening and keep a continuous stream flowing through the outer edge of the workings. Miners cannot work more than seventy feet away from the air current, so at every sixty feet a new connecting opening is made between the parallel penetrations and the last one blocked with a wooden wall. By this means the air is kept pure, and nature attends to the temperature, for the thermometer is around 60 degrees Winter and Summer in the mines, which is an advantage that mine work has over other labor. What would New York not give for a 60-degree Summer in the city?

The loaders, of course, work at the extreme points of penetration and only one, or possibly two, work in each room. They are disposed very much as the sentries around a "strong point" or hill in a trench sector, fifty feet or more apart. This precludes conversation, and except for the sound of their own picks there is complete silence that seems to envelope them as does the darkness.

Some half dozen times a day the electric mine trains visit the loaders, exchanging empty cars for full, but other than these visits the only relief from lonely monotony is the probable visit of a "cut boss" or assistant foreman and the possible inspection by the "bank boss" or foreman. The track layers work in pairs and are as much alone in their work as the loaders. The train crews, consisting of motorman and brakeman, are separated by the length of their noisy trains, and only the crew of the "main" gets outside of the mine during working hours.

The "main trip" of the mine trains starts out at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, as a rule, which means the workers have four hours a day in the sunlight during the Summer. The work is not sufficiently hard to sap the men's energies so they cannot use those four hours to advantage. Apparently there are two schools of miners: those who expend their surplus time and energy in fighting and those who use it for gardening. I could not see that working conditions were measurably, if any, harder or more dangerous than for other semi-skilled laborers. If they had just cause for complaint it would have to be charged to their pay or living conditions.

How to Own the Mines.

About 1,100 men work for my employing company and the value of the company's property is about four and a half or five million dollars. It is easy to see what organized effort in saving and stock purchase would have done in that particular case in contrast to the waste of time and property involved in strike conditions. If the mine workers really want to own the mines, as the owners charge, they can obtain possession peacefully and without suffering on the part of the public by investing their savings in the stocks, which are easily purchasable in the open market.

Living conditions in mining camps are another matter and vary according to natural conditions and the dispositions of the owners and workers. In the Tug River locality the miners live in three and four room houses or two-family eight-room houses. "Club houses" are provided for the unattached males and are really boarding houses maintained by the companies. Coal is furnished and delivered free of charge by the companies, and electric lights and running water are provided and included in the house rent. The latter are luxuries not found in other communities of the same size and are made possible by the fact that the companies have electric power available for the mine work and the current is simply switched to the houses at night, while the water supply is made possible by the abundant rainfall and the steep hills which make pumps unnecessary for the water system.

The workers are mostly natives of Anglo-Saxon or negro stock. Some few Spaniards, Italians and "Hunks"—Slav and Teuton—are found, but the majority are English-speaking blacks and whites. The aliens were mine workers in Europe. And say frankly that they live better here than they did on the other side.

When the owners show what they are doing for the miners, it would seem that no one could doubt that the miners are asking for more than their share of the proceeds from the exploitation of this natural resource when they demand further concessions. A remark of a certain general manager threw some doubt upon this, as far as I was concerned, however.

"We maintain the union scale of wages, and in some respects go the union one better," he said. "We believe the unions simply want to create trouble, and therefore won't recognize them. Why should our workmen want to unionize when we grant everything the unions demand except recognition?"

I asked a coal dealer what he thought of the unions.

"Ain't nothin' but a lot o' trouble makers," he said. "They collects dues and sech like an' calls strikes to make the feller that does the work lose time and spend whatever he's got saved up."

It was apparent to me that a minority was responsible for the turbulence in the coal fields.

Queen Wilhelmina, of Holland, has been recommended for the Nobel Peace Prize this year, on the ground that of all neutral nations, Holland did most to reestablish peace in Europe.

AT JACKSON PARK.

Late Summer ,Aug. 31st.

Oh, it's an ideal day to-day,
To be at Jackson Park,
To wander mid the beautiful,
So near to Nature's heart.

The tall and dark old pine trees
Like sentinels they stand,
Seeming to say, "We're keeping watch
O'er this, our fairy land."

O'erhead a lovely pale blue sky,
With fleecy clouds of white,
Profusely massed o'er pale green trees,
Which make a pleasant sight.

Along the banks of the water,
Poplars shimmer in light,
Leaves slightly upturned by the breeze,
Are silver tipped with white.

Autumnal flowers are blooming,
So sweet, serene and gay,
To summer they are bidding,
Their last good-bye to-day.

'Tis quiet, oh, so quiet,
No birds sing in the trees,
And light and breeze are playing,
Wistfully with the leaves.

Theres notes almost of sadness
Afloat in the balmy air,
But yet though sweetly pensive
They're not notes of despair.

All seasons have their ending,
But faithful they return,
We love them all and watch and wait,
For each one in their turn.

Furs & Mystery

We can suggest but one way to avoid deception in Furs. When you start out to shop for Furs, choose your fur dealer much as you would a security for the safe investment of your money.

If you are buying a substitute or imitation fur, what interests you most is what you pay for it. In good fur shops you pay the real worth and are told just what the fur is. You also can secure the real article with the quality guarantee. Of course there are many concerns, both large and small, which will never be entirely honest till compelled to by law. These same firms prefer to sell their garments by deception whenever necessary to make the sale, either making an adjustment or taking back the garments should the purchaser learn the deception.

We are glad to say that there are concerns who feel and act in the fur business just as we do—telling the public just what each particular fur is, even though it be an imitation. These firms are glad to see an expose made of the tricks of the unscrupulous fur dealer and never willingly mislead the public, respecting fur, either in their advertisements or in the selling of their garments.

Aside from the determination to be strictly honest, these fur dealers know that to remain in business for long, it is absolutely necessary that the public gets exactly what it pays for; and while for the time being, sales and profits might be larger if they resorted to deception, in the end they profit far more greatly if they treat the public honestly.

All the above shows—First, Good Furs can be had without doubt. Second, all Furs have many graduations in quality. Third, Many low-grade Furs are used to imitate more costly furs. Fourth, Imitating and improving Furs through blending, dyeing, plucking and shearing has been widely developed in the last few years. Fifth, that the dealer with knowledge and integrity is the one to patronize.

You are never too old to learn. Within the last quarter of a century a new teacher has appeared, from which you can learn that all-important lesson—

The Secret of Health

Chiropractic teaches you to keep your wonderful human machine in condition ALL THE TIME. Chiropractic prevents your human machine from getting out of order. The Spinal Column is the foundation of this machine. The Chiropractor is your human machinist. He keeps the Vertebrae (Small Bones of the Spine) in perfect alignment so that they will NOT press upon the Nerves and cause an interruption of the vital force in its journey from the Brain to the various organs. Should there be such an interruption the Chiropractor locates the Subluxation (displacement) and adjusts the Vertebrae to their normal position. The result is the free and uninterrupted flow of the vital force, ensuring you HEALTH.

CHIROPRACTIC is indispensable for Acute Cases, Chronic Cases, and for Prevention of Disease.

CONSULT YOUR CHIROPRACTOR.

He will NOT attempt to stiffle the effect, but WILL LOCATE and ADJUST the CAUSE.

Be sure your Spine is in normal condition, and is KEPT in normal condition, and you are bound to enjoy Health.

Chiropractic and Man

Due to the strenuous life of Man, he is liable to a wide range of Disorders. A deficient supply of Nerve Energy, coupled with exciting causes, such as—Exposure, Extreme Muscular Exercises, Excessive Brain Work, Bad Habits, Overeating and Drinking, Excessive Use of Tobacco, etc., cause a breakdown in the system, as a result of which we may have any one or more of the following:

Hypertrophy or Insufficiency of the Heart, High Blood Pressure, Arteriosclerosis, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Gout, Sciatica, Dyspepsia, Bladder, Liver or Lung Troubles, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Asthma, Locomotor Atazia, Piles, Bright's Disease, Etc.

Chiropracticic Spinal Adjustment, coupled with Elimination of the Contributory Causes, is the surest and quickest road to a return of Health.

Periodical Examination and Adjustment (if indicated) is a better investment than Stocks and Bonds. It extends to you length of days and Health.

Your measure of Success in Life depends largely on the state of your Health.

OPTIMISM IS EXPRESSED IN IRISH PRESS

DE VALERA AND HIS CABINET WILL MEET TO-DAY—NOTE IS DELIVERED.

IRISH NEWS

(Special to The Examiner)

DUBLIN, September 13. — The Irish press to-day expressed optimism and confidence that the note despatched to Scotland yesterday by the Dail Eireann would lead to a successful conference at Inverness on 20th September.

Some of the papers stated flatly that the Irish note sent yesterday accepts Lloyd-George's invitation, and that DeValera and the Cabinet will meet to-day to select the plenipotentiaries.

"HOPE FOR PEACE."

Another report persists, however, that DeValera's latest move insists that the Inverness conference begin without previous agreement as to what instructions will be discussed.

In some quarters this was regarded as a rejection of the British proposal, since Lloyd-George insisted that Ireland's remaining in the Empire must be the basis of the negotiations.

"The greatest hope for peace," said a prominent Sinn Feiner to-day is the mutual knowledge of Britain and ourselves that the other side is prepared for a desperate fight if negotiations fail."

NOTE DELIVERED.

(Special to The Examiner)

INVERNESS, Scotland, September 13. — Sinn Fein couriers, bearing DeValera's reply to the British invitation to a conference on 20th September, arrived here to-day, and proceeded to Gairloch, where the Irish note was handed to Premier Lloyd-George.

BUSINESS RELATIONS.

DUBLIN, September 13 (Canadian Press). — Officials of Londonderry voiced here to-day the desire that their city be associated with Southern rather than Northern Ireland.

The Mayor and influential citizens put before DeValera their objections to the Ulster Parliament having jurisdiction over the municipality.

The city's business relations, it was stated, are more closely associated with County Donegal in the Southern area than with County Londonderry in the Northern group.

(Special to The Examiner)

BELFAST, September 13. — Sir James Craig has returned to Belfast from Inverness, Scotland, and held a meeting of the Ulster Cabinet — which was attended by military and police officials.

The General Officer in Command of the British troops in the north of Ireland announced to-day that he is prepared to augment his troops.

The maintenance of law and order in Belfast and the restoring of confidence in the proper authorities were the two points discussed by the Northern Cabinet, besides the prospects

Murrell Senior is Pleased at Result

FATHER OF ESCAPED BANDITS IS AMUSED AT DENUNCIATION OF INSPECTOR OF PRISONS.

(Special to The Examiner).

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 13.—Broad grins, betokening evident appreciation of the compliment, lit up the countenance of the father of the Murrell brothers a dozen times as he sat through the inquiry into the escape of the bandit brothers from the county jail and heard W. W. Dunlop, Provincial Inspector of Prisons, dilate upon the desperate character and reckless scheming of the bandits, who, it is shown, cost the Province a great deal of money and then got away.

"People are demanding protection from these blackguards, who go about robbing and plundering and making the streets unsafe for decent people," said Mr. Dunlop—and Mr. Murrell smiled affably.

"These were very desperate and dangerous men, and every precaution should have been taken to prevent just what they have accomplished," he said—and again Mr. Murrell smiled good naturedly.

"What is all this about?" Mr. Murrell asked a reporter as the probe was adjourned. "Did it take all day to find that the boys are out? If they want to know how they got out, well, I can tell them that. They got out because they had more brains than the turnkeys, or else they would have been in there yet. If they want to make the jail a safe place to keep men in let them make the turnkeys the prisoners and give my boys the job of being the turnkeys, and no one will get out, I'll warrant."

"Now that they have got away, will they be able to keep out?" the reporter asked.

"Well, they have a good start," Mr. Murrell answered, very frankly. "I think they will be able to keep out. It's a pity the whole thing happened; they just got a bad start in life."

HARRY ROBEY OFF TO BUCKHORN FOR FISH

CAME ALL THE WAY FROM COLUMBUS, O., AND FEELS HE DESERVES A BIG ONE.

Armed for fish to the last roll of films and impatient to get his freshly furbished bait into the water, Harry Robey, Central Ohio representative of the Breeders' Gazette of Chicago, passed through Peterborough on Monday afternoon, headed for Buckhorn.

He was accompanied by his wife and their niece, Miss Lucille Lane, who, it was stated, has been prominent in filmdom with the Pathe and Paramount studios.

Mr. Robey has been on a three weeks' tour, leaving his home in Plain City, a suburb of Columbus, Ohio, and finally decided to strike out for a big fish country up in Canada.

He has been enjoying every minute of the time, and his cup will be full if he succeeds in hooking a big fish. More than one would, of course, be acceptable, but even one big one, to be snapped in a heroic pose for the benefit of the hard-working "gang" back home, will have its compensations.

TAX DODGERS ARE NUMEROUS IN STATES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. — (Special to The Examiner.)— Tax dodgers are getting away with more than $1,000,000,000 every year that ought to go into the United States treasury. That's one reason, treasury officials and managers of Congress admit to-day, why the rest of the American people are called on to bear such heavy tax burdens.

It is also the reason Congress proposes certain changes in the tax law, to plug tax leaks through which millions of dollars yearly are lost.

ELECTION NEWS

(Special to The Examiner)

BRAMPTON, September 13.—The political pot will boil in Peel County after Saturday next when the National Liberal-Conservative Convention will be held here to choose a candidate for the elections.

Sam Charters, M.P., who represented the riding as a Unionist candidate, will likely be chosen as the candidate on Saturday.

This will make a three-cornered fight, as William Lowe, Liberal, and Bert Taylor, U.F.O. candidates, have been in the field for some time, for Lowe is conceded to have a good chance to redeem the riding.

CONSULTING FOLLOWERS.

OTTAWA, September 13 (Canadian Press). — "I am here to consult with my Liberal followers regarding our plans for campaign," stated Hartley Dewart, K.C., to-day, when questioned by the Canadian Press if it was his intention to enter Federal politics. "I cannot really say what the future will bring, but there is nothing decided as yet."

PLANS DISCUSSED.

OTAWA, September 13 (Canadian Press). — Prominent Liberals of the Dominion met in the office of the Hon. Mackenzie King this morning to discuss the plans for the coming campaign.

Women heads of various organisations are given the same standing as men.

CERTIFICATES FOR SCHOOL STUDENTS

Queen Alexander Home and School Association Met Last Night.

A meeting of the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association took place in the school house last evening, with a large atendance of parents and children. Mr. Thos. Tooms, M.L.A., occupied the chair, and Dr. F. C. Neal distributed the entrance certificates to the students of the school, number 30 or 40, who were successful in this examination. A musical programme was rendered during the evening, in which the following took part: Miss Clara Kidd and Mr. O. Steel in vocal solos and a duet; Mrs. B. Hoyland, violin solo, accompanied by Miss Myrtle Sucee. The ladies of the Association provided dainty refreshments at the close of the ceremonies.

BLACK'S REMODELLED STORE

The alterations and improvements made to Mr. W. P. Black's down town store, corner of King and George streets, have resulted in greatly improving its appearance and service. An extension in the rear creates a convenient millinery department and affords better facilities for displaying the goods. More rooms has been given in the main store and a better system is secured for showing Ladies ready-to-wear garments, and other apparel. The whole premises has been redecorated and newly painted and a handy overhead office overlooks the whole store.

A BIG LIQUOR RAID STAGED IN NORTH BAY

TOOK THREE DOUBLE DRAYS AND A TRUCK TO LUG AWAY THE WET GOODS.

REVOLVERS FOUND

NORTH BAY, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press).—The biggest raid made by Chairman Hales, of the Ontario License Board, since his appointment was carried out under his supervision last night, when a squad of police visited the home of Charles Sandrelli, prominent Italian citizen, and carried off great quantities of liquor in three double drays and one single truck. Five loaded revolvers were also found in Sandrelli's house.

Sergt. Frank Michaud and Constables Fleming and Mackenzie are in custody, charged with stealing money from O.T.A. operatives.

NEW HOUSES ARE GOING UP HERE

Building permits since the first of the month have been issued as follows:

Albert Carpenter, dwelling, $2,000, on Rogers Street.

Mendell Braund, dwelling, $3,000, on Chamberlain Street.

A. M. Wilson, dwelling, $2,100, on Benson Avenue.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press.)—At a hesitant opening of to-day's stock market United Drug fell two points to new low record on passing of dividend. Independent steels and less prominent equipments as well as junior rails and various unclassified specialties also reacted moderately. Mexican Petroleum, general asphalt, Southern Pacific and Copper group were comparatively free from pressure.

In further selling of first hour additional losses of one to almost three points were numerous. Sumatra, Tobacco, Kelsy Wheel, Rumley preferred, Gulf States Steel, Retail stores Pierce Arrow preferred, California Petroleum, Royal Dutch, Virginia Carolina Chemical, famous players and central leather were foremost among backward issues. Grand Jury Failed to Indict Arbuckle

AT CLOSE OF HEARING ARBUCKLE WAS RETURNED TO THE "FELONY TANK."

THE DEFENSE

(BY M. D. TRACY)

SAN FRANCISCO, September 13 (United Press). — Roscoe Arbuckle early to-day was called before the Grand Jury and asked to make a statement concerning the charge that he murdered Virginia Rappe.

By advice of his counsel, the famous movie comedian flatly refused to utter a word. He was in the Grand Jury room only two minutes.

Afterward he ran the gauntlet of blinding flashlights, clicking cameras, and newspaper men who walked along beside him asking questions, back to his cell in "the felony tank."

The Grand Jury, after six hours' deliberation, adjourned shortly after 1 a.m. to-day without indicting Arbuckle for first degree murder.

It was learned that there were several "disputed points" in the evidence presented, and that the Grand Jury would not indict until these points had been cleared up.

HUNTING EVIDENCE.

District Attorney Mathew Brady started a corps of detectives out this morning hunting "further evidence" to clear up the disputed points.

The Jury will reconvene at any time Brady is ready to summon, to present this evidence.

The fact that the jury failed to indict Arbuckle on the strength of the evidence already presented, even though the actor himself refused to testify, was held by his attorneys to be a decided point in his favour.

The coroner's jury to-day was to continue its investigation of the death of Miss Rappe, who expired from injuries received during an alleged "wild party" in Arbuckle's suite at the Hotel St. Francisco.

THE DEFENCE.

The defence for the first time showed its hand to the extent of revealing an outline of Arbuckle's defence. This will include three probable points:

1—That Arbuckle did not criminally attack Miss Rappe.

2—That he did not take her into his bedroom against her will, and that whatever occurred there took place with her consent and without force or violence.

3—That no action of Arbuckle's caused the intestinal injuries which resulted in the girl's death, and that her death was due to improper diagnosis of her illness or to improper medical teratment.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press.)— District Attorney Mathew Brady in a statement to-day gave his opinion that perjury had been committed by one of the chief witnesses for the prosecution at the Grand Jury probe into the circumstances of the death of Virginia Rappe. Whether arrests would be made would depend on developments he said. Mr. Brady named Miss Zey Provost as having changed her story before the Grand Jury to that given to the police that Miss Rappe had told her Arbuckle had caused her injuries. "I am convinced," he declared, "that under influence and pressure of sinister character have been brought to bear on her and other witnesses, one of whom, Alice Blake, has mysteriously disappeared from her home in Berkeley. In spite of these efforts to thwart the ends of justice, investigation will proceed and no effort will be spared to bring the guilty ones to their justice."

Arbuckle, who was aroused from sound sleep at one o'clock this morning and brought to court, declined to make any statement. Grand Jury adjourned without setting a date for resumption.

ATTENDED CONVENTION PAINTERS IN DALLAS

FRANK M'KINLEY, REPRESENTING PETERBORO LOCAL, RETURNED AT NOON.

Frank McKinley returned at noon to-day from Dallas, Tex., where he attended the convention of the International Painters' and Decorators' Union as the representative of the Peterborough local, Number 725. He was one of the twenty-one delegates from Canada who were recognized in the elections by the choice of J. P. Hunter of Niagara Falls as 6th vice-president. Mr. McKinley left on September 1st and had an eventful and exceedingly interesting trip. One of the features was a labour parade in Dallas that stretched out two and one-quarter miles. The total attendance at the convention was 850 members.

GERMAN EXCHANGE BECOMING SERIOUS

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—(Special to The Examiner.)— Fears that the German exchange would go the way of that of Austria and Poland were freely expressed here to-day. The decline of the mark was seen unless the method of payment of reparations demanded by the Allies be changed. Officials said to be familiar with the Cabinet's financials discussions declared that even Chancellor Wirtz is now convinced the Entente must alter the method of payment by Germany.

Germany's obligtion to buy American dollars for her reparation payments was declared to be the principal difficulty.

"PUT ONE OVER"

(Special to The Examiner).

LONDON, Sept. 13. — Charlie Chaplin was chuckling to-day over the one "put over" a fashionable London audience at Covent Garden Opera House last night. It had been announced that Charlie, as well as the Duke of York and Georges Carpentier and other notables, was to attend the Beckett-McCormick fight, and the film star, fearing to be mobbed by admirers, decided to go incognito.

The enterprising management offered £100 to the first person to identify the comedian, but Charlie sat through twelve rounds of the fight and escaped undeterred.

It was learned to-day he had gone disguised as a woman.

CATTLE POISONER GETS FIVE YEARS

WILLIAM HILL OF DUMMER GOES TO PENITENTIARY, HIS BROTHER GOES FREE.

For poisoning eleven head of cattle belonging to William Davis, of Dummer township, William Hill, also of Dummer, was sentenced to five years in Kingston penitentiary by Judge Huycke on Monday. His brother, Davis Hill, charged with the same offence, was acquitted, His Honour stating that the evidence was not sufficient to convict him.

The sentence imposed upon William Hill was reduced by the fact that complete restitution for the loss of the cattle had been made to William Davis. Hill was taken to Kingston this morning by Police Sergeant Wigg.

FUNERAL DE LUXE FOR AL. ALTERIO.

Reputed One of Camorra Chiefs in America.

NAPLES, Sept. 13.—(Associated Press).—A "funeral de luxe" is the way the Naples newspapers described the burial of Alberto Alterio, reputed to have been one of the chiefs of the Camorra in America. He was formerly a Camorra leader in Naples but fled from here several years ago.

He settled in America, and is alleged to have amassed a fortune of $500,000, by black mail. He was assassinated in New York a few weeks back, and his body brought back to Italy by his wife. The funeral was attended by thousands of Neapolitans. The body was borne on the elaborate hearse which is reserved only for notables, among them of recent memory, Enrico Caruso.

Pomp and Ceremony.

Alterio's funeral was an event. The religious service in the church was marked with all the possible pomp and ceremony attendant on funerals given to high dignitaries of Church and State. An orchestra of almost 100 pieces accompanied the mass which was still augmented in impressiveness by a large choir. The church, St. James of the Spanish Nobles, was elaborately hung in mourning, folds of tapestry being suspended about the walls and ceiling. Quite a number of priests officiated at the ceremony.

Casket Cost $5,000.

The funeral procession was of great moment. In it, marched practically all of Alterio's associates in his profession. A dozen or more men shouldered a large floral offering which was carried in the procession. The design on it was that of a clock which registered the hour of half-past twelve. The cost of this has been announced as 2,000 lire.

The coffin also attracted much attention. It has been chronicled that it came from America, cost $5,000, and was engraved in silver. The crowd which followed the body to the grave was a veritable "unending stream of people."

The smallest practical airplane weighs about 500 pounds light.

FIVE BANDS IN BIG PARADE TO FAIR GROUNDS

PUBLIC SHOULD NOT MISS THE BIG ATTRACTION ON THURSDAY AT ONE O'CLOCK—NOTHING STINTED TO MAKE THIS YEAR'S PARADE A FINE SPECTACLE.

SPECIAL PRIZES

MINISTER OF PUBLIC WORKS IS NOT COMING

Mr. R. Denne, president of the Exhibition Board, received the following telegram this afternoon from the private secretary of the Hon. Mr. Biggs: "Mr. Biggs compelled to return to his home through sickness. Unable to be present with you."

Five bands will be strung along the industrial parade, which opens the Exhibition on Thursday afternoon. Never did a circus more generously splash its processions with music than has the Fair Board done this year, and if Thursday afternoon is graced with smiling weather this feature will positively be more splendid than ever. The bands that have been engaged for Thursday are the 57th Peterborough Rangers, the Caledonian Pipers, the Cobourg Band, the Salvation Army and the Chemong Indians. The Fair Board had hoped to bring Campbellford's musicians for this event, but Professor Cowell's men were unable to get away for the day.

The big parade will leave Central Park promptly at 1 p.m., and will pass the reviewing stand at the Exhibition grounds at 1.30 o'clock, circling the race track once.

The prizes are as follows: For the best general floats: 1st $25, 2nd $15, 3rd $10. For the best comic float there is a special prize of $10, and for the best manufacturers' float a special of $15. The committee in charge of this attraction report that the floats will be more numerous than ever this year and that some of them will be striking in design and arrangement.

Don't miss this parade. It has been developing this last two years in both length and in the beauty of the best floats, and is well worth seeing.

WHATTAM CUP WON BY OSHAWA RINK

POSSESSION FINALLY PASSED FROM MAYNEORD'S RINK AFTER SIX SUCCESSIVE VICTORIES.

Fred Hobbs, of Oshawa, wrested the Whattam Cup from Jack Mayneord's rink last night by the score of 22 to 14. This was the seventh game played by the local rink. Their string of six victories is a new record in the Whattam Cup bowling games. Jack Rosevear, of Port Hope, had made the previous best showing with four consecutive wins.

Two Peterborough rinks are in the list of challengers, Tom Curvin's quartette coming first of the local aspirants.

FUNERAL IN LAKEFIELD OF MISS KATHERINE TRAILL

DECEASED WAS BORN IN TOWNSHIP OF DOURO 86 YEARS AGO.

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 13. — The funeral service of the late Katherine Agnes Strickland Traill was held on Monday afternoon in St. John's church, Lakefield, of which the deceased had been a member for more than sixty years. Covered with the flowers she so dearly loved, the coffin was borne by six old friends and relatives, viz., Messrs. J. C. Strickland, E. R. Tate, F. M. Dela Fosse, J. F. Lillicrap, W. H. Casement and Thomas Watson.

The Church of England burial service was read by the rector, Rev. F. Vipond, assisted by Rev. A. W. Mackenzie, who gave a short address. rM. Mackenzie spoke of "the long innocent walk with God" that was the life of Miss Traill, who was known to everyone as a beautiful Christian character. Like the flowers she had loved and tended in her own beautiful garden, she, too, was a flower in God's garden and had been transplanted to the richer soil of the eternal. After the playing of the Dead March in Saul by the organist, Mrs. Twist, the hymn, "On the Resurrection Morning" was sung and the cortege passed out of the church. The interment took place in Hillside cemetery.

Miss Traill, who was the daughter of the late Thomas and Catherine Parr Traill, was born in the township of Douro on the farm now owned by Mr. E. R. Tate, nearly 86 years ago. When Miss Traill was little more than an infant, the family moved to Ashburnham, and later to Wolf Tower farm on Rice Lake. Later they purchased "Oaklands" and removed there, but in 1857 were burned out and lost absolutely everything, all the treasures they had worked so hard to save, the family barely escaping with their lives. Mr. Traill never recovered from the shock and sorrow of seeing his family thrown homeless on the world and died soon after a brief but severe illness.

Mrs. Traill, urged by her brother, Col. Strickland, moved back to the vicinity of their first settlement and settled at "Westove" in the village of Lakefield. Miss Traill was her mother's right hand, and when Mrs. Meechall and Mrs. Atwood married and left home and the sons had scattered, she was her mother's constant companion and inherited the sweetness of disposition, which made Mrs. Traill, who was a pioneer among Canada's literary women, beloved by all who were privileged to know her. In 1898 Mrs. Traill died and Miss Traill continued to reside at "Westove," where she herself passed away. Miss Traill, who was one of the oldest residents of the village, was a veritable mine of information about the early days of the village and enjoyed very much telling of the early settlers and the difficulties and dangers of life in the pioneer days.

She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Atwood, of "Ashelworth," Lakefield, and one brother, Mr. Walter Traill, of Grand Forks, B.C. A niece, Miss Evelyn Muchall (daughter of her sister Mary), resided with her during the past few months and was devoted in her care of her aunt.

Miss Traill was the honorary president of the W. A. of St. John's church, Lakefield, and was one of the charter members of the branch and was in active sympathy with all charitable and patriotic work.

LACROSSE SCORE AT CAMPBELLFORD A BIG SURPRISE

CLOSE SCORE MAKES RETURN GAME IN OSHAWA MORE IN TERESTING.

Oshawa Reformer: The Oshawa fans were somewhat surprised as the scores were bulletined at the Reformer office of the lacrosse fixtue between Oshawa and Campbellford in the Eastern town ,and as a result of the closeness of the score the local enthusiasts are already looking forward to the return fixture which will be played at Alexandra Park a week from to-day. The Motor Town lads should have nosed out their opponents on the play, but even by holding them to a 4 to 4 tie, they have the advantage of playing at home in the next game, and there is no doubt but what they can capture the round. However, the fast Oshawa team being held to a tie has made the fans sit up and take notice so that the grandstand is sure to be well filled when these two aggegations meet on Saturday next.

Campbellford were reported to have a snappy outfit and they came up to expectations, but this does not worry the Oshawa squad any as they are confident they can beat the visitors here next week. Any team that can withstand the checking and break up the well executed rushes of the Oshawa players, can be counted as one of the best collection of artists in the lacrosse circles. The brand of lacrosse that has been seen here this year has given local fans the impression that whoever wins the intermediate title will certainly make the Seniors step to get away with the O.A.L.A. honours and the trip to the coast after the Mann Cup.

CAMPBELLFORD'S CONTRACT WITH THE HYDRO FOR SALE OF SURPLUS POWER

FLAT RATE BASIS OF PAYMENT IS DISPLACED BY SERVICE AND CONSUMPTION CHARGE—HYDRO WILL PAY FOR WHAT THEY USE ON BASIS OF PEAK DEMAND.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 13.—The principal change in the new contract between Campbellford's Water and Light Commission and the Ontario Hydro-electric Commission substitutes the service and meter system of payment for the flat rate change that was the basis of the old contract. In other words, the Hydro will now pay for the power they actually use within the terms of the new agreement.

According to the former contract, the Hydro paid $1,000 a month for the output of one of the two machines in the town's generating plant, Mr. B. McLean, the retiring manager for the Water and Light Commission, told The Examiner. "This left one machine to supply the town's power requirements," he said. "The contract gave the Hydro the output of the other machine 24 hours a day, 365 days in the year. Whether they used the complete production of it or not, and whether their demand was continuous or not that machine was practically theirs. The agreement gave us no satisfactory conditions, under which we could keep that generator in repair. If we had to repair it at any time we first had to call up the Hydro office for this district to get permission to shut down no matter what time or what day it was. Now we have a good chance to keep the plant in good running order.

Revenue for August.

"Our bill to the Hydro for August was slightly more than $1,000 and the machine was running only half the time. That is an advantage under the new agreement which I think should appeal to the people of Campbellford. If the Hydro takes no power at all and we haven't to turn a wheel for them they are obliged to pay us $450 a month. We are making about the same money as before August was slightly higher, but under conditions that are more favorable to us."

Reserves 1,200 K.W.

The new contract sets out that the town shall reserve for and deliver to the Hydro-electric Commission 1,200 kilowatts to be delivered at the tower structure located 150 feet from the east wall of the town's generating plant.

The Hydro-electric Commission agrees to pay for all power ordered, delivered and taken, in monthly payments under the following schedule of rates: A service charge of 50 cents per kilowatt of maximum demand plus a consumption charge of one-tenth (1/10) of a cent per kilowatt hour; and each month's payment for service charge shall be made as though the maximum amount taken during that month had been taken for the whole month, excepting the provision pertaining to the minimum consumption.

The amount of power taken and to be paid for under the service charge portion of the rate embodied in this agreement shall be taken as the maximum average amount of power taken for any twenty consecutive minutes as shown by meter.

Will Pay for Any Excess.

If the Hydro-electric Commission during any month orders and takes more than 1,200 kilowatts for twenty consecutive minutes, the amount so ordered and taken shall be paid for by the commission for that month, provided that the corporation is able and does supply the said excess amount over 1,200 k.w. at any time during the said month when called upon to do so, provided that the ordering, delivering and taking of any quantity of power in excess of 1,200 k.w. shall not increase the quantity of power reserved under this agreement nor increase the minimum amount of power to be paid for beyond 75 per cent. of 1,200 k.w.

In other words, the service charge for any month is based on the maximum amount of power taken by the Hydro during any twenty consecutive minutes during that month whether that maximum amount exceeds 1,200 k.w. or not.

The Minimum Payment.

As previously stated, the Hydro-electric Commission agrees to pay as a minmum for 75 per cent. of the power held in reserve for the commission at the rate fixed. That is, their monthly minimum shall be not less than $450, or 900 kilowatts at 50 cents a kilowatt. This minimum payment applies only to the service charge portion of the rates agreed upon; and no minimum charge shall apply to the consumption charge portion of the rate.

The Hydro also agrees to take and use the three phase power in such a manner that the current will be equally taken from the three phases, and in no case shall the difference between any two phases be greater than ten per cent.

Bills shall be rendered by the corporation on or before the 5th day and paid by the commission on or before the last day of each month.

Pressure of 2,400 Volts.

The power delivered shall be alternating three phase, having a periodicity of approximately 60 cycles also supply the commission with the amount ordered, then the corporation's regular customers shall be supplied first, and the commission shall be entitled only to the available excess over and above the requirements of the corporation's regular customers. In such case the commission shall be required to pay only for the power actually delivered even though it be less than the 75 per cent. of the amount reserved.

May Reduce Reserve.

The corporation may reduce the amount reserved in blocks not exceeding 200 kilowatts on the expiration of three months notice, and on the expiration of six months' notice may reduce the reserve in blocks not exceeding 500 k.w.

May Buy From Hydro.

In the event of temporary disablement of the corporation's plant to the extent that it is unable to supply customers, the commission shall supply the corporation to the best of its ability to make up the deficiency at two-tenths (2/10) of a cent per kilowatt hour.

Resort to Arbitration.

Any dispute regarding the fulfilment of the terms of the agreement shall be referred to arbitration whose decision shall be binding upon both parties.

The term of the contract is for five years, beginning July 1st, 1921. It may be renewed for a second five years unless notice in writing of its cancellation is given by either party to the other one month in advance of the expiration.

The agreement is signed by I. B. Lucas, former Vice-Chairman of the Hydro-electric Commission, and by W. W. Pope, the Secretary, and by A. E. Wragg, Chairman of the Water and Light Commission, and J. F. McGregor, Secretary.

TUESDAY, SEPT. 13TH, 1921.

ACTION AT LAST.

If there is any fault to be found with the decision of the Board of Health that the owners of a number of local houses must have proper sewer connections installed as soon as possible, it lies in the fact that this action was not taken long ago. There has been too little attention paid to this important matter in the past, and in this respect Peterborough has falied to keep step with other municipalities. Far too many dwellings are without sanitary plumbing, and the conditions in all parts of the city are not of a nature that can be pointed to with pride.

The district officer of health has repeatedly recommended that steps be taken to remove some of the objectionable features and to compel the citizens to take advantage of the city's sewerage system. The particular cases that have already engaged the attention of the Board are only a sample of what is to be found in almost every section of Peterborough. Conditions that could not be avoided twenty years ago are, under modern circumstances, a reproach to the community, and no one who has the interest of the city at heart can fail to endorse the beginning of what appears to be a business-like effort to grapple with the problem. The majority of the householders of Peterborough hope that the good work will be continued.

AN INJUSTICE.

At the annual convention of the Union of Canadian Municipalities, a resolution was passed calling attention to certain clauses of the Assessment Act that are most unfair to the municipalities of Ontario, and advocating the amending of the Act in order to do away with the undesirable features. As the Ontario measure now stands, the municipal assessor is required to enter on the rolls the names of all persons of the full age of twenty-one years who are British subjects resident in the municipality and who are qualified to vote at elections to the Legislative Assembly, while the clerk of each municipality is required to prepare a voters' list each year to be used for municipal elections.

Obviously the work thus laid upon the assessment department and the clerk's department as a result of these duties represents a yearly expense to the municipalities—an expense that should in justice be carried by the Provincial Government. The Union of Municipalities believe that the new duties imposed upon assessors and clerks should be removed or at least that the extra expense incurred should be paid by the Province. There seems no logical basis for the Act as it stands at present, for it is manifestly unfair that municipalities should be called upon to provide voters' lists for provincial elections. Surely the financing of such work should properly come under the direction of the Provincial Government.

There is cause for uneasiness in the report that the Ontario Government will solicit savings deposits from the general public and loan such money at long terms to farmers and municipalities. No one pretends that Canadian chartered banks have any divinely-ordained exclusive rights in the banking field. Perhaps a good case could be made out for Government banking, if the record of Government undertakings of this kind were encouraging, but no one can deny that the record is alarming and warning. Governments, especially on this continent, have not demonstrated that they possess those special qualities which are the sine qua non of the successful banker. The new Ontario Rural Credits Act has followed closely the legislation in Manitoba. Without suggesting that the entry of the Government of Manitoba was prompted by the disastrous experiment of North Dakota in providing rural credits through its State-owned bank, it ought to be pointed out that the Manitoba plan, in essence, is similar to the North Dakota project. The Nonpartisan League Government of North Dakota took puplic deposits, nominally payable on demand, and, without keeping adequate reserves, used such money for loans to farmers on thirty-year mortgages and in long-term loans to Government of North Dakota took public When the depositors called for their money, the State was unable to liquidate its investments, and it was also found impossible, because the State's credit had been impaired in all the money markets of the continent, to sell the Government's bonds to provide the money required. The situation was largely responsible for the forced closing of many banks in the State and the Bank of orth Dakota was unable to meet cheques drawn upon current balances. Judged by all the standards of a private institution the State Bank was insolvent, and not only has the credit of the State and the Bank of North Dakota but there were other disastrous consequences; and no class suffered more than did the farmers themselves. The vital mistake of the Ban of North Dakota consisted in taking public deposits and lending them for public works or on thirty-year farm mortgages, so that the money was not available, nor could other funds be raised by resale of securities, to meet demands for withdrawals as they were made.

In Manitoba, the rural credits plan was adopted on a less pretentious scale and without the objectionable compulsory legislation under which, in North Dakota, all public funds were mobilised and placed at the disposal of the State Bank. By paying a slightly higher rate of interest than is now paid by the Canadian banks on saving deposits, the Province of Manitoba has attracted a considerable volume of public deposits, nominally payable on demand and guaranteed by the Province. A large part of this money has been loaned to farmers on thirty-year mortgages and otherwise. It has been admitted that, in the case of 12 per cent o fthe loans, the interest was not paid last year when due. It is claimed that previous to that time no losses had been sustained, but this contention sounds much like the insistence by the Bank of North Dakota, even when conditions were at their worst, that all its securities were worth their par value. The North Dakota venture in one respect was more conservative than the rural credit plan of the Province of Manitoba, because the Bank of North Dakota recognised the wisdom of a substantial reserve of available funds, whereas the Province of Manitoba ha sdenied the necessity for any considerable reserve and appears to be relying upon its ability to sell provincial bonds if ready money be required. The Government last year appropriated $30,000 from the general fund to meet the deficit on its rural credits undertaking.

RECKLESS MOTORISTS.

Controller Davis, secretary of the Auto Club, has warned motorists against breaches of the Motor Vehicles Act, especially in the matter of adequate lighting of their cars. It is a frequent practice, he says—and anyone who has occasion to ride out on the highways after dark can confirm the statement—for autoists to drive with only one headlight, thus endangering their own safety and that of others. The Controller does well to draw attention to this menace and to remind offenders of the penalty. Another matter of perennial grievance is the use of the glaring headlights. Too strong a light is perhaps a worse evil even than insufficient illumination. The motorist's whole duty is not done when he has installed his non-glare lamps. It is necesary to have them properly adjusted and their rays directed in the right path. How many accidents have occurred, and how many have been averted by the narrowest margin, through the indifference or neglect of drivers who ought to know better? Common courtesy should of itself be sufficient to terminate this nuisance, but apparently stronger measures are esential to bring a certain type of "road-hog" to his senses.

Then there is the speed demon and the reckless driver. Not a day passes without its grist of casualties from this cause. Figures are not readily available for Canada, but in the United States during last year, it is stated, no fewer than a million persons were injured in automobile accidents, 12,000 fatally. Many of these accidents, no doubt, were unavoidable; but it is safe to assume that a large percentage of them could have been prevented with ordinary caution and strict adherence to the rules of the game. Both motorists and pedestrians are in constant peril through these conscienceless drivers, who bring motoring into such disrepute. There should be a determined crusade against the lawbreakers, since pleas and warnings pass unheeded. — Hamilton Spectator.

These are great days for the farmers. No sooner are the U.F.O. picnics over than the fall fairs begin.

It sems hard to realise that Roscoe Arbuckle, hero of so many screen comedies, should be the central figure in a sordid tragedy.

THE NEW HEALING.

Actual tests in hospitals during the war have now left no doubt as to the great part which the mind plays in physical processes. Thus it was proved in a series of experiments that the power of the grip can be raised or lowered as the result of hypnotic suggestion. In the light of such evidence it is not surprising to hear that blisters can be raised on the skin by mental suggestion, or that pneumonia has recently been treated by it. At the same time the sceptical public will want names and dates before it is convinced.

FATTY ARBUCKLE STILL IN CLINK

HIS ATTORNEYS ISSUE STATEMENT OF INNOCENCE—PICTURES BANNED.

San Francisco, September 13.—Canadian Press.—Fatty Arbuckle, cursed with sudden and too great riches and not enough brains and decency to balance his wealth and power, moped in his cell last night smoking innumerable cigarettes, holding his throbbing head in his hands and trying to evolve some way out of the very serious dilemma into which his excesses have placed him, briefly these were the developments of yesterday.

The inquest into the death of Miss Virginia Rappe opened with the announcement that it might require several days.

Formal charge of murder against Arbuckle on the sworn complaint of Mrs Bambino Belmont.

Preparations for Grand Jury hearing of the case.

Intimations by state officials that they feared an attempt to tamper with witnesses.

Decision to hold the body of Miss Rappe for complete examination until after the inquest.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13. — (Canadian Press.)—Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle, motion picture comedian, was formally arraigned in police ccourt here on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, motion picture actress, which occurred last Friday, following a party in Arbuckle's rooms at the St. Francis Hotel last Monday.

The complaint against Arbuckle, the second to be lodged against him since his arrival here from Los Angeles on Saturday, was signed by Mrs. Bambina Delmont, a friend of the dead woman. The first complaint, made by police officials, was for the purpose of holding the comedian in custody pending further investigation.

When Arbuckle appeared before Judge Daniel O'Brien to-day he refused to talk of the case. Through his attorney a continuance to Friday was obtained and the prisoner was returned to his cell.

Representatives of the District Attorney's office continued their questioning of those known to have attended the Arbuckle party last Monday, and from these, District Attorney Brady stated, was secured evidence which will be used against the actor at his trial. Among those questioned to-day was Mrs. Sidiwirt Spreckels, widow of John D. Spreckles, Jr.

Saw Miss Rappe.

Mrs. Spreckles told the District Attorney that she was informed over the telephone last Friday by Mrs. Delmont that the young actress was in a serious condition in a local hospital. Mrs. Delmont asked Mrs. Spreckles to telegraph Henry Lehrman in New York concerning Miss Rappe's condition. After the telegram had been sent, Mrs. Spreckels told the District Attorney that she called at the hospital and saw Miss Rappe.

Mrs. Spreckles said she was not sure Miss Rappe recognized her, but she said to Mrs. Spreckles: "Oh, to think that I led such a quiet life and to think that I should get into such a party."

Later in the day Mrs. Spreckles said she returned to the hospital with an answer to the telegram she had sent to Lehrman. On her arrival at the hospital Mrs. Spreckles said the Rappe girl was unconscious and the telegram was not read to her.

Mrs. Spreckles told the District Attorney that she then called on Dr. James L. Gordon, pastor of the First Congregatnonal Church, and asked him to offer prayers for the dying girl. Mrs. Spreckles met Miss Rappe in this city in 1915, she said.

Joyce Clarke, a cafe entertainer, was summoned to the office of the Captain of Detectives after it was learned that she had been invited to Arbuckle's party.

Miss Clark said she went as far as the lobby of the hotel, but decided not to go to Arbuckle's rooms. She met Mrs. Delmont the next day, she said, and Mrs. Delmont gave her the details of the party and the alleged attack.

ISSUED STATEMENT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13. — (Canadian Press.)— Before an inquest into Miss Rappe's death began here, Arbuckle's attorneys issued a staement asking the public to withhold judgment until the court has rendered its verdict.

The statement says in part: "With a full knowledge of our position as attorneys we assert that Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle is innocent of any and all charges made against him in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe and that the courts of California will sustain our confidence in his innocence.

"We appeal to the conscience and the heart of the American public to hold in abeyance any judgment until the courts have determined upon the guilt or innocence of our client. We, with complete knowledge of all facts, know that he is innocent.

"The patrons of the silent drama, having a knowledge of the smiles and the heart of 'Fatty' Arbuckle will not believe that he is guilty of the charge made against him unproved in a court of justice."

The manager of the Hotel St. Francis, where Arbuckle had his suite, was ordered to-day to appear before the District Federal Prohibition Enforcement office to be questioned regarding the liquor said to have been consumed by the Arbuckle party.

MEET TO-DAY.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.— (Canadian Press.)—Officers of the Motion Picture Exhibition League were summoned to meet to-day to take action regarding cancellation of films featuring Roscoe Arbuckle.

It was stated at the League's headquarteres had been sent out after mesages had been received from numerous exhibitors.

Joseph Levenson, secretary of the State Board of Motion Picture Censorship, said the board did not contemplate any action against Arbuckle pictures. He declared that the law under which the board operates provides only for censorship of pictures and does not empower the board to bar a picture because of any personal act of a member of the cast.

PICTURES BANNED.

BUFFALO, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press.)—At a special meeting last night of Buffalo theatre managers, voted to show no Arbuckle pictures until the murder charge against the comedian has been disposed of.

PROVIDENCE, R.I., Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press.)—The Providence Police Commission has issued an order that no moving picture houses in this city should show any film in which Roscoe Arbuckle appears until he is acquitted in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe in San Francisco.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13. — Mayor Moore has instructed Director Cortelyou, of the Department of Public Safety, to prohibit the showing of "Fatty" Arbuckle films in Philadelphia.

OUR DREAM-COTTAGE BECOMES A REALITY.

Chapter 61.

For a while I was upset and worried by the way Nancy persisted in staying out late at night. She was so splendid in other ways, and such a help to me that I hated to lose her. Each day I intended having a good talk and an understanding with her, but I weakly procrastinated.

I had to confess to myself that I was fearful of how she would take it. Perhaps she would be unreasonable and leave at once. She had become accustomed to my ways and I dreaded the thoughts of drilling in a new maid.

Then as the days went by I purposely tried to close my eyes to this one fault. It was only days afterward that I realized what a mistake I had made in overlooking it. Something terrible happened that made my mind go back and remember Nancy's meeting with the strange man on the park bench, and the significance of her questionable late hours at night. Such habits should have warned me sooner of the possibility of undesirable acquaintances.

It was along toward the end of January that Kent came home one night full of enthusiasm about a little cottage up in Connecticut.

He had pictures of it, and I soon joined him in ardent fervency.

"If we want it we'll have to act quick," he told me. "The owner has had a big collapse down in Wall Street and lost over $30,000 in less than a month. He wants cash and will make a consideration on the price to the right party," Kent explained.

"How much does he want for it, Kent?" I asked hopefully.

"I think he'll let it go at $12,000—he is asking $15,000—but if I can close the deal this week I have every reason to think I can get it for $12,000," he returned.

"But Kent—can you—can you pay that much, dear?" I interrogated doubtfully. I could not be sure that all Kent's rash extravagant ways had been entirely subdued.

"Yes, little mother—that's what I have been working so hard for, and planning for so carefully. You don't know how much power and energy you and the boy have put into me these last few years," he answered, with his arm holding me close.

"Really, Kent?" I breathed wonderingly, my face turned up to his.

"But I want you to see the house and be sure you like it before we do anything rash," he suggested. "I'll stay away from the office on Wednesday and we can both run up and look it over. How's that."

"How long will it take, dear? Will we be gone all day?" I questioned, my mind turning to Kent Jr. I had never gone away for very long and left him. I did not like the thoughts of having to do it.

"The best part of the day, Babs—we want to look it over thoroughly, you know," he said.

I was thoughtfully silent for a moment. Kent must have seen the look of doubt on my face. I could not hide it from him.

"What's the trouble, Babs," he questioned eagerly.

"It's just the thought of leaving the boy alone all day," I answered. "I'm afraid I should worry about him dreadfully."

"Why, he won't be alone, dear. He gets along finely with Nancy. It will only be about seven or eight hours," he said reassuringly.

And yet Kent's words did not satisfy me. The idea of leaving Kent Jr. alone even with Nancy troubled me. But there seemed to be no other way out of it. If Kent and I were to see the little cottage up in Connecticut and form our plans for the future we would have to go up and see it.

To-morrow—We Inspect the Little Cottage.

CHECK YOUR BOWEL TROUBLES BY USING DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY

When you are troubled with diarrhoea, dysentery, colic cramps and pains in the stomach, cholera, cholera morbus, summer complaint, bloody fluxes, or any looseness of the bowels be sure and obtain a bottle of 'Dr. Fowler's" and see how quickly it gives you relief. This wonderful remedy has been on the market for the past 76 years and we wish to warn you against accepting a substitute which may be dangerous to your health.

Mr. Samuel Buckler, Tatamagouche, N. S., writes:—"While visiting in Western Canada I had a severe attack of diarrhoea. After trying many proprietary medicines I got no relief, but kept getting worse. I was advised to take Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and I lost no time in doing so. I cannot hesitate in recommending it most highly, for when I had not yet taken half the bottle I was relieved. I must say that if "Dr. Fowler's" is given a fair trial it will show its good qualities."

The price of the genuine is 50c a bottle; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

JAIL RULES DISOBEYED?

INVESTIGATION CONCERNING ESCAPE OF THE MURRELL BROTHERS OPENING IN LONDON.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 12.—(Canadian Press).—"If you had observed the rules and regulations the Murrels would be here to-day," declared Inspector of Prisons W. W. Dunlop to Governor Carter of London Jail when the Governor was on the stand at the probe into the bandits" getaway here yesterday afternoon. The evidence of Governor Carter and of various officials indicated that they are either ignorant of the jail rules or disobeyed them.

Governor Carter admitted that although work had been going on in the jail yard no one had been placed on guard there. He declared that the bars of the cell windows were inspected a couple of times a week.

Governor Carter stated that he trusted his men to carry out their orders.

"There's only one person I trust and that is God Almighty," said Inspector Dunlop tartly.

Asked what kind of an examination he had made of the windows Governor Carter said he looked at them.

"You took the position of jailer," said the inspector. "You have some of the worst men in the country under your charge. You are a public servant and the public expects you to safeguard blackguards who are shooting and robbing people of this province every day."

"Did you check the turnkeys?" the Governor was asked.

He replied that if he was too strict with the men they would quit.

"It is a pretty low type of man who cannot stand checking up," said the inspector.

As far as Turnkey William Blake knew, no one went into Murrells' ward between 6 a.m. and 8 p.m. each day. He told the inspector that he worked 85 hours each week. He admitted that when he went to lock the gates one night he noticed the ladder.

"Did it not occur to you that there was danger?" asked the inspector.

"Yes."

"Didn't you speak to anyone about it?"

"No; I thought I had no authority."

"If anyone was in the yard would you speak to him?"

"No; I would take him and hand him right over to the authorities."

"Why did you lock the gate?"

'Because I was ordered to."

"You are like the man on the railway at Hamilton who were testing car wheels and when asked why they did it, said "Oh, I don't know; you have to do it around here.' He didn't realize that the safety of the travelling public depended upon him."

"Why did you lock the gates?" Blake was asked.

'To keep the people from coming in."

"And to keep the prisoners from going out," added the inspector.

County Constable Arthur Corsaut, Murrells' special guard, was the only man armed, according to the testimony of High Constable McLoud.

The investigation will continue to-day.

KEENE PASTOR ESCAPED WITH MINOR BRUISES

WHEN BUGGY SMASHED BY AN AUTOMOBILE, REV. HONEY HAD CLOSE CALL—CHILD CAUGHT IN HAY RACK LOSES FINGER.

VILLAGE HAPPENINGS

KEENE, September 13. — Rev. Mr. Honey met with what might have been a serious accident while driving to Hiawatha last Thursday evening for his usual weeknight service. His vehicle being hit by an automobile, Mr. Honey was thrown over the dashboard, but fortunately escaped with a few minor bruises. The harness on the horse which he was driving was broken to pieces, the dashboard of the buggy was bent, the whiffletree driven through the buggy, and several spokes of two of the wheels were broken.

Boy's Finger Severed.

The six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson had the misfortune to have a finger taken off on Saturday through getting it caught in the lever of a hay rake.

Social and Personal.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Rusaw, of Hastings, spent the week-end with the former's daughter, Mrs. William Welman.

Mr. W. H. Fletcher was in Peterborough on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. Stewart, and Miss Edwards, of Peterborough, were guests on Sunday at the home of Miss Agnes Lumsden.

The executive of the Township Sunday Schools met at Zion on Monday afternon.

Mrs. Staples was called to Smith Township last Friday on account of the death of her brother, William O. Swinton.

Mr. A. St. A. Smith, of Niagara, was in the village a few days this week.

Mr. Archie Kempt was in Peterborough on Saturday.

Mr. Charles Ellis and daughter, Miss Stella, and Rev. W. E. Honey were in Peterborough on Saturday.

Mr. George Gillespie and family, of Peterborough, visited Keene friends on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Speirs and son Alex., daughter Jessie, of Cobourg, spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. William Macfarlane.

The Young People's Society of the Methodist Church will hold their regular weeknight service on Friday evening of this week, the meeting to be in charge of Miss Martha James. The topic will be taken by Mr. E. Barnes.

Mr. R. J. McCamus was in Peterborough over the week-end.

Rev. Mr. Sinclair, of Belmore, occupied the pulpit on the Presbyterian Circuit last Sabbath morning.

The pulpit of the Presbyterian Church is now empty, and it is understood there are a number of applicants for the call.

The Keene baseball team will go to Norwood on Tuesday evening to play for the Indian River Field Day Cup.

Dr. King, of Peterborough, was in the village on Monday.

Dr. Anderson, of Toronto, was calling on friends in the village on Sunday.

Mrs. Nelson Redpath is seriously ill.

Market Prices.

The wheat sown this fall is up, and is looking splendid.

The market prices this week are: Butter 35 cents, eggs 34 cents, poultry 18 cents per pound.

CENTREVILLE HAPPENINGS

CENTREVILLE, Sept. 13.—The marriage of Miss Muriel Porter and Fred Anderson on Saturday was an event of uncommon interest locally. The Andersons are among the oldest families of the township of South Monaghan and Fred has a host of friends and well wishers. An active member of the Farmers' Club and other societies he was ever ready to do his bit for the common good. He will be greatly missed, for he entered into the life of the community and served it to the best of his ability. In the meantime his going is a distinct loss, but he and his bride are followed by the hearty good wishes of many.

WEDDING BELLS.

Porter—Anderson.

At Centreville Presbyterian church on Saturday, 10th September, at 10 a.m., the marriage of Miss Muriel Porter and Fred Anderson was solemnized by the Rev. A. H. McConnachie. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion and a goodly company of friends witnessed the ceremony. The bride, who was becomingly dressed, was given away by her father. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Willis Wood, sister of the bride. The newly-weds left for Toronto and the west by the noon train.

HIAWATHA

HIAWATHA, September 12th. — Mr. H. Moloney spent the week end at his home in Douro.

Dr. Woods of Peterboro, spent Monday afternoon in the village.

Miss Gladys Howard attended the Toronto fair on Saturday.

Mrs. Susan Blaker is on the sick list.

Quite a number from the village went shopping in Peterboro on Saturday.

Mr. Nelson Nurse and party from Rochester, were in the village on Sunday.

Mr. Madden Howard is home after spending a few days with Dr. Forrest crusing up the lakes.

Miss Pauline Cowie has left for Peterboro to attend the business college.

Mr. Fred Bradley was a visitor at the Lakeshore house on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Paudash motored to Chemong on Sunday, and spent the day with friends.

Messrs. C. Heath and H. Ranger spent Saturday afternoon in the villlage.

It is noticeable that you cannot tell until you try, and sometimes then you won't.

Three Ounces of Clothes!

Paris Issues a New Mandate for Fashionable Women to Follow, and Here Is the Astonishing Result!

By Ethel Thurston

WHEN Shakespeare, in one of his gayest and most whimsical moods, dashed off Mercutio's speech in "Romeo and Juliet" about Queen Mab's coaching outfit—whip lash of film, horses hitched "with traces of smallest spider's webs and collars of moonshine's watery beams" and all that sort of thing—he exposed exactly the intimate knowledge of dainty ingredients required for employment now in description of the newest dictate of fashion, the One-Pound Trousseau, which Queen Mab herself might have looked on with envy.

Sixteen ounces is a pound.

Five complete toilettes in a trousseau.

Five into sixteen "goes" three times and a wee fraction, as we used to say in the arithmetic class back in the little red school house in the old days when trousseaux were, oh, such terribly clumsy and unwieldly affairs!

Therefore, we come to the three-ounce toilette, a complete costume weighing scarcely more than

To Keep Within the Three-Ounce Limit Parisian Women Have Taken to Open-Work Silk Stockings as Light as a Veil.

For, of course, the owner will be wearing rings. She will be wearing them because she possesses them. That much is assured, for the three-ounce costume of itself connotes wealth. Formerly we measured styles by the yard. Now we are doing it on the scales, which leads, incidentally, to the observation that when we purchase fashion by avoirdupois weight we must pay by troy weight, for truly, it will require fine gold to be an habitual wearer of the three-ounce toilette.

But that is neither here nor there. Fashion has announced that the woman who would wear the latest mode should have the three-ounce costume, without saying a word about the weight of the price and that settles it.

Introducing Feather-Weight Fashions

Right here it should be set forth—and with no attempt at being flippant, either—that the three-ounce costume is not intended to be worn at the St. Paul Ice Palace, not at the Montreal Winter Carnival, nor the show-shoeing contests at Lake Tahoe, nor any of the other places where fashion leaders go in the winter time. The announcement is made in all seriousness for the men who read this article.

And every man who sees it will read it. Be certain of that. What else do they go to see the various assortments of "Follies" and "Frolics" and "Scandals" and "Revues" for, if it is not to study styles.

However, as we were saying, the three-ounce costume is not a mere experiment, waiting to be made by some daring leader of fashion. It has already arrived. Quite correct. You guessed it the very first time. From Paris. Its success was so pronounced right from the start that the coutouriers are now chiefly concerned as to how they may pare off a little more from the three ounces.

The innovation was introduced last month at Longchamps races. Every society leader of the French capital in attendance was clad according to the new feather-weight mandate. It was estimated that the average weight of the clothes worn by the fashionable beauties in the grandstand did not exceed three ounces. One world famous designer of woman's clothes gave this amazing compilation of one of the now de rigeur zephyr suits:

Chemise	¼ oz.
Combination (shirt and camisole)	1 oz.
Stockings (pair)	½ oz.
Dress	1¼ oz.

So analyzed, the mechanical difficulty of assembling a three-ounce costume does not seem so great. Pumps or sandals, of course, are not included. There are no corsets, certainly; the things are almost obsolete. Correspondingly, there are no metallic garters or stocking supporters to add bulk to the costume. One would use silk elastic for the net work stockings or thin rubber bands for half-hose, which are optional. And as for the combination suit, that essentially would be of the sheerest as well as the finest of silk. The overdress, or gown, as one pleases to call it, is of finely wrought lace, with shoulder straps of whatever filmy material the wearer may fancy.

All this minute detail is offered purely for the masculine fat-wits, who are not aware how delicately the spinners of silk and workers in lace can fabricate in their craft. But it is something that every woman knows.

And now what is more important than all, the three-ounce costume has the unqualified indorsement of men of science. There may be, doubtless will be, those who will denounce the limit to which the Parisian modistes have gone in their striving for novelty, but, just the same, an eminent doctor, without knowing that he was bespeaking favor for a cause so far removed from the field of health, has just come out with an appeal for feminine garb of less weight than that which has been accepted as complying with the demands of a capricious climate.

This doctor is Josiah Oldfield, one of the most remarkable figures in England's medical world, Britain's youngest centenarian. He has been described as "the doctor who admits being 96 years old, looks to be 60 and acts like he was 30." All of his time is spent at his hospital in Kent, where he receives incurables, persons dying of old age, and makes new men and women out of them by scientific feeding. The greatest argument that his course is a success is himself.

"The fewer and lighter garments women wear," he says, "the healthier and more beautiful and the freer in mind and body they will be. Air and sunshine are the best of all cosmetics. The face is the healthiest portion of the skin in the entire body and this is because it is usually naked. The prudes who contend that woman has to burden herself with heavy, unbecoming clothing in order to conform with the laws of decency are generally those whose bodies are more slightly covered than uncovered.

"The heaviest clothed in every climate are neither the most moral nor the most healthy. Woman's body is like a beautiful plant. It needs ventilation and sunlight."

So far, neither New York, Chicago nor San Francisco has yet presented a three-ounce costume at any public gathering. The tendency of the vogue, though, is pronounced. In New York, Mme. Frances, exclusive and ultra-fashionable dress artiste, has sounded the warning. "It is going to be the season of the flapper," asserts Madame. "You must not weigh more than 115 pounds—100 is better—and if you do weigh 115, you must not look it. Therefore, censor your diet. This season is to be corsetless, hipless and curveless, excepting, of course, for such rounded outlines as are disclosed by undraped arms."

In one other channel, too, the three-ounce costume may show its fine points. One can never tell; in these days of strikes one never knows when the baggage man and the transfer man and the elevator man are going to disappoint us. What a comfort it will be if Madame can call Felice, the maid, and speak something after this manner:

"Felice, I think I'll run down to the shore for the week-end. Never mind packing a satchel; just stuff about four evening gowns and a couple of board-walk dresses in one of my hand-bags will you—that old beaded one with the gold chain will do.

"And, oh, Felice, don't make it too heavy. I'm not taking you along, you know, and I don't feel at all strong, myself. If it should weigh too much take out two or three pairs of stockings. Should I run short at the beach I'll get somebody to paint me a pair."

Facts About Pepper

THE black variety of pepper usually found in the table pepper shaker is a tropical plant and most of it comes from the West Indies. It grows there as a rambling and climbing shrub whose smooth and spongy stems are often more than 20 feet in length, to which are attached very broad, leathery leaves.

This black pepper, or common pepper as it is usually called, is a fruit about the size of a pea, changing to a bright red when fully ripe and gathered just as it begins to turn from green to red, for when allowed to get more ripe it loses a great deal of its pungency.

When in cultivation the pepper plants are supported by poles, or sometimes dwarf trees are planted to give the vine a support, the second method usually proving the more satisfactory. It is propagated by means of cuttings and comes into bearing within three or four years after being planted. After beginning to bear the black pepper yields two crops annually for about 12 years, after which the vine loses its vitality for production and another must be planted to take its place.

Pepper was known to the ancients and used by them as a medicine, while in the middle ages it was one of the most costly spices and a pound of it was considered a fitting present for the king. In these enlightened times nothing is thought of its old time preciousness, as it is now so common and comparatively cheap.

The black pepper you use today for seasoning your food is nothing more than the dried pepper berries which have been ground fine.

White pepper, the kind usually served in restaurants on account of its color, is made from the seed of the pepper berry after the skin and fleshy parts have been removed by soaking the dried berry in water.

Red pepper is obtained from a species of plant, such as is grown in local market gardens, and it is the hottest variety, too. It does not require a tropical sun to give it its "kicks," but right here in the United States the farmers and gardeners know how to put the "pep" in it.

ROTARIAN EDGAR WORTH DESCRIBES HIS RECENT TRIP TO OLD COUNTRY

PETERBORO ROTARIANS PLAN A BOYS' CAMP FOR NEXT YEAR—ROTARY CLUB MEETING.

(By F. H. DOBBIN.)

Getting together after the August interlude the Rotary Club numbered at luncheon Monday a full quota. Only a few absent. Those who had been out of the city and mingling with rotaries elsewhere brought back suggestions of interest as to activities.

Now established as a feature of Rotary activity is the 'Birthday Club," for Rotary is always looking for reasonable excuses to part a man from his money, so long as the parting is in the direction of doing good. As each member reaches the anniversary of his birth, he owns up and is requested to contribute. This fund as it accumulates is set aside to form a basis for a boys' fund. Likely it will take the shape of presenting so many boys with bank accounts and a commencement of a number of dollars deposited to his credit. He to begin to save and add to the bank account. As it is perfectly plain and discernable that all the Rotary members must reach during one year their respective birthdays, all will have contributed in that time. Just about as sure as taxes, from which now there be little chance to escape. Rotarian Bruce Fowler was just so old on the 12th Sept. He was invited to be the first, and complied. (Cheers).

Boys' Camp.

Rotarian Claude Rogers reported on the proposed boys' camp site for 1922. Rotary proposes to institute and keep up at a point on the lakes to the north within road or water distance of the city a permanent camp, to which, especially, underprivileged boys can be detailed under auspices of the club for a summer outing. A site in view of about 600 acres can be secured, and on this it is proposed to erect a camp house, cookery, bunk houses and have a wharf. There will be ample provision for sports, baseball, cricket, athletics, etc., the ground to be cleaned up by the first batch of boys taken into camp.

The directors of the club have the arrangements in hand and will likely report at next meeting. It is thought that with the kind connivance of Rotarian Rogers, that a couple of war canoes (now not in use), together with a reasonable assortment of punts, skiffs and an odd raft or two, will provide facilities for water sports. It is known by those who have participated that no form of aquatic craft offers so much sport to boys as a couple of rafts. To be fought for swam for, boarded and claimed. Trafalgar or Aboukir Bay has nothing on the raft as a community centre for violent effort and instantaneous immersion. There's more fun than enough in climbing on the raft and throwing the other fellows off. Ever try it? Then you have lacked education.

The camp will be under able supervision, Rotarian Burton having volunteered to guide and govern the first party for the first two weeks. The camp will be self-sufficing.

Trade Conditions.

Rotarian Edgar Worth, having lately returned from England, was asked to give the gathering his impressions of how things prevailed in the Old Land, and speaking of getting across, he took occasion to eulogize the accommodation and speed of the magnificient steamers of the C. P. R. line. Quite the equal, and in many respects better than other accommodation from the American side. He had tried both and was sure of his impressions. Besides the passage charges were more moderate. So much for Canadian enterprize.

He found England without rain for practically 120 days. The landscape was not the poverbial English one. Much of brown where green was always exposed. As to trade conditions. He had gone over to view the conditions of reported competition in the textile trades and manufactures. Found conditions practically the same as in Canada, but accentuated by the trades troubles. Strike had followed strike. These at first had not been considered as serious handicaps. But now the effect was apparent in many industries. The setback resulting from the coal strike was most unfortunate. Trade and industries were holding one another up by assistance to carry on in the interval while the country was getting back into its manufacturing stride.

Many manufacturers were appealing to the Government in their anxiety to weather the conditions, and the Government, on a proper investigation being made as to conditions in the trade, would repay to the manufacturer a part of the excess profits tax paid during war years to enable the factory to continue work and wages. There was much unemployment. And the unemployment situation and consequent relief was a most serious question.

Saving Fuel.

Instancing the city of Bradford. At night the streets were in total darkness. Not even shops and stores lighted. Why? Because the City Council, having had to keep the city dark for want of coal during the strike, proposed to go on and economize in the matter of public lighting for a time as yet. Saying that the public had worried through three months of darkness and could navigate a little longer while fuel was so costly. Bradford has 500,000 inhabitants.

Despite all assertions, he affirmed that wages were not reduced to even the extent as prevails in Canada. Nor is the cost of living down to the extent that Canadian prices have fallen. Retail English prices for necessaries are somewhere between the prices of pre-war years and the peak of the war time.

But England, he said, is so firmly founded on precedent and rare common sense and her traditions and experience go back so far that there is no large anxiety as to the ultimate future. But as all European countries now making progress in manufacture look to dispose of products in England, there is a field of perplexity as how to meet the threatened competition. This will have to be considered and met if the British manufacturer is to hold his own both at home and in the world markets.

Crossing into Sweeden, he found that what he affirmed the dearest country on earth in which to live. Bread, for instance, is three times the price of bread in Canada. A loaf, such as we have here at 7c, costs 24c, using Canadian money. A dinner for five persons cost, in Canadian money, $42.00. Before the war the same meal would cost $9.50.

Looking over the harbors of several countries as he took shipping, he saw the waters thronged with idle merchant shipping, idle for lack of freights, though things were beginning to look better when he left Europe. It will take Europe—manufacturing Europe—five years to recover from the immense disorganization consequent on the war.

Glad to be Back.

It was good, he said, to be home again. Canada stood out as the least bothered of any of all countries. Our national and even domestic troubles seemed light in comparison. Happiest of lands. Peaceful and prosperous by comparison. Free from the worries and hindrances of the older nations, Canada was bound to go ahead. He found everywhere a deep respect and admiration for Canadian manhood and Canadian effort as shown in the war. Men looked on Canada as the coming Anglo-Saxon nation, a country with a fresh start, untrammeled with traditions, a commonwealth that stood out as the one country of peace and plenty for those who would buckle to and earn it. Canada, the least disturbed of all the countries on earth.

Rotarian Morris, having just gotten back from a cross-the-Continent trip, and seeing things, stood up and asked that the local Playgrounds Association be taken under the ing of the Rotary Club. A few ladies were carrying the work of this local feature, and it was rather an anxious time lately. However, the emergency had been met by the generosity of the City Council, but for the next year some more ample provision should be made. Rotary promised to give the matter thoughtful attention.

As The Examiner has very kindly agreed to print a few columns of matter culled from many reports of Rotary activities, those who take an interest in community betterments are asked to peruse and see the remarkable extent to which Rotary is tackling community problems and supplying a need for local effort that has not theretofore been met and handled.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

LETTER TO CONSERVATIVES.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—I find a very strong and undiminished objection amongst Conservatives here and elsewhere to any attempt to let down the old party from its high position of the past, and with that objection I heartily sympathize. But there are the leaders of the Conservative Party at Ottawa or in the country who could come forward and set up a Government in the event of a victory at the polls? Until a new Conservative leader is appointed, Conservatives are, strictly speaking, no longer a party at all. Just as leaders cannot do without a party so a party cannot do without leaders. When Sir Robert Borden left the party to drift where it might we were practically thrown down, and what are we going to do about it? That is the question. We had all supposed that when the war was over we would pick up the threads of 1911 and go to the country for a renewal of confidence in the Conservative Party and policy, but that did not take place. There is now nothing for us to do unless we throw up our hand and take no part in politics at all but to make a virtue of necessity and to support the old policy which Mr. Meighen now advocates and, indeed, puts forward as the sole issue of election. Of course, the truth is that the last two years have been lost or thrown away in a vain attempt to wipe out an old party without consulting it and to establish a new one in which people with opposite trade views were to unite the country while they themselves divided the spoils on a carefully arranged fifty-fifty basis. No people of any pride or sense would stand for such work as that, and the expected has happened.

Some may ask why I did not take my present position at the by-election. My answer is that the Government had at that time refused to go to the country. It has now—thanks to West Peterborough and Medicine Hat, etc.—changed its mind. It was hoped in February last, at any rate by me, that if Mr. Meighen found that he had to go to the country he would re-construct his Cabinet on Conservative lines, and that also he is now doing. All the Liberals in his Cabinet have resigned. The four who have remained are Conservatives. They are the foundation upon which Mr. Meighen is trying to reconstruct his Cabinet. One of them is the man who the day after the election in West Peterborough gave a most important interview to the Canadian Press, in which he stated that this by-election here showed conclusively that "we must get back" to the old parties. Another most distinguished member of the remaining four sent word to me after the election by a man now in Peterborough that if I had only managed to win in West Peterborough it would have been a great thing for Canada and the protectionist policy. So, you will see about all that remains for Mr. Meighen to do is to take off the new label and put on the old. We must have a Government of one mind, not of a fifty-fifty mind. That sort of Government is no good to anybody but themselves. When in 1911 the Conservative policy advocated by the Conservative Party won the election it was supported by many Liberals. There was no need for changing the party's name then, and except for the new partnership fifty-fifty arrangement there would be no need of changing it at all. However, that is apparently all over. I am supporting the Meighen Government because Mr. Meighen has come a long way back to meet us, because he advocates our trade policy, which makes the difference between Liberals and Conservatives, and there is no tag on it either, and, as I have already said, because there are no Conservative leaders in sight except what we seen in Mr. Meighen and his reconstructed Cabinet. As a matter of fact what further than the change of name is there for us to demand? I admit that it must come too, but we needn't throw everything away because it is a little later than the rest.

When the Conservative Party in 1911 laid down the war burden in 1920, it should have said to the Unionist Liberals as we now all agree, "Now, then, we must all go to the country in an election and get back to what and where we came from at the call of war, just as the troops themselves are doing." But when that was not done, even in the face of Mr. Rowells' protest and retirement, what could we hope for but disaster, and unless we can get back to our old policy and those in whom the country place confidence in 1911, there is nothing for it but the triumph of Quebec and the middle west, who will then for many a long day rule Canada as they see fit. To do Quebec justice we must admit that she hangs to her principles with a mighty grip. She will not sell out, nor will one single constituency in Quebec sell out to anybody in power for the prospect of getting something for a constituency. That form of virtue belongs to Ontario, where we are continually told that principles are nothing in comparison with getting something of a more tangible character. Quebec has become a solid Liberal constituency with members on the average far above Ontario in intellect and sagacity. We have been going down in Ontario, and the present collapse at Ottawa is a partial proof of it. We must gather ourselves together and be more worthy of the big men who went before us and throw aside all this peanut stuff about valuing our country for what we can get out of it. We must do the best we can for the interests of Canada, and whilst the recent exposure of the Grand Trunk Railway scandal, as we may call it, by the arbitrators justifies me in my strong stand both in Parliament and at the last election against it, there can be no doubt that it will be a savage blow to the Government, which was guaranteeinng blindly stocks of a concern that was manipulating its dividends. Whether we vote Liberal or Conservative we must realize the sacredness of our duty to our country, which stands above all parties. We call ourselves Liberal or Conservative or Farmer accordingly as we profess a certain policy, but we are not tied like donkeys to a post for that reason. A man's a man for a' that.

J. H. BURNHAM.

Editor Examiner.

Sir,—In your issue of last Thursday Mr. Tooms, M.L.A., makes a very strong plea for the establishment of an Industrial School in Peterborough. He is undoubtedly right in stating that there are few places where the need is so great.

Our status as a manufacturing centre logically implies that a large number of artizans, mechanics, craftsmen, engineers, electricians, architects and kindred crafts are here in the making, and adequate provision for their development is a moral and economic obligation upon the community.

The Industrial School is the workman's university, it is the open door to intelligent efficiency, brilliant accomplishment and progressive service by hundreds of students who could not succeed in a classical course.

Canada cannot long compete with other manufacturing countries unless she has the skilled labor to do so.

The professions have their place and are well provided for. We must provide also for the mechanic, the inventor, the designer—these creators of the material into the useful.

Is it not an economic loss and criminal injustice to have so many of our young people try two or three occupations before they find what they are suited for in life's work?

The greater part of this waste of youth and talent would be eliminated by the initial training of an Industrial School, and their natural talents directed into channels of profitable and efficient service.

It is quite evident that Peterborough took a step in the right direction when it placed a woman on the School Board, and Mrs. Morris is rendering a public service of first importance in bringing this matter to public notice. Her letter in Saturday's Examiner should be read carefully by every parent and citizen.

Her letter points the way to accomplish results at lowest cost to the community and greatest advantage to both the Collegiate Institute and the Industrial School.

Fortunately Nature is no respector of persons in the endowment of talent, and the most brilliant scholar may come from the humblest home, but nine out of ten of our children will be faced at once in life by the bread and butter question, and we are moraly bound to provide them with facilities to train and direct their talents intelligently and successfully in life's callings.

Every parent, and especially the workingmen, should give this matter loyal intelligent support, and in doing so, they are providing untold advantage for their children.

Yours truly,

A. B. CUNNINGHAM.

ROTARIAN EDGAR WORTH DESCRIBES HIS RECENT TRIP TO OLD COUNTRY

PETERBORO ROTARIANS PLAN A BOYS' CAMP FOR NEXT YEAR—ROTARY CLUB MEETING.

(By F. H. DOBBIN.)

Getting together after the August interlude the Rotary Club numbered at luncheon Monday a full quota. Only a few absent. Those who had been out of the city and mingling with rotaries elsewhere brought back suggestions of interest as to activities.

Now established as a feature of Rotary activity is the 'Birthday Club," for Rotary is always looking for reasonable excuses to part a man from his money, so long as the parting is in the direction of doing good. As each member reaches the anniversary of his birth, he owns up and is requested to contribute. This fund as it accumulates is set aside to form a basis for a boys' fund. Likely it will take the shape of presenting so many boys with bank accounts and a commencement of a number of dollars deposited to his credit. He to begin to save and add to the bank account. As it is perfectly plain and discernable that all the Rotary members must reach during one year their respective birthdays, all will have contributed in that time. Just about as sure as taxes, from which now there be little chance to escape. Rotarian Bruce Fowler was just so old on the 12th Sept. He was invited to be the first, and complied. (Cheers).

Boys' Camp.

Rotarian Claude Rogers reported on the proposed boys' camp site for 1922. Rotary proposes to institute and keep up at a point on the lakes to the north within road or water distance of the city a permanent camp, to which, especially, underprivileged boys can be detailed under auspices of the club for a summer outing. A site in view of about 600 acres can be secured, and on this it is proposed to erect a camp house, cookery, bunk houses and have a wharf. There will be ample provision for sports, baseball, cricket, athletics, etc., the ground to be cleaned up by the first batch of boys taken into camp.

The directors of the club have the arrangements in hand and will likely report at next meeting. It is thought that with the kind connivance of Rotarian Rogers, that a couple of war canoes (now not in use), together with a reasonable assortment of punts, skiffs and an odd raft or two, will provide facilities for water sports. It is known by those who have participated that no form of aquatic craft offers so much sport to boys as a couple of rafts. To be fought for swam for, boarded and claimed. Trafalgar or Aboukir Bay has nothing on the raft as a community centre for violent effort and instantaneous immersion. There's more fun than enough in climbing on the raft and throwing the other fellows off. Ever try it? Then you have lacked education.

The camp will be under able supervision, Rotarian Burton having volunteered to guide and govern the first party for the first two weeks. The camp will be self-sufficing.

Trade Conditions.

Rotarian Edgar Worth, having lately returned from England, was asked to give the gathering his impressions of how things prevailed in the Old Land, and speaking of getting across, he took occasion to eulogize the accommodation and speed of the magnificient steamers of the C. P. R. line. Quite the equal, and in many respects better than other accommodation from the American side. He had tried both and was sure of his impressions. Besides the passage charges were more moderate. So much for Canadian enterprize.

He found England without rain for practically 120 days. The landscape was not the poverbial English one. Much of brown where green was always exposed. As to trade conditions. He had gone over to view the conditions of reported competition in the textile trades and manufactures. Found conditions practically the same as in Canada, but accentuated by the trades troubles. Strike had followed strike. These at first had not been considered as serious handicaps. But now the effect was apparent in many industries. The setback resulting from the coal strike was most unfortunate. Trade and industries were holding one another up by assistance to carry on in the interval while the country was getting back into its manufacturing stride.

Many manufacturers were appealing to the Government in their anxiety to weather the conditions, and the Government, on a proper investigation being made as to conditions in the trade, would repay to the manufacturer a part of the excess profits tax paid during war years to enable the factory to continue work and wages. There was much unemployment. And the unemployment situation and consequent relief was a most serious question.

Saving Fuel.

Instancing the city of Bradford. At night the streets were in total darkness. Not even shops and stores lighted. Why? Because the City Council, having had to keep the city dark for want of coal during the strike, proposed to go on and economize in the matter of public lighting for a time as yet. Saying that the public had worried through three months of darkness and could navigate a little longer while fuel was so costly. Bradford has 300,000 inhabitants.

Despite all assertions, he affirmed that wages were not reduced to even the extent as prevails in Canada. Nor is the cost of living down to the extent that Canadian prices have fallen. Retail English prices for necessaries are somewhere between the prices of pre-war years and the peak of the war time.

But England, he said, is so firmly founded on precedent and rare common sense and her traditions and experience go back so far that there is no large anxiety as to the ultimate future. But as all European countries now making progress in manufacture look to dispose of products in England, there is a field of perplexity as how to meet the threatened competition. This will have to be considered and met if the British manufacturer is to hold his own both at home and in the world markets.

Crossing into Sweeden, he found that what he affirmed the dearest country on earth in which to live. Bread, for instance, is three times the price of bread in Canada. A loaf, such as we have here at 7c, costs 24c, using Canadian money. A dinner for five persons cost, in Canadian money, $42.00. Before the war the same meal would cost $9.50.

Looking over the harbors of several countries as he took shipping, he saw the waters thronged with idle merchant shipping, idle for lack of freights, though things were beginning to look better when he left Europe. It will take Europe—manufacturing Europe—five years to recover from the immense disorganization consequent on the war.

Glad to be Back.

It was good, he said, to be home again. Canada stood out as the least bothered of any of all countries. Our national and even domestic troubles seemed light in comparison. Happiest of lands. Peaceful and prosperous by comparison. Free from the worries and hindrances of the older nations, Canada was bound to go ahead. He found everywhere a deep respect and admiration for Canadian manhood and Canadian effort as shown in the war. Men looked on Canada as the coming Anglo-Saxon nation, a country with a fresh start, untrammeled with traditions, a commonwealth that stood out as the one country of peace and plenty for those who would buckle to and earn it. Canada, the least disturbed of all the countries on earth.

Rotarian Morris, having just gotten back from a cross-the-Continent trip, and seeing things, stood up and asked that the local Playgrounds Association be taken under the ing of the Rotary Club. A few ladies were carrying the work of this local feature, and it was rather an anxious time lately. However, the emergency had been met by the generosity of the City Council, but for the next year some more ample provision should be made. Rotary promised to give the matter thoughtful attention.

As The Examiner has very kindly agreed to print a few columns of matter culled from many reports of Rotary activities, those who take an interest in community betterments are asked to peruse and see the remarkable extent to which Rotary is tackling community problems and supplying a need for local effort that has not theretofore been met and handled.

TO-DAY'S FASHIONS

UNUSUAL FROCK

Here is the new monk collar that is so becomingly youthful. It tops a frock of navy blue Poiret twill and inspires cuffs and sash ends to emulate its interesting braid trimming. The skirt is made of narrow panels, pointed off at the hem and sewed together to knee length.

FISH HASH.

Boil and mash enough potatoes to make two cups. Add a cup of fresh fish and a tablespoon of chopped green peppers. Melt a little butter in a frying pan and add the hash. Turn and brown.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

LETTER TO CONSERVATIVES.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—I find a very strong and undiminished objection amongst Conservatives here and elsewhere to any attempt to let down the old party from its high position of the past, and with that objection I heartily sympathize. But there are the leaders of the Conservative Party at Ottawa or in the country who could come forward and set up a Government in the event of a victory at the polls? Until a new Conservative leader is appointed, Conservatives are, strictly speaking, no longer a party at all. Just as leaders cannot do without a party so a party cannot do without leaders. When Sir Robert Borden left the party to drift where it might we were practically thrown down, and what are we going to do about it? That is the question. We had all supposed that when the war was over we would pick up the threads of 1911 and go to the country for a renewal of confidence in the Conservative Party and policy, but that did not take place. There is now nothing for us to do unless we throw up our hands and take no part in politics at all but to make a virtue of necessity and to support the old policy which Mr. Meighen now advocates and, indeed, puts forward as the sole issue of election. Of course, the truth is that the last two years have been lost or thrown away in a vain attempt to wipe out an old party without consulting it and to establish a new one in which people with opposite trade views were to unite the country while they themselves divided the spoils on a carefully arranged fifty-fifty basis. No people of any pride or sense would stand for such work as that, and the expected has happened.

Some may ask why I did not take my present position at the by-election. My answer is that the Government had at that time refused to go to the country. It has now—thanks to West Peterborough and Medicine Hat, etc.—changed its mind. It was hoped in February last, at any rate by me, that if Mr. Meighen found that he had to go to the country he would re-construct his Cabinet on Conservative lines, and that also he is now doing. The Exhibition Bargain Annex Sale—A Yearly Feature Event

Every year we make an extra special effort for a big Wednesday's business during Exhibition week. This year the Bargain Annex buyers have collected a most comprehensive selection of Fall and early Winter merchandise at prices that are by far the lowest quotations in years.

Time-Limit Sales

9 A.M. TO 10 A.M.

Half-Price for Hemmed Pillow Cases, 39c Pair

We have forty dozen of them. That sounds a lot, but it is not a great deal when the price is so low.

Their good quality will surprise you as much as the price. The ends are neatly hemmed. On Sale for one hour only.

4.30 P.M. TO 5.30 P.M.

Yard-Wide 25c Curtain Scrims, 15c Yard

This price is by far the lowest of the year for such good quality Curtain Scrim. They have hemstitched and self-striped borders. The width is a full yard and you can have ecru, cream or white. Remember that the regular price is 25c yard and Wednesday's is only 15c.

FACTORY SECONDS

Boys' and Girls 50c Fine Ribbed Cotton Hose, 29c Pair, 2 Pairs 55c

It is fortunate that they are seconds; if they weren't the price would be greater. The imperfections are not serious. Fine ribbed and suitable for either boys or girls. Seamless feet. First buyers will find sizes 6 to 10, excepting size 8.

LEADER

Women's 75c Black Lisle Hose, 49c Pair, 2 Pairs 95c

Fine quality Black Lisle Stockings—perfectly shaped with narrowed ankles. They are seamless and come in sizes 9, 9½ and 10. Good value at 75c a pair. At this price they are worth buying in six-pair lots.

MILL SECONDS

Women's Holeproof Silk Hose, 67c Pair, 2 Pairs $1.25

Hundreds of women take advattage of these Hosiery Sales of ours. They have learned that the imperfections are slight and can be repaired, for the flaw is usually in the foot or near the top of the Stocking.

These are mostly black and white, but there are a few navy blue and brown.

Women's 50c Brown Cashmerette Hose, 29c Pair, 2 Pairs 55c

Women's Fall Weight Cashmerette Hose in a dark brown color. They are knit to form without seams and can be had in sizes 9 and 9½. Regular 50c value. A small quantity to clear. Come early.

LEADER

Pure-Wool Dress Serges, 95c Yard

FORMER $1.50 VALUES

Splendid quality Heavy Weight Dress Serges. The color selection includes black, brown, navy blue and dark Copenhagen. The width is 37/38 inches. As you can see the price is remarkably low. Two hundred yards to sell.

LEADER

Former 75c Black and White Shepherd Check Dress Goods, 39c Yard

Will make into excellent school garments. Excellent because it looks well, will wash and is inexpensive. Choice of two sizes of checks. The width is 36 inches.

Yard-Wide Factory Cotton, Mill Ends, 12½c Yard

The lengths run from 2 to 10 yards. They are an excellent grade of Cotton and measure from 36 to 38 inches in width. Good enough for any purpose and low enough in price for the most economical.

LEADER

"Everett" Shirtings, 23c Yard

An especially low price for these good quality Shirtings. They are mostly China blue and blue grey colorings in neat stripe and check patterns. The widths are between 28 and 29 inches and the usual retail price is 35c yard.

"Wabasso" Heavy Quality Circular Pillow Cotton, 39c Yard

This is our fourth shipment in three weeks, so you can judge what splendid buying it is. It is firm and heavy and the widths are 40, 42 and 44 inches. It is worth 50c a yard and that is what we sell it for regularly.

A Flannelette Blanket Value of Great Importance

LARGEST 12-4 SIZE $2.69 PAIR

Canadian-made Blankets of the best quality and largest size. You can have white or grey with pink or blue borders. This price, we believe, is the lowest quotation in the retail trade to-day. POSITIVELY GUARANTEED TO BE FIRST QUALITY.

AT 9 O'CLOCK

We Will Put on Sale 1000 Yds. of Striped Flannelettes, at Yd.

The good old days of 12½c Flannelette have come back once more—for one day at least. It is a good quality too, and there is a variety of light, medium and dark stripe patterns. The width is 27 inches.

At this price we must limit the quantity to not more than 20 yards to to one buyer, and also to prevent dealers buying. We cannot accept phone orders.

LEADER

Children's Fleece-Lined Sleeping Suits, 95c

Kiddies' Fleece-lined Sleeping Suits for the cool fall evenings. There are light grey and natural colors—snug-fitting feet, button back and drop seat. Regularly they sell up to $1.65, according to size, and first buyers will find all sizes from 1 to 6, excepting size 5.

Women's Special $1.50 Chambray House Dresses, 98c

This shipment has just come in and it is our third this fall. You will like their style and their quality and we are sure the price will suit. Made on straight lines and can be had in Copenhagen or pink. The neck, pockets, sleeves and belt are trimmed with ric-rac braid. All sizes.

LEADER

Men's $1 and $1.25 Fall Weight Merino Underwear, 59c Garment

MILL SECONDS

"Merino" is the popular weight for fall and early winter wear. The Shirts have long sleeves and the Drawers are ankle length. They are mill seconds, but the imperfections are very slight—such as small oil stains that will in no way impair their wearing qualities.

$2.50 Scrim Curtains, $1.69 Pair

Fine quality Scrim Curtains in light and cream colors. They are 2½ yards long and the edges are trimmed with hemstitching and dainty lace. A limited number of pairs, so come early for yours.

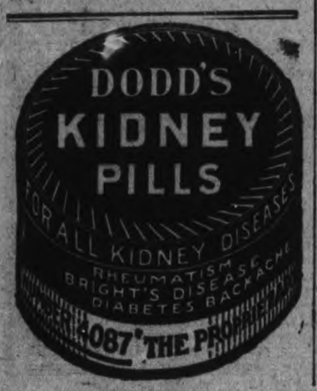
TRADE RETURNING TO NORMAL CHANNELS

CONDITIONS IMPROVING IN WESTERN CANADA AND OPTIMISM PREVAILS.

Just returned from a seven weeks' visit to the western coast, spending a week in Vancouver and Victoria, a month in Alberta and ten days in Winnipeg, Mr. H. P. Kennedy, formerly of Peterborough and now of Toronto, speaks of a spirit of optimism he found prevailing among business men generally out west. In all centres in that part of Canada, he said there is less unemployment than in the east, and business leaders declare that trade is gradually working back into normal channels again. Crop conditions are favorable, Mr. Kennedy says, in all western territory excepting in Southern Alberta; in Northern and Southern Alberta crops are normal, while in the Peace River district there is a bumper yield.

Cattle men, however, he points out, are pessimistic for the near future, unfinished cattle now selling at less than cost of production. Still in his opinion, the interest of the government in the situation, which has fostered relief for stock raisers by the banks coming to their aid financially, should, he thinks stimulate the cattle trade generally. Resultant from this is the fact that many farmers and feeders are deciding to full feed cattle at once for export. In encouragement of the finishing of cattle, Mr. Kennedy, who is president of H. P. Kennedy, Limited, Toronto, before leaving Edmonton, offered $1,000 in prizes for parties putting the greatest weight gain per head per day on cattle in lots of from 20 to 1,000 during a minimum period of four months and not over seven. This competition opens September 17th and closes April 15th, 1922. For 100 head of cattle the first prize is $250, second $150, and third $100, with the same prize grading for lots of 20 head.

Mr. Kennedy ran across many Peterborough people during his trip—in Winnipeg, Edmonton and Vancouver. Mrs. Kennedy and son Maxwell, who have spent the last three months in Edmonton, the latter as assistant to the manager of the Edmonton stock yards, returned home with Mr. Kennedy. Maxwell is returning to McGill University, Montreal, October first.



CONQUER AFRICA BY AIRPLANE IS ITALY'S SCHEME

ROME, Sept. 13.—(United Press).—Just as the railway proved the great advance guard of civilization for the entire western portion of the United States, so must the airplane become the great advance guard for the civilization of Africa.

Convinced of the truth of this, the Italian Ministry of Colonies as well as those of the War and Navy, are making an ever-increasing use of aviation in the development of Italy's African colonies. The same is being done equally by France and Spain in the development of Morocco, Tunis and other African possessions.

Italy's Dark Continent colonies include Tripoli and Cyrenaica in the northern part, with a Mediterranean coast line and Italian Somaliland and Erytrea on the eastern coast.

In the opinion of Italian colonial experts, decades must elapse before Africa can be opened up to any extensive railway development. Deserts, hostile tribes and other native obstacles stand in the way of any quick advance of the railway.

On the other hand, Italy is convinced that a great deal of the handicap entailed in the use of caravan, waterways and other existing means of communications can be greatly offset by airplane service.

One of the newest colonial airplanes to be established by Italy is between Tripoli and Homs. To the residents of the latter place, a week's time is saved in communications with both Italy and Tripoli. The distance of 100 kilometers between the two cities is covered in anywhere from half an hour to three hours, according to the weather, and the return trips are made after a stop of three hours.

An extensive use of the airplane is also being made in Erythrea, where the Duke of the Abbruzzi is now developing the colony from an agricultural and other standpoint.

CUSTOM OF MAN KISSING MAN IS PASSING

ANGORA, Aug. 13.—(Associated Press) The age old custom of man publicly kissing other men as a mark of affection, esteem or reverence, is passing in Asia Minor.

As in the French army, high officers or generals of the Turk Nationalist army kiss men whom they decorate or wish to commend. General Ismet Pasha, in reviewing infantry often walks up to some stalwart soldier, slaps him on the shoulders, and kisses him on both cheeks as a mark of public approval. The correspondent has seen a high officer kneel and kiss the hands of General Mouhidinne Bey, the former teacher of the younger officer.

Bu in general, as a custom of the people of friends meeting and embracing after a long separation kissing is a thing of the past.

GERMAN FIRM IS MAKING BID FOR CANADIAN TRADE.

Circulars Received Here Offer Attractive Financial Terms as Bait.

A letter from a German firm in Hamburg, offering its services for the purchase of all products of the German industry, and being circulated throughout Canada, has been received in Peterborough. It shows clearly the anxiety of the German merchant to get foreign business, in the extent to which credit is offered, and the claims to unusually low prices, through some of the lines offered being bought direct from home-workers. It bears all the marks of having been prepared by high experts in correspondence courses on salesmanship of goods for export, for no detail of information is omitted that might be of service to the foreign buyer, whose orders are cajoled with broad claims, such as "we are well acquainted with the requirements of various markets, and we have a number of expert buyers at your disposal who have many years of experience in foreign countries, ... we are confident that we are in a position to offer all that could be desired in regard to feliability, service and satisfaction.";

"The danger of such merchandising to Canadian industry is that they are manufacturing their goods for a depreciated paper currency, while they are selling to other countries for gold," declared the receiver of the letter. 'They can, therefore, afford to undersell our manufacturers very considerably, their production costs being far below ours."

A Wide List.

"Enclosed we beg to hand you a list of those articles for which we have very extensive contracts running with the 'most competent manufacturers," runs another seductive sentence. The list contains twenty broad headings, with sub-headings which show that the Hamburg firm has contracts with "the most competent manufacturers" for practically every article known to modern industry—aniline and other colors, chemicals of all kinds; cement, construction material, wood, etc.; machinery of all kinds, from bicycles, to machinery for the manufacture of wooden and iron articles—a widespread classification; tools of any kind; glassware, wine and beer glasses; all articles in the electrical line—another inclusive term; with a long list of other articles for which, by their claims, they have 'extensive contracts running with the most competent manufacturers."

As if that is not sweeping enough, "besides the commodities mentioned in our list, we can supply you with all the articles you might be interested in, and . . . . we can offer you prices and privileges which will enable you to stand even the strongest competition." "No chance here for the Canadian manufacturer either to live himself or to give work to his men," said the receiver.

So nothing may be overlooked to encourage business, "having special freight arrangements, we can always make prompt deliveries, and our rates and other expenses are far lower than the tariff."

The firm is out to make money coming or going, for it will also import, "and charge a commission of 1½ per cent. only for our service." It will buy goods afloat, it affirms, but disdains to mention goods sunk, and still resting at the bottom of the sea in submarined hospital and merchant ships.

BERLIN HAS STRIKE OVER BIGGEST FILM.

By Carl D. Groat.

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

BERLIN, September 13. — While American unemployed are objecting to the new plan of making Amerian films in Germany, Teutons are kicking at the low wages paid for their "acting" in these films. Their protests led to a strike.

The gigantic film Pharoah's Wife," was to be taken outside the city—in the Maerkische Schweiz. Five thousand workless were taken on barges to the show grounds, where the hosts of Pharoah were to do battle. En route the unemployed had been doctored with artificial sunburn and had been equipped with uniforms.

The stage was set for the battle. Many guests, including a corps of foreign correspondents, were present to see this—one of the greatest picture making stunts yet undertaken in Germany. Then came the squeeze play against the direction—and the strike.

Suddenly the workless set up a cry — the Internationale—and demanded more money. One of their number, a Communist, harangued the warriors. They were being oppressed by the capitalists; the 60 marks offered them was insufficicient for the day's "battling" in the sands of the Berlin suburban "Switzerland."

The film director, perspiring, mad, arose and offered the mob 75 marks (almost a dollar at the present exchange), but the Communist speaker allowed that was not enough. Finally the director, evidently thinking of his outlays for staging the spectacle, wilted and offered 100 marks, which the warriors accepted.

The American companies are saving three or four dollars per head by buying German labor even at the high rate of 100 marks a day.

The products to be dried should be spread thinly in baking pans or pie tins and these should be placed upon racks so that they are not in direct contact with the oven wall.

QUEBEC FAVORS GOV'T. CONTROL LIQUOR SALE

Majority 11,426 Votes—Scant Interest in Matter.

QUEBEC, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press).—With but a few scattered polls to hear from, a majority of 11,426 votes was given here yesterday for repeal of the Scott Act in favor of the Taschereau Law, which provides Government control of the sale of liquor.

The total vote cast to give above majority was 14,700 respective figures being 12,973 for repeal and 1,727 for continuance of the law. Approximately 26,000 names were on the Voters' List, including 5,000 women which would give the total poll as respresentative of slightly more than 57 per cent of those qualified.

Scout Interest

From the day the plebiscite was anounced by the Federal Government Quebec has manifested but scant interest in the contest, it being taken as a foregone conclusion that Scott Act would be repealed.

LOWER RY. RATES IS NOT A PANACEA FOR CANADA'S DEPRESSION

PRESIDEDT C.P.R. SAYS RAILWAYS SHOULD BE PERMITTED LATITUDE FOR FACING EXPANSION PROBLEMS WITH CERTAINTY.

By H. W. FOX.

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Expressing a desire for a keener appreciation by the public of the railway problem of Canada and of the difficulties which confronted the railway companies, E. W. Beatty, K.C., President of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, at a complimentary luncheon by the Board of Trade and other civic bodies, dealt with the railway situation in the Dominion today.

President Beatty declared: "I am as anxious as you are to see a much lower scale of expenses and, therefore, a lower scale of rates. But I am not one of those who believes that lower rates is a panacea for our commercial depression, which is universal and exists by reason of conditions not connected with the transport of goods. I would, however, ask that the railways of Canada be permitted, particularly the Canadian Pacific, to work themselves into a position were they can face problems of expansion and improvement in railway service, and extension of railway activities with some certainty.

LAKEFIELD NEWS

Lakefield, September 13. — Drummond Bros., of Peterboro, steeple jacks, are installing a new cross on the tower of St. Paul's church.

Mr. Hilliard Miller of the Royal Bank, New York, is spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Miler, Senior.

Mrs. Peter Baptie and Miss Isabel Sutton have returned from a fortnights visit to friends in Toronto and Niagara Falls.

Mr. James Duffy of Regina, Sask., is visiting friends in the village prior to entering the School of Pharmacy, Toronto.

Mr. J. H. Sherin and Mr. George Sherin left last week for Unity, Sask., to visit their ranch.

The plague of potato bugs has become so great that our enterprising Road and Sidewalk Committee has conceived the bright idea of using the watering cart to spray the streets with Paris green in order to kill the pests. Some public spirited citizens kill as they go and the sidewalks are covered with dead potato bugs, but sterner measures have become necessary. The extreme heat has been on the side of the bugs.

Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Peacock were in Toronto and Niagara Falls last week.

Mr. W. J. Lemay leaves this week to enter the College of Dental Surgeons.

Mr and Mrs. Theo Crawford and Miss Meryl are in Toronto visiting friends.

Miss Ogilvie returned home on Friday from a three weeks holiday spent in Muskoka and Toronto.

Miss Lilia and Doris Burgess were guests of Mr and Mrs. G. G. Connell at Kawartha Park last week.

Mr. Walter A. Miller of Rausonville, Niagara County, N.Y., visited at the home of William Webb for a couple of days last week.

Miss Etta Garbutt was the guest of friends at Kawartha Park last week.

Mr. G. E. Atwood of Toronto is in the vilage attending the funeral of Miss Traill.

Mrs. Osborne and Miss Angela were the guests of friends in Warsaw last week.

Miss Gwendoline Simpson leaves on Monday to enter the Peterboro Normal School.

The members of Clementi Lodge, A.F. and A.M., attended divine service in the Methodist church, on Sunday evening. Rev. S. F. Dixon preached an appropriate sermon and the choir rendered special music.

Mr. R. W. Douglas, who has been manager of the local branch of the Sterling Bank for the past year, has been transferred to the head office at Toronto.

Mr .S. W. Sutton of Port Burwell is the new manager of the local branch. Mr. Douglas, who took an active part in the life of the town, will be very much missed. He was a prominent member of the Social Club and also very active in the tennis club.

WAS SWORN IN.

TORONTO, Sept. 13. Canadian Press. — Colonel Henry Cockshutt was sworn in this afternoon as the new Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario. The ceremony took place in the Executive Council Chamber at the Parliament Buildings, here at 3 o'clock ,the oath of allegiance being administered by Rudolphe Boudreau, C. M. G., Clerk of the Privy Council, who came up from Ottawa for the purpose.

Representatives of the Government and Parliament of Ontario were present at the brief proceedings.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR LOCAL BUSINESS MEN.

In Peterborough City and County business and industrial office men have been generally invited to inspect the exhibit of 'Office Specialty' filing systems and office equipment in the Industrial Building at the local Fair this week.

This exhibit will be unusually attractive, in that it includes Fire-Wall Record Safes, with the last word in up-to-the-hour models of approved office furniture and time, money and labor-saving devices.

None interested in such fittings should fail to inspect this firm's display booth, where trained representatives will cheerfully demonstrate the practicability of their various filing systems for assuring a maximum of service at the very minimum of cost. The exhibit will in truth be found educative, and from it may be gleaned not a few practical ideas pertaining to modern business conduction.

BOY'S BIRD HOUSES TO PAY WAY THROUGH SCHOOL.

A small boy with a big idea is behind the display of bird houses shown in R. Denne's store window. The youngster got the idea that he could help pay his way through school by his own efforts, and accordingly made a whole colony of bird houses, which comprise a neat and workmanlike exhibit.

They are moderately priced, and although nesting time is over for this year, they will keep until next spring, when they can be set out.

BISHOP HARNER DIES AT CAMP MEETING.

BANTA'S KIDNEY AND RHEUMATIC PILLS

Will Do What Is Claimed For Them

People who are suffering from Kidney or Rheumatic Ailments should not neglect these troubles as they are often the symptoms of serious disease.

You may have only a Backache or Dull Pains when bending or lifting, puffing under the eyes, swelling of the feet or ankles. These are sure symptoms of Kidney Troubles, and as the Kidneys are the Blood Filters they may become too weak to carry off the poisonous gases which form in the system.

Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills will correct this trouble, relieve the Bladder and Kidneys just as some good laxative like Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Tablets will relieve the Bowels.

Dozens of well-known people of this city are willing to give Testimonials for the benefits they derived from Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills. For instance, Mr. Arthur Pinch of this City says that they have done him more good than all the other medicines that he has taken.

Mr. Thomas Oldham says they have no equal, but we would prefer you would be the judge yourself. Go to any Druggist of this City, get a Box and try them, and if they fail to help you, return the box to him and he will Refund Your Money.

THE OBJECT OF ROTARY

(By ROTARIAN F. H. DOBBIN)

Briefly, the object of Rotary is, among other attributes, the ideal of Service as the basis of all worthy enterprise. The active interest of every Rotarian in the civil, social, commercial and moral welfare of the community. To do his part when called on.

Membership, formed on the plan of one active and representative man from each line of business and profession in the community. And always to encourage and foster right things. For it is believed that in every community men can be found who will willingly give of their time and energy to the end that the community may be bettered.

At the request of the club, the following summary of activities carried on by other Rotary Clubs is prepared, in the hope that in such way will be afforded some conception of what Rotary is doing and trying to accomplish. The excerpts are culled from communications received in answer to information to be used on the annual field day at Peterborough.

Necessarily, the local club, being only recently organized, and many Canadian clubs, (clubs in Canada) comparatively so, inspiration and information was asked from several American clubs, more particularly those in centres of the State of New York. All, with Canadian Rotaries, being in District No. 4.

Rotary of Guelph, Ont., by R. L. Torrance, Vice-President. Presenting cups for competition in junior outdoor sports and in enthusing and entertaining the competing clubs at corn roast gatherings.

Entertained some of the men who fought overseas in a banquet at Christmas. Encouraged a campaign for the expansion of the penny savings banks in the local schools, with success. Triple the number now depositing and increasing.

Entertaining the teachers interested in this work and giving assistance in details. Established a "Sunshine Fund" for the benefit of those needing help in sickness and in trouble in the city.

Rotary of Hamilton, Ont., by Gus. Vila, Secretary.—One of the most real things that has come to the club is the real need for interest in the boy and in boy's work. It is felt, by many, that unless a member is willing to take a boy under his care, and develop him and do what he can for him as a big brother of Hamilton Rotary, that the club holds no place for him.

At call of chairman (Bill Cooper) $4,000 was subscribed last year to be expended by committee in mental and physical uplift of three sections of Boy Community, The Soldiers' Sons, the Delinquent and the Under Privileged Boy.

The sons of soldiers have been cared for since 1915 by our committee on Boy's Work. The son of every soldier who died on service, and who lives in Hamilton, is known to the Rotary club. His home and outdoor life are carefully watched by the Rotarians, not as a task but as an imperative duty.

After a survey of the city it was decided that the Children's Shelter stood most in need of reorganization and enlargement. A canvas brought in $35,000. Over ninety percent of the work done in this connection is due to Rotarians. The institution is now a place to be proud of.

For instance, Rotarian Jim Moodie took hold of a boy with one of the worst records in Hamilton. The influence on the boy and in the boy's home has resulted in a marvellous change for the better.

Of seventy-nine boys placed on probation with members of the Rotary club, all but three have been weaned away from bad habits and are now on the better road to early manhood.

Working with the Truancy officer of the city, the non-attendance of unruly boys at school has almost been wiped out.

Rotary of Geneva, N.Y., by C. C. Davison, Secretary.—An effort that brought fruit in backing the Boy Scout movement to the sum of $6,500, needed to place and maintain the organization. Of the amount the Rotary raised $1,400 in three and one-half minutes and then found the balance. The organization is fostered, directed and tooled by the Geneva Rotarians.

Each Rotarian has been assigned an under-privileged boy as a special care. The benefits are amply apparent to both boy and man.

It having been brought to the attention of Rotary that a night school for foreigners was badly needed, the Rotary at once organized the "Bright Spot" committee. Members of this go to the school nightly, and interest those in attendance (both adults and children). The foreigners greatly appreciate this and seemed to gather something of a spirit of comradeship and welcome to citizenship as extended by the Rotary. One Italian voiced it by saying, "he like Rotarians—they hadn't called him darn 'wop' once."

High school boys were brought to the luncheons and addressed briefly on topics of interest. The boys seemed to gain something of manliness and confidence from the association.

Rotary took on the bulk of the drive for raising the $150,000 allotted to Geneva in aiding Hobart college, in all to be raised, $1,500,000.

Cared for 152 Fresh Air Fund children, sent up from New York City, providing and fostering the kids and supplying anything needed. Arranged for camps and quarters, etc. Proved to be one of the best efforts as yet made.

Rotary of Fulton, N. Y., by Rev. G. T. Green, Secretary.—Appealed to that our Lee Memorial Hospital badly needed redecorating and brightening up. Undertook the work and expense. Held several entertainments and subscriptions and a canvas and turned proceeds over to institution. Realized more than enough to cover expense, $2,500.

Investigated several cases of crippled children of poor parents. Given ample medical attendance with large benefit and have supplied artificial limbs and appliances where needed. Also assisted and placed on his feet a neglected blind man, buying him a home and setting him up in a way to do useful work.

Made a survey of the boys of the community. Know now who our boys are, if at school if working, their wishes and preferences, where they can be helped and are doing it. In the Fall will put on an effort to provide a recreational centre for the boys. This work has been especially helpful, both to boys and parents.

Rotary of Ithaca, N. Y., by Jas. R. Robinson, Secretary.—Ithica is primarily an university town. I think one of the the best helps to the town has been developed in a community spirit, as a result of Rotary. It has brought tradesmen and business men in closer touch with the university committee, and now we are calling many of the professors by their first names where formerly it was "Professor" or "Mr. So and So. One must live in a university neighborhood to fully appreciate the welcome chauge.

Got behind the proposition of the mayor to purchase Renwick park for the city. The Rotarians clearly put it across.

Last Fall we instituted a Christmas fund. Each member, at the meeting before Christmas, brought a suitable gift for a boy or girl, inferred to be some useful article of clothing. We appointed an auctioneer, who ran off the packages among the members. We had bids of $15.00 and $18.00 and upwards. Realized over $800. This amount was husbanded and distributed during the year in milk for underfed children, placing amounts of stockings, underwear, etc., in the hands of the school nurses for distribution, after close investigation of circumstances. No publicity, and we do not know even the names of the folks benefitted. We shall increase our effort this year, knowing that it has done real good.

Rotary of Lockport, N. Y., by Geo. C. Lewis, Treasurer.—In forepart of 1920 organized a minstrel show. Netted us $600. Securing names of poor children. Used a part of it in buying things for Christmas of a real wearing value. For the children of Wyndham Home, (parentless children) we bought outfits of good working tools, to be used by boys being trained in addition to schooling, in useful occupations. No public money could be found at hand for above purposes.

In October undertook a campaign to raise $5,000 to outfit and sustain the local Boy Scout movement. It is now going on and with good results.

Put on an educational campaign among the boys. Had them to our luncheons, where they behaved like little men. Were addressed by citizens at luncheons, on the better spirit of boy life and making of good citizens.

Held gatherings of representative pupils picked from the High schools of the city, including parochial schools. Gave short talks on practical subjects. Afterwards these boys write essays on the subjects which were reviewed and for which prizes were given. We found this movement very stimulating among the boys and thoroughly appreciated by parents.

We are this month financing a camp of twenty undeveloped boys for two weeks.

Rotary of Tonawanda, N. Y., by Mason M. Smith, Secretary.—Our philanthropic committee has done and is doing very excellent work. The details would run to considerable length if related. We prosecuted assistance and care and help in cases of tuberculosis and have had some surprising remedial results.

Just finished entertaining in outings over 1,399 of the boys of North and South Tonawanda in a royal boy way. Seemed to do as much good to the Rotary members as to the boys. Never fails. A milestone in the lives of the under-nourished and unappreciated boy, of which there are many.

He adds, that the highest record that any one boy made was 21 bottles of pop, 12 hot dogs, together with ice cream cones, chocolates, etc. He is still living and asking for future dates.

We expect to be busy with work this Winter, already outlined.

Rotary of Wellsville, N. Y., by F. M. Wall, Secretary.—We had only just been instituted this Summer, when we were handed the care of 75 Fresh Air children from New York City, who arrived a couple of weeks ago and had the time of their lives at their different locations. Of all beneficial efforts that directly affect and encourage the city-bred child, in the poorer environment, getting out into the woods, wallowing in the lakes, being filled up with health and body stimulating food and put to bed under the stars, turns the trick to entire taste.

We are working at a public playground proposition for our village, and hope to report success just as soon as we have raised the amount that we will raise or make an assignment. Our boys and girls need the playground and they shall have it. We will do this without troubling the municipal authorities.

Rotary of Ogdensburg, N. Y., by A. E. Sweeney, Secretary.—Just an outline of our activities. We had long needed a bathing place for our kids. Safe place, too. The idea was suggested and the directors of the club went at it. To erect a bathing place along the shore of the St. Lawrence at a convenient sand beach.

The club members raised $500 by voluntary subscription amonst them. So much in hand to go on with. The club erected and equipped the bath house and provided facilities, etc., and opened it for use of children under 16 years of age. A huge success.

City council came around and congratulated the club on doing something really helpful and which had been badly needed. Adults use the bathing facilities, too, and are charged a small fee, which provides necessaries for the kids. All else free to all children.

We have sought out crippled children, parents unable to pay for medical and surgical service and have assisted in the cases with remedial service with most gratifying results. Things are being handed to Rotary every day and we find that we can be most helpful, in looking after things that everybody thinks is nobody's business.

Rotary of Montreal, Que., by Geo. G. Leroy, Secretary.—Montreal Rotary has embarked on a year of personal service rather than of any financial contribution for community service. We are of opinion that we can each do some helpful thing such as may not require money but some personal sacrifice on the part of each.

The Boy's Work Committee is making fine progress in and among the boys; tReports that indicate boy regeneration and bracing up already. Co-operates with other organizations.

Our Public Affairs committee is working on plans for continued education among the boys and girls of the city, who need such. To push among High school students the benefits of advanced education. Rotarians are addressing high school boys on opportunities in life, and thus giving boys an opportunity of sizing up various walks of life which may be subsequently followed.

Rotary of Belleville, Ont., by Oswald H. Scott, Secretary.—The principal activities of this year connected with Boy's Work. The club bought a camp on Moira Lake, 25 miles North of city. Over 100 under-privileged boys have had holidays at this camp. The club met the expenses of under-privileged boys. Citizens joined in and also supported. The idea to have the enterprize a Community Camp. This worked out fine.

As an instance of the force of example. One boy was poorly provided with clothes. The other boys took up a collection among themselves, went into Madoc, beguiled the storekeeper to coming into the list of subscribers. He very helpfully gave the outfit at less than cost, leaving the lad outfitted and with a trifle to spare. All the boys felt good.

Took up the cases of crippled children, parents unable to provide remedial attention. Sent a case to the hospital at Toronto. He has had attendance and most careful assistance. When he comes out will be able to use foot and leg that otherwise would have hampered him through life.

Rotary of Syracuse, N. Y., by Frank W. Weedon, Secretary.—Syracuse Rotary is now deep in the Crippled Children's work. Sent out in the County of Onondaga an enquiry sheet to 365 teachers. Gained the information that the survey showed 601 cases of bad tonsils, 262 of weak eyes, infantile paralysis 21, tuberculosis 24. These reports cover 3293 childreu all of poor parents.

Many of these cases, require the attention of specialists, and the cases are brought to Syracuse for treatment.

The Rotary club is following up all the above cases, and will find out all of those who are in families too poor to have the work done themselves, and in course of time all will be taken care of and the expense borne by the Rotary of Syracuse.

Rotary of Hornell, N. Y., by Edward O'Connor, Secretary.—The year now in has been open in our club to extension of Boy's Work. Entertained boys of the Junior Military Training Camps.

Entertained all the naturalized citizens of the city, together with those who were to be naturalized in May last, and who had taken out papers since 1915. Had a fine meeting. Those foreign born made speeches of congratulation.

Entertained the farmers of the vicinity on one evening each year during the past three years. Quite an appreciated feature. Also this year took care of children sent to us by the New York Fresh Air Fund.

Rotary of Owen Sound, Ont., by Thurlow Fraser, Chairman.—Established a reading room and club for boys in a somewhat neglected and remote part of the town. Supplied with books by city library. Rotarians take turns in visiting each evening. Supplied games and other amusements. Established at request of boys a Bible class each Sunday morning. Gave lantern views and other stunts for boys and organized athletic teams for the Boy's Club.

Backed up the Y. M. C. A. in local canvas. Paid expenses of 20 boys to Summer camp, who were short of funds. Provided transportation for large number of boys to camp, 18 miles out of town. Members went out and assisted and had bully time.

Provided annual boy's outing day for all children of the city who had not had an out-of-town holiday. Carried them out to the lake shore, fed them until full to the neck and brought all home safe and sound and extremely wet. Lake is for wetting.

Last Christmas provided gifts for needy children. Underwear, stockings, caps, tams, etc. Much appreciated. Helpful.

Took up the burden of the Red Cross campaign and carried it to success, providing all canvassers, etc. Have undertaken to carry all details of campaign for Free Hospital for Consumptives, Muskoka. A fine and needed object.

Assisted children to Toronto for needed surgical attention. Such cases will be, we are assured, benefitted.

Rotary of Buffalo, N. Y., by Geo. T. Ballechey, Secretary.—Our Rotarial year ended May 1st last. Our most conspicuous effort was an effort in conjunction with city-wide campaign to raise money for our enlarged University of Buffalo. Secured a 100 per cent. response from members, raising over $600,000. This, by arrangement with the university authorities, to be used chiefly for building a stadium to be known as "Rotary Field," open to students of high schools as well as to university. Fine thing, we think, to bring together the students of schools and college in mutual athletic work.

Have taken the lead in organization of a "Boy Life Commission," covering the whole city, members of which include all activities on behalf of boys, and which will avoid duplication of effort, and see that no kind of need is neglected.

Sent 50 poor boys to a lake shore camp for jolly holiday.

Many other activities which need not be mentioned.

Rotary of Niagara Falls, Ont., by J. B. Hallworth, Secretary.—Only five months old and thirty-eight members, but we are growing. Not so far linked up with local plans that would carry us beyond our membership and resources.

Assisted the Y. M. C. A. camp at Niagara-on-the-Lake by supplying transportation to boys going and coming. Furnished the men's sun-room, and addition to our General hospital. Quite an undertaking for a new club.

Our president is also president of the local Children's Aid, and in that way we are quite in touch with cases and circumstances that make appeals for assistance. Have been able to do remedial work among juvenile offenders, and handling court cases without the usual publicity. This helps the first boy offender and brings him under influence of the members of the club, who keep him in view for the future.

Last year our school term closed with a record of only two habitual truants. The local club undertook to assist the truant officer, and with good results. Boys were induced to keep at school.

Rotary of Cortland, N. Y., by M. E. Sarvey, Secretary.—We have found that it pays to look after the children, especially those of poor parents. We take care of crippled children, particularly. Cases of infantile paralysis appeal to us as very needy, and we have five cases now in hospital devoted to this line of work at Ithaca, N. Y.

We put on a campaign to locate Fresh Air children sent forward from New York City, and placed 600 in one batch. The effort was made by a general committee of five members of the Rotary, that divided our membership in groups of three. Then divided the country into districts and gave each sub-committee a part to look after. They interested the good people in the local district to work with them and the returns showed a total of 600 placed. Fine. We felt proud.

In an endeavor to break up what is called boy associations and habits we worked with the humane officer and local police. Bad boys on parole, have been assigned to members of Rotary to look after. We get results in improved behavior and habits.

Rotary of Auburn, N. Y., by Clarence Dumm, Secretary.—Auburn is situated in the heart of the "Finger Lakes Region," about two miles from Owasco Lake.

Our principal service, so far, is in backing up the Boy Scout movement. A year ago bought and paid for a fine camp site on the shore of Owasco Lake. Turned it over to the Boy Scouts. About a week ago Rotary's official visiting day was held at the camp. Some time, may I remark. We provided the entire machinery to provide funds for keeping the Scout movement up to fullest activity. Parents appreciate this full well.

We are active in Americanization work among the new citizens from across the sea. Held a night for them last Spring. All who had passed examinations for citizenship were guests of the club. Were treated royally and awarded papers of citizenship. Quite a local event and feature.

Rotary of Quebec, Canada, by the Secretary, (name not given).—We are just one of the younger clubs with membership of 60. But we will do much better presently.

Undertook in the month of May, the fight against tuberculosis. Organized a Health Campaign which lasted a whole week, and as well put on a drive to collect the sum of $6,000 in order to establish two free dental clinics for the poor of the city. In this we went away over the top, realizing over $10,000. The cost of the campaign, $1,500, was borne by the Rotary club, an average of $25 per man.

These clinics are being now fitted up and in operation. The city supplies suitable quarters and pays the cost of maintenance of these clinics. Local dentists contribute professional services twice each week.

The Club is earnestly performing what it conceives is a great work for Canada in the elimination of race prejudice and substituting for it the true spirit of Rotary co-operation.

Rotary of Jamestown, N. Y., by W. H. Fletcher, Secretary.—This club, recognizing the duplication of energy and resources that has been going on in our local charities, decided to centralize the activities all under one organization.

So the Rotary put across the movement, this year for the "Community Chest," uniting twelve different charities under one head and raising the sum of practically $100,000 for the same. Under efficient management, and with efforts consolidated it is expected that relief will be augmented where necessary and that the money will go much farther in consequence.

Took hold the Boy Scout movement in this city. One of our members is head of the organization, another is secretary of the Jamestown council, while a third is a Scout Master. Raised among us $500 and gave 70 under-privileged boys a two weeks' outing at the Scout camp on Chautauqua Lake. This was appreciated.

Rotary of Canandaigua, N. Y., by J. E. Masten, Secretary.—Organized in April, 1919. Membership grew from 24 to now 55. We feel that we have accomplished some things in the line of good, in encouraging the Community spirit and giving help to different organizations in the city in their work.

For two years given a Christmas dinner to poor of the city. Assisted the Business Girl's Club in Christmas cheer efforts. This last year we made weekly contributions to the Parent-Teacher Association in furnishing milk to undernourished school children. Had it uot been for our effort to this work must have been discontinued, lacking funds.

About a year ago we established a Birthday Fund, which we have used in helping two worthy students in getting an education. This money is loaned to students, and our membership, on their birthdays, make voluntary contributions to the fund.

Rotary of Brockville, Ont. (Name of secretary, not advised.)—Organized last April and getting down to work. Interested in the Boy Scout movement, which was getting behind for want of backing. As an encouragement set to work and in a campaign in the town raised $1,000 for uniforms for the scouts, and supplies, etc.

Rotary of Niagara Falls, N. Y.—Contributed through Chris. Graham, of Peterborough, he being in vicinity of the above club.

Organized for a number of years and a very active club. Maintains a Crip-

You will get more pleasure out of your car and will materially reduce operating costs if you employ crank-case cleaning service regularly. Dealers displaying this sign give all crank-case cleaning jobs prompt and expert attention. Such dealers use Imperial Flushing Oil. It takes out all grit and dirt and does not impair the fresh supply of oil as would be the case if kerosene (coal oil) were used.

THE OBJECT OF ROTARY

pled Children's Fund, made up from contributions from members on birthdays. From this fund pay for operations, glasses, braces and other equipment to give the under-privileged child a chance in the world.

Built and maintained a camp on Lake Ontario for the Y. M. C. A., the Boy Scouts and such under-privileged boys as we send to it. Put $1,500 into it the first year and this year an additional $400.

In furtherance of decent sport are maintaining a baseball league among boys from 10 to 15 years of age. Equipped them complete. Our members run the games, umpire the same, teach the boys the spirit of fair play and honest effort to win. This helps to make members of Rotary better Rotarians. Sure thing.

At Christmas we entertain the children of the Wyndham Home, of Lockport, by bringing them to Niagara Falls on Christmas morning, gave them a picture show, Christmas dinner and a present, exactly what each child has written to Santa Claus that he or she wants, regardless whether it is a handkerchief or a silk dress. All this is done on Christmas morning, not on any other day, and means a big sacrifice for members who give up the day to the purpose. All the children look forward to it and bank on the day.

Rotary of Batavia, N. Y., by B. H. Hanby, Secretary.—We started fifty boys with a bank account on a deposit by club of one dollar for a "nest-egg." Give prizes to boys saving and depositing the most money. Provided medals to sixth grade in all schools for best work during school year. Big thing for students.

Boy's saving contest creates keen interest, one boy, since starting in having saved $68.00 in not extended time.

Other activities sprinkled along every week. We keep alive and moving.

Rotary of Ottawa, Ont., by Fred D. Burpee, President.—This year we have inaugurated two new clubs, one at Kingston and the other at Brockville. Both promise to be excellent centres of Rotary.

We have undertaken to furnish a kitchen in the Salvation Army hospital, at a cost of $1,000, to be ready in November next.

Undertook to promote Community singing. At our first affair of the kind, held in August 27th, there were about 15,000 at the concert. The enjoyment and interest shown was great. Another to be held on Wednesday of next week.

Our membership now is 140. Have formed a club extension and are going after members for all available classifications in the city.

Rotary of Toronto, Ont., by the Publicity Secretary.—As would be expected this club is one of the outstanding ones of the Dominion in point of membership and activities. Has just now organized a "Toronto Boy's Life Council" with over 400 under-privileged boys on the register. Includes all religious organizations as patrons and helpers. One hundred and eighty of our membership are actively engaged in the work. Eighteen thousand dollars has been subscribed by members for this work. Out "Personal Bank Account Movement" for boys has had surprising results in savings.

We have encouraged the vacant lot cultivation, and behind the work since 1914. This year 975 lots under cultivation. The average value, per lot, of the crops has proved to be about $65. The personal gain to the worker of the lot.

We presented to the city a Rotary fountain, valued at $3,000, in High park, near Bloor street entrance. Much appreciated by visitors and frequenters of the park.

The Municipal Voter's League is an organization started up to educate the people how to use the franchise. Good work is being done in getting better civic government.

Rotary of Waverley, N. Y., by Daniel G. Stark, Secretary.—As our town is in some respects a rural town, and lines of railroads centering here we organized a Municipal Rest Room, managed by our local W. C. T. U. chapter. As there is much changing of cars and intervals to wait, the room has filled a real want as a place for women and others passing through the town. All using the room register on entering.

A committee was named to look after the needs of any under nourished or under-privileged child in the schools. We arranged for supplies of milk for children in the lower grades of schools.

Arranged to cover hospital expenses of children, the parents of whom could not afford to meet the expense.

Our Rotarian, filling the classification of dentist, gives two hours free each week, for dental work on any poor child. This part of service it is proposed to extend in the near future.

Rotary of Utica, N. Y., by William R. Ellis, Secretary.—The club was organized six years ago. We went into the work earnestly and have kept at it joyfully.

We have divided up the work, always in sight, into the hands of efficient committees in the club. The divisions include work for crippled children, on which we have raised and expended over $7,000. We have the operative service of one of our members, a clever surgeon, free. The Juvenile Delinquency Committee is made up of forty earnest men. The results are good.

Our Survey Committee covers work connected with boy life, where the boy is, how engaged, how progressing and as to his welfare. We never let go of a boy until he is capable of taking care of himself. Our Vocational Educational Committee of thirty-eight, is co-operating with schools and institutions in assisting boys to find themselves by deciding what their life work shall be. Our Nationalization Committee of twenty-six members of the club, gives very special attention to the development of the children of parents of foreign birth, trying to make them good Americans.

The Rotary club of Utica is being incorporated, and will at once erect a Community House to serve a colony of Polish and Italian people. Will erect other houses in parts of the city as need arises.

The Physical Development and Public Health Committee emphasizes the need of physical recreation for children. Has very recently opened a new playground in West Utica. Takes cognizance of the prevalence of community dancing and urges proper supervision and regulation where needed.

Has a sub-committee on Boys' Summer Camps, motion pictures, sports in schools and playgrounds, etc.

The Boys' Organizations Committee of twenty-six, takes an active interest in all organizations of boy's work in the city. Goes in and lends a hand in all works for the betterment of the boys and conditions.

H. H. DEWART, LIBERAL CANDIDATE FOR COMMONS.

TORONTO, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press). — The retirement of H. H. Dewart, K.C., M.P.P., from the Liberal leadership in the Ontario Legislature, to enter the Federal arena, is persistently rumored in Toronto. Mr. Dewart is in Ottawa consulting with the chief Liberal politicians there, and will doubtless attend an organization meeting there to-day. It is presumed, if rumor is verified, that Mr. Dewart will become a Liberal candidate for the House of Commons in Toronto riding at the coming Dominion elections.

FORECAST OF THE NEW CABINET BY PROVINCES

OTTAWA, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Pres).—Probabilities for a new cabinet by provinces are as follows:—British Columbia, Hon. S. F. Tolmie and H. H. Stevens, both certainties. Alberta, Senator Lougheed a certainty, and R. B. Bennett. Saskatchewan, James Wilson of Saskatoon. Manitoba, Premier Meighen and possibly Isaac Pitblade. Ontario Sir Henry Drayton and Senator Robertson, certainties, Hon. Hugh Guthrie, J. A. Stewart, a certainty, Edmund Bristol and Dr. R. G. Manion and Dr. Edwards, Frontenac.

Quebec, Hon. E. L. Patenaude, Sir Hormisdas Laporte of Montreal or Dr. Normand of Three Rivers. New Brunswick, Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, most likely man. From Nova Scotia Hon. F. B. McCurdy and E. K. Spinney. There has been some talk of Hector McInnes, without portfolio.

Be Suspicious of Tender Gums

Be suspicious of any tenderness or bleeding of the gums. This is usually the first stage of Pyorrhea—an insidious disease of the gums that destroys the teeth and undermines bodily health.

Gradually the gums become spongy. They inflame, then shrink, thus exposing the unenameled tooth-base to the ravages of decay. Tiny openings in the gums form gateways for disease germs to enter the system.

Medical science has traced many ills to these infecting germs in the gums weakened by Pyorrhea.

They are now known to be a frequent cause of indigestion, anaemia, rheumatism and other serious conditions.

So watch carefully for that first tenderness or bleeding of the gums. Try Forhan's immediately. It positively prevents Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease) if used in time and used consistently.

And in preventing Pyorrhea—it guards against other ills.

Forhan's (For the Gums) cleans teeth scientifically as well. Brush your teeth with it. It keeps them white and clean.

If gum shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment. 35c and 60c tubes in Canada and U. S. If your druggist cannot supply you, send price to us direct and we will mail tube postpaid.

FINE $500 FOR SELLING LIQUOR

PORT HOPE POLICE COURT HANDS OUT STIFF PENALTIES—LOCAL MEN INVOLVED.

FINES TOTALLED $844.88

PORT HOPE, Sept. 12.—Trafficking in liquor is expensive business, and a party of joy riders and the man who supplied the liquor contributed $844.88 in the Police Court here this morning. On September 1st, R. Calvert, a farmer at Enniskmore, and William McColl, of Peterborough, came to Port Hope by auto. They purchased three bottles of whisky and returned home. They met Ross McColl and Arthur King, both of Peterborough, and upon hearing of the successful find in Port Hope, the latter two suggested returning to our town. It was agreed and the return trip was made in record time. Three more bottles were secured, the market price being six dollars per bottle, and the party made merry in the vicinity of Bewdley. They played the part of the road hog to perfection, and every vehicle they met had to take the ditch or be run down. Finally the whisky won out over the gasoline and none of the party being able to drive the car they pulled over to the side of the road and soon were slumbering peacefully. The Peterborough Police were notified and the quartette was arrested last Tuesday, and have been confined in the counties jail at Cobourg ever since. This morning Ross McColl and William McColl pleaded guilty to being drunk in a public place and the former was fined $10 and $18.65 costs; the latter paid $15 and $18.85 costs. Robert Calvert, the owner of the car, pleaded guilty to having liquor in a place other than his own residence, and was fined $250.00 and $16.88 costs. Arthur King, who was wanted in Peterborough on another charge, was turned over to the police. Stanley Friar, who pleaded guilty to selling the liquor, was fined $500 and $15.00 costs. Calvert went out to Peterborough with officers from that city this afternoon and has promised to send along the money for his own fine and also for the McColl's. In the meantime the McColl brothers will remain in custody.

Owing to the illness of Mr. Henry White the cases were heard by Police Magistrsate Floyd, of Cobourg, and J. W. Sanders, J.P.

Police Sergeant Deannard and Constable Carey, of Peterborough, were present.

DO YOU KNOW?

That each Tuesday night a large class consisting of earnest Bible students from various congregations throughout the city, meets in the Public Library under the name of the Interdenominational Bible Class.

Mr. James Dutton, of St. Paul's church, is the president, while the other officers, and the Executive Committee are chosen from the different churches represented, Rev. A. G. Doner, Supt of the local Christian and Missionary Alliance Tabernacle, being the teacher.

As a class, we contend for an unmutilated Bible, its verbal inspiration and absolute inerrancy. We welcome constructive criticism and frank, friendly discussion, but disapprove of debate or dogmatism on Points of denominational difference.

As a teacher Mr. Doner is very thorough in his methods, and absolutely sound in his doctrines. He holds tenaciously to the literal interpretation of the Scriptures in general, and is uncomprisingly premillennial.

The subject under consideration at present is the Holy Spirit, as a Divine Personality in the life of the Believer.

Thsi study is most interesting and instructive and of vital importance to every Christian, and one so sadly disregarded in these days.

The class will cordially welcome all who attend with a desire to know their Bibles better and ho are ready to contend for the faith once delivered to the saints.

Remember the time and place:—Every Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the basement of the Public Library.

RELIEF MEASURES.

LONDON, Sept. 13. — (Canadian Press). — Agitation for the relief measures on a larger scale is troubling the local councils and boards of guardians all over the country. The daily demonstrations of unemployed in various towns are for the most part orderly, but in Liverpool a crowd of demonstrators, being refused the use of St. George's Hall, attempted to take possession of the Walker Art Gallery.

Will You Ever Be a Millionaire?

THAT DEPENDS UPON YOUR HEALTH.

Health, wealth and happiness go together, but you must have health to have wealth and happiness. You cannot think clear, you feel tired, all out of sorts, you may have indigestion, headaches, constipation, kidney trouble rheumatism, etc. These are all signs that your liver is out of order and is not excreting bile into the intestines, your bowels become filled with waste, and poison is carried to all parts of the body by the blood, causing all these aches and pains. You are only about 10 per cent. efficient, and you cannot expect to attain anything when you are in this condition. Doctors say take one Tanated Calomel Tablet before each meal or two at bedtime. Doctors recommend this because it is the only thing known that acts directly upon the liver. Tanated Calomel is sold by one druggist in each city—F. C. Weber is agent for Peterborough.

HATFIELD LEAVES HILLS FOR A SHANTY BOAT.

SISTERSVILLE, W. Va., Sept. 13.—(United Press).—George Washington Hatfield, brother of "Devil Anse" Hatfield, of feud-day fame, has become a shanty boater.

Hatfield and his wife, a full-blooded Indian, came here recently from Pike County, Kentucky, and have began life in a shanty boat on the Ohio side of the river. The trip to Sistersville was made overland in a quaint, delapidated buggy, drawn by a weary bay horse.

The aged clansman believes he was the father of Sid Hatfield, Mingo County chieftain, who was slain in a revolver fight at Welch last month.

"The Sid Hatfield who was killed at Welch may be and may not be my boy," the grizzled mountaineer said. "Me and Anse both had boys of that name, and I ain't seen Sid in a number of years—not since he helped me out of a tight fix in Carter County, Kentucky.

"I'm a law abidin' citizen, religious, and don't aim to make any fuss, but whenever one of our blood is murderer, the murderer must pay."

Hatfield, who is past 76 years old, looked much younger. He was dressed in typical hill-billy fashion, with the exception of a "six-gun."

He said he was living for two things—his rifle, which is over 100 years old, and his violin, which he claims was made in 1314. He is still a crack shot with his old-fashioned weapon.

FASHION NOTES.

Lynx is a decided favorite in the use of fur as a trimming.

Peacock fancies of all kinds are being featured for hat trimming.

The vogue for sleeveless frocks is now expressed in sleeveless smocks and sweaters.

Hats for young girls this fall are simply trimmed, and at the same time extremely smart as to line.

White and black and white kid belts, some with slashings of the leather at either end are being offered.

Sets of one sort or another are to be popular with the younger set Scarf and hat to match are most featured, although an occasional muff is also shown.

Many frocks and wraps made of bright red are being brought out for children. Vivid plaids will also be approved, and color combinations that by their joining effect a striking effect.

The generous use of fur, so highly approved helps to carry out the Russian influence suggestion in coats and suits especially and the many high fur toques featured with these fur-trimmed coats and suits are distinctly of Cossask origin.

TROOPS MOBILIZE.

RIGA, Sept. 13. — (Canadian Press). — According to the Rosta News Agency, Leon Trotzky, the Bolshevik Minister of War, has gone to the Ukraine, apparently in connection with the reported mobilization of Roumanian or anti-Bolshevik troops recruited in Roumania.

Voice of the People

Dear Sir,—In crossing our new bridge, I foresee annoyance that will be met by the 4 inch steps in front of Quaker Oats storehouse, for when snow flies they will be difficult to see, so that go-carts, baby sleighs snow-plows, etc., will all be in trouble. To raise the two sinkings may throw water towards the building. A gutter drop pipe would take care of that. If said openings are to direct traffic, that can be done by making a concrete parapet 6 inches high at back of sidewalk in concrete section. The roadway outside will stand raising 4 inches, then we should have a correct sidewalk for the Ashburnhamites.

I would say if our City Engineer hears of like conditions on city streets (through frost or not) he sends and gets it levelled up, thereby saving damage suits for injured limbs.

Yours truly,
ED. COURTNEY.

Dear Sir,—We have read in the Examiner a letter both from Father and Grandfather on the unemployment question. Would it be a bold thing to have another from Grandma on the question? The letter from Father was a plain statement of the present situation. But he should not complain of the reduction in wages. We have expected this. Let us rather complain of the way matters ate being adjusted. Should not the price of living, especially of bread and meat, have first been lowered and then it would be high time for the lowering of working men's wages. But it appears to be man like in cutting down a tree to commence at the top. But watch Grandma get after those fellows. As for the baker, just wait until I get the old cook stove in order and we will get a taste of real mother's bread once more. And as for the butcher, I have a fine flock of Plymouth chickens in the back yard, which will mean many meals to me besides, the cool weather is coming and I will salt down a quarter of beef at first cost, doing away with middlemen grabbers. Now as for Grandfather's letter, he may have meant well, that is, if he meant anything at all, but he certainly gives ample proof in his letter of the saying that the most uncommon thing at the present time is common-sense. For example, he gives as a remedy for unemployment to work more, 10 or more hours a day, when the fact of the matter is that many willing workers cannot get even one hour's work to do. Oh, Grandpa, why did you make such a break like this? Such statements like this in the public press reflect no credit on us elderly people. But, unlike women folks, I must be brief, but if people would like to know Grandma's opinion and remedy for the present unrest and the unemployment situation I may give it at some other time, and if any of the lords of creation wish to reply to this, I will not be doing justice to women folks if I don't have the last word with him. No doubt I may be called a second Carrie Nation or a Mrs. Pankhurst of the window-smashing type. Well, I will admit that I have in the back kitchen a meat axe, a crow bar and brush hook, but am not saying what we women folks may yet be led to do if this thing keeps on. For the present, we will endeavor to be good, law-abiding citizens.

THIRD ROUND INTERNATIONAL TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP TO-DAY

FATE OF ONE HALF AMERICAN, BRITISH, AUSTRALIAN AND JAPANESE STARS IN THE BALANCE—OTHER CLASHES OF INTEREST ALSO SCHEDULED.

COURTS IN GOOD SHAPE

(BY HENRY L. FARRELL)
(United Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.—After a day's stay of execution caused by rain the extreme penalty will be handed out to one half of the American, British Australian and Japanese tennis stars remaining in the American National Title Battle. A bright warm sun popped out of the clouds this morning and soon dried up the courts of the Germantown Cricket Club for postponed third round of the championship.

"Play will start at noon." The courts are all in good shape" Julian S. Merrick, president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, said this morning. Two feature battles occupy the places of prominence on the day's program. Wm. M. Johnston, member of the American Davis Cup Team, plays Vincent Richards, the youthful Fordham star, at 2 o'clock, and William T. Tilden, World's single champion, faces Zenzo Shimidzu, the Japanese star, at four o'clock.

Battles of Interest

Other battles not equally special but of interest will bring Richard Norris Williams, one of the favorites for the championship, and Howard Vossel, the husky Brooklyn left hander, together, Hill Neere, the inter-Collegiate Champion from the Pacific Coast, also plays Willis Davis, the California star.

Gordon Lowe, the lone remaining Britisher, has a task on his hands, when he meets Dean Mathey, the New Yorker, and the Australian contingent wil be reduced to one man by the fate of the draw which brings together the two Australian Davis up Team mates—Jask Hawkes and Jim Anderson.

The Lady Champion.

Mlle. Suzane Lenglen, European singles champion, was expected to be a spectator at the tournament this afternoon, but the plans to have her meet Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory here, Saturday afternoon, as a feature of the final day, have been abandoned.

Alice Remsen, English comedienne, stands out on the bill at the Capitol. She acts as well as sings her numbers, changing her costume for each song. She performs with vivacity and personality. On Monday night she sang "Where Do Mosquitoes Go," with a scratching accompaniment which was very funny. Followed by an impersonation of Edith Day the original "Irene" in the famous musical comedy of that name, singing "Alice Blue Gown" which was very clever. After that came the finest piece of character work seen here for a long time, her original conception of the "Floradora Girl," a real English comedy character, she was repeatedly recalled and gave as an encore a cockney version of "Home Again Blues." Then the audience insisted so strongly that she gave an extra encore, singing a medley of Harry Lauder's Scotch songs, that were hugely enjoyed. If the singer had any more songs she could have sung all night, the audience would have been satisfied.

ENTER FOOTBALL TO WIND UP BIG SPORTING YEAR.

By HENRY L. FARRELL,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—After hiding behind the skirts of baseball, tennis and late-season golf, football soon will step out as the finale of 1921 sport.

The coming season should be the biggest and best in the history of the game. There are more ambitious schedules in the east, west and south, there are more intersectional games that may go to award a national championship and there are prospects of better technical football.

The schedule contains more intersectional games of importance than have ever been played. Perhaps the headliner is the Princeton-Chicago game, at Princeton, October 22, which marks the opening of relations between these two great universities.

Other important intersectional are North Carolina and Yale, Indiana and Harvard, Penn State and Harvard Centre and Harvard, Virginia and Princeton, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh, Nebraska and Pittsburgh, Georgia Tech and Penn State, Georgia Tech and Rutgers, Tennessee and Dartmouth, Notre Dame and the Army, Western Reserve and the Navy, and Virginia Military Institute and Pennsylvania.

For the first time, the West Point Cadets will journey away from the plains to meet an opponent other than the Navy. The Cadets go to New Haven on October 22, to meet Yale. The Naval Academy, which started the more open policy last year, will also journey away to Philadelphia for a game with Penn State.

Yale has a typical Yale schedule again this year, getting away from the annual monotony only by the game with the Army. Harvard, however, has gone in for a harder schedule, meeting on successive Saturdays Holy Cross, Indiana, Georgia, Penn State, Centre, Princeton, Brown and Yale.

Princeton has five hard games in a row with Navy, Chicago, Virginia, Harvard and Yale. Pennsylvania has what looks to be easy picking. Penn State has no soft assignment with Lehigh, Harvard, Georgia Tech, Navy and Pittsburgh.

Ohio State will have no easy climb to another title in the Western Conference. Coach Wilce's men have a hard schedule with Minnesota, Michigan, Chicago, Purdue and Illinois.

Illinois has an imposing list of opponents, including Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, Chicago and Ohio State. Wisconsin has Northwestern, Illinois, Minnesota, Michigan and Chicago, while Michigan has Michigan Aggies, Ohio State, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Notre Dame has eleven games booked with Kalamazoo, DePauw, Iowa, Purdue, Nebraska, Indiana, Army, Haskell Institute, Marquette, Michigan Aggies and Rutgers.

California can well claim the Coast championship if the eleven goes through without defeat a schedule including Nevada, Oregon, Washington State, Southern California, Washington and Stanford.

The game with Harvard is the most impressive event on the Centre schedule, and Virginia Military Institute, which blazed a way down the 1920 lines, hardly can claim a championship on the schedule arranged.

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

The Capitol Theatre had a good bill for last evening's programme. The vaudeville consisted of a number of clever imitations of English music-hall artistes by Miss Alice Remsne, English comedienne, including "Alice Blue Gown," "The Floradora Baby," and "The Home-Again Blues." Miss Remsne, whose selections called forth much applause, concluded her performance with imitations of Harry Lauders best known songs in the Scotch. Messrs. Stanley, Doyle and Reno have an excellent offering in a comedy harmony singing act, entitled "Who Did It?" "Peggy O'Neil," an Irish ballad from a melodious tenor, and "The Old Kentucky Blues" were encored again and again, and responded to with a catchy selection with banjo accompaniment by this tuneful trio.

"The High Sign" is a Buster Keaton comedy of a fake sharpshooter and a secret death-dealing society, and Snub Pollard appears in a "blue Sunday" farce. The feature, with David Powell in "The Princess of New York," is a charming society drama with a London background: Helen Stanton, the daughter of an American steel king, falls into the clutches of a titled group of English adventurers, is almost persuaded to marry the rascally scion of the house, and finally pawns her jewels to obtain money for a quick getaway for the father, the major rascal of the crowd. She is rescued by Geoffrey Kingsward, an Oxford student, after an exciting run through English lanes and villages. The scenery and background of this picture are lovely.

AT THE GRAND.

THE REX COMPANY.

The popularity of the Rex Stock Company continues undiminished, and a capacity audience greeted Mr. Snelgrove and his capable company at the Grand last night.

The Rex Company is to be the attraction for the whole week at the Grand, with a change in the bill on Wednesday and Friday, and the indications all point to a record week's business.

The vehicle chosen by Rex for Monday and Tuesday is 'What Happened to Mary," a comedy-drama with a plot of unusual interest, and offering scope for clever character work. Mr. Snelgrove himself has perhaps the lightest part in his repertoire in this offering, but he succeeds as usual, however, in making the part stand out conspicuously, and his work is, as always, pleasing and effective.

Miss Zana Vaughan is the "Mary" of the title, and her performance confirms the high impression Peterborough playgoers gained of her ability in her work in the earlier offerings of the company. William Yule contributes a masterly characterisation as the old sailor, Capt. Jozifer. Billy Seymour is amusing as the Down East storekeeper. Blanch Park contributes a very effective bit as Mrs. Gibbs, the boarding-house mistress, and Hazel Williams, Kathryn Van Esse, Wm. Mitchell, and other members of the company are of valuable asistance. To tell the plot of "What Happened to Mary" would be to spoil the enjoyment of those who have not seen the offering.

Vaudeville offerings by the Park Children and by Williams and Seymour supplemented the play itself, and were highly appreciated.

"Wildly Woolly," a serious comedy, and at the same time a real Rex comedy, is the offering at the Grand for Wednesday and Thursday. It is something so different and so altogether surprising, that it will be a treat to the most jaded theatregoer.

The Rex Company have the happy faculty of putting over a comedy in a light, happy-go-lucky way, that few companies can boast. In watching the performance, one feels that they themselves are having the greatest time of their lives, and it is not long till that spirit catches the theatre fan, and they leave the theatre with a lighter heart, and with better spirits than they have known for a long time. "Wildly Woolly" is called a serious comedy because it is played that way. It is a matter of very serious importance to the characters in the play, and that, of course, adds to the fun.

AT THE ALLEN.

JOSEPH KILGOUR DISLIKED.

"The most hated man on the screen" is the title won in his several years before the public by Joseph Kilgour, who appears in "Mother O' Mine", Thomas H. Ince's big melodrama at the Allen Theatre this week. The more heartily the public "hates" Mr. Kilgour, the more successful his work, as he is always cast as the "villain of the play".

TWENTY DOLLARS AND UP.

G. Gardner Sullivan, scenarist of "Mother O' Mine," the Thomas H. Ince drama now running at the Allen Theatre, sold his first scenario a one-reel "Western", to Ince for twenty dollars. Sullivan, who has written more screen successes than any other author, is now considered the highest salaried man in his profesion.

AT THE REGENT.

A RED CROSS GIRL.

One of the most startling events of the screen year is the abrupt rise of Claire Adams, who plays "Lucy Hegan" in "The Money Changers," Benjamin B. Hampton's powerful Pathe Special of modern New York life.

Miss Adams was born in Winnipeg, Canada, and educated in private schols in London and at St. Hilda's College in Calgary. She became a stage actress as a child but abandoned her career temporarily to complete her education. During the war she became a nurse in a Detroit hospital, training for the Red Cross, but at the end of a year her health was broken down and she was sent home. Her parents moved to New York. When Miss Adams recovered her health she began motion picture work. Her work soon won attention, and when the Government put on the Red Cross picture, she was given her big chance. Her expericice as a nurse helped her to make more than good.

She was discovered by Benjamin B. Hampton when he was casting about for an actress to play "Lenore Anderson" in his "Riders of the Dawn." She made such an impression in this picture that she was signed on long term contract with Mr. Hampton, and takes big roles in other photoplays of famous novels he produces.

of a peaceful settlement being arrived at in Inverness.

DUBLIN, Sept. 13.— (Canadian Press)—It was stated to-day that the reply to the Dail Eireann to the proposal of Lloyd George for a conference at Inverness would be given to-night, but it was indicated as more probable that publication would be deferred until to-morrow. Arrangements for meeting of Dail Eireann to-morrow have been completed.

A deputation from South Armagh will visit Dublin to protest against their being included in the Northern Parliament.

SPIKER EPISODE ENDS.

Emily Knowles has run Away from Altrustic Guy Spiker.

BALTIMORE, Md., September 13.—The international romance of Perley R. Spiker and Emily R. Knowles which culminated when Guy S. Spiker consented to marry his brother's English "war bride" after Perley returned to his wife and child in this country, has struck the rocks. Emily Knowles Spiker and Guy S. Spiker, who were married in Fall River, Mass., Feb 8, 1920, have been separated for nearly five weeks.

The English girl it is said fled from her home several weeks ago, leaving a note saying that she no longer cared to live with him.

Guy Spiker was seen at his brothers' home to-day.

"Please dont' ask me to make any statement concerning what has happened," said Guy Spiker. "All that I can say at this time is that my conscience is absolutely clear."

"PULL" HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH THE SELECTION OF PORT HOPE GROUNDS

The following letter written by President Kimnel of the Central Ontario League to Sandy Lockington of Port Hope throws some light on the negotiations that led up to the selection of Port Hope for the play off betwen Oshawa and Belleville.

September 9, 1921.

S. Lockington, Esq.,
Port Hope Guide,
Port Hope, Ont.

Dear Sandy:—I deeply resent a statement in Wednesday's Guide which says that Port Hope has just as strong a pull with the executive of the C.O.A.B.L. as Peterboro and from which one would infer that Port Hope got the play-off through pull.

Knowing the members of the executive as well as I do I speak for them as well as for myself when I say that neither Peterboro nor Port Hope nor any other Club in his League has any pull with the executive.

The game in question was originally scheduled for Peterboro because I was under the impression correctly or otherwise, that the teams preferred to play here. When I was officially notified by both Clubs that they did not object to playing in Port Hope after discussion with the Secretary and Vice-President it was decided to play in Port Hope, mainly because I had originally promised that the game would be played there and not on account of the strength of Port Hope's pull.

I am quite ready to admit that had Mr. Lockington not got very busy the game would have been played in Peterboro, nevertheless it was not "Pull" that changed the plan, but a desire after the Clubs interested had waived their objections to playing in Port Hope to live up to a promise given.

In justice to Mr. Solomon I wish also to repeat my statement made to you previously which you evidently choose to disregard or disbelieve that Jake positively made no effert to get the game, his first intimation being Monday morning when I called him up and offered it.

I would respectfully suggest that for the future welfare of the League you should do nothing to intensify the feelings which are already existant between these two Clubs.

Yours very truly,
S. C. KIMNEL.

OTTAWA SQUAD HAD A WORKOUT

COACH LOU. CORY IS PUTTING UP GOOD RUGBY TEAM.

OTTAWA, Sept. 13.—Coach Lou Cory lined out the most promising squad that has attended an Ottawa Rugby football club practice this fall, when twenty-five candidates for the Big Four team donned the moleskins for last night's practice. Joe Smith, Joe Tubman, Don Kirby and Ellis Thomas were the only absentees from the workout at Varsity Oval, but it is expected that these four will join the squad to-day. Several new faces reported to Coach Cory, and Ottawa's prospects for the fall series is exceptionally bright.

Walter Gilhooley, who did such excellent work with Argos last season, and who is located here, turned out, and although he was given little opportunity to show his wares, his addition to the candidates for the back division should create a merry scramble.

Coach Cory strung his big squad out across the oval and kept them hard at his "go-stop" system of conditioning. There is little doubt that he is getting results, and the squad should be ready for the serious part of the training in the next few days.

The Ottawas will hold another workout this afternoon.

"THE TRANSCENDENT LIFE"

"As passion is the keynote of the self-life, so serenity is the keynote of the transcendent life. Rising into it a man is lifted above in harmony and disturbance. The transcendent life is ruled, not by passion but by fleeting impulses, but upon abiding laws. In its clear atmosphere, the orderly sequence of all things is revealed, so that there is seen to be no room for sorrow anxiety or regret. While men are involved in the passions of self, they load themselves with cares, and trouble over many things, and more than all else do they trouble over their own little burdened, pain-stricken personality.

In from Passion to Peace.

WAR CURSE OF HUMANITY, SAYS WORLD'S METHODIST CONFERENCE

LONDON GATHERING CALLS FOR INTERNATIONAL DISARMAMENT AND ABOLITION OF ARMED STRUGGLES IN SETTLEMENT OF DISPUTES—JUSTICE NOT FORCE ARBITER OF RIGHT.

ADVOCATES NO PLAN

LONDON, Sept. 13. — (Canadian Press.)—Mrs. Nellie McClung, noted Canadian writer, told to-day's session of the world's Methodist Conference, that the church had failed to help women solve their problems. Appeals were made to English women to demand prohibition.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—The World's Methodist Conference yesterday afternoon adopted a strongly-worded resolution calling for international disarmament and the complete abolishmnt of war. This action was taken after a spirited controversy over the question as to wether mention should be made in the resolution of the League of Nations.

The conference finally decided to adopt a resolution which did not menion the League, and to ask the business committee to frame a separate resolution dealing with the League, which will be voted on later. The resolution adopted says the conference "speaking in the name of 32,000,000 followers, declares without reservation its belief in the absolute necessity for international disamament and the complete abolition of war."

War Unmitigated Curse.

"Sitting in the shadow of the most terrible conflict in human history, with its unparallelled wastage in human life and property, and with its inevitable aftermath of human sorrow and its burden of woe, we declare war an unmitigated curse to humanity," the resolution continues.

"On behalf of millions of youths who suffered and died; on behalf of millions of homes broken by bereavement; in the name of the silent multitudes who still suffer, we insist that our statesmen and leaders find a way for the settlement of international differences by other than arbitrament of arms. We repudiate the doctrine that war is a necessity. Justice, not force, must be the final arbiter of right. Differences must be settled by reason, not by human slaughter."

The resolution says that if there are those who refuse to listen to reason, "then let a way be found by which such Ishmaelites may feel the collective disapproval of the world."

Find a Substitute.

The conference, the resolution adds, advocates no plan, but it calls upon the authorities "to give themselves without reserve to the Christian task of finding a substitute for war." It condmens armaments and says the conference especially appeals to the meeting that is soon to be held in Washington to discuss limitation of armaments, "that no word be left unsaid, nor deed undone, that shall help to relieve the world of its burden of armaments and the threat of war."

Immediately after the reading of the resolution, Judge Chares B. Ames, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, who was an assistant attorney general during the administration of President Wilson, protested that the resolution specifically endorse the approaching conference on limitation of armaments, but not the League of Nations.

Knocks Conference.

"As a citizen of the United States and a lover of peace and my country," said Judge Ames, "I want to say that our government is setting up a competitive body to the League of Nations. That disarmament conference may do more harm than good. It is my profound conviction that the people of the United States favor our entry into the League of Nations."

Judge Ames then moved that the resolution be referred back to committee for alterations. The Rev. Henry J. Taylor, Primitive Methodist Church, seconded the motion. Walter Runciman and other British speakers, as well as Bishops Ainsworth and Blake, said they thought it inadyisable to use any phrases that might raise a divisive issue or prove offensive to any section of Americans, particularly as it was intended to bring the resolution before all the governments participating in the Washington conference, including the present United States' government.

There were few dissenting voices to the solution finally reached, and the resolution passed almost unanimously.

The conference to-day discussed missionary work and world peace. A number of the speakers lauded the League of Nations.

INVITE BELGIUM AND HOLLAND TO DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE

UNITED STATES' PROPOSAL FINDS FAVOR WITH JAPAN AND FRANCE—NO FORMAL INVITATION YET—NATIONS' LEAGUE ASSEMBLY DISCUSS PROPOSED CONFERENCE.

INDIA IS CAUTIOUS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press). — Japan and France have formally given assent to the United States proposal that Belgium and Holland, because of their large interests in the Orient, be invited to the discussion of Far Eastern questions at the Conference on Limitation of Armament. Favorable responses from other powers are expected at the State Department within the next few days, but no formal invitations will go forward to the Belgian and Dutch Governments until there is unanimous agreement on the subjects.

What Subjects.

While these negotiations are proceeding State Department officials are feeling out the attitude of the other participants on what subjects are to be considered at the conference. The British Ambassador, Sir Auckland Geddes, conferred with Secretary Hughes to-day, and it is understood the problem of framing a conference programme was discussed, although there was no indication that the Embassy had received detailed instructions from London, or that the secretary had formulated any definite proposal on the part of the U. S. Government.

Other Conferences.

Conferences of a similar nature have taken place between Mr. Hughes and other Ambassadors, the intention being to keep the negotiations in an informal phase, until the views of all the interested nations have been more or less already defined.

PROPOSED CONFERENCE.

GENEVA, Sept. 13. — (Canadian Press). — The Assembly of the League of Nations heard a great deal about the United States and the proposed conference at Washington in November in connection with the League work on disarmament, and also with reference to criticism in the United States on the work of the League. It was the most picturesque session of the assembly.

Srinavasa Sastri, a native Indian lawyer, wearing the Indian costume, and speaking perfect English with an eloquence rarely surpassed by English lawyers, had the floor at the morning session. He suggested that the United States might do something more practical than merely criticize what the League was doing or had failed to do. He touched lightly on the race question in connection with mandates, hinting at a difference in views on this question between India and her sister dominion, South Africa, which is one of the mandatory powers.

Count Gimeno, a Spanish delegate, stirred the South Americans as they never before had been stirred in the assembly debates by his praise of the League's work. Count Gimeno spoke in Spanish, which was the first time this language had been used on the floor of the assembly; his speech later was translated into both English and French.

INDIAN LAWYER.

GENEVA, Sept. 13.—Srinavasa Sastri, a noted native Indian lawyer, gave a picturesque note to the debate, taking the speaker's stand wearing a striking white turban.

"I have no patience with those who have been mentioned in this debate who remain outside and criticize," he said. "It is easy enough to find fault, but it is not always useful. I feel moved to ask those who have been contented with this rule this question, 'Why don't you come in and help?'"

Taking up the subject of disarmament, the Indian lawyer said:

"India is suffering under difficulties of various kinds. We would gladly accept disarmament, but, as Mr. Balfour said, we are not in a peaceful world. We have as neighbors Russia, Afghanistan and Turkey. Conditions there indicate to us that Mr. Balfour was right. We must proceed cautiously with disarmament."

Race Question.

Mr. Sastri raised the race question in connection with the mandates. Referring to what he termed discrimination in the laws of some of the mandatories between people of the white and colored races, he demanded that these countries use the power conferred upon with consideration for the mandated people.

Mr. Sastri said he hoped it would not be necessary for India or for Japan to say in the future to the people of the mandated territory: "You are worse off than you were under the Germans."

His speech apparently made a pronounced impression upon the delegates.

No Trouble to Keep Skin Free From Hairs

(The Modern Beauty).

There is no need for any woman to countenance superfluous hairs, because with a paste made by mixing some powdered delatone with water it is easy to get rid of them. The paste is applied for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed. This treatment will rid the skin of hair without leaving a blemish, but care should be taken to see that you get real delatone. Mix fresh as wanted.

VISITED SON'S GRAVE

E. G. Porter, K. C., and M.P. for West Hastings, and Mrs. Porter, have returned from a trip to Britain and France. While in the latter country they visited the grave of their soldier son Lieut. Roger M. Porter, who was killed in action while commanding his section on August 30th., 1918. Mr. Porter refers eulogistically to the work of the War Grave Commission, through whom he had no difficulty in locating the grave of his son.

Pain in The Back

Just Behind the Shoulder or Across The Hips?

Redmac Will Remove It Like Magic

Thousands are suffering to-day with a drawing pain behind the shoulders, at times almost dragging them down to the ground. Others have a dead pain across the hips. They let this pain go on and all the time the disease is getting a stronger hold upon them. Now there is something wrong; one cylinder is not working. Redmac, the Tonic, acts as a new sparkplug—after a few doses the pain goes and by continual use the trouble is made right. Redmac is the King of tonics. It purifies the entire system. Don't go about feeling 80 when you are only 40. Take Redmac and feel young. Sold by one druggist in every town. Sold in Peterboro by the Warne Drug Co., Limited, sole agents.

DARKEN GRAY HAIR, LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY

Sage Tea and Sulphur Darkens So Naturally That Nobody Can Tell.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

SWOLLEN LISTS OF ENTRIES PROMISE RECORD FOR "EX."

THIS MORNING'S MAIL BROUGHT THE LAST WELL FILLED FORMS —MANY NEW EXHIBITORS COMPETING FOR THE PRIZES IN NEARLY ALL CLASSES.

With two files of entries for the Exhibition, many of which had been received in this morning's mail, Secretary Fred Hall and his staff were busily engaged with the details of entering them in the proper lists and preparing for the judging that starts on Thursday morning.

The number of exhibits for this year's Fair are far in excess of last year's and will probably set up a new record. A glance at the files this morning disclosed among the latest receipts the names of P. G. Honey of Roseneath with flocks of sheep, Herb J. Miller of Keene, with a string of horses, G. H. Mark of Little Britain, with sheep and swine, A. J. Henderson of Millbrook, and many others, including Allan B. Mann, C. E. Moore of Smith. It wold be easy to select the names of some of the newcomers to Peterborough's Exhibition as an evidence of the expansion that has been made this year in the territory from which exhibits will be assembled.

President Denne and other directors were highly gratified with the bulky sheaves of entry forms, and the comforting assurance that all was well and notably better than usual with the exhibits left them free to devote their attention to other phases of the big show that opens to the public on Wednesday at 5 p.m. for the first evening's performance and inspection of the displays.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY OPEN THE SEASON

The Woman's Auxiliary to the G. W.V.A. met in strong numbers last night at the Hall to open up work for the coming season. Mrs. Sharp, Vice-President, filled the chair in the absence of Mrs. (Dr.) E. V. Frederick not yet returned from England. Reports from Mrs. MacLeod, secretary and Mrs. R. J. Devey, treasurer, were received, also reports from regular committees as to the work during the summer months. The meeting then became special to plan for the forthcoming bazaar to be held on October 7 and 8 in the G. W.V.A. rooms. Mrs. Skinner, who has had charge of the purchasing department reported on her work and all members resolved to bend all their energies to make this event a thorough going success. The hearty co-operation of the citizens is asked for, so that the Ladies' Auxiliary will not lack the necessary funds to carry on their most important work among returned soldiers and their families whenever help of any kind is needed.

CHARGE OF BURGLARY AGAINST EX-POLICEMAN

COBOURG, Sept. 13.—Now serving five months in jail for breach of the O.T.A., and also awaiting trial for breaking jail and for the Gray robbery, ex-Provincial Constable Andrews is now charged with entering the C.P.R. station at Brighton and abstracting thereform a number of automobile accessories; a box of liquor and a number of middy blouses. A Cobourg garage man is said likely to appear a second time against Andrews, having been engaged, it is alleged to remove some of the stolen property.

AEROPLANE AT THE BIG FAIR

A. K. COLLEY RETURNS TO PETERBORO—WAS HERE TWO YEARS AGO.

An added feature for the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition will be the presence in the city of A. K. Colley and his aeroplane. Mr. Colley is no stranger to Peterborough, having visited here two years ago. On that occasion he remained in the city two or three days, and carried some sixty passengers. This time he will fly from the same field west of the Fair Grounds. Since his visit to the city two years ago, Mr. Colley has done considerable flying. Last year he penetrated into New Ontario, travelling several hundred miles north of North Bay. On one day he established a record for passenger flights, and carried one hundred and two passengers in one day. In his flying career Mr. Colley has carried over two thousand passengers without an accident. In his trip to the wilds of New Ontario Mr. Colley was compelled to remain in the air for a distance of one hundred and fifty miles on more than one occasion. Landing places were scarce, and long flights are necessary if the aviator would cover the trackless wastes of the north country. Lately Mr. Colley has been flying in Ontario. He was at Penetang during the big celebration there. Last week Mr. Colley visited Smith Falls, and passed through this city on his way. Mr. Colley is combining flying with a University course in classics at Toronto University, from which he graduated last year.

It is Mr. Colley's conviction that there is nothing in flying, and an aeroplane is as easy to control as an automobile. "Anybody can fly," he declared. "All that counts is the opportunity to learn, and the war provided the opportunity." There are two controls, and the whole operation is extremely simple. In Cannington a man 87 years of age went up with Mr. Colley, and in Toronto a lady 75 years of age essayed a flight in the air. The machine carries a 90 horse-power motor, and with pilot and passenger, weighs about one ton. It was the type used for training cadets in Canada during the war, and is considered to be about the safest type in present-day use.

During his stay in the city Mr. Colley will carry passengers and incidentally advertise Grafton's store through the medium of a large sign which is carried on the underside of the machine.

BOY HURT BY MOTOR TRUCK.

TORONTO, September 13.—Said by the police to have run in front of an auto truck at the corner of Portland and Richmond Streets at 5.30 last evening, Brownie Stesocka, aged five years, of 46 Moss Street, was struck down and injured about the head.

The child was removed to the Western Hospital, and his injuries are not thought to be serious. When nearing the corner of Portland Street the little boy ran out in front of the truck. The driver was not detained by the police.

LOCAL SOCCER OFFICIALS ARE HARD AT WORK

At the executive meeting of the Peterborough District Football Association, held in the G.W.V.A. Hall last night, ways and means were discussed whereby to raise funds to clear the debt caused by the heavy expenses entailed in the Plenty Cup competition.

The executive as a whole was appointed a committee, with Fred Sutcliffe as chairman, to put on a real good attraction on Monday, Sept. 26, in the G.W.V.A. Hall. This will take the form of a concert and the public in general, along with those deeply interested in the sport, are asked to support this effort.

The Plenty Cup team certainly advertised Peterborough well in Western Ontario at Brantford on July 30 before a crowd of over three thousand people, playing the select of Brantford and surrounding districts to a tie of three goals each. This caused them to visit Peterborough one week later, when the home team pulled through the round by a penalty goal to nil. This put Peterborough into round two, and were drawn to play Ottawa at home. The home team have to guarantee expenses in thees games, so the public can at once see how Peterborough had to run up against heavy expenditure. Ottawa beat Peterborough by the odd goal in five, which was a splendid showing for the locals against a far more experienced team. Ottawa is now in the semi-finals of the Plenty Cup, having played two drawn games with London, home and home games.

So after weighing things up carefully, it will be seen that the Peterborough boys gave a clever exhibition of soccer against far more experienced players and brought credit to the City of Peterborough in the football world. This competition has cost the P. and D.F.A. considerable expense, and they feel confident that when the tickets go on sale at the nominal charge of twenty-five cents each, the public will patronize their efforts and show them their work in the interests of the Association game in Peterborough is appreciated.

The spring schedule proved a great success in a playing sense, and the public interest is growing accordingly, so give this concert a boost and the executive officers will assure you of the best football management and good clean amateur sport in Peterborough.

Ottawa Lost Out.

In the Alfred Plenty football cup finals Ottawa played two draw games with London, and in a third game the Londoners defeated the Capital team by a score of 3-2. The score at half-time was 2-2. It is altogether likely London will meet Hamilton in the finals. R. B. Muir, secretary of the Ontario Football Association, handled the game.

DRUNKEN MOTORIST JAILED.

OTTAWA, September 13.—Seven days in jail, without the option of a fine, was the sentence passed on P. Peterson here yesterday when he was found guilty of driving an automobile while intoxicated.

ACT SAFELY, THINK SAFETY

MOTOR TRUCK OVERTURNS.

GANANOQUE, September 13.—A large motor truck with sixteen persons in it overturned, pinning them under it at Jones' Falls last evening. Mrs. Albert Lachapelle, of this town, was badly hurt, but not seriously. Mr. Pichard, of Montreal, was slightly hurt about one arm and one leg.

ACCIDENTALLY DROWNED.

OTTAWA, Septemebr 13.— F. W. L. Sladen, 45, Dominion Apiarist, attached to the staff of the Dominion Experimental Farm here, was accidentally drowned on Saturday afternoon while bathing at Main Ducks Islands, in Lake Ontario. His remains reached the city to-night from Kingston.

In India girls are married between the ages of seven and nine, but are not allowed to live with their husbands until they are about 12 years old.

WEDDING BELLS

EYRES—STEWART.

The wedding took place at 12.30 yesterday at St. John's Church of Miss Dorothy Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Stewart, 701 Stewart Street, to Mr. Burke Eyres, of Kingston, formerly of Peterborough. Rev. Dr. Blagrave performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Eyres, who were unattended, left by motor for Kingston, where they will reside. Miss Stewart is well-known in local musical circles, having been a successful member of the teaching staff of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music for some time past.

OBITUARY

FRANK H. BURKE.

The death occurred in Nicholls Hospital on Saturday last of Frank H. Burke, in his 70th year. The funeral took place to Little Lake Cemetery yesterday. Mr. Burke was a well-known figure in local sporting circles in Peterborough for many years. A native of Cobourg, he came here about forty years ago, and was prominent during that time in the turf world of the city. He maintained stables on Charlotte Street for some years, and had a hand in the training of most of our local racers. Many years ago, he was employed by Mr. W. Appleby when that gentleman owned "Tariff," one of the best known track horses in Canada at that time.

CAREFULLY PLANNED ESCAPE OF MURRELLS.

LONDON, Ont., September 13 (Canadian Press). — Several cuts were made on each of the bars on the windows through which the Murrells made their escape, in the opinion of Richard Warren, who was called this morning as expert witness by the Crown at an investigation into the escape of the two brothers on 2nd September.

Mr. Warren stated that at least eight cuts had been added at various times, and expressed the opinion that the job had been completed several days. The cuts showed that the work had been done from the inside.

THE IRISH SITUATION TAKES TURN FOR WORSE

THE BRITISH CABINET HAS REACHED THE LIMIT OF ITS CONCESSIONS—STILL NEGOTIATING.

PRESS COMMENT

(By Ed. Aken—United Press).

LONDON, Sept. 14. — The Irish situation has once more taken a serious turn, according to the view of the press by evening papers to-day.

The basing of hopes for a peaceful settlement which had arisen high following reports that the Sinn Fein had sent its acceptance of Lloyd George's invitation to confer at Inverness, had been followed by uncertainty and fear that there may be a hitch in the negotiations. When it was learned here that the Dail Erreann's envoice had gone to Gairloch, where Lloyd George is staying, only for "further information," many well-informed persons feared that Ireland would yet force a break and resumption of warfare.

The realization here that the British Cabinet has reached the limit of its concessions causes London to take a more serious view of the situation than is apparently held in Dublin.

Dublin correspondents of London papers to-day continued to be optimistic over the probable outcome of the full session of the Dail.

The Daily Mail's correspondent quotes a resolution of the Dublin Chamber of Commerce, requesting that it and other Irish Chambers of Commerce be consulted before the drafting of any final Irish solution or condition dealing with the trade and commerce of Ireland.

"This shows the certainty with which peace is regarded here," the correspondent comments.

To-day's papers express the liveliest curiosity as to exactly what transpired at Gairloch when Harry Boland and Joseph McGrath conferred with the Prime Minister. It was reported that the conversation dealt with vital matters, and rumored that the delegates inquired as to the possibility of Lloyd George permitting Ireland's separation from the Empire to be discussed on the same basis as other questions at the conference for next Tuesday. The Irish reply will now be delayed until Friday or Saturday, London understands.

It was believed by many here today that Michael Collins will shortly succeed Eamonn De Valera as active head of Irish affairs.

Await Irish Reply.

The British public to-day awaited the Irish reply with anxiety, optimism and certainty that the Sinn Fein had decided to accept Lloyd George's proposals for a conference were dispelled by the report that yesterday's courier to Gairloch, where the Premier is on his vacation, came for "further information," and not with a note of acceptance.

It was declared here to-day by the evening papers that the Irish situation had taken a serious turn. Dublin correspondents of London papers continued to be optimistic, however.

PRIVATE SESSION.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

DUBLIN, Sept. 14.—Members of the Dail Eireann who came from the private session this afternoon wore serious faces, and the report spread that the outlook was "unfavorable." The return of the couriers, Harry Boland and Jos. McGrath, had been anxiously awaited, an air of mystery over the entire proceedings, with the public kept in ignorance as to what was about to happen, dispelled the optimism that had been persistently felt here.

A report from London that De Valera's reply would be published to-night left the public wondering whether this referred to the conversations between the Dail couriers and Lloyd George at Gairloch, or to a new note which was in course of preparation.

Official statements from the Dail were withheld.

DUBLIN, September 14. — Canadian Press. — Apointment of Plenipotentaries to conference at Inverness to discuss a settlement of the Irish question, was approved by the Dail Eireann to-day.

It also aproved the reply to the recent proposals.

The plenipotentiaries, it was explained, were not appointed, but chosen to carry on possible negotiations which may or may not follow receipt by Lloyd George of the Dail's reply.

The plenipotentiaries approved are Arthur Griffith, Michael Collins, R. C. Barton, Eammon J. Duggan, and George Gavan Duffy.

As all girls expect to marry millionaires they naturally think it a waste of time to learn the art of cooking.

GUARD BROKE THE NEWS TO "FATTY"

(United Press).

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 14.—"Hey, Fatty," hissed a guard through the bars of Cell 12, Felons room, shortly after 1 a.m. to-day.

Roscoe Arbuckle rolled over in his cot and got up on his elbow, blinking verp sleepily.

"Fatty, the indictment is for manslaughter," said the jailer.

No reply came from Arbuckle. He snuggled back into the covers. Finally a drowsy voice mumbled, "Thanks." Then came a snore.

ESKIMO HAS GONE HIGHER TRIBUNAL

A TRAGEDY OF THE FAR NORTH —WAS EVADING ARREST.

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Bodies of two dogs found lying in snows far north of Chesterfield Inlet, off Hudson Bay point, mutely to last chapter in tale of Ou-Ang-Wak Eskimo. Charged with murder he evaded his captors and made for farther north in dog sled. Whether his fate came suddenly or quietly or whether his dogs remained true or turned traitor may never be known. Ou-Aug-Wak, who was to have been tried last July, made simple confession of his act. He had a team of dogs, and fearing that fellow Eskimo, Angalookyouak, who coveted them would kill him in his anger for not getting animals, he stole over to his tent and shot him. He also shot Angalookyouak's brother to make sure. Ou-Ang-Wak stated that he did not know it was wrong to shoot anyone and promised he would not do it again. He had only been alloted a child for wife, but he longed for woman. Accordingly after killing Angalookyouak, he took latter's wife. Later arrested, he was brought to Le Pas by party of R. C. M. P. and got preliminary hearing. Then it was decided to hold trial at Baker Lake where crime was alleged to have been committed.

WINS PRIZE FOR WINDOW DISPLAY.

Mr. Harry M. Dulmage, of Smith's Shoe Store, this city, has just been awarded a valuable prize for the excellence of the window trim which he designed for the store during Dr. Scholl's foot comfort week, June 18th to 25th last.

This was a contest in which thousands of window trimmers of the leading shoe stores in the United States and Canada participated, and it is, indeed, an achievement to have gained one of the prizes. The display in question was notable, both for artistic conception and striking arrangement and was indeed a credit to Mr. Dulmage.

The occasion of this window display was Dr. Scholl's foot comfort week, an annual event in the shoe trade. Every year thousands of dealers everywhere devote this particular week to the education of the public along lines of foot comfort and correction of foot defects and disabilities through the use of mechanical foot appliances as well as to the necessity of having proper footwear properly fitted.

The Smith store makes a specialty of this kind of foot service, and has a specially trained practipedist (foot expert) always in the store to advise the right type of shoe as well as the proper method of correcting the causes of foot troubles and so bringing about relief.

This expert is a graduate of the American School of Practipedics, and has a thorough knowledge of the anatomy of the foot and the causes and characteristics of the various ailments to which the foot is subject.

Convict Escaped

SING SING MOURNS LOSS OF FIRST PRISONER IN FORTY YEARS.

OFFICIALS GRIEVE

OSSINGTON, N. Y., September 14. — United Press. — Joseph Sorace, aged 23, made a spectacular escape from Sing Sing prison before dawn to-day.

He sawed through his cell bars, broke the lock on a trap door to the roof, slid down a frail telephone wire, 70 feet to the ground, scaled the walls, dived into the Hudson river, and swam to freedom.

Ten automobile loads of armed guards were scouring the river front and the hills back of Ossington today in the hunt for the fugitive.

The wailing of the prison siren spread the alarm for miles and many volunteer posses were formed.

A warden making the rounds found the bars of the cell cut. He entered and discovered on the cot a dummy fashioned from stolen prison clothing. Just then some dogs along the river front began to bark, indicating the fugitive had scaled the wall.

Sorace had not more than five minutes start. He probably figured on a lead of several hours.

Within a few minutes the fleet of motor cars bristling with rifles, roared out through the prison gates, their searchlights sweeping the landscape Scores of volunteers hastily dressing. and seizing rifles and revolvers, swarmed out of their houses and began beating up the fields for the convict.

Over all was the pulsating whine of the alarm siren.

It is not believed possible that Sorace could have crossed the Hudson. The guards think that he swam a short distance up or down stream, and then came ashore again and went into hiding.

His escape was the first in forty years from the roof.

Sorace, who is 23 years old, was serving ten years for manslaughter. He would have been released in 1927, with time off for good conduct.

TEXTILE INTERESTS OPPOSE REGULATIONS

NEW YORK, September 14 (Canadian Press). — A special to the Daily News-Record from Washington says complaints of textile and other manufacturing interests in the United States against Canadian customs regulation for marking the country of origin on merchandise, are being made the basis of diplomatic representation to the Canadian Government through the State Department, it was learned here to-day.

The difficulty that would be imposed upon American exporters when required to mark the goods in minute ways as proposed by the Canadian regulations, will be shown to the Canadian Government through representations from the State Department, it was said to-day, by Henry Chalmers, of the Foreign and Domestic Commerce, through whom the complaints have been received.

"Complaints against the regulations which will go into effect the first of next year have been received direct by the State Department and by the United States Chamber of Commerce."

DRY STATISTICS FEATURE HEARING

TORONTO, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Dry statistics piles on piles of facts and figures, figures and facts. Such was the men of the Arbitration Board in the Toronto railway purchase on its second day of evidence taking. A remarkable feature of the morning's evidence was the extreme wealth of detail covered in bulky "inventory and appraisal" volume filed as an exhibit and which Compiler W. J. Hagenah, of Chicago, is elaborating as he goes along. It would seem that every nut and bolt on the Toronto railways system has been counted and valued. Even the company's arbitrator, Sir Thomas White, seemed to think that the proceedings were being delayed by too much detail, but the examining counsel for the company, Robert McKay, K.C., was taking no chances on proving points he wanted to establish. Mr. Hagenah was on the stand all morning, and it is quite certain that he won't be through for days at the rate of progress to-day.

CHEESE SOLD.

Peterboro Exhibition Opens To-day

Peterborough, Ont., Sept. 13th, 1921.
Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I would like the opportunity to commend the Peterborough Exhibition to the patronage of the citizens. I have no doubt that the people are fairly familiar with the work the directors are carrying on. They have, by years of endeavour, developed the Exhibition into an institution that is recognized throughout a very wide district as a very important one, and one that is very beneficial to the city and to the whole district, of which the city is the centre. Our citizens should do all they can to assist the directors, who give much time and labor to conducting and building up the Exhibition without any other reward than the knowledge that they are doing a work in the interest of the community. Everyone can do something to make the Exhibition even a greater success than it has been and everyone should do what they can.

Yours truly,
A. A. McINTYRE,
Mayor.

REPRESENTATIVES OF CANADA IN GENEVA

AT PARLEY OF INTERNATIONAL LABOR ORGANIZATION UNDER AUSPICES NATIONS' LEAGUE.

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.— (Canadian Press.)—Canada's representatives at the third session of the General Conference of the International Labor Organization, to be held under the auspices of the League of Nations at Geneva, Switzerland, commencing on October 25, are in a large part chosen. Gerald Brown, Assistant Deputy Minister of Labor, and Colonel J. Obed Smith, Canadian Commissioner of Imigration in London, will represent the Government.

For the employers there will be S. R. Parsons, Toronto, while Blake Robertson, Ottawa, representative of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, has been nominated. His appointment has not yet been approved by the Cabinet.

Tom Moore, Ottawa, will represent the employes, together with Arthur Martel of Montreal.

Thomas H. Johnson, Attorney-General of Manitoba, will represent that province in an advisory capacity, and it is understood that further appointments will yet be made on the recommendations of other provinces.

NO GENERAL REDUCTION IN RY. FREIGHT RATES

SUCH WAS JUDGMENT OF BOARD OF RAILWAY COMMISSIONERS THIS MORNING.

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—(Bulletin). —(Canadian Press).—There will be no general reduction in railway freight rates at the present time. Two judgments were brought down by the Board of Railway Commissioners this morning. One opinion of Chief Commissioner Carvell, and concurred in by Commissioner Nantel, recommended a general reduction in freight rates of ten per cent. except in cases where rates have already been lowered, as in the case of livestock and of grain from the rail head.

Pullman Car Question.

The Chief Commissioner's judgment also recommends twenty-five per cent. reduction in Pullman and parlor car rates. With this judgment, Commissioners McLean, Rutherford and Boyce do not concur. Their majority ruling is that there be no immediate reduction in freight rates. The ground they take is that pending decision of the special tribunal, appointed to investigate the wage question, application for rate reductions be not granted. Majority ruling prevails, and there will, therefore, be no rate reduction at present.

GOVERNMENT HAD A NARROW ESCAPE

LONDON, September 14 (Canadian Press). — The Melbourne Argus, referring to the defeat of the want-of-confidence motion in the Victorian Assembly, says a grave danger has been averted, and that a stable Government in Victoria for a period of three years is now practically certain. The Farmers' Party has accepted the Government's offer of a guarantee of four shillings per bushel to a co-operative wheat pool.

Arbuckle Charges

PRISONER SLEEPS WELL—HIS ATTORNEY SCORES A POINT

CELL NUMBER 12

By M. D. TRACEY,
(United Press.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 14.—Roscoe Arbuckle was indicted by the San Francisco Grand Jury to-day on a charge of manslaughter. Dismissal of the murder charge originally filed against the movie comedian, is expected to result from this indictment on a lesser charge. His attorneys are prepared to attempt to secure his release on bail.

Arbuckle is accused of causing the death of Virginia Rappe, motion picture actress, whom he is alleged to have assaulted during a "booze party" in his suite at the fashionable Hotel St. Francis on Labor Day. Under the murder complaint, Arbuckle was accused of killing Miss Rappe, with malice aforethought." The manslaughter indictment absolves him of premediation, but charges him with "committing a felony, to wit, manslaughter." The said Arbuckle did wilfully, unlawfully, feloniously and without malice aforethought, kill one Virginia Rappe, a human being, the indictment says.

The Grand Jury by a vote of 12 to 2 voted the manslaughter indictment at its second session on the Arbuckle case. At its first session it had refused to act until disputed points in the evidence were cleared up. The coroner's inquest into the death of Miss Rappe was to be continued to-day. The indictment will be formally returned in the court of Judge Shortall, presiding over the Grand Jury, at 11 a.m. Thursday. He will assign it to one of the Superior Courts. The Judge to whom it is assigned will issue a bench warrant for Arbuckle's arrest—a formality—and set bail probably at $15,000. Arbuckle will appear in court for arraingment on the manslaughter charge Friday afternoon or Saturday morning. He is already scheduled to appear in Police Judge O'Brien's court Friday morning for preliminary hearing on the murder charge. At that time his lawyers will ask the judge to dismiss the murder charge altogether. District Attorney Matthew Brady said today. He had not yet decided whether to prosecute Arbuckle on the manslaughter indictment or on the murder charge.

Located Witness.

Brady has succeeded in locating Miss Alice Blake, one of his star witnesses whom he said had "disappeared." He had a long conversation with Miss Zey Prevon, beautiful show girl, who at her first appearance before the Grand Jury repudiated her charges against Arbuckle. Miss Prevon informed Brady that she had changed her mind again and that she would stick to her original story and sign her original affidavit which charges she saw Roscoe Arbuckle drag Miss Rappe into his room and heard screams. She said her refusal to give this testimony when called before the Grand Jury was due to nervous breakdown and the long strain.

Following these developments Brady called the Grand Jury together shortly after 8 o'clock last night. He announced he would clear up the disputed points which prevented the jury from indicting Arbuckle at its first session.

The mansluaghter indictment followed.

Arbuckue's lawyers were jubilant at the close of the coroner's inquest session yesterday. Two nurses who attended Miss Rappe testified she told them she had been suffering for six week from a serious ailment. They also declared Miss Rappe herself did not remember whether Arbuckle had assaulted her. Mrs. Bambina Maude Delmont, who swore to the murder complaint against Arbuckle and has been the most active in assisting the prosecution, testified that she herself had ten drinks of whiskey during the fatal party. She also said she became overheated from dancing and that she went into the room of Lowell Sherman, one of the movie actors present and donned a suit of his pajamas. She failed to make the charge that Arbuckle dragged Miss Rappe into his bedroom. After putting on the pajamas she said she was informed Arbuckle and the girls had gone into the room. She knocked at the door, she said, and then heard screams. Arbuckle emerged. Mrs. Delmont testified, with Miss Rappe's panama hat at a rakish ankle on his head. Miss Rappe was alternately fainting and moaning she testified. The girl still had most of her clothes on, Mrs. Delmont said. She was stripped and given a cold bath, but that did not seem to help her.

Coroner's Inquest.

Miss Rappe, it was testified, kept putting her hands on her abdomen

9.30 p.m.—Grand Pyrotechnical display.
Music by the Cobourg Citizens Band.

Last night the moon had a golden ring. Not boldly did it stand out against the blue, but as fragile aureate band which at a first glance seemed of regular proportions and then upon closer scrutiny appeared like a dim and tremulous segment of the northern lights. But faint as its outline was it was all too distinct and ominous to those directors of the Exhibition who have been inordinately sensitive to signs and portents that might foreshadow the weather conditions of the Fair days. Remembering the school day poem about the audacious skipper of the Hesperus they blew no scornful whiffs from their panatelas but silently hoped that the imminent rain would be nothing more than a shower or two sufficient to lay the dust.

Early Briskness.

This morning the grounds were everywhere a bustle of activitiy fussing up the booths and exhibits that were laid out and practically finished on Tuesday. The George street gate like the door of the Ark admitted streams of select stock, horses, cattle, swine, and sheep, horticulturalists loaded with flowers and fruit, the Vegetable Growers with their mammoth specimens from the gardens about Peterboro, merchants with their stocks for the exhibits building and its annex tent, concessionaries who will live the week out on the midway, and the earliest visitors who just naturally gravitate to the Exhibition Park apparently for want of else to do.

Amusement Features.

The merry-go-round and the "whip" were idle yesterday afternoon waiting for the first crowds that should come to-night if the rain holds off, a big barrel marked beer—innocuous Hire's—was all set to turn on its taps for the thirsty and from the George street gate in all directions were tents laid out in avenues which have been namel after some of the departed directors who had helped build up the exhibition. The memories of William Collins, Robert Leary and John H. Garbutt, for instance, will be perpetuated by the Fair Board in the Park which their efforts had materially helped to preserve for the Exhibition.

Prominent Memorial.

Just inside the gate a memorial to the departed soliders will catch the eye of every visitor. It has the appearance of the solidity of concrete and on its broad faces are superscribed the message "Lest we Forget."

Atop the main building is an electric clock which will be illuminated at night, and the Manufacturers' building has the decorative electric 'flag" that added its patch of colour to last year's scene.

CHILDREN WILL SING.

A feature of the attractions at the Exhibition to-morrow, which is Childrens' and Visitors' Day, will be the singing of the children's choir on the grand stand at 2 o'clock. This choir of about 250 children, recruited from the schools of the city, is under the direction of Miss M. R. Rannie, and is the same talented aggregation which put on the successful Spring Festival at the Grand Opera House in April. Anyone who heard these children sing at that time has no doubts of the excellence of any performance they may give. They have sung in this way for the last two years, and it is hoped to make the performance an annual affair. About half an hour will be taken up by their unison and part songs.

COMMUNITY SINGING.

With the co-operation of to-night's crowd the community singing should prove a pleasing feature. Slides have been prepared by which the words will be terown on a screen in front of the grandstand. Mr. Asa Huycke will conduct the singing to the accompaniment of a band, and a programme of new and old songs will be given. The more recent "hits" will include "Peggy O'Neill," "Katy," "Golden Gate," "Rose of No Man's Land," "I Know Where the Flies Go," "Whn You Look in the Heart of a Rose," "Peggy," etc.

Vaudevillians Here

The Vaudeville artists arrived early in the weak, and before empty stands went through some of their stunts yesterday and to-day to keep limbered up. The seven special attractions are of the best the Directors could secure. They are White Brothers, comedy acrobats, The Royal Yositos, Japanese juggl and trapeze performers, the Steiner Trio horizontal bar gymnasts, La France Brothers, cranial euilibrists Marie and Charles Racko, D'Lorna the man up the steel pole, and the Four Sensational Mellos.

PRICES ADVANCE BIG FUR AUCTION HELD IN MONTREAL

Information regarding the trend of the Canadian fur market will be of a fairly definite character when the Montreal auction closes to-day. Fur buyers from the leading American centres as well as from Europe are in Montreal this week inspecting samples. The Canadian furs are described as being particularly fine. The lots include mink, ermine, fisher, marten and other furs as well as muskrat and raccoons. Most of these were made up of last season's trapping. The activities of the trappers were not as great as when prices were more attractive. Some of the market observers incline to the opinion that the decreased supply and the high quality would stimulate prices again, the result of which would be a larger catch this winter in Canadian fur territory.

There were good samples of imported furs, including Persian lamb and other skins, shipped direct to Montreal from Turkestan. The directors of the auction sale believe that the shortage of furs will send prices higher, especially in view of the competition of buyers from abroad. The entire offering of furs is valued at $1,500,000, and the auction extends over three days. At the end of the first day prices were running about 40 per cent. over the previous level.

NO BUYERS OF WATCHES, NOW.

Swiss Watchmakers Ask Government Subsidy.

BERNE, Sept. 14.—Owing to the prolonged depression in the Swiss watch-making industry and especially owing to the great decrease in American purchases this industry, which is about third in importance in the country, has reached such a pitch of despair that the Watchmakers' Association has just appealed to the Government for a subsidy to tide it over the next year or eighteen months, after which time it confidently hopes trade will have somewhat recovered.

At present about 32,000 watchmakers are wholly or partly unemployed, which means great distress in all the French-speaking parts of Western Switzerland. The total number of Swiss unemployed exceeds 135,000, and this is a country with considerably less than 4,000,000 people.

The watchmakers declare that they are ready to sell watches at 30 per cent. under the normal price, which means practically cost price in order to keep their factories going, but owing to the low value of foreign exchanges the only country able to buy Swiss watches is the United States and the United States buys only a few watches and those of the very finest. In Geneva, which is one of the places where the finest Swiss watches are sold, the watch shops declare that they have sold fewer watches to American visitors this year than ever before.

Despite the fact that unemployment has increased steadily during the last two years there were, according to a report just published, far more labor disputes in 1920 in Switzerland than in the two preceding years. Last year more than 839,000 working days were lost by strikes in Switzerland and between 12,000,000 and 13,000,000 francs in wages. Since the strike records have been kept there has never been such a bad year for strikes here as 1920.

NEW LAW CONTROLS MENTAL CRIMINALS.

BOSTON, Sept. 14. — (United Press).—The culpability of criminals brought before the Massachusetts courts repeatedly for the same or similar offences henceforth will rest on the offender's mental status. This will be determined by psychiatric examinations in accordance with a new law.

That the mental tests are not a variation of the familiar army or Binet formulas is explained by Dr. George MacPherson, assistant commissioner of the State Department of Mental Diseases.

Such examinations readily reveal the subject's emotional or temperamental reaction, but, according to Dr. MacPherson, it is necessary when dealing with those of criminal tendencies to know what actual mental defects they may have, other than a mind that has merely failed to keep pace with the person's age.

In the methods to be employed by the State's psychologists, a great deal more enters into the case. The subject's physical condition, heredity, his life during childhood and the succeeding stages of his life, to determine whether he has a mentality for which he really is not responsible, are the main factors used in reaching a conclusion.

If the patient is found to be in such a state, Dr. MacPherson said, then he will be placed in an institution where he will receive all possible care, but will be able to harm neither himself nor those with whom he comes in contact.

NORWOOD STATION HAD NARROW ESCAPE MONDAY

ROOF CAUGHT FIRE FROM A PASSING ENGINE---NORWOOD NEWS.

NORWOOD, Sept. 14.—The Norwood C.P.R. station had a narrow escape from being destroyed by fire on Monday at midnight. It is supposed the roof caught fire from a passing train, and after smouldering for about an hour, was fortunately discovered by some person who was going to meet the midnight train. The fire alarm was soon in operation, and by the ready aid of several men, the fire was extinguished.

Farewell Party.

A farewell was given by the congregation of the Anglican church on September 12th in the A.Y.P.A. hall, at Norwood, for Rev. N. H. Noble, who left on Tuesday for his new parish in Port Perry.

After a programme of speeches and music, Mr. Noble was presented with a gold watch, Mrs. Noble an electric grill, and each of the children with a silver napkin ring.

Personals.

Rev. Mr. Noble and family left on Tuesday for their new home in Port Perry.

TELEGRAPH AND CABLE NEWS

TENDLER WON FIGHT.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14. — (Canadian Press). — Lew Tendler, Philadelphia lightweight, won a hard fought eight-round bout with Sailor Friedman, of Chicago, by a slight margin last night at the National League Park.

CONFERED DEGREES.

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Sept. 14. —(Canadian Press). — Edinburgh University has conferred the degree of Doctor of Laws on several members of the British Association in session here, among them Dr. Irving Langmuir, of Research Laboratory, of General Electric Company, Schenectady, New York.

MATCHED FOR EIGHT.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press). — Pal Moore, of Memphis, Tenn., has been matched here to meet Midget Smith, New York bantamweight, in a ten-round bout at Aurora, on September 23. The match was substituted for a match in which Smith was to have met Jack Sharkey.

GOVERNMENT SUSTAINED.

LONDON, Sept. 14. — (Canadian Press). —Reuter's Melbourne correspondent cables that the Government of the State of Victoria survived to-day a want-of-confidence vote by a narrow margin, aided by a faction of the Farmers' Party.

The motion was moved in the Legislative Assembly on the ground that the Government had been defeated at the polls on the wheat pool question.

It is inferred from this that the Farmers' party will ultimately accept wheat decontrol and the substitution of a voluntary wheat pool.

EXCHEQUER RECEIPTS.

LONDON, Sept. 14. — (Canadian Press).—The returns of the Exchequer for the period from the first of April to September 10 show receipts of £400,000,000 and expenditure of £449,000,000, compared with £541,000,000 and £456,000,000 respectively during the corresponding period of last year.

BARS CUT ON INSIDE, SAYS THE EXPERTS

CHIEF TURNKEY ADMITS THE MURRELLS "PUT IT ALL OVER AIM."

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press).— Inspector W. W. Dunlop's investigation into the escape of Sidney and William Murrell, alleged murderers, from the county jail on Friday, September 2, closed to-day, having brought out that the jail officials were ignorant of the rules governing the institution; that the escape was an inside job; that the Murrells had saws smuggled into them; and that the prisoners completely outwitted the turnkeys.

"The Murrells put it all over you' declared Inspector Dunlop to Chief Turnkey William McLoud, who was recalled to the witness stand. "They outwitted you. They sure did outwit everyone watching them. You know that now, don't you?"

"I do," agreed McLoud.

Governor arter was recalled on a point of food being allowed to be taken into the prisoners. He understood, he said, that prisoners on remand could be given food by relatives, but that men sentenced were to have the regular jail food served to them unless the jail physician ordered otherwise. Inspector Dunlop pointed out that only political prisoners, ones jailed for contempt of court, or civil prisoners, could have special parcels given to them. Tobacco, too, he said, was forbidden except with the consent of the physician.

Richard Warren, a stationary engineer, who is visiting in London and who has had eighteen years' experience in hack saw work, stated that the bars were out from the inside. The saw left in the cell had originally been a ten-inch or 12-inch blade but had been cut down to six inches, he testified. The men had worked under very unfavorable conditions and had made eight starts on one bar, showing that they had been interrupted, under favorable conditios, Warren declared, the men would take a half hour to saw one bar through. They could not do the work with one saw, he was sure.

Chief Robert Burrell, under examination, could not recollect that the police chief of Guelph had called him warning him of a plot to liberate the prisoners.

He said that on two occasions persons had warned him by telephone and that he had sent a officer to the jail to warn the officials.

County Constable Arthur Corsant who was acting as special guard of the prisoners, said that his duties consisted of assisting the turnkeys in locking up and unlocking the prisoners in their night cells. He said that he had examined all bars each morning by shaking them with his hands. He thought that the bars had been cut from the inside and thought that more than one saw had been used. He had examined the bars on Friday mornig and found them in good condition.

SHIP RETURNS TO PORT AFTER A HARD BATTLE

THE IMPORTER EMERGES FROM THE FOG-BOUND PACIFIC.

VICTORIA, B. C., September 14. —Emerging like a spectre from the fog-bound Pacific, after having been virtually given up for lost, the derelict Canadian Government Steamer Canadian Importer, with a six degree list, groggy, but still waterborne, cheated the ocean of its expected prey and defiantly limped into port to-day with her crew, undaunted British seamen, still at their posts of duty.

When first sighted the Importer was heeled over to starboard, with two powerful tugs straining in a chopy seaway hauling her along at a speed of eight knots. The happy but begrimed faces of her crew grinned cheerily over the rail. A few cable lengths astern the salvage steamer Algerine was keeping close watch on the passage of the vessel with the Canadian Observer, the sister ship, which hung on to the search like a leach until she found the Importer, at 8 p.m., on August 31st, was astern of the Algerine.

"Oh, yes, I realized that the ship was in danger, but I was paid to look after her," said Captain Bysett of the Importer.

"The cause of the leak will not be definitely determined until after the vesel has been drydocked," he said.

"We know, however, that the water entered No. 2 hold, and bursting the bulkhead, flooded the engine room. At one time there was 26 feet of water in the engine room."

WHISKEY WAS PLENTIFUL AT ARBUCKLE ORGY

EVIDENCE SUBMITTED AT THE CORONER'S INQUEST—WITNESSES TURN UP.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 14.—Roscoe Arbckle was indicted by the grand jury early to-day on a charge of manslaughter. Dismissal of the murder charge originally fyled against Arbuckle, is expected to result from this indictment on a lesser charge. His attorneys are prepared to attempt to secure his release on bail.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—Canadian Press.)—With the Grand Jury which has been hearing evidence against him adjourned and the coroner's inquest extending into its second day without a verdict, "Fatty" Arbuckle, motion picture comedian, charged with the murder of Miss Virginia Rappe, an actress, whose death occurred after a party in Arbuckle's rooms in a hotel, spent his third night in a cell to-night.

The Grand Jury adjourned without returning an indictment but another session will be held as soon as District Attorney Matthew Brady is ready to present further testimony, the foreman announced.

Added interest was given the case to-day when the District Attorney declared he would start an investigation to ascertain whether witnesses present at the party last week, have been tampered with. The official's statement followed the appearance of Miss Vey Provost, also known as Miss Pyvron, before the Grand Jury. According to Mr. Brady her testimony there was entirely different from that she previously gave him.

Reports that another witness, Alice Blake, had disappeared, proved erroneous when she apceared at the District Attorney's office. Miss Blake exlained, according to Brady, that she had gone from her home in Berkeley to a friend's home in Oakland in order to avoid publicity.

Among witnesses before the Grand Jury, some of whom later testified at the second day's proceedings of the coroner's inquest, were Mrs. Bambina Maud Delmont, Al. Seminacher, Miss Rappe's manager; Vey Provost and Alice Blake, all of whom are said to have been present at the Arbuckle party, and Mrs. Jean Jameson, a nurse who attended Miss Rappe before her death.

Mrs. Delmont, at the inquest, said she Miss Rappe and Al. Seminacher drove to San Francisco from Los Angeles, arriving Sunday night, September 4.

While she and Miss Rappe were eating breakfast the next day, a telephone call was received that a Mr. Arbuckle wanted to see them all at the St. Francis Hotel. Miss Rappe went to Arbuckle's room alone and then telephoned for Mrs. Delmont and Seminacher to join her. There, she testified, she met Arbuckle, Lowell Sheman, Ira C. Fort Louis and Frederick Fishbach. There were many bottles on the table in the room. Miss Rappe had three drinks of gin and orange juice and Mrs. Delmont had about ten drinks of whiskey. Two more girls came in, whom she learned later were Alice Blake and Vey Pyvron.

The Rappe girl rose and went into the bathroom off Arbuckle's room. When she came out of the bathroom Arbuckle was in his room. He closed the door between it and the sitting room where the other members of the party were.

She heard screams coming from the room about an hour later, she said, and demanded that Arbuckle open the door. He did so. The Rappe girl was on the bed tearing at her clothing and screaming:

"I am hurt. I am dying. He did it."

She removed the girl's clothing and assisted by Fishbach, placed her in a tub of cold water. This had no

WHISKEY WAS PLENTIFUL AT ARBUCKLE ORGY

EVIDENCE SUBMITTED AT THE CORONER'S INQUEST—WITNESSES TURN UP.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 14.—Roscoe Arbckle was indicted by the grand jury early to-day on a charge of manslaughter. Dismissal of the murder charge originally fyled against Arbuckle, is expected to result from this indictment on a lesser charge. His attorneys are prepared to attempt to secure his release on bail.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—Canadian Press.)—With the Grand Jury which has been hearing evidence against him adjourned and the coroner's inquest extending into its second day without a verdict, "Fatty" Arbuckle, motion picture comedian, charged with the murder of Miss Virginia Rappe, an actress, whose death occurred after a party in Arbuckle's rooms in a hotel spent his third night in a cell to-night.

The Grand Jury adjourned without returning an indictment but another session will be held as soon as District Attorney Matthew Brady is ready to present further testimony, the foreman announced.

Added interest was given the case to-day when the District Attorney declared he would start an investigation to ascertain whether witnesses present at the party last week, have been tampered with. The official's statement followed the appearance of Miss Vey Provost, also known as Miss Pyvron, before the Grand Jury. According to Mr. Brady her testimony there was entirely different from that she previously gave him.

Reports that another witness, Alice Blake, had disappeared, proved erroneous when she apeared at the District Attorney's office. Miss Blake explained, according to Brady, that she had gone from her home in Berkeley to a friend's home in Oakland in order to avoid publicity.

Among witnesses before the Grand Jury, some of whom later testified at the second day's proceedings of the coroner's inquest, were Mrs. Bambina Maud Delmont, Al. Seminacher, Miss Rappe's manager; Vey Provost and Alice Blake, all of whom are said to have been present at the Arbuckle party, and Mrs. Jean Jameson, a nurse who attended Miss Rappe before her death.

Mrs. Delmont, at the inquest, said she Miss Rappe and Al. Seminacher drove to San Francisco from Los Angeles, arriving Sunday night, September 4.

While she and Miss Rappe were eating breakfast the next day, a telephone call was received that a Mr. Arbuckle wanted to see them all at the St. Francis Hotel. Miss Rappe went to Arbuckle's room alone and then telephoned for Mrs. Delmont and Seminacher to join her. There, she testified, she met Arbuckle, Lowell Sheman, Ira C. Fort Louis and Frederick Fishbach. There were many bottles on the table in the room. Miss Rappe had three drinks of gin and orange juice and Mrs. Delmont had about ten drinks of whiskey. Two more girls came in, whom she learned later were Alice Blake and Vey Pyvron.

The Rappe girl rose and went into the bathroom off Arbuckle's room. When she came out of the bathroom Arbuckle was in his room. He closed the door between it and the sitting room where the other members of the party were.

She heard screams coming from the room about an hour later, she said, and demanded that Arbuckle open the door. He did so. The Rappe girl was on the bed tearing at her clothing and screaming:

"I am hurt. I am dying. He did it."

She removed the girl's clothing and assisted by Fishbach, placed her in a tub of cold water. This had no

MADE IN PETERBOROUGH.

One of the greatest improvements that has yet been made by the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition was the erection of the Manufacturers' Building used for the first time at the Exhibition last year. To citizens of Peterborough nothing on the grounds should be of greater interest than the magnificent exhibits that are housed in this fine building, exhibits that demonstrate unmistakably the variety and the importance of the industrial establishments of this city. Often the place that Peterborough occupies in the world of industry is not sufficiently appreciated and we fail to realize the extent to which the local manufacturers are helping to make possible a made-in-Canada campaign. The Manufacturers' Building does much to correct this condition and to bring before Peterborough's citizens a revealing glimpse of what the factories of this city are capable of turning out. A visit to the Exhibition that does not include a thorough examination of the splendid exhibits of the manufacturers is a serious mistake. No fair outside of the largest centres contains any feature half so striking as is to be found in the local Manufacturers' Building. If you see nothing else, the Exhibition will have been worth while.

A VALUABLE BOOKLET.

A copy of an interesting booklet, entitled "Financing Foreign Trade," which has just been published by the Royal Bank, has been received by the Examiner. While the booklet has been prepared principally for the use of the bank's staff, it will be available also to any firms and individuals to whom it may prove of interest.

It deals with practially all the technical problems with which the foreign trader is confronted, and describes clearly the documents used in foreign trade transactions. The first two chapters relate to Bills of Exchange and Shipping Documents, and sample forms of Bills of Lading, Commercial and Consular Invoices, Insurance Certificates and Certificates of Origin are attached. Commercial and Revolving Letters of Credit and their operation are dealt with at some length, and one chapter is devoted to the theory and practice of foreign exchange.

One of the main reasons which led to the compilation of this booklet for the staff of the Royal Bank of Canada was that although a certain amount of the information contained in it already was available in printed form, yet the material was so scattered that it was very difficult for the average individual to procure it

THE EXHIBITION.

No citizen who takes a pride in the growth and progress of Peterborough's institutions can fail to be gratified at the announcement that in point of entries and in other respects the Industrial Exhibition promises to shatter all previous records and that, granted favourable weather, the big fair will establish a new attendance mark. Year by year the Exhibition has more firmly established itself in the confidence of the public until the community generally has imbibed the optimism and enthusiasm of the directors, and with pardonable pride adopts the Exhibition as its own. The once general complaint, "it's the same old thing," is never heard nowadays, evidence of progress is too apparent to permit such a description being used. Each year has seen additions made to the plant, improvements to the grounds, new features added to the programme, increased entries, more visitors from a distance, bigger prize money. There has been no resting on their oars, for the directors and the public, recognizing the spirit shown by the good citizens of Peterborough and the surrounding district who are members of the Exhibition Board, has thrown itself heartily behind the movement. It is everybody's Exhibition now, and everybody should contribute towards its success by attending as often as possible. A good start to-night will mean a lot when the final attendance figures are being checked up and upon the people of the city the responsibility for applying the initial impetus to the 1921 Exhibition depends. From all over the district thousands of visitors will come to-morrow, but to-night's success of failure is up to the people of Peterborough. The Examiner hopes that they will respond to the appeal and give the Exhibition a first night send off that will blaze the trail towards the highest total attendance yet recorded by the Peterborough Industrial.

RURAL CREDITS.

Yesterday in these columns, reference was made to the system of rural credits to be inaugurated in Ontario and closely following legislation adopted in Manitoba. The objections to the Rural Credits Act of Manitoba are many, and among the most obvious may be listed the following:

1. The higher rate offered on savings deposits has been made possible partly by the Government's responsibility to meet any deficits, but principally by refusal to recognize the need for retention of a large cash reserve to meet deposits withdarwals. By offering such higher rate, savings funds have been diverted to some extent from the banks to the Government. The scheme is fundamentally unsound, because the reserves on hand are not adequate to meet emergency demands and, under conditions of stress, if the Government were forced to emergency borrowing on public credit, the higher cost of such money would fall upon the general taxpayers.

2. Those agriculturists who are most entitled to loans, because they can offer the best security, will continue under any such scheme to deal with the regular banking institutions, while the less desirable applications will be left to the rural credits organizations. Hon. Chas. A. Dunning, Treasurer of the Province of Saskatchewan, in discussing last year the mortgage loan legislation of his Province, under which 5 per cent. interest has been offered on deposits withdrawals after three months' notice, said that the experience of Saskatchewan would seem to indicate either that the farmers who had savings accounts wished to have such funds immediately available when required or that they were not satisfied to have their money tied up in mortgage loans to agriculturists from a Government board. On January 1, 1921, there was interest overdue in the amount of $300,000 on mortgage loans by the Government of Saskatchewan and Mr. Dunning admitted that the attitude of the people owing money to the Government was not healthy, and that many of them appeared to think that the money need not be reaid.

3. The credit of the entire community is pledged for the direct benefit of only a single class, and under a plan which lessens the amount of money available in the hands of the regular banking institutions for loans to other borrowers. One may well question whether a Government is justified in such discrimination as between taxpayers or whether it is sound public policy that the credit of the entire community should be used to lend money to persons who are unable to obtain loans in the regular way from private lending institutions, because of lack of acceptable security or other reasons. Employment of the public guaranty for unlimited loans to a single class and, indirectly, to the prejudice of other borrowers, is open to proper objection unless the need is imperative and urgent, under conditions of menace or emergency affecting the interests of all teh people.

4. Experience has shown either that governments do not command the services of men thoroughly trained in the making of loans, or that such governments cannot resist the temptation to allow their lending policies to be influenced by considerations, political or other than those which govern the policies of the regular banks.

The wretched embroglio in North Dakota and also the experience of Manitoba and Saskatchewan, suggest that the entry of a government into the banking business is fraught with grave dangers and the Ontario administration will be well advised to heed the warning.

PRESHING AND GOMPERS

General Pershing said a few blunt things to Mr. Samuel Gompers at a Washington dinner party the other evening, and his fate may now be taken as sealed. He will hereafter be classified among the "enemies" of labor. All who do not agree with the union leaders have that badge fastened on them, although it is often the unjust penalty for merely telling the truth. General Pershing told Mr Gompers that "the policies of this republic are not determined by labor unions nor by any other organizations, but by the consensus of opinion of its patriotic citizens of whatever affiliations. . . . It seems to be about time for us to rise up and say that America shall be governed by American citizens, and not by organizations which have their own selfish purposes to serve." These observations followed a statement by the head of the American Federation of Labor that to the effect that organized labor was bound to control.

Not all the adverse criticism of Mr. Gompers and his very large body of assistant leaders comes from outside sources. Mr. Paul A. Vacarelli, President of the Longshoremen's Union and also of the Loyal Labor Legion, two numerically strong organizations, spoke just as plainly the other day as did General Pershing. He said:

"Every organized labor man knows that I have not overstated the facts as to the practical workings of the American Federation of Labor, and you know that because the Federation has ceased to be an instrument for the good of labor more than 1,000,000 of the rank and file have got out of the Federation in the last two years.

"Trade unions are no longer a guarantee of steady work at good wages—that is, trade unions that function as many of the Federation unions do. On the contrary, in some, not in all, of the unions, what with a constant succession of unnecessary strikes and criminally blundering leadership, their members are working a very small percentage of the time.

"When workers know that by joining the Federation they guarantee themselves regular work at fair wages, instead of irregular, strike-interrupted, temporary jobs, the Executive Council will not have to start a drive to get 1,000,000 new workers. Very many sincere and earnest men are working to start the Federation on the way to enhance the material welfare of the working people who constitute its membership But there are also many incompetents, many Bolsheviki boring from within, and many self-seeking and pelf-seeking tricksters who must be driven out."

These are strong words, especially from a man who ought to be in a position to speak with authority. "Self-seeking and pelf-seeking tricksters," are rather ugly terms, and yet, with Robert J. Brindell and four or five other heads of important branches of the American Federation of Labor in Sing Sing for criminal extortion, Mr. Vacarelli could not be said to have spoken rashly.

If the purpose of all the strikes now in progress or threatened were to protect union workers from an unjust reduction of wages, little could be said against the judgment of the leaders at whose instance sch extreme action has been taken or may be taken. It is, however, as Toronto Saturday Night has pointed out, the resistance to obvious economic laws that casts doubt on the good sense of these men. At this very moment, the commerce of the United States, and possibly that of Canada, is threatened with paralysis by a strike of railway employees, as a means to arrest wage reductions If the wages of railway workers had grown out of normal conditions, and no change had occurred in those conditions, at least some defence could be found for resistance; but when everybody clearly understands that a world-wide reaction has set in against the inflation created by the war, and that railway wages shared conspicuously in that inflation, the attempt to stay this process by the force residing in a single class is like a man trying to lift himself by his bootstraps.

The people who see the errors of labor leaders, and frankly point them out, are not the enemies of labor—Ottawa Journal.

RIGHT IN THE END

Public opinion is often wrong in the beginning; it is always right in the end. And the reason is that, at first, it is formed by the passions of the unthinking many, ignorant of mankind, but interested in passing events; at last on the reason of the thinking few, whose judgment had been enlightened by experience, to whom alone the past is an object of interest, and by whom the verdict of posterity is formed .—Alison.

THE TRUTH.

There is no wit necesary in order to discover what we ought to do when the question is one of telling a lie or speaking the truth. This seems to me as valid a distinction between morality and wisdom as any I know. The abstractness of the moral law gives it a certain sublimity and ideality which is remarkable.—Mark Rutherford.

WE INSPECT THE LITTLE COTTAGE.

Chapter 62.

So it was decided that on Wednesday Kent and I would take the best part of the day and run up to Connecticut to inspect the little cottage.

I had a long talk with Nancy and gave her explicit directions about wee Kent. I planned just what she should give him for lunch.

"If it's a nice day, Nancy, you can take him out for a walk as soon as he finishes his nap—but remember, don't stay out any longer than three o'clock. After that the sun is not so warm, and the late afternoons are too raw," I warned her.

Then just before we rushed for the train, I took Kent Jr. on my knee and talked to him. I told him where Kent and I were going, and how he must be a good boy for Nancy. I promised that we would hurry right home to him, and told him to be sure and watch for us at the window.

He was so adorable and listened to me as earnestly as if he had been at least forty years old. I hugged his little, firm, chunky body up to my heart for a minute, and then set him down reluctantly on the floor, for Kent was calling to me to hurry or we would miss the train.

At the door Kent Jr. stood with his little chubby hands grasping the edges of his father's trouser legs. I just hated to leave him. He was only about as high as Kent's knee, and I wondered how long it would take for him to grow all that great, long six feet of distance between them. That distance meant years of responsibility. I did not want to run away from my precious obligation, but I prayed that I might be entirely worthy of it.

I knew that Kent felt as I did about the boy. It was as though we had both been shown the mark and then given a chance to measure up to it. We were both thrilled at the glory of our blessed responsibility, and yet, at the same time, almost doubtful and awe-struck at the tremendousness of it.

And so the boy had bound us together, making a triumvirate of our love and bringing the purity of his young life into ours.

Kent leaned over and swung the boy up for a minute in his strong arms. The baby hand clung fondly to his father's neck, and it was my turn to warn Kent that we must hurry.

We waved to him at the window, and all the way out on the train my thoughts would go back to the memory picture of his dear, golden head pressed against the pane.

It was the first time I had ever left Kent Jr. since he was born, and my thoughts were hardly separated from him for a minute.

Before noon we reached the little cottage, and both Kent and I found it charming. It seemed almost to have been made to order for us. Everything about it was just right. The grounds were not too large, but just big enough for plenty of flowers and vegeables out in the backyard.

And there was a wonderful old apple tree growing by the side of the broad piazza.

The living-room had a huge, brick fireplace in it. Kent and I stood for a minute in front of it with our fingers touching, and made a mental picture of a roaring, wood fire, and what it would mean to three happy people.

"Well, do you want it?" Kent finally asked; after we had been over every inch of it again and again, from cellar to garret.

"Oh yes, Kent — it's just wonderful!" I exclaimed, and a warm, happy glow in my heart made me wish that the local agent who had met us at the station might be thoughtful enough to leave Kent and me alone for a few minutes.

Then the next second I was thinking of Kent Jr. and urging Kent to hurry back to him. It seemed as if we had been gone from him for just ages. The old foolish fear of something happening to him rushed over me again.

To-morrow—Going Home to Kent Jr.

MISS RAPPE'S FIANCE ASKS "JUSTICE BE NOT CHEATED"

DESCRIBES ARBUCKLE AS "COARSE AND VULGAR"—HAD YELLOW STREAK.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Henry Lehrman, movie director, who was engaged to marry Virginia Rappe, screen beauty for whose death "Fatty" Arbuckle is held in San Francisco, said that he wanted "to live now to see that justice is not cheated."

"He will have to reckon with me, cried Lehrman, "even if he succeeds in buying his freedom."

Lehrman said of Arbuckle that "he has the cowardice of the bully," but "has a yellow streak."

Call Arbuckle "Beast"

"Arbuckle is a beast. I directed him for a year and a half. I finally had to tell him if he didn't keep out of the women's dressing rooms I would see that he was through. He boasted to me that he had torn clothing from an unwilling girl and outraged her."

"That's what comes of taking vulgarians from the gutter and giving them enormous salaries and making idols of them. Arbuckle came into the pictures nine years ago. He was a bar boy in a San Francisco saloon. Not a bartender, a bar boy, one of those who washes glasses and cleans cuspidors. Such people don't know how to get a kick out of life, except in a beastly way.

"They are a disgrace to the film busines. They are the ones who resort to opium and the cocaine needle and who participate in orgies that surpass the orgies of degenerate Rome. They should be swept out of the picture business.

"I'm no saint, but I have never attended one of those parties. Virginia wouldn't associate with anyone whom she knew was vile like that. Her friends were people like Charlie Chaplin and other decent people.

Despite his weight Arbuckle was a powerful man. I ryemember a few years ago, when we were making a picture at Tia Juana, Mexico, he weighed 310 pounds. He entered a 100-yard dash against Mexican athletes. Some of them were bull fighters. They laughed at his entry. But he eat them all.

"Mrs. Delmont, who accompanied Miss Rappe to Arbuckle's suite in the St. Francis Hotel, San Francisco, has had several long-distance telephone talks with me.

"She said:

"She Distrusted Him".

"' Mr. Arbuckle telephoned Miss Rappe to come to see him on business. She distrusted him and had me come along. We had a few drinks, when he leaped up and seized her, carried her into another room and locked the door. I pounded on the door while I could hear her struggle and scream. After a quarter of an hour she gave a terrible scream. I threatened to telephone to the office and Arbuckle opened the door. Every bit of Miss Rappe's clothes had been torn to shreds. She was unconscious.'

"She told the same story to her nurse, Mrs. Jamieson, and to Mrs. Spreckels. All the talk that there were a half-dozen others in the room and that Arbuckle was not alone with her are lies.

"Coarse and Vulgar"

"Virginia always had a violent physical aversion for Arbuckle. Speaking of him once she said:

" 'He's coarse and vulgar. He nauseates me. He is cheap and thinks he's funny.'

"I can see now in my mind's eye how she must have fought him like a tiger, even if she had had a couple of drinks.

"Look, see this telegram. When I got the first wire from Mrs. Spreckels that she was in the hospital, I started to wire to Arbuckle to look after her. He knew what she and I were to each other, I never suspected that beast that he was, he would touch her.

"Has Yellow Streak."

"I feel as though I had died and that my being here in these rooms isn't quite real. I haven't been out of these rooms since I got the wire that she was dead. But I want to live now to see that justice is not cheated. Nobody can pull me off Arbuckle has powerful friends and much influence and money will be used to save him. But he will have me to reckon with, even if he succeeds in buying his freedom.

"I look to see him crumble. Despite his bigness and his physical strength he has the cowardice of the bully. He has a yellow streak. When he is alone in his cell and realizes the situation he is in I expect to see him collapse.

"Even if he escapes the death penalty, he is through as a comedian."

DAMAGE TO THE SCRIVEN OBELISK

BOTH MEMORIAL PLOTS NEED SOME CARE—MILLBROOK NEWS

MILLBROOK, Sept. 14.—The report having been gaining ground that the Scriven memorial stone had been defaced, a personal visit on Saturday showed that the handsome monument to the memory of the author of the famous hymn, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," which cost $1,000, and which was unveiled by Premier E. S. Drury in the presence of about ten thousand people on May 24th, 1920, has not been injured in any way whatever.

This monument is erected in the private cemetery on the Pengelley farm on the shores of Rice Lake, but the one which has been defaced is the smaller monument, standing at the four cross-roads east of Bewdley, known as "Kidd's Corners," and erected at his own expense by the Rev. David Kidd-Byrne, whose extraordinary life story caused him to be spoken of as the "ten million dollar preacher." This stone, which cost about $300, was put up Mr. Kidd-Byrne as a token of his own esteeem for the late Joseph Scriven, because of the latter's great kindness to him during his boyhood days, which were spent in extreme poverty and hardship.

Even last fall this smaller stone was marked by botles having been thrown against it, chipping the inscrition badly, the broken glass lying about showing how the injury was accomplished.

It seems unfortunate that some means could not be devised of keeping the cemetery where the monument stands, which was erected by popular subscription, in better condition. The fence, which was partly broken down by the people crowding upon it during the unveiling, has never yet been repaired, and the entire burial plot is in a sadly neglected condition.

When the monument, and the cement walk leading to the cemetery, were paid for, and the necessary expenses discharged, the local committee closed the matter for lack of funds.

The death occurred on Monday morning of Miss Harriet Dean, after a lingering illness. Deceased was a life-long resident of Millbrook and was held in the highest esteem by a large circle of warm personal friends.

Much sympathy will be felt for her sister, Miss Sara Dean, who is now left entirely alone, her second sister, Miss Dorothy, having died about one year ago. Her only brother, Mr. Armstrong Dean, and his family, have been residents of Toronto for some years.

The funeral will be held at 2.30 p. m. on Tuesday afternoon from the family residence, King street.

Mr. R. N. Clarke, of Weyburn, Sask., was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Eakins over Sunday.

Mr. Clarke visited the Methodist Sunday school in the afternoon and addressed the school, of which he was the superintendent for twenty-six years before his removal to the west. A warm welcome always awaits Mr. Clarke when business or pleasure brings him east, a host of former friends being delighted to have the opportunity of exchanging greetings with him. He left on Monday morning for Norwood, paying a brief visit to his friend there, Dr. Ford, and then leaving again for his home in the west on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker of Sydney, Man., are guests at the home of Mr. T. Lang and other friends in the village and vicinity. Mrs. Walker lived in Millbrook for some years before her removal to the west, her maiden name being Miss Julia Wright.

Mrs. James Dawson and her son, Mr. Bruce, went up to Toronto on Monday as the latter intends continuing his studies in the city this winter. Mr. H. Brenton, Mrs. Dawson's brother, accompanied them part way, intending to visit friends at some intermediate points.

Mr. Harry Lord was the guest of his son-in Peterborough on Saturday.

Mr. Robert Morton left last week on a trip to the west.

Some of those who motored to Port Hope on Saturday to attend the ball game between Oshawa and Belleville were: Messrs. R. H. and Ross Edmunds, Ed. Ball, G. N. Sayles, Cecil Larmer, Levi Russell, Thomas Bradley, Arthur McCorry, Harry Ball, Robt. Doak, N. Ingram, H. Janes, and Mrs. Janes, Mrs. Ball and Miss Thelma.

Mrs. N. D. Nugent is visiting friends in Omemee this week.

Mrs. A. A. Birchard and her little daughter, Miss May, returned on Sunday from a two weeks' visit with friends in Oakwood. Mr. Bichard motoring over on Saturday to bring them home.

Mr. C. Garside is moving this week into his new home on King street, recently purchased from Mr. W. G. Pendrie.

The Continuation school has re-opened with over fifty pupils in attendance. This is surely an excellent showing so early in the term, and is a fine tribute to the good work that has been accomplished in previous years.

A new High school is urgently needed her as all the rooms are overcrowded, and the present building could be fully used by the Public school alone.

SILVER CUP FOR BASEBALL TEAM

INTERESTING EVENT TOOK PLACE AT KEENE LAST EVENING.

KEENE, Sept. 14.— The concert given last evening under the auspices of the Keene baseball club was a splendid success in every way. The object of the concert was the public presentation of the silver cup given by Mr. Eddie Wright, of Peterborough, which the baseball team were successful in winning this year. The committee in charge of the programe are to be complimented on the success of the event.

The programme consisted of Peterborough talent as well as local, which comprises the following numbers:

Piano duet—Mrs. H. Macfarlane, Miss Margaret Bryce.

Chairman's address— Dr. W. T. Harrisson.

Recitation—Miss Morrisson.

Mouth organ and auto harp selection—Miss Martha James, Mrs. W. R. Wedlock, Mr. A. E. Fletcher.

Solo—Mr. L. Walters.

Violin solo—A. E. Fletcher.

Solo—Mr. Lees.

Solo—Miss Bryce.

Recitation—Mrs. W. R. Wedlock.

Solo—Mrs. Harrisson.

Songs—Baseball boys.

Presentation of the cup—Mr. E. Wright.

Solo—Mr. Walters.

Solo—Jean Eggerton.

Recitation—Miss Morrisson.

Solo—Mr. Lees.

Solo—Clarence Carev.

The accompanying address was read to the boys by Mr. Wright, to which Mr. Pollard responded as manager of the team, on behalf of the baseball club:

As the donor of the trophy for the East Peterborough League it is my privilege to-night to present the cup to the Keene team, which has won the championship title in the season just closed, and it affords me great pleasure to do so as the players of the Keene team have shown themselves gentlemen both on and off the field, and that their victory has been accomplished in a sportsmanlike manner. My object in presenting the trophy to the East Peterborough League was to encourage amateur sport, and I felt that such an organization offered great opportunities for healthful recreation in the townships and villages, such as has been confined to the cities. I heartily congratulate the players and officers of the Keene club on their splendid record this season my best wishes are with the League.

effect and so Miss Rappe was taken to another room and put to bed.

Arbuckle kept his eyes fixed on the witness throughout her testimony.

Mrs. Delmont finished her testimony at noon. Arbuckle took more than usual interest when, toward the close of the session, Coroner Dr. T. W. Leland asked the witness:

"How do you happen to remember what happened if you had so many drinks of whiskey?"

"My memory is always good," she answered.

When the inquest was resumed this afternoon, Ira G. Fort Louis, a salesman, took the stand. He testified that he was present at the party but left before Arbuckle is supposed to have gone into a bed room with Miss Rappe.

Mr. Seminacher testified that he attended the party after trying in vain to induce Miss Rappe to return to Los Angeles. He was not present, he said, during the alleged attack, but came back later and saw Miss Rappe on the bed, apparently very ill.

Seminacher also testified that he visited Miss Rappe the day following the party and she said to him:

"Roscoe hurt me."

He said he did not hear the screaming testified to by Mrs. Delmont and was surprised when he heard the full details of the party from Mrs. Delmont the next day.

Prohibition officers announced that they intended to question Arbuckle and the hotel management regarding the carrying of liquor into Arbuckle's rooms.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, dgestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

YOUNG GIRLS NEED CARE

Mothers! Watch Your Daughters' Health

Health Is Happiness

From the time a girl reaches the age of twelve until womanhood is established she needs all the care the thoughtful mother can give.

The condition that the girl is then passing through is so critical and may have such far-reaching effects upon her future happiness and health that it is almost criminal for a mother or guardian to withhold counsel or advice.

Many a woman has suffered years of prolonged pain and misery through having been the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance on the part of those who should have guided her through the dangers and difficulties that beset this period.

Mothers should teach their girls what danger comes from standing around with cold or wet feet, from lifting heavy articles, and from overworking. Do not let her overstudy. If she complains of headache, pains in the back and lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, make life easier for her. She needs thoughtful care for a few years.

In all such cases Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be given as it is especially adapted for such conditions. It contains nothing that can injure and can be taken in perfect safety.

Read how Mrs. Eicher helped her daughter. She says:

"At the age of sixteen my daughter was having trouble every month. She had pains across her back and in her sides. Every month her back would pain her so she could not do her work and would have to lie down. My married daughter recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I read the books which were left at my door. She took it faithfully and is now regular and has no pain. We recommend the Vegetable Compound and give you permission to publish this letter in your little books and in the newspapers."—Mrs. Katie Eicher, 4034 N. Fairhill St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Mrs. Williams will profit by her own experience. She says:

"When I was thirteen years old I had sick spells each month and as I was very backward I would bear the pain and my mother knew nothing about it I read in the daily paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took my own spending-money and bought a bottle. It helped me so much that I took it regularly after that until I had taken two bottles and I did not have any more pain or backache and have been a healthy, strong woman. I am now 39 years old and have a little girl of my own, and when she gets old enough I shall give her none other than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. C. E. Williams, 2437 W. Toronto St., Philadelphia, Pa.

For almost fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been relieving women, young and old, of ailments peculiar to their sex. Ask your neighbor about it, for in every neighborhood there are women who know of its merits.

Thousands of letters similar to the above are in the files of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., and for years such letters have been published. Surely it is worth your while to make a fair trial of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

Million a Year Made Arbuckle Spenders' King

Fatty Arbuckle, prize spender in that fraternity of magnificent spenders, the movie business, boasting of his $50,000 stock of liquor, noted as the owner of the most costly fleet of automobiles among the film stars on the Pacific Coast, began his dramatic career in third-rate stock companies and burlesque shows.

He was born in Galveston, Tex., 34 years ago, and went to school for a while in St. Louis. But at 15 he took to the stage. The wildfire development of the movies found him working in a musical comedy. He acted in a burlesque house in Portland and—yes, he was a dancer at one time, in Oakland, Calif. But the movies were making a big thing of slapstick. Fatty Arbuckle had certain qualities. He joined on.

Once in Chaplin Company.

In the first experimental days of the game Arbuckle was one of a company which included Charlie Chaplin, Roscoe Conklin, Ben Turpin and Ford Sterling.

The remarkable advance of the movie game bore the corpulent Roscoe Arbuckle like a bubble on to the estate of a millionaire. In February, 1919, he signed a contract with Adolph Zukor, of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, to grin and tumble and exploit his barrel-shaped self in the Zukor studios at a salary of $1,000,000 a year. This was the highest price ever named in a contract by Zukor, although Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks had been associated with him previously.

But this contract was superseded by another in March of 1920, again with Zukor, by which Arbuckle became one of the Paramount-Artcraft stars. He was to make 12 pictures, in the course of two years, and his salary, which was not explicitly named, was known to be more than a million.

A $16,500 Motor Car.

In spite of his lowly origin, Fatty Arbuckle easily adapted himself to habits of luxury. The world smiled rather tolerantly at the stories of his glittering extravagance. A story came out of the West naming him as the owner of four automobiles valued at $42,000. One of these he had had made to order at a cost of $16,500.

Other cars in Fatty Arbuckle's garage were worth $10,000, $8,000 and $7,500. Douglas Fairbanks had a larger fleet of cars—seven in all—but his were plain models, made principally to go. The total value of all seven was $37,000.

Round about this time came word that Fatty had bought a house. It was the residence of a social leader in Los Angeles, and it set Fatty back just $30,000—not very much, perhaps, for the home of a millionaire. But Fatty averred that he did not buy the place entirely for a home. He bought it because in the basement was a cellar of liquors worth $50,000, which the Government would not permit him to move. He bought the house to keep his liquor in.

Fatty's Trail in Paris.

In 1920 Fatty went to Paris. He at once gave $7,000 to the French national loan. Dinners, with the popping of champagne corks for music, were mentioned in dispatches, and then from Fatty's pockets came further gifts. Even the fat man himself, former just how much he gave away in his trip to Paris.

All this the world took as the innocent playmaking of a genial and fun-loving actor whom it delighted to watch in his awkward burlesquing.

Two months ago a slight cloud was cast over the spendthrift goodfellowship of Fatty when he was mentioned in connection with an alleged bacchanalian party at the Mishawum Manor, near Boston, March 6, 1917, as a consequence of which $100,000 was said to have been paid by motion picture people present as the "price of silence." In consequence of this proceedings have been begun for the removal of Nathan A. Tufts, district attorney of Middlesex County, though none of the money has been traced to his possession.

The affair at the Mishawum Manor, a roadhouse, was said to have been staged in honor of Arbuckle and conducted by a woman known as "Brownie Kennedy." Among the guests, it was said, were several motion picture producers and 15 or 16 girls. The company, it was charged, remained from midnight until 4 a.m.

In a deposition, Hiram Abrams, one of the motion picture men, mentioned Jesse Lasky, Adolph Zukor, Walter F. Green and "Abe" Berman as others with whom had been discussed the matter of satisfying persons who had complained as a result of the party.

Australian soldiers claim to receive the highest pay and the best equipment, as well as medical care equal to any in the world.

From the first day of the World War to the first day of demobilization, Germany lost 1,808,545 men, including 52,006 officers.

TEN POUNDS OF IRON WIRED TO BODY IN RIVER.

Victim of Tragedy Found in St. Lawrence, Montreal.

MONTREAL, Sept. 14.—With a ten-pound bar of iron tightly bound to the right leg with wire, the body of an unknown man was found in the river at the foot of Bruneau Street, Longue Pointe.

It was taken to the morgue, where an autopsy will be performed and an inquest held. The discovery was made by Armand Demelle, of 15 Bruneau Street, Longue Pointe, who was walking beside the water's edge at the foot of the street. He saw a dark object floating just beneath the surface, and, making out the outlines of a human form, notified the Longue Pointe police. The morgue was notified and Special Investigator Pusie, of the Coroner's Court, went with a wagon to bring the body to the city. There are no external marks of violence on the body. The man was elderly, and had a grey moustache. He was dressed in a green coat and black pants, and wore striped shirt, black tie, and brown shoes. The body had apparently been in the water eight or nine days, and floated down from higher up the river.

To make a camisole of the discarded blouse, cut out the neck and sleeves, bind with ribbon and trim with an old piece of lace.

CHINESE GRATITUDE.

MONTREAL, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Rev. A. E. Armstrong, of Toronto, secretary of the Presbyterian Foreign Missions Band, reports that Chinese gratitude to Canada for assistance rendered during the famine is returned by greater receptivity for the Gospel in foreign mission fields.

Fish and Birds and Big Game

The duck hunt season has commenced and will continue until Dec. 15, in Ontario.

Grouse, prairie fowl, partridge, pheasants, wood cock, plover, geese, brant, rails, yellow legs and other feather folk keep the duck company and tempt the man with a gun.

Patience and aptitude in choosing a strategic position are the duck hunter's best assets, outside of ability to shoot straight. The chap, who rambles about all day long does not fare one-quarter so well as the cool, experienced hunter who looks over the situation, picks his spot and then stays pat. The hot-footed man who persists in thinking that the place just over beyond is better than where he is located, always moves just in time to miss a flight right over the nook he has left. So scan the landscape, decide on a likely corner and then establish yourself. Watch the birds and learn from steady study their line of flight and then move if you have proved that you are away from their regular channel.

September in the Ontario wilds is a time of genuine delight. The days have a pleasant warmth, the nights are invigoratingly cool; one wakens refreshed and ready to attack the camp breakfast. The pupularity of the Ontario hunting grounds north of Minnesota and Lake Superior, is attested by the annually increasing number of sportsmen who make it their goal.

Nipigon in western Ontario is not only a fish and bird country, it is also a land of big game. Some of the finest moose heads are brought down hereabouts while deer are every big game hunter's portion.

A large new camp, opened this season at Nipigon, fills a long felt need for more abundant accommodation at that point, and Bass Lake, a few miles distant by easy portage, offers many fine camping sites and exceptional fishing.

BANTA'S KIDNEY AND RHEUMATIC PILLS

Will Do What Is Claimed For Them

People who are suffering from Kidney or Rheumatic Ailments should not neglect these troubles as they are often the symptoms of serious disease.

You may have only a Backache or Dull Pains when bending or lifting, puffing under the eyes, swelling of the feet or ankles. These are sure symptoms of Kidney Troubles, and as the Kidneys are the Blood Filters they may become too weak to carry off the poisonous gases which form in the system.

Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills will correct this trouble, relieve the Bladder and Kidneys just as some good laxative like Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Tablets will relieve the Bowels.

Dozens of well-known people of this city are willing to give Testimonials for the benefits they derived from Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills. For instance, Mr. Arthur Pinch of this City says that they have done him more good than all the other medicines that he has taken.

Mr. Thomas Oldham says they have no equal, but we would prefer you would be the judge yourself. Go to any Druggist of this City, get a Box and try them, and if they fail to help you, return the box to him and he will Refund Your Money.

MONAGHAN RESIDENTS ON LANSDOWNE STREET ASK COUNCIL FOR WATER MAIN

UTILITIES COMMISSION PROMISE CONSIDERATION BUT QUESTION OF FIXED POLICY MUST BE FIRST DETERMINED BY THE COUNCIL, MR. ROBERT HICKS INFORMS DBLEGATION.

A petition for a water main on Lansdowne Street, east of Lock Street, was presented to the Utilities Commission last night by a deputation of Monaghan residents on that street. They were accompanied by Reeve McIntosh, who stated that every householder on the street had signed the petition, except one on each side.

"The people on that street want the water service," said Mr. McIntosh, 'and they would like to get as good terms as those on Brown St, got. They seem to be well pleased with the arrangement. At least, I have heard no complaints."

The deputation was composed of Mr. A. Rose, Mr. Norman Shaughnessy, and Mr. J. B. McIntosh, son of the Reeve.

Mr. R. Hicks presided, and Mr. E. F. Mason was present, together with Mr. Ross Dobbin, superintendent of the Waterworks Department, Mr. E. H. D. Hall, solicitor for the Commission, and Ald. Morrison, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee of the City Council.

Citizens Affected.

"We may not be able to carry out the Brown Street arrangement," said Mr. Hicks, who remarked that Lansdowne Street is one of the boundaries between the city and the township, affecting ratepayers of both municiyalities. A main might be laid for the joint use of residents on both sides, but before any promises to that effect could be made, the Commission would have to consult with the City Council.

"This request involves a matter of policy which will have to be taken up with the Council," said Mr. Hicks. "For instance, any fire protection that is supplied would also give the township people protection."

An Influence to Join.

Mr. Rose referred to the fact that the petition was virtually unanimously signed. If water and sewer conveniences were supplied, more houses would be built on that street. Mr. Rose said he would guarantee to erect two himself on the city's side. In regard to a section of the township becoming incorporated with the city, he believed that if the township residents got "a taste of the benefits of conveniences, they would be eager to join the city."

Question for Council.

"We can't enter into that question at all." Mr. Hicks replied. "Personally, and I am giving only my own opinion, I think the boundaries are not properly laid out. They should take in a strip at least 150 feet across the present boundary road in order that the residents on the far side could enjoy the advantages of the improvements."

Mr. J. B. McIntosh asked whether there was any likelihood of a sewer being laid on Lansdowne Street, but Mr. Hicks told him that this was a mater outside the jurisdiction of the Utilities Commission. It could be dealt with only by the Council.

During the discussion, Mr. E. H. D. Hall mentioned the new legislation providing for the establishment of a suburban development area, the details of which are given in another column.

Expect Conference Soon.

Mr. Hicks promised the delegation that their request would be fully considered as soon as possible. He expected the Council to meet the Commission in a conference upon such questions as those presented by the Lansdowne Street petitioners. A policy applying to the extension of public utilities into the township might be laid down then, after which the Commission and Lansdowne Street representatives could meet again.

THE ROY STUDIO A QUARTER CENTURY IN BUSINESS HERE

ANNIVERSARY OF FOUNDATION IN 1896 TO-DAY—RECENT CHANGES MARK A SPIRIT OF PROGRESS

This is the 25th anniversary year of the foundation of the Roy Studio. Established in 1896, the present year of 1921, completes a quarter century in business. Much of the success of the establishment has no doubt been due to the splendid beginnings made by Mr. Fred Roy's father, the late R. M. Roy, whose artistic ability and business integrity laid the corner stone for the thriving business now carried on at 140 Hunter street.

Notwithstanding the present general pessimistic tone of business conditions, and a public opinion which seems to tend to a confining of all activity to only the most necessary channels, Mr. F. L. Roy has gone ahead with the changes in the Roy Studio building, which have been contemplated for some time, and are now nearing completion. One more factor in the improvement and general beautifying of the business section of our city has been added by the very artistic and ornamental show windows now on view for public inspection. On one side is a large display case, and on the other a full length show window facing on Hunter street, which for beauty and utility cannot be surpassed anywhere in the Dominion.

Gravinia marble from the Vermont Marble Works, of this city, forms the base, with prism lights. The flooring of the window is of quarter cut oak, and against curtains of rich old rose velvet hang examples of the artcraft of the studio. The work, mounting and finish of these photographs represent the very latest ideas and effects in the photographic world as exemplified in the International convention of the Photographers' Asosciation of America, held recently in Buffalo, of which Mr. Roy is an enthusiastic member. Over a tiled floor, where "The Roy Studio" is emblazoned in mosaic inlay lettering, entering through leaded glass doors, one's eye is caught by a unique and striking square-cut brass lighting fixture, fashioned from an antique ship's lantern. Lighted from within, its four sides will contain from time to time transparent examples of photographic art. Directly ahead are the stairs leading to the studio proper, while turning to the left and descending a few short steps, one reaches an innovation in Peterborough business formation, a downstairs room which is being fitted up for future use as a department for everything in connection with photographic finishing for amateurs and framing. This will doubtless be a material convenience to the community, and will be, when completed, a bright, cosy little room, with cream-tinted walls and soft lighting effects.

A pleasing feature of the entire undertaking is the fact that all work has been carried out in a most satisfactory manner by local artisans. Messrs. Ephgrave and Barrett are the contractors, Mr. Wm. Barry the architect, while Messrs. Miller, Powell and Watson have charge of the electric lighting work.

The whole undertaking, which has provided work for many of the city's workers during the course of completion, might be termed a lesson in the spirit of cheerful optimism which might well be followed by others of Peterborough's citizens who are contemplating improvements or building of one sort or another, but will not venture unless times are at the top notch of prosperity.

IMPRESSIONS FROM VISITING GRAVE OF SCRIVEN, AUTHOR OF FAMOUS HYMN

OTTAWA LADY ENTRANCED BY BEAUTIES OF RICE LAKE AND SURROUNDING COUNTRY.

Following a recent visit to the graveside of Joseph Scriven, who wrote the well-known hymn, "What a Friend We have in Jesus," an Ottawa lady, whom we'll refer to as C. T. G., writes of her impressions as follows:

Only to those who are familiar with the entrancing beauty of the Rice Lake district can the description of a trip across its waters, choppy, yet often placid, be fully appreciated. Words seem inadequate to expres the joy of such an adventure, and the fact that we were to cross the water often crossed by Joseph Scriven to tread the ground he trod, to talk with people he knew and loved, in addition to our love for the wonderfully consoling and beautiful hymn that has brought comfort to many troubled hearts added to the excitement of our anticipated sail.

We left the dear old "Tower Farm", which is nestled snugly in the valley of "The Rock", as described in Mrs. Traill's book "Lost in the Back Woods" (the remains of the tower being the 'Wolf' Tower referrd to in the same book, and from which the farm got its name), at 9.30 in the morning of August 13 —a party of nine in two row boats The lake was very inviting, clear and smooth as crystal, and made a mirror for the opposite shore, which was brought very near to us by reflection, and added to the beauty of it. We made a straight line for the shore directly opposite the farm, known as South Monaghan Township, in Peterboro County, and were about an hour in crossing. The lake became very choppy and rough as we drew near the centre, which is one of its characteristics; squalls rising in very short time, when the water has seemed most calm, but it became quieter as we drew near the other side, our only mishap being a broken oar-lock. Rice Lake is about four miles across at this point, and all the way over we enjoyed the beauty of the surrounding country, rich in hills, islands, farms and forest.

Grave is on a Farm.

We landed at the pier just at the foot of the delightful country road leading to the little private cemetery of the Pengelly family, where lie the remains of Joseph Scriven, author of the well-known hymn, "What a Friend we Have in Jesus." The cemetery is on the farm of the above-named family, which slopes down to Rice Lake, and is about 50 rods from the water's edge. It is just at the side of this country road, and for ages to come will be the shrine of the pilgrims who love the hymn that has become so widely known and is sung in almost every Protestant church. The entrance is through a small iron gateway at the road, and a granolithic walk extends into the cemetery. It is about 50 feet square, and three pretty shade trees with plenty of green grass, and bushes bordering the little wire fence which encloses it, make the spot most attractive and noticeable, in the centre-side of a large field that was being plowed by a Pengely workman as we stood about the imposing grey granite monument, which is in three sections, and about 14 feet high, marking the hymn writer's last resting place.

We are reminded, as we stood there respectfully and solemnly, of those beautiful words of Longfellow's contained in his poem "God's Acre," and the place seemed sacred; we could feel that it was, indeed, breathing "a benison o'er the sleeping dust" of those who rested there. Some 10 or 12 members of the Pengelly family lie in this little "God Acre."

Sang All the Stanzas.

As we stood about the monument on which were written the three stanzas of the hymn in question, we sang them all, and it seemed truly a benediction to be there. The author lies beside the young woman to whom he was engaged to be married, a Miss Eliza Catherine Roache, who died of tuberculosis in 1860, aged 23 years. It was a last request that he be buried beside her. A marble slab marks her grave. She was a relative of the Pengellys.

Joseph M. Scriven was born in Sapatrick, County Down, Ireland, in 1819. He graduated with the degree of B.A. from Trinity College, Dublin, in 1840, and came to Canada in 1844, spending his life in the vicinity of Rice Lake. He was drowned in the sluiceway of Sackville's mill not far from Bewdley, which is at the end of the lake in 1886. The ruins of this old mill still remain. He had been ill with fever, and left his bed unnoticed and went to the water. Next morning he was found in an attitude of prayer, drowned. He was tutor and friend in the family of Capt. Pengelly for a number of years, but his time was largely taken up in preaching and ministering to the poor and needy in the vicinity above mentioned, and many acts of charity can be recalled by those who knew him, such as selling his watch to buy another cow for a poor woman who had lost hers, or giving his coat to a man who did not have one. These incidents were narrated to the writer by Mrs. Allen of Cobourg, who knew the author well.

Published in Dublin.

"What a Friend we have in Jesus," was first published in Dublin, and in many hymn books bears the name of Horatiu Bonar, but the late Alexander Rogers of Centerville, proved the authorship by asking Mr. Scriven with whom he was intimately acquainted, if he was the author. He received the following answer: "What there is of it, the Lord and I wrote." Mr. Rogers also communicated with Dr. Bonar, and received from him a denial that he was the author.

The monument was unveiled a year ago by Premier Drury in the presence of a great many people, many of whom were old friends of Mr. Scriven.

The little Pengelly graveyard is quiet and secluded, but as time goes on it will be better known, and will be visited by hundreds of pilgrims who know and have sung the hymn, and who desire to see the little cemetery "By the Side of the road" that contains the dust of the esteemed and distinguished author.

MODERN MINISTERS TRAINED SALESMEN.

Instead of Christian Apostles One Reason For Lukewarmness in Religion.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—(Associated Press).—Modern ministers are trained as mere "salesmen" instead of Christian apostles and that is one reason why the people generally have a luke-warm attitude toward religion, declared the Rev. Dr. J. S. Ladd Thomas of Chicago, in ad address here today before the Ecumenical Methodist Conference. The speaker said he saw "a real peril" in the effort of denominational leaders to force the ministry into a narrow and mechanical scheme whose direct aim is to produce the largest immediate revenue.

"Poorly attended churches all over the land bear witness to the people's indifference toward institutional religion," said Dr. Thomas. "Full churches are the exception rather than the rule. It is the empty church which stares us in the face and, 'more eloquently than words,' speaks of the attitude of that large group of people who have rejected institutional religion as something unnecessary in their lives.

Pleasure Mad.

"They are pleasure mad; they have a mania for materialistic indulgence, while their belief in the modern church as the representative of God and the ambassador of Christ does not express itself. The real problem," the speaker indicated, "is how to vitalize the church so that she may authoritatively and convincingly persuade men of their divine inheritance and the mission of sacrificial service." Asserting that "the average artisan lacks confidence in the church as the champion of the 'square deal.'" he continued:

"This indifference has arisen from a misconception of God—a wrong teaching of God—a wrong teaching of the church and a wrong teaching of the Christian life. In many of the critical hours of history the church has failed to impress the world with an authoritative message—which would bring light into the dark hours on the subject of war, the relations of capital and labor and other vital questions which have been baffling the minds of men."

"Prophets and priests," Dr. Thomas said, 'must challenge the people with a gospel that will restore confidence in the church, trust in Christ and service to the world. The church must not forget her social message, but she must also remember that Christianity is a religion of the individual."

PUBLIC IS URGED TO HEED NATURE'S WARNING

Thousands of People Suffer Permanent Loss of Health Because of Neglect—Nature Has Set the Danger Signals for Us and We Cannot Afford to Pass Unnoticed the Warning That She Gives Us

Good digestion means good health; bad digestion means bad health.

A sound stomach is worth a hundred times its weight in gold. Probably eighty per cent. of all diseases originate in the digestive organs. Dyspepsia, or what is more commonly known as indigestion, is not only one of the most prevalent, but it is one of the most difficult to treat of all present-day diseases, and has for years baffled the skill of leading specialists everywhere.

Stomach trouble is almost always followed by a complication of diseases. One of the first being an overworked liver, with all the symptoms of biliousness, followed in turn with headaches, coated tongue, nausea, dizzy spells, pain in the back, palpitation of the heart and other distressing symptoms. Sooner or later the kidneys will become involved and that is just why these danger signals should be heeded in time. A wise man puts out the fire before there is too much destruction; the same theory should apply to stomach trouble.

Gas in the stomach means fermentation instead of digestion; decay, instead of nutrition for fermentation produces poisons, which are absorbed by the blood, and which frequently bring on the condition known as auto-intoxication or self-poisoning. This is also why we develop acidosis, which brings on so many complications such as rheumatism, hardening of the arteries, high blood pressure and other conditions, which may mean permanent loss of health. Acidosis is one of the main forerunners of Bright's disease and diabetes, hence it is evident that if we have stomach trouble, however slight, we are foolish indeed if we do not take prompt steps to correct it.

If we are not fit as a fiddle in the morning; if we don't feel better than when we went to bed; if our breath is offensive; and we have that bad taste in the mouth; nature has set the danger signals for us and we cannot afford to neglect the warning that she gives us. That is just why the demand for Tanlac, the great Stomachic, Systemic and Reconstructive tonic, has broken all world's records. The American people have learned that it probably provides the surest, safest, and quickest remedy for all such troubles, and millions upon millions have taken it with the most astonishing and gratifying results.

Tens of thousands of men and women of all ages and in all walks of life afflicted with stomach, liver and kidney disorders, some of them of long standing, as well as thousands of weak, thin, nervous men and women apparently on the verge of collapse have testified publicly that they have been fully restored to their normal health, strength and weight by its use. Still others who seemed fairly well, yet who suffered with indigestion, headaches, shortness of breath, dizzy spells, sour, gassy stomachs, coated tongues, foulness of breath, constipation, bad complexion, loss of appetite, sleeplessness at night and terribly dejected, depressed feelings state that they have been entirely relieved of these distressing symptoms and restored to health and happiness by Tanlac.

NOTE: Tanlac Vegetable Pills are an essential and vitally important part of the Tanlac Treatment wherever constipation is present.

You cannot hope to get satisfactory results from the Tanlac Treatment without first establishing a free and regular movement of the bowels. It stands to reason that no treatment can do the greatest amount of good when you are suffering from constipation or biliousness, or when your system is clogged up with waste products and poisons.

Tanlac and Tanlac Vegetable Pills are sold in Peterborough by the Warne Drug Co., Ltd., and by leading druggists everywhere.

CROP REPORT

Following is a summary of reports made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

Corn is practically a perfect crop. Essex says that the last two weeks have been ideal for ripening the ear, and that there will be a bumper yield. Kent endorses this. Representing the more eastern counties where corn is raised chiefly for the silo, Frontenac states that some of the best fields of corn that have been seen for a number of years are now in evidence. A considerable number of farmers have already completed their silo filling, owing to the earliness of the season. Very little silo corn is likely to be touched by frost this year.

Essex says: "Tobacco is about half off and is of the best quality."

Pastures were again getting rather dried in appearance, but during the week generous showers have revived the grass.

Second-cut alfalfa hay is selling in Haldimand County at $20 a ton f.o.b. track.

Apple Crop.

Brant reports some orchards of Spies with fairly clean fruit, although a number of apple yields are much lessened in value by scab even where sprayed. The Representative adds that apples on unsprayed trees are practically no good.

Middlesex notices that more varieties of grapes than usual are being shown at local fairs on account of early ripening.

Brant remarks that drovers find it easy to pick up cattle at reasonable prices, and that many farmers a doubtful as to the number of animals they will feed this winter, owing to the uncertainty of prices.

Lanark reports the sale of a large number of inferior cattle, chiefly calves and poor breeding stock.

Brant states that a group of farmers in the vicinity of Brantford have organized a co-operative milk company for the purpose of selling to the distributors. The capital at present applied for is $50,000.

Hogs are selling at from $9.25 to $10 a ton f.o.b.

Middlesex says that there is a fair market for lambs, but that it is impossible to sell mutton.

Elgin reports some swarming of bees owing to the warm weather. Honey is selling locally at 20 cents a pound.

One representative points out that fall work is so well advanced generally that most farmers will have time to visit the fall fairs.

Brant, Peel, Middlesex and Victoria report an increase in the acreage of fall wheat sown. In the latter county some of the crop is already three inches high, but a considerable acreage yet remains to be sown all over the Province.

A number of farmers in Middlesex are picking up men from the city at around $25 a month and board for the fall and winter.

THREE LITTLE KNOWN FACTORS FOR PRESENT UNREST IN INDIA

ACTIVITIES OF NON-RESIDENT NATIVE MESSIAH—OPERATION OF NEW GOVERNMENT FOR INDIA ACT.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—(Associated Press).—Three factors in connection with the present disturbed conditions in India, factors about which little is known abroad, make it difficult to set forth the causes which have led to the declaration of martial law by the British in six districts—Calicut, Walavanad, Ponnanni, Ernad, Wynaad and Kurambranad—all within 500 miles of Madras.

Three factors are, first, the Gandhi or 'non-co-operation" movement, led by a supposedly non-resistant native messiah; the operation of the new Government for India Act which went into effect in January, 1921, and the administration of the new Viceroy, the Earl of Reading. Each of these elements have some bearing, directly or indirectly, upon the most recent trouble, which has resulted in the killing of Europeans and Hindus by fanatical tribesmen.

Dissatisfied Area.

The disaffected area, Malabar, which figures in the most recent dispatches from India, is a narrow strip of land on the west coast along the Arabian Sea, south of Bombay. In this region are upwards of 1,000,000 Mohammedans of Arab descent known as Moplahs, who for years have resisted British authority. In this same territory are a number of Europeans and many Dravidians, including Hindus, against whom the ferocity of the Moplahs is said to be directed.

The trouble originated, according to the reports of a Malabar magistrate to the India office, when the British authorities began to confiscate war knives possessed by the natives of Tirurangadi. Arming of the Moplahs was said to be in violation of the Malabar Offensive Weapons Act of 1851. Sikhs and other native Indian police, as well as agitators sympathizing with the Gandhi anti-British boycott, have been charged with supplying the Moplahs with weapons and inciting them to rebellion.

Plea Against Violence.

Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi, the Nationalist leader, at a congress held late in 1920 in Nagpur, made a plea against violence, but called for the destruction of British rule in India and was quoted as saying that the success of the non-co-operation movement—the refusal of Indians to pay taxes, send their children to school or buy British products—might involve "wading through oceans of blood."

Gandhi was invited by the Kerala Provisional Congress Committee on August 28 to visit Malabar and try to pacify the Moplahs, who at that time were killing Europeans and Hindus, destroying property and proclaiming "home rule" in all disturbed areas.

On August 1, Gandhi with many of his adherents made a public bonfire of British goods in the streets of Bombay. He was not molested, but a few weeks later it was reported that the Government of India, with the concurrence of Edward S. Montagu, Secretary of State for India, had decided to take action "against the prominent personages" held responsible for the greater part of the recent troubles in India.

While the Malabar disturbances are a new development of the troubles of India, reports of rioting came from other parts of the country. One such outbreak, attributed by the India office in London to the Gandhi propaganda, occurred in the mill area of Madras on August 20. The police fired on the mob and six persons were killed and 21 wounded. Madras is several hundred miles east of Malabar. Sir Michael O'Dwyer, former Governor of the Punjab, in a statement last January said that "sedition in India has advanced too far" and declared that Gandhi and others heading "the revolutionary conspiracy should be dealt with rigorously and impartially under the law before it is too late."

A Happy Augury.

The Earl of Reading, formerly Lord Chief Justice of England, went to India last April as Viceroy in succession to Lord Chelmsford. Lord Reading's arrival in Bombay was acclaimed as a happy augury for the country, and it was said that with his aid, and the establishment of the new Indian legislature, peace and prosperity were assured. One of Lord Reading's first acts upon reaching India was to confer with Gandhi. This conference took place at Simla on May 16. The Bombay bonfire of British-made goods several weeks later gave the only indication of how Lord Reading's proposals had been received by the Nationalist leader and his followers. The last public statement made by the new Viceroy was published here on June 16 and related to the forthcoming visit of the Prince of Wales to India. Plans had been made for the Prince to include India in his tour of America in 1920, but the Duke of Connaught, his grand-uncle, was sent there in his stead ostensibly to attend the inauguration of the Chamber of Princes, but to make an appeal for unity throughout the Indian Empire.

New Legislature.

The new Indian legislature, which was expected to mark a better epoch in Indian administration, opened in January and continued until the middle of April. Under the Government for India Act, devised by Secretary Montagu, a Council of State was provided and subordinate councils established in many parts of the country, by means of which the Hindus and Moslems were represented in the Government. Efforts to repeal obnoxious laws were to be made.

Of the new Government's reform bills, a committee of the All-India Congress, in which Gandhi and his followers took a prominent part, said they were "inadequate, unsatisfactory and disappointing." The congress agreed to co-operate in carrying out the new policy, but said that whenever a conflict arose between the Government and the people, no compromise would be made by Gandhi and his adherents.

The Times, commenting on the work of the new Indian legislature, said that the Duke of Connaught's visit, his "appeal for unity, the Indian Government's frank confession of error in dealing with disturbances and particularly Lord Rawlinson's declaration of military policy" had cleared away much misunderstanding and antagonism. Continuing, it said: "But the battle between constitutionalism and revolution has to be fought this year. All over the country non-co-operation is developing into undisguised tyranny, too often accompanied by disorder. Mr. Gandhi deplores this for the moment. It is inevitable that as soon as the dismal failure of his effort to bring all Governments to a standstill is realized by the public he will be driven to take further measures."

ATTACKED CONVOY.

MELILLA, Morocco, Sept. 14.—(Canadain Press.)—Moroccan tribesmen attacked Spanish convoy which was on its way to Sidi Hamet El Hac and Atalayon yesterday, but they were repulsed after a short engagement. The Moors on Monday abandoned the system of trenches they had constructed near La Restinga.

When you see a girl picking lint off a young man's coat in public it's a safe bet that her engagement ring is quite new.

600TH ANNIVERSARY OF DANTE'S DEATH.

Celebrated By Roman Catholics Throughout World To-Day.

ROME, Sept. 14.—(Associated Press).—Catholics throughout the world today, especially in their schools, colleges and universities, are commemorating the 600th anniversary of the death of Dante Alighieri, the great Florentine poet and "father of the Italian language," in accordance with the encyclical of Pope Benedict issued last May.

The Pontiff in his address quoted many passages from Dante as confirming the Catholic doctrine and as showing how profound was his respect for the teachings of the church and its authority. In concluding, he proclaimed Dante as "the greatest singer of the Christian truth" and invited all scholars to study his works "in the same Christian spirit as they were written. The divine poet of Christendom," he said, "sang in divine accent those Christian ideals which he admired in all the vigor of their beauty."

New Addition of Works.

In anticipation of the sex-centenary of Dante's death the Government of Italy recently authorized the expenditure of 2,000,000 lire for the publication of a new edition of his works and for the restoration of the Baptistry of Florence. For a number of months Catholic scholars have been renewing their acquaintanceship with "The Divine Comedy," "Vita Nuova," "De Monarchia," "Convito," "De Vulgari Eloquentia," "Eclogues," "De Aqua et Terra" and his "Letters."

Dante, in Italy, is almost a national deity. So far is this adoration carried that, some years ago, when Sir Henry Irving gave his drama which had Dante as its hero, the Italians rose as one man to protest against the desecration of their idol. In the historic house and tower which the Count Anguillara built in the 12th century and which was frequented by Dante, lectures by famous students of the great poet's life and works have been given in recent years.

GIRLS! LEMONS BLEACH SKIN WHITE

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whitness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.

HALF A MILLION IDLE IN NEW YORK IN COMING WINTER.

Fifty-Three Charity Bodies Will Pool Their Resources.

NEW YORK, September 13. — Half a million men will be idle in New York this winter, in the opinion of reliable investigators, and the city has set machinery in motion to meet this situation.

In addition to relief measures planned by a special city committee, named by Mayor Hylan, 53 charity organisations have decided to pool their resources and establish a general clearing house in order to avoid duplication of effort and handle the problem efficiently.

The Merchants' Association of New York and the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce have joined hands with the Central Trades and Labour Council and the Building Trades Council to formulate a practical programme. These organisations believe the situation can be met partly by pushing building projects, thus giving employment to thousands.

Ex-Soldier Problem.

The problem of the ex-service man is at the heart of the entire situation, said Major William P. Deegan, of the American Legion, one of the members of the Mayor's committee. He said 75,000 former soldiers were out of work during the summer, and he fears the number will be increased to between 100,000 and 125,000 by midwinter.

"We have no funds to help them," he said, 'but we never let a man go away without help, even if we have to dig in our own pockets to help them."

Down on the crowded East Side, the Bowery lodging houses are already filled to capacity each night. "Men out of work are sleeping everywhere in the open, in every park, on every pier, in alleys, in store yards, and any place they can huddle out of the way, and rest," said Major Underwood, of the Salvation Army. "They cannot do so when it becomes cold."

SALE OF HORSE FLESH WAS TRACED.

Suspected Old Animals Killed for Sausage.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 13.—Old horses, unfit for work are being sold for food in Detroit, according to a statement by Arthur Curtis, Michigan State humane marshal and officer of the Detroit Animal Welfare Society.

Police called Mr. Curtis to Gratiot Avenue and French Road recently, where a horse had collapsed in the ditch. It was necessary to shoot the animal. Mr. Curtis learned that the horse had been purchased for $1.50 last Saturday, with the understanding that it be killed immediately. The buyer asserted he had purchased the horse for its hide. Mr. Curtis did not believe the small profit to be realized from this source would make it worth the labor.

"We had quite a traffic in meat from worn out horses in Detroit two or three years ago, but we wiped it out," said Mr. Curtis. "Now the practice seems to be cropping up again. We'll soon stamp it out. I know of one sausage manufacturer who purchased an old horse for $1.50 at a public auction, but that man has been put out of business."

Clinton H. Chilson, director of the Food and Dairy Division of the Detroit Board of Health, said that there were no new developments in the campaign to wipe out the sale of unwholesome meats. Earlier in the week Mr. Chilson seized more than 6,000 pounds of sour meat and lodged a complaint against the dealer, charging that he deliberately offered for sale meats which he knew were unwholesome.

All of the large packing houses in the city are under Government inspection and 46 veterinaries are at the stock yards to inspect animals.

CROWDS HELPED IN THIEF CHASE.

Arrested in New York After Fierce Battle.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Policeman Twillen, of Traffic Squad B, chased a pickpocket suspect several blocks through the crowds on Broadway and Seventh Avenue Tuesday night and arrested him after a fight in which, Twillen said, the prisoner tried to stab him with a knife.

The policeman was on traffic duty at Seventh Avenue and Forty-Fifth Street about 7 o'clock, when he heard a woman scream and saw a crowd assembling a short distance away. Then a young man broke through the crowd and ran north on Seventh Avenue, followed by a woman, who told the policeman the fleeing man had attempted to steal her handbag.

Twillen set out in pursuit of the man, followed by scores of men and women, who yelled "Stop thief!" The chase continued up Seventh Avenue to Forty-Seventh Street, west to Broadway and up to Forty-Eighth Street, where Twillen caught his man. Drawing a penknife, the man tried to stab Twillen, but the policeman punched his opponent and took away the knife. In the excitement the woman who had accused the man disappeared without giving her name or address. The prisoner was taken to the West Forty-Seventh Street Station and charged with attempted robbery and attempted felonious assault. The robbery charge will not stand against him unless the woman decides to press the complaint. The prisoner said he was Tomotes Palacio, 25 years old, with no home and no occupation. He said he had come from Mexico three months ago and had been sleeping in the parks.

RADIUM ARRIVES

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.— (Canadian Press).— Carefully sealed in five strong lead containers, 100 milligrams of radium, valued at $12,000, was brought from Pittsburgh to Ottawa by Special messenger yesterday and delivered to Dr. F. W. McKinnon, 171 Metcalfe stret, who will use it for the treatment of cancer and other maligant diseases. This is the largest consignment of this precious metal that has ever arrived in Ottawa.

Tarts are good filled with grape marmalade and topped with meringue.

Look how far you've gone Since your crank-case was cleaned—

IF you have gone more than 1,000 miles without having your crank-case cleaned; chances are ten to one that your operating expenses are about twice what they should be. Very likely the snug-fitting and rapidly moving parts in your motor are burning and wearing themselves out at an alarmingly rapid rate, too.

Dirty oil, filled with grit, mineral particles and road dust cannot lubricate. Your crank-case should be thoroughly cleaned and refilled with fresh lubricating oil at least every 1,000 miles—more often if your car gets hard usage.

Imperial Polarine Crank-Case Service Dealers are particularly equipped to deliver 100% cleaning service. Imperial Flushing Oil, the scientific cleaning agent employed by them, gives unsurpassed results which are not possible with kerosene (coal oil) or similar things that are altogether unsuited for crank-case cleaning.

This is economy year. Clean oil and a clean engine will save you a lot of money. To-day: Drive 'round to one of the addresses listed at the left, or to any dealer who displays the Blue Imperial Crank-case Service Sign. Prompt reliable crank-case cleaning is assured.

LEVER BROTHERS LIMITED, TORONTO

E. H. D. HALL POINTS OUT METHOD BY WHICH THE CITY'S UTILITIES MAY BE EXTENDED INTO TOWNSHIP

NEW LEGISLATION PROVIDES FOR ESTABLISHMENT OF A SUBURBAN AREA WITH ITS OWN BOARD, EMPOWERED TO ENTER INTO AGREEMENT WITH CITY FOR USE OF LIGHT, POWER, SEWER AND OTHER SERVICES.

AVAILABLE TO MONAGHAN

Extension of public utilities from the city to the adjoining townships may be made under agreement between the respective municipalities by complying with the special legislation enacted for that purpose by the Ontario Legislature at its last session, according to the advice given to the Utilities Commission last night by Mr. E. H. D. Hall, solicitor for the Commission.

This Act, which was assented to on 3rd May, 1921, is known as the Suburban Area Development Act. It authorises a township Council to set aside by by-law a suburban area for development, such as Byersville and the Claraday district in the vicinity of the Exhibition Park. It also provides for the election of a Suburban Service Board, which may enter into agreements with the city for the extension of public utilities, such as light, water, sewerage, fire protection, and other services.

Broached Last Night.

Mr. Hall referred the Utilities Commission to this instrument during a discussion with Lansdowne Street residents living on the Monaghan side of the street, who were requesting that a water main be laid on that street from Lock Street east.

A member of the delegation suggested the need of a sewer on that street, but Robert Hicks, chairman of the Commission, replied that this was a matter that rested solely within the province of the City Council. He stated that a conference between the Council and the Commission would probably be held in the near future at which such questions would be deliberated, and upon which a definite policy might be determined.

Mr. Hicks pointed out the difficulties hitherto experienced in similar negotiations between the city and North Monaghan, and asked Mr. Hall to bring in a report embodying suggestions as to what satisfactory course might be followed.

Mr Hall at once drew the Commission's attention to the new legislation which, he observed, seemed to offer a solution of the problem of carrying extensions of public utilities into the township.

The Act Complete.

In view of the likelihood of this Act interesting many of the residents of North Monaghan, it is reproduced as follows:

In this Act,

(a) "Board" shall mean Suburban Service Board established under the provisions of this Act;

(b) "Municipal Service" shall mean and include sewage and sewage disposal, opening, widening, extending, paving, repairing, maintaining of a street or highway, street railway transportation, the supplying of light, heat, or water for municipal purposes or for the use of the inhabitants, fire protection and police protection.

May Pass By-law.

The Council of a township adjacent to a city may by by-law set apart any part of the township lying within a distance of five miles from the boundary of the city as a suburban area, and may provide for the election of a board to be known as a Suburban Service Board, consisting of five persons resident in the suburban area, who shall be elected by the municipal electors within the suburban area in the same manner as nearly as may be, as the members of the municipal council.

Elected Annually.

The members of the Board shall be elected annually at the same time as the members of the Township Council.

The Board shall hold its first meeting at such time and place as shall be fixed by the by-law, and shall be organised by the election of a chairman from among the members of the Board, and the appointment of a secretary of the Board, who may be one of the members thereof.

Powers of the Board.

The municipal corporation of the city and the board may enter into agreements from time to time:

(a) For the extension or supply to the suburban area or any part thereof of any municipal service in the city;

(b) Prescribing the terms upon which such municipal service shall be extended or supplied, and the amount of any payments to be made therefor, and the times of payment, and the rates, if any, to be chargeable to the users of any such municipal service in the suburban area;

(c) For the settlement of any disputes or matters of difference which may arise with respect to the extension or supply of any such municipal service within the suburban area by the board or by any person or persons agreed upon;

(d) For the management, control, and operation of any municipal service so extended or supplied in the suburban area by the board or by a joint body composed of the representatives of the board and the corporation of the city, or by any other person or commission or body of persons agreed upon by the board and the corporation of the city;

(e) For the levying of an annual special rate within the suburban area to provide the sums necessary to meet the cost of any municipal service so extended or supplied.

Must Be Approved.

The agreement shall not be acted upon or take effect until it has been submitted to and approved by order of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, and when so approved any agreement made or purporting to be made under the authority of this Act shall not be open to question in any action or other proceeding in Court, and any matters of difference arising with respect to the interpretation or operation of such agreement shall be determined by the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board.

Where an agreement has been entered into under the authority of this Act, the board shall annually prepare an estimate of the sums to be raised within the suburban area to meet the payments called for under the agreement, and shall submit the same to the Council of the township.

Levy Special Rate.

The Council shall cause to be levied in each and every year a special rate within the suburban area of all property liable to taxation therein to meet the sums so required, and the amount so raised shall be subject to the order of the board and shall be paid out of the treasury of the township from time to time as the board may direct, upon a requisition signed by the chairman of the board.

Where the agreement provides for the doing of any work in connection with the extension or supply of a municipal service under the provisions of the Local Improvement Act, the Council of the township shall pass all necessary by-laws and levy all special rates required to carry out the terms of the agreement.

FUNERAL TOOK PLACE MONDAY

The funeral of the late William O. Swinton, one of the oldest residents of Smith township, took place from the family residence on the first concession of Smith, on Monday afternoon, 12th September, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

The youngest of a family of ten, he was born in 1841, on the old homestead, where he lived continuously to the time of his death, with the exception of eight years spent in Ohio and Pensylvania, from 1866 to 1874, where he was engaged in the oil business.

In 1880 he married Miss Elizabeth Huston of Otonabee, by whom he had four children, two of whom are living, Miss Medda and Mrs. A. W. Ackison.

He is also survived by his wife and one sister, Mrs. Jessie Staples, of Keehe.

In religion he was a Presbyterian. In politics he was a staunch supporter of the Liberal cause until the forming of the U.F.O. party of which he was a very enthusiastic supporter.

Mr. Rollins of St. Andrew's church, conducted the funeral service at the family residence and spoke very highly of the sterling qualities of the deceased and the high esteem in which he was held by his large circle of friends.

Many friends extended their sympath yto the sororwing family and pathy to the sororwing family and

The pall bearers were six of his nephews, James Clifford, Thomas Staples, Clinton Coones, Alex. Huston, Roy Spear and Scott Huston.

BIG SALES OF CHEESE.

Co-operative Dairy Company Shows Large Increase in Volume of Business This Year.

The sales of cheese being conducted by the big co-operative dairy company, United Dairy Co-operative, Limited, whose head office is in Peterborough, are showing a large increase this year. At a meeting of the directors of the company, held in the office of "Farm and Dairy," recently, the report of the Montreal manager, Mr. W. W. Moore, showed that the sales up to the end of August this year amounted to 62,943 boxes of cheese and 1,000 boxes of butter, worth $1,030,342. Last year up to the end of August the sales of the company amounted to 24,768 boxes of cheese. Thus the sales this year have showed an increase over last year of over 150 per cent.

In spite of the lower prices that have ruled for cheese this year the value of the cheese sold up to the end of August was greater than the total sales of the company for all of last year. The directors at their recent meeting in Peterborough devoted considerable attention to deciding upon the future policy of the company in the matter of further extensions of the company's business.

ARBUCKLE FILMS BANNED IN CITY

Mr. John C. Green of Toronto, the district manager for the Paramount Theatres, who have the exclusive rights in Canada for the showing of Roscoe ("Fatty") Arbuckle pictures, stated very emphatically this morning that none of the comedian's productions would be allowed on the screen in Canada while the present investigation is in progress.

According to Mr. Green, Loews' Montreal houses have withdrawn these pictures entirely, and there is only one small theatre in Toronto at the present time showing Arbuckle, the latter evidently figuring on catering to a certain element in the public mind by delineations of the portly roisterer in facetious mood.

GYPSIES ARRESTED

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Two gypsy girls, Lulu and Louka Domitro, with their father Long Domitro, appeared in police court yesterday charged with theft. Their "fortune telling" operations resulted in bills of large denominations being lost by three victims.

Magistrate Askwith fined each of the trio $100 and costs and ordered them to leave the city. The fines were paid and they promised to depart at once.

The most marvelous machine in the world—and how it is neglected

AWAY back in the school books was a lesson on physiology.

Rather dull as a lesson. Yet it was the story of the most marvelous machine ever created—and how the machine gets its power and does its work.

That machine is the human body.

Some day the mechanical expert of this machine—the doctor—finds out for us where we have missed the lesson and neglected the machine.

GRAPE-NUTS food was made in accordance with the school book lesson on what the body needs and how its needs may best be supplied.

It is possible for a delicious food to be a scientific, "power" food. Grape-Nuts is such a food.

Perfecting Natural Gifts

Twenty hours of continuous baking has done certain wonderful things to the nourishing properties of whole wheat and malted barley flour, from which Grape-Nuts is made—and has produced a food in the form of crisp, golden-brown granules.

You chew Grape-Nuts thoroughly.

The rich, sweet flavor of Grape-Nuts is the reward of chewing. Nature meant the teeth to be used. Primitive people, who keep the natural teeth sound and perfect to old age, are eaters of food which requires chewing. Grape-Nut gives the teeth work to do.

Perhaps you remember a little of the physiology lesson, now—how the salivary juices respond when the food is thoroughly chewed—and the first important step in digestion is taken.

Life-Giving Properties

Wheat and malted barley are richest of all grains in the food elements required for human use. In Grape-Nuts all the essentials provided by nature in these grains are retained and perfected. The long, slow baking process which produces Grape-Nuts turns the grain's starches into natural sweetness and breaks up the nutritive solids into forms easily assimilated by the body.

The exceptional nourishment from Grape-Nuts is secured with no tax upon the digestion.

Penalties for Mistakes

When the doctor, as the mechanical expert of the bodily machine, comes to give advice in case of trouble, he finds that harm as well as good, often has resulted from food.

"Starchy" foods have been the subject of many warnings. Food which passes too slowly through the digestive tract causes disturbances to which much of the slowing down, wearing out, and failure of the bodily machine is traced.

A characteristic of Grape-Nuts is that it digests quickly and completely—without fermentation in the intestines.

A World Service

There is, therefore, a reason why, throughout the world, Grape-Nuts has steadily grown in favor these many years, as a food for fitness, as well as charm to taste.

You can apply that reason to your own benefit.

Ready to eat from the package, always crisp, naturally sweet—served with cream or milk and a little sugar if desired—Grape-Nuts is an ideal dish for breakfast or lunch.

"There's a Reason" for Grape-Nuts

TRIP TO THE OLD LAND

Rev. A. H. McConnachie, Centreville, writes of his recent trip to the Old Country as follows:

Stands Scotland where it stood? Is it still the Sabbath-loving, bible-loving land of story and song and sentiment?

Like every other land it is quickly changing. In places you would discover Sunday golf. At Burns' monument and elsewhere you might enjoy the Sunday concert with Scotch songs included.

Shades of the Unco Guid! It is a change from the strict Sabbatarianism and the strong Calvinistic practice of other days. In vain, do we lament the new order of things. The reaction and revolt were sure to come. Human nature has its revenges.

The Sunday of ye olden times was the dullest, most tiresome day of the week for the children. Everything dear to the heart of childhood was prohibited. Whiskey wasn't, but it gladdened the heart of the adult only.

We cannot but rejoice over the change so far as it means more brightness and cheer in the lives of the rising generation. If only they, in turn, would use their liberty to good purpose, to build up an even better Scotland than the old.

Social Life.

Changes are slowly but surely affecting the social life of the Old Land. The war has hastened some of these, but there is safety in leisure and the Old Country is leisurely.

The social order will be changed gradually, but the change is on the way and cannot be arrested. The extremes of wealth and poverty must go. Still you find the extremely rich, and again, the extremely poor, and all alike crying out against excessive taxation. You have the Duke of Portland declaring to his tenants and the world that his son in any case will have to be content with a smaller house than Welbeck Abbey. Poor fellow! The great Ducal Mansion must come under the hammer. What about his other estates and the great London House? Really tears are wasted on some such.

Some sympathy is due to the old-time rich and the aristocratic, who lost heavily in war time. They are being bought up now by the new rich—profiteers who made millions out of their fellows in war time. These serve themselves heirs to the stately homes of England and Scotland. In this respect one would prefer the old to the new.

Laboring Classes.

But the plight of the laboring classes provokes the greatest sympathy. Living is still very high. Wages have increased and there is apparently a roughness of money, but it is doubtful if people are better off than in pre-war times.

Rates and taxes are heavy, the new Education Act having added seriously to the burden. A tax of $5 per horse power makes even a Ford a luxury.

Miners' Strike.

During the miners' strike Britain narrowly escaped revolution with bloodshed. Had the Triple Alliance decided on a sympathetic strike the outlook would have been black indeed, or rather Red, in modern parlance. Two things prevented a bloody issue: The Government Unemployment Fund—not for strikers, but for those out of work through no fault of their own. It is also understood that Lloyd George intimated privately to the leaders of the Triple Alliance that if they called a strike the Government would resign and the burden of forming a new Government to deal with the situation would be left to Labor. The Labor leaders were not prepared for that; not just then!

The miners' strike, affecting millions, was settled after three months' strife and holds good for eighteen months. One interesting and unique feature of the settlement was this: The miners are to receive a share in the profits after a certain percentage goes to the mine owner. Thus, in a small way the miners become a partner in the concern.

Industrial Problem.

And this is our real solution of the industrial problem: The worker must be considered as a human being rather than a mere liveling. Give him a personal interest in the mill or factory and let him be considered and consulted as a partner. In this twentieth century he ought to enjoy a more equitable share of the profit of his own handiwork. In common justice, he ought to have the means of sharing the good things of life hitherto the perquisites of the rich. Compulsory education has created new tastes among the masses. Are these to be gratified, or to remain the fruitful source of unrest?

The churches in the Old Land hold on their way, marking time to some extent, trying to adjust themselves to new conditions and waiting for a revival of interest in religion. The returned soldier is often conspicuous by his absence from church, nor is he always to blame. Services in church can be very dull and insipid to the man who has faced the realities of life and death in the trenches. The platitudes of traditional religion leave him cold, as one would expect.

The Socialists.

The Socialist meeting has a great vogue in Scotland now. At least the Socialist deals with live issues. For the present the great mass of the workers in the Old Country (and this country) have no connection with the churches. Vainly do we protest that they ought to attend church to acknowledge God and to learn about the ways of life. The worker wants to feel that the church is interested, as Jesus was, in the common lot. Let the church start out to declare the great principles of brotherhood and social justice involved in the teaching of Jesus. It need not be judge or arbitrator. But it might educate, especially its young people, to understand the fundamental principles underlying the tremendous social and industrial issues of today. These would have the force of a new revelation. The new expository preaching would lead to a reformation in the church and a revival of interest in true religion. Let the church make a great appeal to men for social service and social justice—not merely to enjoy a selfish salvation—and men will respond as they did in the most critical period of human history.

FRENCHMAN MADE FIRST STEAM DRIVEN MACHINE.

It is written that the elder Hero of Alexandria, Egypt, recognized steam as a power, and assembled some little devices to illustrate its action as early as 130 B. C. It also was believed by some of the engineering experts of the Nile valley that the Vocal Memnon, famous throughout the Mediterranean countries, really had its marvel from a simple steam arrangement, by which it fairly whistled its way to fame.

Numerous indications that steam had begun to engage the vagrant thoughts of inventive brains before the Christian era are to be found, but it appears that no one ever made a model of a steam-driven machine, to run on wheels, until 1763, when a Frenchman named Cugnot made such a mode'. His little engine, with a vertical shaft forward for guiding, looked oddly prophetic of the chassis of a modern automobile. Cugnot's engine was put in motion by the impulsion of two single-acting cylinders, the pistons of which alternately acted on the front wheels. The thing had one virtue outstripping beauty, with which it was not endowed—it ran. It made four or five miles an hour, sometimes. It probably was making five, on a certain day, when it turned a sharp corner in Paris, upset and injured a few of the many who had poured out to see the miracle.

At once the Paris authorities became sure of what they had suspected for weeks, that the devil was in it, and they locked it up in the arsenal, and its history was at an end.

TIBET WOMAN MARRIES MAN AND HIS BROTHERS.

The marriage customs of the people of Tibet present a peculiar combination of monogamy, polygamy and polyandry—the last particularly characteristic of the country, though monogamy is actually the prevailing system, says Dr. A. L. Shelton, in the National Geographic Magazine. Under the polyandrous system, the eldest son of a family marries a woman and she becomes the common wife of himself and his brothers.

Under this system a woman usually marries three or four brothers. Under the ordinary arrangement, one husband will take care of the home in the valley, if there is one; another will be in charge of the yak or sheep in the uplands; a third will be the trader, taking care of the caravan, while others will be assigned special duties.

The oldest brother is considered the father and the other brothers the uncles of the family. In such families the children usually are not numerous, an average family of children being three to five.

If a family has no sons, but has daughters, one of them usually is kept in the home, and a husband is brought in for her and carries on the family succession. The remaining families are normally given to other families. In a few cases, however, where there are two daughters, one husband is brought in and a polygamous household is established.

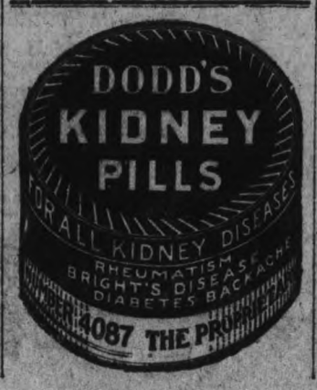
SALT DEEMED VERY PRECIOUS BY BALINESE.

"May the sea never lose its salt!" prays the Balinese, who likes his rice salted. (Bali is an island near Java, under Dutch protection.) On a well leveled sandy plot the salt makers work in the sun, scattering sea water from light bowls, skillfully fashioned from palm leaves. When the sun has absorbed the moisture, the laborers carefully skim off the surface sand, carry it to the thatched huts at the edge of the plot and put it into vats filled with water. After the sand has settled in the bottom of the vats, they draw off the brine into shallow vessels of cocoanut wood, which they set out in the sun. In a few hours nothing remains but pure salt.

The salt gained through this primitive process is deemed very precious by the Balinese, who will sell his treasures for salt when money will not tempt him. But then money is of little value on Bali. High finance is unknown among the simple, agricultural people, and trade is still largely a matter of barter.



FEW HINTS TO THE HOUSEWIFE.

Puree of spinach may be served on thin crisp slices of friend bread.

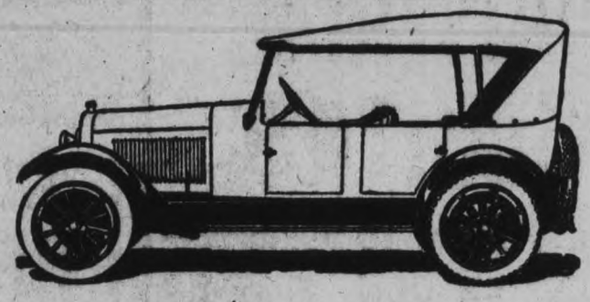
Egg beaters are now being made so that they may be attached to an electric motor.

Finely chopped walnut meats give a nice flavor to squash croquettes. Serve them with cream sauce.

When butter is warm and soft, it can soon be made firm and hard by working it with a piece of ice instead of a paddle.

Chopped suet is very useful for replacing eggs in milk puddings. Simply sprinkle a little on the top and the pudding will be rich and creamy.

Crisp lettuce, sliced cucumbers, tomatoes and onions, and bacon mixed with mayonnaise and spread between slices of hot buttered toast fill the important role in a sandwich luncheon.



Finely Built to the Least Detail

There is so much enthusiastic comment on the fine Chalmers motor, that other excellent Chalmers features seem to be taken for granted.

But they are worthy the careful consideration of all motor car buyers. For here is a car that is finely built to the least detail. Engineering and car building experience have applied themselves in masterly fashion.

Design and Finish Beautiful

Every element of beauty and style is incorporated in the Chalmers.

The wonderful motor is satin-smooth in its pickup, starts easily, and warms up at once. The car rides with remarkable ease and comfort.

Thus the Chalmers has earned a name enviable among really fine cars.

The Fuel is Pre-Heated

The Chalmers motor has played its important part in winning this reputation. Fuel is pre-heated by the hot-spot. This means greater mileage on gasoline; and very much better motor performance for longer periods without overhauling.

We invite you to investigate the Chalmers and permit us to demonstrate superiority.

ARBUCKLE CHARGES

and exclaimed "I'm dying." Doctors Emmitt Rixford and William Ophulus, and Miss Pevron, the show girl, were expected to be the principal witnesses at to-day's session of the coroner's inquest.

The physicians testimony was to deal chiefly with the physical condition of Miss Rappe. The show girl will be asked to describe the midday pyjama party. The strain is beginning to tell on Arbuckle. He looked tired to-day.

Smoking many cigarettes, he seemed anxious to talk all the time. When not conferring with his attorneys, he was chatting with Albert Martin, his cell mate. His sleep last night, however, was profound, the guards said.

The body of Miss Rappe lay today in a handsome casket at an undertaking establishment awaiting the coroner's permission for burial. People, mostly women and girls, passed the coffin at the rate of 100 an hour. Some stopped a moment to pray. Others left flowers.

Described Party.

Miss Prever and Miss Blake both testified at the Grand Jury session which resulted in Arbuckle's indictment. They described the Arbuckle party. Miss Grace Halstead, a surgical nurse at Wakefield Sanitarium, where Miss Rappe died, testified that Miss Rappe was not suffering from any serious ailment which might have caused her death if she had never gone to the party. We are completely satisfied," said District Attorney Brady, after announcement of the indictment. "It is the function of the Grand Jury to return an indictment stating its belief as to the nature of the crime and the jury has done that.

"It had stated its belief that the facts warranted accusation of Arbuckle on the charge of using violence on and thereby killing Virginia Rappe. Whether we will stand on the murder or manslaughter or murder charge will be decided before Friday, which is agreed on, as the charge in this case will be prosecuted most vigorously and there is no doubt in our minds that a brutal crime was committed."

Attaches of the District Attorney's office were hunting to-day for thirty persons who are said to have dropped in at Arbucke's apartment during the party. They are wanted as witnesses.

Dear Marie,

Cheers, old dear, for I can play golf now! And oh, Jack is such a marvellous teacher. I only lost three balls for keeps, and just said two really very bad words. But I can't remember the names of all those funny old sticks you use. I always got the 'mashie' and 'putty' mixed up, but thank goodness I have them thoroughly straightened out now.

The sun was terrifically hot that day though, and I was so engrossed I didn't notice how red my arms and neck were getting. However, my ever-ready bottle of Campana's Italian Balm saved the situation once again. It is so soothing when rubbed on gently, and takes all the pain and redness away. Love,

$3,000 GRAND PIANO

An outstanding feature of the recent most successful Canadian National Exhibition held in Toronto was a beautiful Grand piano that cost $3,000, built specially by Ye Olde Firme Heintzman & Co., Limited, George and Hunter Streets, Peterborough, for Madame Tetrazzini, the great Italian singer. It was Tetrazzini's custom whenever singing in Toronto to have a Heintzman & Co. piano placed at her disposal, and this year when deciding on a Grand piano for personal use in her castle in Rome, Italy, she decided on a piano of Heintzman & Co. manufacture. This piano was designed under her own directions—made to conform with the finishings and furnishings of her beautiful home. It is in Florentine design, ivory white, legs and mouldings tipped with gold. The piano is now on its way to Italy. The order is one that reflects great credit on this old-established Canadian house.

GOLDEN JUBILEE LADIES' AID IN TRINITY CHURCH

Yesterday afternoon, between eighty-five and ninety of the ladies of the city congregated in Reid street Hall, to celebrated by a rally of the Ladies' Aid Society of Trinity church with their friends, the golden jubilee of Trinity church. Decorations and the dainty refreshments were carried out in glowing colors of gold and white. The president of Trinity Ladies' Aid Society, Mrs. R. J. Kidd, presided. Interesting addresses were given by guests of the Society, and a musical programme was rendered by the following ladies: Vocal solo by Mrs. Davidson; reading by Mrs. F. McNeely, and a bright piano solo by little Miss Doris Phillips.

PETERBORO YOUTH WAS UNWELCOME TO GALWAY'S SWAINS

ANGUS GOSELIN ALLEGES THAT HE WAS THE VICTIM OF AN UNPROVOKED ATTACK AT MT. IRWIN DANCE—JEALOUSY ALLEGED MOTIVE.

William and Moss Young, two Galway Township youths, were charged before County Magistrate Langley this morning with aggravated assault upon Angus Goselin, of Peterborough. The offence is alleged to have taken place at a dance at Mount Irwin on Friday, September 2nd. No evidence was taken this morning. The hearing was enlarged until Thursday, September 22, and the accused were granted bail at $100. According to Goselin's story, he was coming out of the hall in which the dance was held when he was set upon by four young men, who, it is believed, resented his presence because he was keeping company with one of the young ladies of the district. Goselin went down under the attack, and while on the ground received two kicks on the head. He told the Examiner that he might have been killed had not two other men come to his assistance. He had given absolutely no cause whatever for the alleged assault, he says, but apparently he was regarded by some of the native youths as an intruder in the social circles of Galway. Mr. V. J. McElderry appeared for the defendants.

PEACE LEAGUE SELECT JUDGES

SIR ROBERT BORDEN SECURED ONE VOTE—ELEVEN ELECTED.

(BY HENRY WOOD)

(United Press)

GENEVA, Sept. 14.—The League of Nations Assembly oi the first ballot to-day, selected the following to the International Court of Justice. Dr. Rafael Altamiray Creves, of Spain; Dr. Alejandro Alvarez of Chile, commendatore Doinisco Anziloti of Italy; Dr. Guy Barbosa of Brazil, Dr. Antonio S. De Dustamenta of Cuba; Viscount Robert Finlay of Great Britain; Dr. B. T. C. Loder, of Holland; Yorogu Oda of Japan; Dr. Andre Weiss of France. On the second ballot the delegates elected John Bassett Moore of the United States, former member of the permanent court at the Hague.

On the first ballot to-day, Elihu Root received the vote of six nations. John Bessett Moore received 12 votes on the first ballot. Dr. Roscoe Pound, dean of the Harvard Law School, six, and Sir Robert Borden, former premier of Canada, one.

The Council and the Assembly of the League voted separately.

The world's fifty year dream of an International Court of Justice became a reality to-day when the League of Nations elected eleven judges and four deputies to the world court. John Bassett Moore of the United States, member of the permanent court at the Hague, was elected by the Assembly on the second ballot this afternoon. On the first ballot nine judges were chosen. There was the keenest political "log rolling" for the positions, the South American countries being strong in numbers and holding the balance of the power in many instances.

League delegates to-day declared the establishmet of the International Court of Justice to be far and away the most important undertaking of the League of Nations.

STYLISH ANATOMIC SHOES ON EXHIBIT.

One of the most interesting exhibits at the local Exhibition will be that of Taplin Natural Tread Shoes, located in the Main Building Annex. This exhibit is being shown by Taplin Shoes of Peterborough, Limited, a company new to this city, but recently incorporated for the express purpose of opening and conducting an exclusively Natural Tread Shoe Store here.

Peterborough is fortunate in being so far up on the list of cities where these store are being opened, as their shoes and methods are a radical departure from those commonly in use.

All Taplin Natural Tread Shoes are made in Belleville of the very highest grade leather, findings and workmanship, and the finished product speaks for themselves. They are accepted by hygiene authorities in New York to be superior in design and equal in quality to any American-made shoe.

Mr. Taplin, originator and designer of these shoes, has arranged to be in charge of the display, and will be pleased to answer all questions in respect to foot hygiene and comfort. Mr. Taplin is recognized as the leading authority of America on the foot and shoe question, as viewed from a health standpoint. He has already been heard many times on the lecture platform in this city.

The new shoe store will open as soon as satisfactory premises can be secured.

Mr. Taplin will be stopping at the White House.

See this exhibit of low-heeled, high quality shoes for all occasions.

SPORT COMMENT

Picton trounced Madoc in Madoc yesterday afternoon by 6 to 2, winning the O.B.A.A. round. Picton won the first game by 10 to 4. It is C.G.E. and Picton for the next series, with the first game here on Saturday, September 24th, and the second contest at Picton on the following Thursday afternoon.

By defeating Uxbridge yesterday, Sutton won the championship of the Tri-county League. It was 2 to 1. But the end is not yet. Representatives of the O.B.A.A. will hold a meeting in Sunderland to-morrow evening and make an effort to settle a squabble that started with Cannington protesting Uxbridge. The winner of this League meets the Scarboro League winner.

Some good work should be accomplished at to-night's meeting of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association, at which the newly-elected hockey excutive will be present. There will be no lack of support if the Association makes an honest effort to improve the hockey situation.

Giants and Pirates won yesterday. McGraw's men have fourteen more games, and Gibson's crowd have seventeen. Dick Kerr beat the Kilties, while the Indians were having a soft time at Philadelphia, reducing New York's lead to half a game.

C.G.E., with Ray Rose in charge of the workout, put in a snappy practice at Riverside Park last evening. The Generals mean to be in good shape for the coming of the Pictonians.

SUTTON CHAMPIONS AGAIN.

SUTTON, Sept. 14.—By defeating Uxbridge by 2 to 1 here yesterday, the local baseball team won the championship of the Tri-County League for the second year in succession. Out of the final series Sutton won three games and Uxbridge one. At a meeting on Thursday night the Executive of the league will decide whether or not the protest made by Cannington disqualifies Uxbridge. If Uxbridge is disqualified a final series will have to be played with Stouffville. The champions of the league will play Milliken, victors in the Scarboro League.

THE WORLD'S TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP TO BE DECIDED IN TO-DAY'S BATTLE

FOURTEEN SURVIVORS IN THE FOURTH ROUND—TO-DAY'S LINE-UP.

By HENRY FARREL,
(United Press.)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14.—The tennis championship of the United States may be decided on the Germantown Crickets at Courts this afternoon. Wm. T. Tilden, the International champion, and William M. Johnston, twice American champion, the two big outlaying figures of the touranment will meet this afternoon in a battle that should return the title holder.

Fourteen other survivors will meet in the fourth round matches, that are overshadowed in interest and importance by the battle of the on big bill and little bill of the victorious American Davis Cup team. Richaad Norris Williams and Wallace F. Johnson, who are speeding through the upper half of the draw, and who are almost sure to be semi-finalists, have easy assignments to-day.

Williams meets J. O. Anderson, the lone survivor of the Australian team, and Johnson plays Howard C. Kinsey, one of the San Francisco brothers in the tournament.

Gordon Lowe, the last of the Britishers, who outgamed Dean Mathey in a two-hour battle, will face Stanley Pearson, Philadelphia.

Opinion was divided among the experts over the outcome of the Tilden-Johnson match. Both played such brilliant tennis that their games looked equally meritorious. If it comes to a question of fighting, Johnson is the favorite, as he gave one of the greatest exhibitions of courage yesterday against Vincent that has ever been seen on the courts. Dick Williams or Wallace Johnson in all probability will play the winner of the Tilden-Johnston battle in the final match Saturday. Williams has won two legs of the trophy, and is pointing to permanent possession of the cup, but it is doubtful if his game is good enough to beat either Tilden or Johnson the way they are playing now.

KEENE WINS THE THOMPSON CUP

In a game at Norwood yesterday Keene defeated Norwood by 20 runs to 5 and they came into permanent possession of the Thompson Cup, having won the trophy three years in succession. The teams were due to play Labor Day in Indian River, but the fixture was rained out after Norwood had opened up a 5 to 0 lead. They were never in the lead yesterday. Alex. Kay and Tom Curvin of Peterborough umpired the game.

SANDY NAMES THREE PETES FOR THE ALL STARS

The Port Hope Guide says: An all star team from the Central League is to be selected to play against the Oshawa champions. Messrs. Tyson, of Cobourg; E. Parsons, of Oshawa, and S. FIGHT FOR THE TITLE SEPT. 23

NEW YORK, September 14.—Canadian Press. — Pete Herman, the world's bantamweight champion, and Johnny Buff, claimant of the flyweight championship, have been matched to meet for the bantamweight title in Madison Square Garden on September 23rd, Promoter Tex Rickard announced tonight. The boys have agreed to weigh in at 118 pounds at 2 o'clock on the day of the contest.

Roy Moore, who was forced to cancel his match with Herman, because of an inured right hand, will be unable to enter the ring for two weeks, physcians reported after an X-ray examination to-day.

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE ALLEN.

Preceded by a prologue consisting of a solo dedicated to "Mother" by Mr. Vern Morphet and a recitation on the same theme by Miss Wright, the unusual picture at the Allen played to a capacity house. "Mother o' Mine" deals with a subject as old as history itself, and with the most powerful of all human emotions—mother love. The greatest power for good—the maternal instinct—is as strong in emancipated modern woman as it was in the matriarchal period when the female, to insure the perfection of her offspring, made war upon neighboring tribes and chose her mate from the strongest of her foes. In "Mother o' Mine" we see a picture first of the too loving, trustful woman deceived and cast away by the crooked, unscrupulous man, whose selfishness seeks later to destroy even his own son's honor. Martha Sheldon reaps the reward of youthful folly, but in living for her boy, imbueing him with principles of honor and virtue, she has the reward of knowing that her son will be ignorant of his unscrupulous father and so enter upon life free from the knowledge of his heritage. I have never seen a more convincing proof of the strength of a mother's affection and the result of her earnest prayers. Robert Sheldon, whose father is the rich Thatcher who brought trouble to the town far distant from New York, bears such an evidence of absolute honesty that he becomes the victim of his father's unscrupulous schemes. He is loved by a little girl named Dorothy, who refuses to be corrupted even by Thatcher's wealth and who is the means when all else fails of bringing that wonderful mother to the rescue of her boy, who is saved from the electric chair by the most unforeseen circumstance. Joseph Kilgour is the polished villain. No one in the movie world today knows better how to portray ulter heartlessness under a veneer of suave courtesy than this veteran actor. His death scene was wonderful. A part handled less skillfully than was Robert Sheldon, played by Lloyd Hughes, might have been altogether spoiled. He impressed the audience as he did he unknown father by his sincerity and honesty. It is refreshing to see such an example of youthful candor and integrity as this man, going to his death to shield his mother's name.

Betty Blythe has succeeded to the place held for so long by Theda Bara in the hearts and minds of the vamp-loving public! She possesses, however, the power to act in a clever manner, the designing, calculating woman who loves both men and money and pursues her vengeance to the very end. Bety Ross Clark and Clare McDowell are the good women of the play—the sweetheart and mother. Words utterly fail to express the realistic impression produced by the "Mother." You must see this Thomas H. Ince production to appreciate it.

AT THE CAPITOL.

Buster Keaton provided the usual amount of fun to be expected of such a high-class comedian and the whole Capitol programme for the first three days of the week, including two vaudeville acts, is of the highest order. Interest in "The Yellow Arm" is still very keen and next week's episode promises to satisfy the curiosity to which the current chapter gives rise. A clever little English comedienne sings well and impersonates the star of "Irene" and Norah Bayes very cleverly. Her cockney accent provoked much fun, as did her costume likewise.

Famous Players British Company produced a particularly good photoplay when they filed a story by Donn Byrne called "The Princess of New York." Mary Glynne is the leading womon and David Powell the hero. The story is unusual in that the hero is not so rich as he might be, the heroine has a steel magnate for a father, but is threatened with financial ruin at one stage of the game and awakens the best instincts in a man whose aristocratic family plans to marry him to the American girl left to the tender mercy of their designs. The chaperone takes much for granted when she offers to sponsor Helen in London when she herself is not too familiar with a fast and not too scrupulous smart set. I enjoyed particularly the absence of discrepancies and the perfect detail in this British-made film.

The interiors are lovely, and it seems as though there is no scarcity in domestic help in England. At least in movie-land. I read a very interesting thing the other day. It seems that in the Famous Players English studio the thick fogs often prevents for days certain scenes being taken and a machine worth $250,000 has been invented whereby the air is clarified and made to resemble California sunshine. It made me wish that something would be discovered to dispel the fog that clouds one's brain, but, alas! even were there such a one would the price be within one's grasp?

AT THE GRAND.

"What Happened to Mary" is worth seeing. hTe title sounds intrigening and the play lived up to press notices and name, too. The return of the Rex Stock Company was hailed with enthusiasm by an audience that very nearly proved a record crowd. Mr. Snelgrove appeared in a role entirely different from the two others that he has play d here and Miss Zana Vaughn gave a very clever performance of the simple truthful little country girl, who wins the confidence and love of everyone in spite of great odds. The play calls for much "character" work—the versatility of several members of Rex's company is quite evident—and it is to be hoped Captain Jogifer's staunch trust and friendship appealed to everyone as much as did the quaint make-up of the worthy old salt. Mr. William Yale handled the role very cleverly. Among the other parts played by men Mr. Cole's was shorter than usual, but done very well. As Richard Craig, he proved himself bitter and revengeful to the end. Mr. Mitchell as Henry Craig had a difficult role, also Mr. Seymour as old Uncle Peart, while Chas. Hannah made the rustic fashion-plate, Tuck Wintergreen, most realistic. Miss Kathryn Van Esse played a difficult emotional role exceedingly well, and although Mrs. Gibbs aroused one's ire, Hazel Williams made her very human. Miss Gloria Machan as the deceived and disillusioned young girl never exaggerated the part, but gave an impression of earnestness and reserve emotion which was always convincing.

Mr. Seymour and Miss Williams did a character specialty between acts that was met with screams of laughter by the audience, and the two Park kiddies dressed in sailor costume proved again that they can sing and dance with any adult vaudeville artists.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

AT THE REGENT.

The popular heroine, Pearl White, in "Know Your Men," and a Ruth Roland serial, form the offerings for the week-end at the Regent.

AT THE ALLEN.
"HEARTS OF THE WORLD."

For the first time at popular prices the Allen Theatre will show for the last three days of this week D. W. Griffith's great play, "Hearts of the World." If such a thing could be said, we might call this picture a sister (or would it be brother?) picture to "The Birth of a Nation." The great Griffith himself says that no greater realism was ever achieved, because the filming of the battle scenes was done literally under the nose of the cannon on the battlefields of France. Permission was gained from the British and French Governments to bring the cameras and screen stars nearer than any civilians ever were before to the front line. Besides an all-star Griffith cast, there are actual photographs of the Royal family, of Queen Alexandra, Lady Diana Manners, of the French President and of Clemenceau. In many respects it is one of the world's most interesting pictures.

AT THE CAPITOL.
"THROUGH THE BACK DOOR."

A simple story, much heart-interest, the best photography and direction, plus Mary Pickford. What more could the public demand than the feature picture to be shown at the Capitol on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The vaudeville will be there, too, but this gives you just an idea of Mary's latest photoplay. Although Jeamie Carpenter doubles for Mary as the little baby deserted by her selfish mother in Belgium, Miss Pickford is seen as a child, and also plays her first society role. Repudiated by her fashionable mother in New York, she wins first the servants' hearts, then the neighbors and finally wins back her unnatural parent. Alfred E. Green, long with Marshall Neilan, and Jack Pickford directed the picture. Wilfred Lucas, Gertrude Astor, Elinor Fair, Adolphe Menjon and a cast of unusual brilliancy surround the star, while a trick donkey wins many laughs from the audience. As usual, Mary Pickford mingles tears and smiles in a baffling manner, and the changes of emotion follow fast upon one another.

AT THE GRAND.

On Wednesday and Thursday nights the Rex Stock Company presents an entirely new offering from the play which drew such large crowds on Monday and Tuesday evenings. As might be expected from the title, the play is a comedy—a typical Rex comedy, in which Mr. and Mrs. Snelgrove, supported by their efficient cast, may be counted upon to provide wholesome and clever entertainment. For the out-of-town visitors who plan to have a big week or half week in Peterborough, it will be most attractive to be able to count on a first-class show in the evening aftre a strenuous day at the Fair.

Nearly all of Mr. Snelgrove's experience on the stage has been in stock work, and he is a good example of the finished actor trained in a difficult school, where experience in many roles rubs off corners, and polishes movement and action until a smooth-running performance is assured. Rex seems to be so thoroughly at home upon the stage that it is difficult to believe that he is acting at all, thereby proving himself the greater artiste, because there is no apparent effort in his work. The day of the old-fashioned melodrama is past—the romantic play of the Sheridan order is over also, but whatever the approved choice of the future theatre-going public may be, comedy will always appeal to a large majority. And in this line of work Rex certainly excels—he is a polite comedian par excellence.

At a pretty spot upon the Thames River, near Hampton Court Palace, Mr. Rex Snelgrove was born in—well, I'll say it was not s very long ago; so in spite of spending fifteen years in the United States and in Canada, he is an Englishman. Hampton Court is and has been a beautiful, romantic spot—that great pile of masonry amid lovely gardens, built by Wolsey and presented to Henry VIII. when the latter looked enviously on the palace just completed by the famous Cardinal. Perhaps it was due to boyhood dreams of knights and ladies, beautiful pageants, and England's Virgin Queen Elizabeth, that created the ambition in young Rex to become an actor. Because such was not at all his parents' plan—his first lessons were from private tutors, then he went to Bishop Wesley's School near Birmingham, and afterwards for a short term to Eton. In 1905 Mr. Snelgrove left England determined to adopt the stage as a profession. Since then he has worked constantly to maintain the standard he set for himself, and which he has attained in the organisation known as the Rex Stock Company. While talking with him I am always conscious of reserve strength hidden beneath the calm, careless exterior, and I am constantly impressed by the amount of business he thinks of and attends to besides acting. He is an astute business man, is au courant with world affairs, and yet before everything else he says his greatest ambition is to make people laugh, thereby making them happy.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press.)—Accumulation of buying orders over night imparted an active and strong tone to stock market at opening of to-day's session. Usual leaders of oil, equipment and steel divisions were foremost features. Mexican and Pan-American Petroleums, Houston oil, Royal Dutch, Baldwin Loco, Railway Steel Springs, American International paper, American Woollen, American Loco and Chandler also were materially higher. U. S. Realty was strongest of specialties, gaining 2 3-4 points. Rails made only slight advances and some of food and tobacco shares reacted moderately.

Demand for stocks continued to Diminish at mid day. This encouraged shorts which extended their committments in oils, steels and equipments. Leaders of these groups netably Mexican Petroleum, Republic and United States Steels, Baldwin and American car fell moderately under yesterday' final prices.

About 300,000 shares changed hands in the further rise of the first hour. The pace slackened however, and prices gave way irregularly to profit taking before noon. Important rails and coppers were almost the only shares to lag, although Southern Pacific, Reading first and second preferred and some of the minor Western and Southern rails were strong. Various inconspicuous issues participated in the early rise, notably Standard Milling preferred, Union Bag and Columbia Gas. Heaviness was shown by food products, tobacco products and National Cloak and Suit preferred, the latter making a new low record. Call money opened at five per cent.

The upward movement in the stock market assumed more substantial proportions to-day on the largest dealings of any session in several months. Sales approximated 850,000 shares.

STERLING ECHANGE

Sterling Exchange weak. Cables 3.70 1-4. Canadian dollars 10 1-2 per cent. discount.

MONTREAL MARKET

MONTREAL, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Trading was very brisk on local exchange this morning and some notable advances were registered. Wayagamack was feature rising three points to 43 at which figure it closed. Abitibi advanced fractionally to 30 1-4 as did also Atlantic Sugar to 30 1-2 Brazilian was slightly weaker at 24 1-2 Brompton however, advanced three quarters of point to 20 3-4 and Laurentide seven eights to 71 7-8. National Breweries was active and closed three quarters of point stronger at 54. Riordon was quiet at 2 3-4

CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press.)—Active buying of United States wheat yesterday on the part of foreigners had a bullish effect in the futures market to-day. One of the houses that have been conspicuous sellers of late changed front. News regarding crop developments in Argentina and Australia was carefully watched. Opening quotations, which ranged from 1-2 to 1 1-2c higher, with December 1.32 3-4 to 1.33 1-4 and May 1.37 3-4 to 1.38 were followed by material further gains.

Subsequently rain in Argentine was reported and prices fell, influenced also by weakness of foreign exchange. The close was heavy, 3-4 to 1⅛ net lower, with December $1.30 3-4 to $1.31, and May $1.35½ to $1.35 3-4.

Corn rose with wheat. After opening unchanged to 1-4c higher including December at 54 5-8 to 54 7-8 the market scored a moderate general upturn. Oats were firmer, influenced by the action of other cereals starting a shade off to 1-4 cent higher. December 40 1-4 to 40 3-8 and then hardening all around.

Wet weather tended somewhat to sustain prices later. The close was easy at a shade net decline to 1-8 advance, with December 54⅛ to 54 7-8.

BUFFALO MARKET

EAST BUFFALO, Sept. 14. — (Canadian Press.)—Cattle receipts 175 good butcher grades steady. Calves receipts 100, $1 higher 5.00 to $16.00. Hogs receipts 1,600 10 to 15 cents lower, heavy 9.25, mixed Yorkers, light ditto and pigs 9.25 to 9.55, roughs 6.00 to 6.25, stags 4.00 to 5.00. Sheep and lambs receipts 1,000, 25 to 50 cents higher, lambs 4.50 to 11.00 yearlings 3.50 to 7.50, wethers 4.50 to 5.50, ewes 1.00 to 4.50 mixed sheep 4.25 to 5.00.

TORONTO MARKET

TORONTO, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press.)—Buying on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day was scattered with no great demand for any particular stock. Dominion Steel Corporation moved up to 28 1-4 and steel of Canada was firm at 55. There was a better demand for the Victory Bonds with little or no change in prices. A 10,000 lot of 22's went at 98.95 and a similar sized block of 33's at 97.65 while seven thousand 34's sold at 94.50. In the unlisted department Wayagamack sold up to 42 1-2 and Brompton at 20 3-4.

CATTLE MARKETS

TORONTO, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press.)—Receipts 1650 trade brisk. Quotations heavy beef steers 7 to 8. Butchers steers choice 6 to 7. Butchers cows medium 3.50 to 4.50. Calves 10 to 12. Lambs 8 to 10. Hogs selects 10 to 10.25.

OTTAWA, September 14 (Canadian Press). — The egg market continues easy. The prices on the better grades as being fairly well maintained, but the undertone for the lower grades is decidedly weak, the prices being reduced in Both Montreal and Toronto to effect sales of States eggs and Prairie Porvinces seconds.

Toronto dealers are offering 36c to 37c for straight receipts country points.

MIKE READY FOR TO-NIGHT'S BATTLE

MONTREAL, September 14 (Canadian Press). — Mike McTigue, of Halifax and New York, middleweight boxer, who arrived here to prepare for his fight with Battling Levisky here to-day, stated that, although it was not yet officially announced, he expected to fight Johnny Wilson, world's middleweight champion in October.

Plans for the fight were now quickly under way, Joe Jacobs, McTigue's manager, added.

Frankie Fleming, the lightweight champion Canadian boxer, states that he expects to fight Freddie Jacks again in Toronto in October, and to go from there to Vancouver to fight a thus far unnamed opponent.

Many sports costumes show high collars.

PICTON WON FROM MADOC

The Picton team, champions of the Bay of Quinte League, disposed of Madoc, the Trent Valley winners in the O.B.A.A. intermediate series at Madoc yesterday, winning their second straight game over the Trent Valley Leaguers. The score was 6 to 2, Picton leading all the way.

Stringer, who started for for Madoc, was hit hard and although Leal ,who replaced him in the fifth, stopped the winners cold, the Madoc team could not hit Hudgins on the rubber for Picton. Jake Solomon and Pete Travers of Peterboro, handled the game.

The Picton team will now clash with the C. G. E. outfit in the next round of the Intermediate series, the first game likely to take place here a week form Saturday.

CAR TURNED TURTLE.

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 14.—William Sutton, 39 years old, local manager for the Detroit and Windsor firm of John Sutton and Sons, undertakers, is at the Hotel Dieu, recovering from serious injuries suffered late Monday night, when his automobile turned turtle at the end of the Walker Road in Walkerville.

Mr. Sutton may have suffered a fractured skull. An X-ray examination will be made to-day.

KILLED IN TRUCK.

STRATFORD, Ont., Sept. 14. — Struck by a G.T.R. train at a level crossing a few miles from here, John W. Carter, part owner of the Maple Grove Cheese Factory, was instantly killed yesterday morning. A preliminary inquest was opened last night at the Maple Grove Factory.

TOOK PARIS GREEN.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Sept. 14. — Geo. McKay, 25 years of age, son of a well-to-do farmer of Dunwich Township, died yesterday morning from the effects of a dose of paris green, taken Monday night by mistake, while suffering from temporary insanity.

Deceased had been suffering from ill-health for over a year and became despondent.

BABY DIES OF INJURIES.

MONTREAL, Sept. 14.—Edward Orlo Benedict, the two-year-old son of Elmore Benedict, of Toronto, who was injured by a C.P.R. train near the railway station at Hudson Heights on Saturday afternoon, died Monday evening at the Western Hospital.

KILLED BY TRAIN.

SEABRIGHT, N. J., Sept. 14. — Captain Andrew Jackson Applegate, who obtained fame as an adviser to Sir Thomas Lipton, owner of the challenger, Shamrock IV., during the yacht races for the America's cup in 1920, was killed instantly when struck by a train on the tracks of the Central Railroad of New Jersey. Captain Applegate, who was 68 years old, was one of the best known fishermen in the locality. He had just returned from a fishing trip.

FELL DOWN ELEVATOR.

TORONTO, Sept. 14.—Five-year-old David Margoschen, son of Max Margoschen, of Ottawa, was instantly killed when he fell down an elevator shaft at the Westminster Hotel, 240 Jarvis Street. The body of the dead lad was removed to Matthews' Undertaking Parlors, 668 Spadina Avenue, where Coroner McConnell opened an inquest, which, after the body was viewed, was adjourned until Sept. 15 at 8 o'clock at the Morgue.

FIGHTS WITH THE HULL RUMRUNNERS

New Pastime Developes in the Eastern Town—Gunplay.

OTTAWA, Sept. 14 — (Canadian Press).—Combatting bootlegging in Hull is becoming a game almost as dangerous as fighting rum-runners at the Windsor border. Last night Collector of Inland Revenue Purcell and three assistants were compelled to use firearms to bring an auto containing an alleged bootlegger to a stop. The officers were stationed on the bridge near Gatineau Point, and a car which was passing was ordered to stop. Instead of doing so the speed was increased, and the officers fired point blank. The auto stopped, but the passenger alighted and ran into a cemetery, where he disappeared. When the north shore train from Montreal landed at Hull Lucien Fortin disembarked. He was halted by Purcell, who claims Fortin had 29 bottles of gin in two suit cases. The liquor was seized, and prosecution may be entered against him. Fortin was released this morning on $1,000 bail.

ESSAD PASHA'S BODY UNCLAIMED AFTER YEAR

PARIS, Sept .14.— The body of Essad Pasha, the former Turkishh General and Dictator of Albania, who was shot and killed by an Albanian student on leaving his hotel 14 months ago, is still lying in the municipal mortuary unclaimed.

No one appears to be interested in the disposition of the coffin containing the remains of the once proud dictator. Should no claim be made for the body within eight months the city of Paris will have it carried to a municipal cemetery or Potter's field.

CHANCE TO GET HAM FREE AT EXHIBITION

ESTIMATING CONTEST OPENS TOMORROW IN MANUFACTURERS' BUILDING.

An unusually interesting feature in the Manufacturers' Building at the Peterborough Fair this year, will be found in an estimating contest for a smoked cured "Rose Brand" Ham to be given away free—one each day—on Thursday, Friday and Saturday to the one estimating nearest to the correct weight of the contest ham on exhibition at the Canadian Packing Company's section.

Attendants will distribute contest tickets to all visitors, who are invited to fill in their estimate of the weight of the ham, with name and address of estimator, and deposit same in a box at the company's exhibit booth for that purpose.

At the close of each day's estimating a ham will be awarded the winner. The ham for estimating on will be changed each day, and the result of each day's estimating published in the following Evening's Examiner. See advertisement in another page.

WEDDING BELLS

PHILLIPS—McILMOYLE.

The wedding was quietly solemnised by the Rev. Harold Young at George Street parsonage at two o'clock to-day of Ethel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McIlmoyle, 231 King Street, to Francis Oliver Phillips, late of Kingston, son of Mrs. A. Phillips, of Queensboro. The bride was becomingly attired in a suit of tete de negre broadcloth, with beaver collar, and touches of hand embroidery. She wore a blouse of beige georgette and hat of black panne velvet, and carried a bouquet of roses.

Miss Florence Johnston acted as bridesmaid and Mr. Allan McIlmoyle supported the groom.

Numerous beautiful presents testified to the popularity of the young couple. The groom's gift to the bride was a pair of diamond earrings set in platinum.

After the ceremony a dainty buffet luncheon was served at the home of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips leaving later on the C.P.R. train for Niagara and points West. They will reside in Peterborough.

BUTCHER—KENYON.

A wedding of local interest took place in Knox Church, Goderich, on Tuesday, Sept. 13th, when Olga Madoline, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kenyon, of Goderich, was united in marriage to Alexander Ingram Butcher, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Butcher, of Peterborough. Rev. R. C. McDermid performed the ceremony. The bride was attended by Miss Christina Adair, of Galt, and Mr. George Butcher acted as groomsman. Out of town guests were: Mrs. John Butcher, of Peterborough; Miss Lillian Law, of Brooklyn, New York, and Mrs. Arthur Shoesmith, of Galt. Mr. and Mrs. Butcher will reside in Peterborough.

WEATHERHEAD—FISHER.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Peter's Cathedral this morning at 8 o'clock by Rev. Father Costello, when Alford Weatherhead and Anna G. Fisher were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. After the signing of the register and while the happy couple left the church, the Wedding March was rendered by Miss M. Doherty. They proceeded to the bride's home with their immediate friends and relatives, where a beautiful and substantial wedding breakfast was served, after which they left on a short honeymoon.

WOMAN COMMITTED TO HIGHER COURT

CHARGED WITH ADMINISTERING STRYCHNINE TO HUSBAND.

LISTOWEL, Ont., Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press.)— Mrs. Catherine Strickert, of Elma township, was committed for trial here by Magistrate Hamilton on a charge of murdering her husband, William Strickert. The principal witness was Dr. Kidd, of Atwood, the family physician. He told of being called and finding Strickert dead on the kitchen floor. His wife said he had apparently been all right a short time before when he went out to do the milking. Mrs. Strickert said there might be a reason for his taking something owing to her daughter Pearl having given birth to a child. Witness said that Pearl Strickert assented to this. Dr. Kidd said that death was apparently due to strychnine poisoning. George Currie, who has been keeping company with Pearl Strickert for four years, denied that he was responsible for the girl's condition. The Crown Attorney produced a confession the constables had obtained from Currie in which he stated that he was the father of the child. Currie declared he was forced to confess by the constables but admitted that some of the statements were true. The confession signed by the youth was not allowed by the court.

You suffer from Stomach Trouble and wish relief. The Stomach is the body reservoir, receiving and retaining all substances taken into the body through the mouth.

The Stomach requires an unimpaired strength to perform its duties ,and when this strength is denied, there immediately sets in a period of reaction. Then the food, instead of digesting, ferments. The result is that your Stomach becomes similar to a garbage can which has not been emptied. Any one can realize that this will cause a poison to be transmitted into the blood, which in turn may cause one of many diseases.

The Stomach needs strength Its only means of securing strength is through the Nerves which feed it.

A weak Stomach has weak Nerves. Weak Nerves are invariably the result of Spinal derangement, which may be the result of a fall, strain, or sitting unnatural positions. This derangement can be adjusted quickly and easily by CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTMENTS. The CHIROPRACTOR works altogether on the Spine at the place where derangements occurred.

There is no need of any one suffering from Stomach Trouble.

PACKERS RETURN TO OPEN SHOP AND IN FUTURE WILL DEAL WITH THE MEN ONLY

OLD AGREEMENT EXPIRES TODAY—FOUR LARGEST PACKERS LEAD THE MOVEMENT.

OUTLINE OF PLAN

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—The "open shop" was established to-day by four of the nation's largest packers.

Officials of the International Butchers' Union were notified by the packers that in the future only the employees, and not union officials, would be dealt with.

The agreement under which Federal Judge Samuel Alschuler acted as arbitrator in disputes between packers and union employees expired today, and in its place the "American ship representation plan" was established. The packers announced that more than ninety per cent. of their 76,000 employees in the country voted in favor of the plan. In all the large packing concerns the companies have formed its employees into organizations, representatives of which treat with the company officials in matters of working conditions and wages.

The packers that have thrown their companies into open shops are: Armour and Co., Swift and Co., Wilson and Co., and the Cudahy Packing Co. No announcement has been made by Morris and Co. of a shop representation plan.

With the announcement of the open shop came the statement that there would be no immediate re-adjustment of wages or working conditions, both of which remain the same as under the Alschuler agreement.

News that organized labor had been deposed in the packing plants hit like a bomb shell in labor circles. Pending conferences among union officials, no statements were forthcoming.

Charles Hays, president of the union; Patrick Gorman, vice-president, and Dennis Lane, business agent, called on the packers to-day and asked for a continuance of another year of the same wage scales and working rules as provided in the Alschuler war-time agreements.

At the Armour, Swift and Morris plants they were told that only their own employees would be dealt with in the future. They were told that only their own employees would be dealt with in the future. They were told at the Cudahy and Wilson offices that the superintendents were out of the city.

Attorney James G. Condon, packers' attorney, outlined the "American shop representation plan" in operation in the four concerns to the United Press as follows: All men and women are eligible to employment whether members of outside unions or not. No person may represent employees in the adjustment of grievances who is not an employee of the company.

The employees elect their own representatives by ballot. These representatives must be American citizens. Employees elected as representatives treat with executives of the companies in the matter of wage scales and working conditions.

MAY FACE A STRIKE.

Railway Shopmen Will Meet Next Week in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press).—The decision as to whether the United States will face a railroad strike may result from two meetings to be held here next week. On Sunday representatiaves of 500,000 shopmen will decide action on the wage cut and change in working rules. It is believed that the ballot of shopmen, engineers, conductors, and trainmen will favor a strike.

PARIS, Sept. 15.—(Special to the Examiner.)— French military experts to-day began preparation of statistics which will be submitted to the Washington Disarmament Conference to show that France is already reducing her armaments towards the limit of national security.

The Government has started consideration of agenda for Washington. Premier Briand will summon Parliament for October 18, when a vote of confidence will be moved.

IMPROVEMENT IN SITUATION WHEN CROP ON MARKET

FRANK L. PATTON SPEAKS OPTIMISTICALLY OF CONDITIONS GENERALLY.

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Examiner.)—"With the assurance of a splendid grain crop in Western Canada, the whole Dominion can look forward optimistically to renewed prosperity and a betterment of conditions generally," Frank L. Patton, Assistant General Manager of the Dominion Bank of Canada stated to-day.

"Estimates place the total grain yield of the west in excess of 500,000,000 bushels and this will mean that approximately half a million dollars will be placed in circulation when the crop is sold," Mr. Patton continued, "With this immense sum of money available business concerns will place larger orders than formerly and manufacturing and wholesale houses will experience a marked impetus in their business transactions," Mr. Patton said.

Speaking of the labor situation, Mr. Patton declared that the unemployed in all parts of Canada will feel immediately a great benefit from the general prosperity that will be sure to follow. He looked for a gradual reaction in the cost of living and a return to normal conditions by next summer. The building trades would be among the first to recover and next year should see a record one in building construction, he declared. The unprecedented volume of wheat that has passed through Winnipeg so far this year on its way to lake ports has done much already to improve business, he declared.

UNKNOWN BURGLAR SHOT BY POLICE

DYING IN HOSPITAL MAN REFUSES TO REVEAL IDENTITY

HAMILTON, Sept. 15.— (Canadian Prss.)—Unknown burglar was shot and probably fatally wounded by Chief Smith this morning when a man, along with a companion, was trying to enter a Burlington store. Asked to throw up their hands the men ran away, when the Chief fired, but it was not until he had cornered them the second time that he noticed one of the men had received a wound, the bullet entering the left hip and passing out through the groin. The man, who is not expected to recover, refuses to give his name, but says he has a wife and two children. "I'm going to cash my checks without speaking," he told hospital authorities.

Exhibits Break All Records Splendid Display of Cattle Visitors' Day Brings Crowds

MORNING TRAINS FROM COBOURG AND CAMPBELLFORD CARRIED MANY VISITORS TO PETERBOROUGH'S EXHIBITION—ALL INDICATIONS AT NOON POINTED TO BIG ATTENDANCE TO-DAY.

SHORTHORN CATTLE A FEATURE OF EXHIBITS

"Visitors' Day' at the Exhibition broke this morning with early evidences of accumulating crowds. The trains from Campbellford and Port Hope brought their separate contingents, including the Cobourg band and a numerous following from that district. Members of the transportation committee received with the delight that their plans had worked out so well, that the Peterboro Exhibition was becoming more widely recognized than ever as the big Fair between Ottawa and Toronto. G. T. R. officials reported that the Campbellford special train would be crowded going back tonight with visitors from Keene, Hastings, Campbellford and intermediate stations, but the special to Cobourg would be just comfortably filled.

Crowds Formed Early.

Before noon the extra street cars with their trailers began to pick up steadily increasing groups of visitors who had evidently decided to make a day of it at the Exhibition. With a flood of sunlight and the promise of more of it the directors were looking forward to big attendance. An eager and expectant spirit took possession of the secretary's office, as the weather man's kindly graces promises an abundance of the last element of the anticipated success.

Up town in the meantime George street was lined with the crowds who were waiting for the industrial and mercantile parade. And there were evidences there too that the city would contribut a large share of the afternoon's count through the turnstiles.

Automobiles Were Early

Many farmers from a district arriving in the city this morning headed directly for the Exhibition grounds and parked their cars in a circle around the show ring in front of the grandstand. By eleven o'clock a single row right around the ring had pre-empted the position of vantage affording an excellent view of the entire programme for the afternoon.

In various parts of the grounds family groups set out their dinner on the lawn, while others unloosed their hampers in their cars.

Great Shorthorn Show.

Allan B. Mann of Bridgenorth remarked this afternoon that the cattle exhibit at the Exhibition took preceedence over anything he had ever seen in Peterboro. He particularly emphasized the big showing of Shorthorns, in which class there should be the keenest of competitions in the judging.

Lacking further accommodation in the cattle barn and other stalls, a tarpaulin was stretched along the east fence this morning, this entire additional space being occupied by the Thurston and Boyd entries that came in late Wednesday night. This group includes twelve Herefords owned by W. M. Thurston of Dunsford. They are at the extreme north end, just inside the Lock street gate. Thurston and Boyd of Bobcaygeon have twenty head of Herefords in the adjoining space.

DIRECTOR OF FAIR FRACTURED HIS ARM

Chas. E. Moore of Smith Township, one of the Peterborough Exhibition Directors, sustained a fractured arm yesterday afternoon when cranking his car. He is back at his post on the grounds to-day with his arm in a sling.

ELECTION NEWS

OTTAWA, September 15. — Canadian Press. — R. B. Bennett, K.C., Calgary, has announced that he would not accept a seat in the reconstructed Meighen Cabinet. It is his intention, however, to run if he gets nominated in West Calgary.

Hon .C. C. Ballantyne has reappeared on the scene and the expectation is that he will stay with the premier.

Elevation of Major H. M. Mowat, K.C., Toronto, to the High Court of Ontario, is believed here to be a matter of only a few days.

It is expected that the line-up of the Cabinet will be announced very shortly.

SITUATION IN THE EAST.

Special to the Examiner.

HALIFAX, September 15. — It is now stated definitely that the Conservative party managers here will ask Hector McInnes, K.C., and ex-Alderman W. R. Powell, to be their candidates for Halifax city and county at the coming election. Neither one wants the honor.

It is stated that the party evidently intends to run some candidate for every seat, no matter how forlorn the hope.

The fact that McInnes is to be put in the field, confirms the report sent to the Examiner from here a week ago to the effect that he will be made a minister. That report said he was to be made solicitor-general, while Ottawa despatches now say he will be a minister without portfolio. This may mean the retirement of Hon. E. K. Spinney of Yarmouth, now Minister without portfolio.

A curious feature of the political situation in this province is that while the Farmer-Labor group is not considered strong, the places where it is liable to make a good showing are usually the strongest Conservative seats. In other words, in these seats, such as South Cape Breton, Cumberland, Colchester and Pictou, if the three parties run then the Liberal chances are all the better.

The Conservatives will be the third in most of them and their determination to put on a front may result in Liberal wins, while in strong Liberal ridings, like Queens, Shelburne and Lunenburg, Conservative candidates will mean a loss of deposits if three candidates are in the field.

Running McInnis and Powell as candidates, is likely to place P. F. Martin, the present government member for Halifax, in the Senate. The other Halifax member is Hon. A. K. McLean, who quit the government two years ago and is now seeking a Liberal nomination which he may secure either in Halifax or Hants counties.

IN THE WEST.

VICTORIA, September 15. —Canadian Press. — Premier John Oliver has summoned the British Columbia Legislature for special Fall Session to open October 18. The Daily Province says that there is a strong belief that Mrs. Ralph Smith, M.L.A., will not enter the federal fight, and that she will likely receive greater recognition in the Oliver Cabinet.

OTTAWA, Sept. 15. — (Canadian Press). — Premier Arthur Meighen announces Cabinet reconstruction at the beginning of next week, dissolution very soon, no by-election in West York, and the retention of Hon. C. C. Ballantyne.

"THAT MAN O'CONNOR."

OTTAWA, Sept. 15. — (Canadian Press).—The names of Peter Martin, John C. O'Mullen, and W. F. O'Connor, K.C., are mentioned in connection with the vacancy in the Senate caused by the death of Senator Power. It is thought that Hugh Guthrie will remain in the Cabinet, and H. H. Stevens, Centre Vancouver, and John Stewart are said to be certain entries.

Although not officially announced, it is understood that General W. A. Griesbach, M.P. for Edmonton, Alberta, has been appointed to the Senate.

INDUSTRIAL PARADE WITH FOUR BANDS MADE FINE IMPRESSION THIS AFTERNOON — LONGER THAN EVER AND INCLUDED STRIKING FLOATS—TWO VISITING BANDS IN LINE.

FLOOD OF SUNSHINE DELIGHTED DIRECTORS

1st—Barfies, Limited.
2nd—Canadian Packing Company, Limited.
3rd—William Stock and Son.

(This was the report of the judges who acted with Mr. Vincent Eastwood).

At one o'clock sharp the big industrial and mercantile parade swung into George street, headed by the Cobourg band. It was followed by a representation of the Fire Department, after which came the big truck of the Quaker Oats Company loaded with Quaker Oats products, a fleet of Sanitary Ice trucks and a well made up float representing John Macky of Bowmanville, manufacturers of Cream of Barley and other products. The Chemong Indian Band had a good turn-out and was followed by Miller, Cowell and Watson's "Electric Shop" float, a big fleet of Dustless Sweepers and a decorated Fordson tractor. The Pipe Band entered the parade at this point and headed an acceptable collection of commercial vehicles, representing Edward' Meat Market, New Centre Meat Market, the Campbell Milling Company with a large load of Cream of the West and other flour products, the Peterborough Creamery, G. J. Deck, milk producers, Ocean Blend tea, Fanning's Laundry, William Stock, bakers, and a large load of Reindeer flour, produced by the Peterborough Cereal Company. The band of the 57th Regiment followed and behind that came Barries furriers, with one of the best floats of the parade. A large polar bear and a cub, with imitation ice flows, were conspicuous features of the float. A Ford truck, representing Duffus Motor Sales and the following firms completed one of the best parades in the history of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition: Mackey's Better Bread, T. Hooper, E. Cooney, G. J. Jopling and L. Chernikoff.

ATTENDANCE WAS HEAVY.

Following close upon the parade came the van of the afternoon crowd swamping the ticket booths and the sellers posted outside the Park. When the procession circled the race track the grandstand was then more than half full with the earliest arrivals. The grounds were resplendent under the flooding sunshine, tempered by a light, cool breeze that made the weather conditions ideal. The midway was humming with the "Whip" snapping and the merry-go-round doing a capacity business. At two o'clock the cattle judges began their task, and streams of visitors were eddying through the exhibits buildings and also through the flower, fruit and vegetable tents. This classes had been judged this morning. The sheep and swine pens were full, and some of the sheep had to be placed in an enclosure outside. Every class had come through with a far better showing than last year, with the exception of flowers, which was more than satisfactory, but not so marked an increase as some of the other classes. For the first day encouraging signs that spelled success stood out all over the grounds, and with a continuation of to-day's amenities of the weather man the attendance and financial phases of the Exhibition will be assured.

DEMAND RECONSIDERATION

Business Men Throughout Canada Will Re-open the Question of Freight rates.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 15. — (Canadian Press.)—Immediate reconsideration of decision of Canadian Board of Railway Comissioners declaring for no reduction in freight rates will be sought by business men through their various organizations, it is forecast by Trade Board officials here to-day.

DEVALERA IS WILLING TO ENTER CONFERENCE AS THE SOVEREIGN STATE

Session Decides Retain W. Furzey

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 15. (Special to The Examiner.)—The Halifax District Trades and Labor Council, after a long session decided to retain William Furzey, a member of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees as President of the Council has its charter from the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, which at its recent annual meeting in Winnipeg, banned the Caandian Brotherhood of Railway Employees from membership. A meeting by pro-Internationals to elect a new President instead of Furzey, was defeated by 3 votes to 1.

BLAMES CHURCH FOR FAILURE TO AID IMMIGRANTS

DR. COLIN G. YOUNG SPEAKS OUT AT A PRESBYTERIAN SYNOD MEETING.

HALIFAX, N.S., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Examiner.)—That Canadian churches are largely to blame for the partial failure of immigrants of Europe to become Canadianized was a statement made here by Dr. Colin G. Young ,at the Presbyterian Maritime Synod meeting. Dr. Young is the Presbyterian church's agent for that work in the west, and he says although thousands of Ukrainians came to Canada filled with religious spirit and build churches before any other public building, still, through failure of Canadians to lead them, sixty-five per cent. of them to-day were unchurched."

The problem of Canadianizing these people, Dr. Young declared, was not one for either Federal or Provincial governments, but for the church. During a discussion on Presbyterian College finances it was stated that the Maritime provinces have given five times as many men per capita, to the ministry ,as any other part of Canada.

RAPPE FUNERAL AT HOLLYWOOD

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15. — (Canadian Press). — Arrangements are complete for the funeral of Virginia Rappe, for whose death Roscoe Arbuckle is being held on two charges of murder and two of manslaughter. Herman Jaurag, acting on the request of Henry Lehrman, finance of Miss Rappe, is to take charge of the body, which will be sent to Hollywood.

Proceedings against Arbuckle today were the scheduled return of manslaughter true bill, assigning of case to one of the superior court and a conference to determine th charge on which the comedian shal be tried.

EXHIBITION NOTES.

Credit Reg Turner, vice-president of the Fair Board, with the idea of the memorial just inside the George street gate. Many of last night's visitors congratulated the director upon the thoughtfulness expressed in this tribute to the soldiers who fell in the war.

Chief Newhall's squad of mounted policemen was composed of Constables Young and Carey inside the Park and Constable Thompson who had a roving commission outside.

The motor row is as interesting as ever and the exhibits in the Manufacturers' building are also well worth visiting.

W. H. Young has a creditable display of coleus in the flower tent. Of course, it is scarcely in the same class with Jordan Brothers' abundant showing, but it is evidence that Mr. Young is steadily branching out.

If the group displays by the Jordan greenhouses were absent they facturers' building are also wll worth show.

Everybody says that the Exhibition Board has gathered the best array of vaudeville talent ever seen at the Exhibition.

Black felt hats trimmed with patent leather flowers and with edges bound with patent leather are very smart.

REPLY TO THE INVITATION OF LLOYD GEORGE — DECLARES INDEPENDENCE.

DEFINITE STATEMENT

(Special to The Examiner)

DUBLIN, September 15. — Ireland will negotiate as a free State.

The reply of President DeValera to Premier Lloyd-George's invitation to a conference at Inverness, whcih was issued here to-day, contained this definite statement.

The British Prime Minister had insisted that Ireland remain a part of the Empire as a condition that must be accepted by the Sinn Fein before the conference could take place.

DeValera's note to-day pointed out that Ireland had already declared her independence.

It stated that the Sinn Fein had no objection to entering a conference to discuss the association of Ireland with the British Empire, but that Ireland would negotiate as a sovereign state.

DUBLIN, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Continuance of negotiations with the British Government with a view to establishing peace is believed here to depend largely upon the report submitted to De Valera and colleagues by Harry Boland and Joseph McGrath, couriers to Lloyd George.

The Prime Minister is said to have admitted that the Sinn Feiners had basis for some of the objections to his offer of Dominion status to Ireland, but he urged that these matters be discussed at the conference table.

Apparently something important is going on, judging by the activity at the Mansion House, but everything is still involved in mystification. A promised official communication on the situation was not forthcoming, and no information was given out beyond the statement that there was no probability of the reply being issued tomorrow.

The impression prevails here that even the Dail Eireann chiefs are no longer able to make a confident prophesy, and all seems to depend on the Prime Minister's patience.

The plenipotentiaries represent a shade of Dail Eireann opinion. Arthur Griffith is intended to be the dominating figure, and to his wing is credited George Gavan Duffy, former envoy at Rome. Michael Collins and Eamonn J. Duggan are powerful in the Republican army, the latter, with Robert C. Barton, signing the truce at general headquarters. Mr. Barton was serving a term in prison just before the truce came. takes an advanced view on financial freedom for Ireland.

The nearest approach to an Ulsterite on the delegation is Mr. Duffy, whose father was a Northerner.

In 1916 Mr. Duffy was a solicitor in London and was connected with the defence of Sir Roger Casement at the Jatter's trial for high treason.

The meeting of the Dail Eireann as concluded, and there no present intention of reassembling the "Parliament."

Note Not Delivered.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press).—The Dail Eireann's formal reply, as approved, is not likely to reach Inverness before the end of the week. It was not, as reported in some quarters, delivered yesterday to Mr. Lloyd George. The mission of Harry Boland and Joseph McGrath was simply to clear up certain questions with the Prime Minister before the delivery of the formal reply.

Nothing has leaked out as to whether the reply is an acceptance or non-acceptance of the invitation to a conference, but the fact that five Irish plenipotentiaries have been appointed is taken as indicating confidence in the continuance of the negotiations. Mr. Lloyd George is expected to remain in Scotland for at least another three weeks.

NEGROES ON THE RUN.

Another Race War in Prospect at Chattanooga.

CHATTANOOGA, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press.)—Negro families of Montlake are fleeing from their homes, pursued by white residents of the village, following the shooting of four white children last night. Jewel Clipper, negro girl, is said to have fired a shot gun at children while they were gathering at a spring over which both races claim right of precedence. Girl and brother under arrest and armed guards are patrolling the village. One of the children is seriously injured and may die.

NINE MEN KILLED IN FIRE AND A SCORE INJURED

TO-DAY'S NEWS OF THE DISTRICT

THE DISTRICT METHODIST MEETING HELD MILLBROOK

FORTY MINISTERS AND LAYMEN PRESENT---PETERBORO' REPRESENTED---MILLBROOK NEWS.

MILLBROOK, Sept. 15. — The financial meeting of the Peterborough District was held in the Methodist Church, Millbrook, on Tuesday, September 13th, with about forty ministers and laymen in attendance.

The opening session was held at 11 a.m., and was devoted entirely to routine business, hence only delegates were present, but the afternoon session, beginning at 2.30, was open to the public.

Unfortunately, the funeral of the late Miss Harriett Dean, who had a very wide circle of friends, occurring at the same hour, made it impossible for many who would otherwise have attended this session to be present.

After the usual opening devotional exercises, Rev. Prof. A. J. Johnston, of Victoria University, delivered a very able address on various phases of the educational work of the Church, emphasizing its importance, and the necessity of having sound doctrine taught in our schools and colleges founded on the one fundamental fact, salvation through faith in Jesus Christ.

Rev. Harold Young, of George Street Church, Peterborough, also gave an excellent inspirational address, which delighted all present, and was delivered with the force and eloquence which always characterizes Mr. Young's public utterances whether in sermon or on other occasions.

Missionary Address.

The concluding speaker was the Rev. Mr. Beaton, now home on furlough from China. Mr. Beaton's charge is the Sutherland Memorial Church in Chentu, the capital city of Sze-Cluean, and he gave a graphic picture of a pastoral missionary's life and work in the foreign field, stating that the chief object of all missionary work is evangelistic, but the missionary's big task is to discover and train leaders, and gave a few concrete illustrations of the discouragements that not infrequently come in his endeavor to carry out this

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

CARPENTER LOST PART OF HIS HAND—PERSONAL MENTION

CAMPBELLFORD, September 15. — Mr. Hugh Todd, of town, met with a very painful accident yesterday while he was employed at the Hydro construction works about a mile below the town. Mr. Todd, who is a carpenter, had his left hand caught in the planing machine —removing the fingers. The injured man was given immediate medical attention and was removed to his home.

School Fair.

The annual school fair for Seymour township will be held in the Agricultural grounds, Campbellford, on September 28th. Mr. Sirett, the district representative, and the school fair executive, have arranged a very interesting prize list. This fair is becoming more popular each year, each school striving for first place in the parades.

Rev. R. M. and Mrs. Patterson of Fraserville, spent a few days this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Adams.

Mr. Warrie Hay, who went west on the Harvesters' excursion, and who spent the greater part of his time in the Saskatoon district, has returned home.

Mr. Melvin McComb, who for some years has been the popular cheesemaker at Stanwood cheese factory, Seymour township, has removed to town and has purchased from Dr. Lillian Young, her house on Canrobert street north which he will immediately occupy.

Friends will be pleased to see Mr. John L. Hay about town again after being confined to the house the past two weeks through illness.

A large number of our townspeople are in Peterboro to-day taking in the exhibition.

Mr. Vincent Vitale was on a business trip to Peterboro yesterday.

HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE IN AN OIL FIRE

VICTIMS LOST THEIR LIVES BENEATH FLAMING TANKS OF OIL

INTENSE HEAT

PHILADELPHIA, September 15. Canadian Press. — Nine men are known to have been killed and more than a score injured, several of whom are expected to die, in the second serious fire to visit the Big Point Breeze plant of the Atlantic Refining Company, in a month.

Three more men are reported missing and may have been burned to death beneath the flaming tanks of petroleum.

The fire was preceded by a terrific explosion which drenched workmen with flaming oil before they could leap to safety, killing several instantly. Others employed furthe back from the tanks were sprayed with the searing petroleum and painfully injured. Only the prompt action of the company's organized squads prevented the death list from mounting higher, it was declared.

A dense pall of smoke accompanied the first blast, making it difficult for the rescuers to reach men who were frantically trying to save themselves from being burned to death.

The explosion occurred in the north section of the yard, where several hundred men are employed in the manufacture of naptha.Many of these work in underground tunnels where fires that boil the crude product into naptha are maintained. Some of the dead were trapped in these tunnels by veritable rivers of liquid fire let loose uopn them by the blast. So fast did the blaze travel that even those working in sections of the tunnel some distance from the tank in which the explosion occurred, could not leap to safety before being badly burned.

The intense heat hampered the efforts of rescue workers. Flames shot more than a hundred feet in the air and the under-tunnel passages became seething masses of fire ,close to which the city firemen were unable to approach for several hours.

It is feared that the three missing men were trapped in these tunnels and no hope is entertained for them if such is the case. Most of the bodies recovered were burned beyond recognition.

Officials of the Atlantic Refining Company were unable early to-night to explain the explosion, the second fatal accident of the kind to occur in a month. The first was on Aug. 4. when four men were killed and property damaged to the extent of a million dollars.

Seven small summer homes were destroyed. One body was reported found in the ruins and two men were said to be missing. A number of concessionary stands and bungalows were burned.

RECORD DISPLAY OF CATTLE AND HERDS AT EXHIBITION

NEW EXHIBITORS AT PETERBORO'S FAIR AND LOYALTY OF BREEDERS WHO HAVE SHOWN HERE BEFORE HAVE COMBINED TO MAKE THE BIGGEST AND BEST EXHIBITS EVER SEEN HERE---POULTRY CLASSES ALSO CROWDED AND SUCCESS FROM EXHIBITION POINT OF VIEW SCORES HEAVILY.

ATTRACTIONS SPLENDID

Peterboro's own Fair opened on Wednesday night with the biggest and finest displays of cattle and horses in its history. All the local records were broken and the directors were jubilant at the success of their efforts to attract exhibitors from a wider territory than ever. In practically every class there was not a sign of disappointment.

"Positively the best lot of exhibits I have ever seen here," was the statement of W. J. Cox, second vice-president, who at ten oclock, when the night crowd was starting for home, opened the Lock street gates to admit the forty head of Herefords, owned by Boyd and Thurston of Bobcaygeon, which had just then arrived. They comprised two car loads, and made an imposing showing in themselves.

New Accommodation Insufficient.

There was no roof for them last night. Every stall was occupied, and the new cattle barn was full. Highly gratifying as it was to the directors in charge of the catttle to receive this numerous entry, they regretted that the extra accommodation was insufficient to house every animal shown this year. That incident alone, speaks volumes for the quantity, and presumably the quality of the cattle exhibits. It is stated that a tent will be put up for the overflow.

In the horse class the situation was almost identical. The horse barn was taxed to its fullest capacity, and there wasn't an empty stall along the south fence, although some of them had been taken by earlier cattle exhibitors.

Big Poultry Show.

Over in the poultry building extra coops had to be ordered last night and the directors in charge of this department, Messrs. Joe Kelly, Harold Baptie and Fred Holmes, were hanging up a record of their own. All the coops for the anticipated demand were full, and it was stated that Harry Lush had something like 150 birds coming.

Attractions Best Ever.

The other attractions were more than holding up their end of the exhibition ,and in the meantime this year's grandstand performance revealed itself as positively the most entertaining ever seen here. Every act was of a high order, such as seen on the leading vaudeville circuits, the community singing proved a capital feature, the fireworks were exceptionally good, the Cassady children in their folk dances, delighted the spectators, the Peterboro Rangers were in good form, and the whole programme, running two hours, was thoroughly entertaining.

Such in brief is a first impression of the Exhibition, and it was made under weather conditions which while not exactly unfavorable, did not conduce to enthusiasm. The intermittent rain earlier in the day had had worried the directors, but when it passed over and the clouds parted occasionally to give a glimpse of the full moon ,the optimism of the members of the Board revived.

With the glowing satisfaction over the splendid exhibits in the agricultural classes, and the fine displays in the Manufacturers' and Merchants' buildings ,the directors were confident that the patronage of the citizens and of the farmers throughout the district, would set up an attendance record which would remove the last doubt of the all round success of the 1921 exhibition.

From New District.

The cattle display, while not calling for effusiveness ,is one of the real encouragements of the Fair. Among the exhibitors noticed last night were Garnet and Thomas Kerr of Seymour Township. This is the first time they have ever shown any of their big herds at the Peterboro

"RED" MICHEAL BREAKS WITH THE FARMEES

EDMONTON, Sept. 1.—(Canadian Press.)—The outstanding event of National Progressive conference in Edmonton yesterday, attended by Premier Greenfield, Hon. T. A. Crerar, H. W. Wood, President of the United Farmers of Alberta, and other heads of the Farmer movement, is a definite split between the Agrarians and Dr. Michael Clark, M.P. for Red Deer. Dr. Clark declares that the idea of group government was distasteful to him and that he would not stand for dictation.

Dr. Clark's letter to Mr. Crerar follows:

"After our recent conversations it will not greatly surprise you to learn that you cannot count on me as a candidate in Alberta in the forthcoming Dominion election.

WILL VISIT THE PREMIER ON VACATION

MAYORS OF LONDON BOROUGHS NOT DETERRED BY REPLY OF LLOYD GEORGE RE UNEMPLOYMENT.

LONDON, Sept. 17. — Mr. Lloyd George, who is in Scotland, has replied to the telegram sent him by the Laborite mayors of various London boroughs Tuesday, protesting against any solution of the unemployment situation which would throw on the taxpayers a burden which, it was declared, should be borne by the State, and also announcing that the mayors purposed a visit to Inverness to interview the Prime Minister.

The reply of Mr. Lloyd George said the Prime Minister did not consider any useful purpose could be served by meeting the mayors at Inverness. He added that representations could be made to the Cabinet committee appointed by the Government expressly for the purpose of considering unemployment.

A second telegram was sent to the Prime Minister yesterday, intimating that it was the determination of the mayors to proceed to Inverness on Monday, and, if necessary, to Gairloch, where Mr. Lloyd George is on vacation.

TRENT RIVER HAPPENINGS

COMING TOGETHER.

A remark made by Lord Byng in opening the Ottawa Exhibition seems particularly appropriate to the local Exhibition. Canada's new governor-general declared that one of the chief benefits of the annual fairs was to bring people together. Undoubtedly Lord Byng is right. In Peterborough to-day are people from all over the Midland district, from the farms, villages, towns and cities, men from different sections and of all walks of life. The Exhibition brings them together and they get acquainted with each other's viewpoint. No institution does more towards bringing city dwellers and the country people to a common ground of understanding than the annual exhibition. The city's business men and the prominent farmers of the district work hand-in-hand on the Exhibition Board, and they get to know each other and learn to look at things from the other fellow's standpoint. The recreation and educational ends of the Exhibition are important it is true, but it is doubtful if they are of any more real community value than is the coming together of so many different classes of people. As the Toronto Star puts it, "Socrates—and later Paul—used the market place at Athens. A lot of moderns use the big fairs."

SPORTSMANSHIP?

The other day the Examiner commented upon an article by John B. Sheridan, an American baseball writer, who lauded what he called "the will to win" of the American people and upheld that spirit as one that should be retained and developed. It was pointed out that the British view of sport was based on the principle that the game itself was bigegr than the result. Sometimes one is inclined to wonder whether we in Canada are beginning to get away from the British love of fair play and substitute for it the American "will to win." The other day two nearby villages staged a baseball game for the possession of a cup offered for annual competition between the teams of the two villages. When the teams took the field, however, it was discovered that the majority of one nine consisted of players from this city, while the opposition had secured the services of a number of players from outside centres. Both villages seem to have wandered far away from the path of clean sport and it is difficult to imagine how any fair-minded resident of the centre which won could obtain any satisfaction from the result, or why any sportsmanlike inhabitant of the other village should feel any chagrin over the score: The incident may seem a trivial one, but it nevertheless is a sign post indicating that many people are placing more value upon winning than they are upon the means taken to bring victory about.

THE MAYOR'S MESSAGE.

In a message to the people of Peterborough His Worship Mayor McIntyre commends the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition to the patronage of the citizens. His Worship is quite justified in officially endorsing the Exhibition and his declaration that it is an institution that is very beneficial to the city and the whole district of which the city is the centre, and that the directors are "doing a work in the interests of the community," must be gratifying to the directors. From a small beginning the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition has steadily developed into an annual event of great importance to this section of Ontario. It has meant hard work on the part of the Exhibition Board; it has meant the sacrifice of time and money, the giving up of hours that might have been devoted to recreation or to the furthering of their own interests, and the only reward that can possibly follow is the reward that comes from a realization that the people appreciate what has been accomplished and are solidly behind the directors in their efforts to maintain the steady advancement of the Exhibition. The confidence that exists in the Exhibition Board should be demonstrated by an attendance of the citizens of Peterborough that will leave all records behind. And the people are reminded that one visit to the Exhibition does not allow one to see half the features of this year's show. Go two or three times if possible and you will not be disappointed.

CAPITALIZING ORATORY.

The Agrarian party may be new to the political games, but in some particulars they are able to show the two old parties some fresh wrinkles. When a Government or Liberal leader is to address a political meeting a public hall is engaged for the occasion, a band is usually hired to enliven the proceedings and the public is invited to come in on a free basis to hear the oratory. Financially, of course, such a programme shows nothing but a deficit. The Farmers have found a better scheme than that. Premier Drury, Hon. Manning Doherty and Hon. W. E. Raney visited Port Arthur yesterday and spoke at the big agricultural picnic, thousands of people from all parts of Wellington county pouring into Port Arthur to hear the addresses. Did they get an opportuity to listen to the U.F.O. leaders without contributing to the funds of the Agricultural Society? Not much. Each of them paid 50c. for the privilege and the result was a handsome sum for the Society's coffers. There is an opportunity for the old political parties indicated by the Port Arthur gathering. Why give away all the oratory when it can be retailed. Hon. Arthur Meighen or Hon. Mackenzie King could be billed, for instance, at regular theatre prices, their lieutenants at a reduced scale and the small fry of the party orators could be booked on the ten, twenty, thirty system. The U.F.O. has shown the way.

A PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY

Unemployment presents a grave problem in Canada to-day. The summer months, which usually open up many seasonal occupations, have not provided the absorption so necessary to relieve general conditions. In all the larger centres the army of workless people remains undiminished. Consequently unless the problem is dealt with energetically and without delay, disastrous conditions will prevail next winter.

Although a great responsibility in this connection undoubtedly rests with the various governments, there is a personal responsibility which cannot be overlooked. The present industrial depression is largely due to the extensive purchase in foreign markets of goods that could and should be manufactured at home. The enormous sum of eight hundred million dollars was expended by Canadians last year in the purchase of American-made goods. One explanation of this outlay is attributed to the prevalent idea that imported goods are better and cheaper than the home-made article. The repudiation of this theory is a responsibility which might well be undertaken by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. The public should be shown the exact extent of its own responsibility for present trade conditions and encouraged by means of a carefully orgaized campaign to demand Canadian goods whenever a purchse is made. Fair wages, and honest values would, of course, be necessary to the success of the campaign. Canadian manufacturers cannot expect the public to purchase tariff-protected goods of an inferior grade at a price equivalent to that asked for imported goods.

Another personal responsibility devolves upon those who have the means and opoprtunity of giving employment even though only of a temporary character. Every day's work helps some idividual and the country collectively. Depression is only encouraged by pessimism. It behooves every citizen, therefore, to consider their personal responsibility in the matter of expending money in the manner best calculated to promote national prosperity and stability.—The Veteran.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The London jail authorities will feel a little better now that a prisoner has succeeded in escaping from Sing Sing.

Getting out of jail seems about as easy as getting in these days.

Those who have not yet been mentioned as probable members of the new Cabinet need not worry. Their turn may come to-morrow.

Eventually—why not to-night, is a reasonable question in connection with your visit to the Exhibition.

Hon. F. B. Carvell says the freight rates should come down, but the rest of the Board declines to make any change. Another sad jolt for the people.

THE JOY OF LIFE.

The lasting joy of life is not in the winning or the losing of the race. It is not, except incidentally, in the largeness or smallness of the opportunities given. It is in the completeness with which we meet our opportunities and are content to accept with untroubled soul and tolerance of failure the chance for giving such love and service as actually falls to our lot.—Arthur T. Hadley.

JURY ASKS FOR INVESTIGATION ARBUCKLE CASE

SAN FRANCISCO WILL NOT BE A HAVEN FOR DEBAUCHES AND GANGSTERS.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 15 (Canadian Press). — The coroner's jury returned a verdict to-day holding that Miss Virginia Rappe, motion picture aetress, came to her death through peritonitis caused by the rupture of an internal organ.

Roscoe C. ("Fatty") Arbuckle was held responsible by the jury for Miss Rappe's injury, and the District Attorney was directed to conduct a full investigation of the matter.

The verdict charges Arbuckle with manslaughter, and directed that all official sources concerned conduct a full and exhaustive investigation.

The verdict, in assigning the cause of Miss Rappe's death, said:

"We, the coroner's jury, find that the said Virginia Rappe, aged 25, single, residence Los Angeles, came to her death on 9th September at the Wakefield Sanitarium, from a ruptured bladder; contributing cause, peritonitis.

"And we further find that said Virginia Rappe came to her death from peritonitis caused by a rupture of the urinary bladder, caused by the application of some force, which, from the evidence submitted, was applied by one, Roscoe Arbuckle.

"We, therefore, charge the said Arbuckle with the crime of manslaughter."

An Investigation.

"We recommend that the District Attorney, Chief of Police, Grand Jury, and Prohibition Enforcement Officers take steps to prevent a further recurrence of such events, so that San Francisco will not be made the rendezvous of the debauchee and the gangster."

Ben Boas, one of the jurors, returned a minority verdict, in which he said that Miss Rappe's fatal injuries were caused by the application of some force, "but I am unable to say who applied it."

Two charges of murder, one preferred by the police and the other by Mrs. Bambina Maude Delmont, friend of Miss Rappe, and two charges of manslaughter, one returned by the Grand Jury and the other by the coroner's jury, rest against Arbuckle.

The coroner's jury was out for more than three hours after an examination of witness, which started last Monday.

Arbuckle, although apparently deeply moved, accepted the verdict with composure. The verdict was the outstanding event of the Arbuckle case to-day. Other developments were:

Witness Located.

The starting of an investigation into charges that Liquor was brought to and served at the Labour Day party in Arbuckle's rooms, where Miss Rappe was alleged to have suffered the injury which ended in her death.

The finding of Betty Campbell, show girl, and one of those attending the party, after she was reported to have disappeared, and her interrogation by the District Attorney.

The statement of Captain of Detectives Matheson that one of the girl witnesses who had attended the party had been asked to accept a bribe to withhold her testimony.

District Attorney Brady said he had not decided what course to pursue in regard to the murder complaint, in view of the manslaughter charges, but would settle the matter before Friday, when Arbuckle appears in Police Court to plead to the murder charge.

The Grand Jury indictment for manslaughter is to be returned in the Superior Court to-morrow.

WANTS HIS MONEY.

LOS ANGELES, September 14 (Canadian Press). — Raymond Gould, an interior decorator, has filed an attachment against all the known real estate owned by Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle in Los Angeles as a detail to a suit for $11,400 which Gould said was due him for decorating the house and grounds of Arbuckle's residence here, it was announced to-day.

This was the second attachment brought against Arbuckle's property here, the first having been filed on Monday by a furniture company, which claimed that Arbuckle owed the company $6,500, said to be the purchase price of twenty-five pieces of furniture.

Don't Pay Twice

If you pay bills in cash, there is always the chance of receipts being lost or destroyed, and of your being asked to pay the same bill twice. How much better to deposit all your pay in a Savings Account in The Merchants Bank and pay the bills by cheque. There can be no dispute then, because the endorsed cheques are indisputable evidence that you have paid.

GOING HOME TO KENT JR.
Chapter 63.

On the way back home in the train Kent turned to me and asked—

"Isn't it fine, Babs? What do you think you really liked best—best of anything about the place?" he questioned with boyish pleasure.

"Let's see—" I mused, shutting my eyes a minute and visualising a mental picture of it all. 'I think I loved that old apple-tree by the side of the piazza. It looked so quaint and protecting, the way its twisted branches lean toward the house. Do you think it will bear apples and have blossoms on it in the spring?" I asked with joyful anticipation.

Kent laughed happily and caught hold of my hand.

"Gee, Babs, you're a regular kid—I hardly knew there was an apple-tree in the yard."

"Of course I loved the house, too, all of it," I declared, pressing his hand reassuringly. "What did you like about it, dear?" I returned.

"Well, I liked it all, too, Babs. The fireplace took my eye. It's a dandy. And then did you notice what a fine furnace there was in the cellar?" he enthused, his brown eyes shining brightly.

"Now, Kent, that's as funny as the apple-tree," I teased.

"Who would ever think of liking the furnace? I hardly noticed it at all except to think that it looked very uninteresting."

"It's practical and sensible anyway," he defended.

"Yes, I guess it is, but an apple-tree is beautiful and artistic," I said laughingly. "I wonder if I should enthuse most about the kitchen, dear," I suggested a trifle self-consciously.

"Not a bit of it, Babs," he declared vehemently. "That will be Nancy's special domain and we won't mind if she does a little enthusing over it. That's just why we are moving to the country—so you and the boy can be out of doors just all the time, dearest," he commanded most earnestly.

"Yes, Kent," I answered, "but I won't have you spending too much time in the cellar, even if you are in love with the furnace," I teased. "Anyway I might get jealous of it."

Then suddenly my thoughts flew back to Kent Jr., and I wondered if he was getting along all right with Nancy. I wondered if he had missed me, and just what he would say when we got back. I longed to hug him to my heart again.

"What's the trouble? You look so serious, dear," Kent interrogated suddenly. He leaned over and searched my face with questioning brown eyes. I thought how much the baby's own eyes were like his as I looked into them.

"I was just thinking of our boy, and wishing we were home with him," I answered. I did not want to tell Kent how strangely worried I was.

"You are not worrying?" he questioned, with a shadow of a doubt across his own face. I found it difficult to keep even my thoughts hidden from him.

"N—no," I said slowly, trying to force a smile to my lips. Why should I worry him I thought to myself, when, perhaps, my own foolish fears were ungrounded.

"All right, what shall we take home to the boy?" he asked. I knew he sensed my anxiety and wanted to turn my thoughts to other things.

"Let's get some flowers, dear, he loves them so," I told him smilingly. "And very soon perhaps he can have a little flower garden all his own," I added happily. I caught Kent's hand and squeezed it tightly under cover of the newspaper which lay across his knees.

During the remainder of the trip we talked of other things, and I tried to stifle my foolish forebodings, but again and again they would come rushing over me with a sudden sickening sensation at my heart. I was indeed thankful when the train glided at last along the platforms of the Grand Central Station.

THE DISTRICT METHODIST MEETING

part of his Master's business.

A missionary's first impression, Mr. Beaton stated, is of the great masses of people—he may be the one Christian in a heathen community of from 15,000 to 50,000 population. A Chinaman is not a pioneer, they dread a journey so much that millions of them never go even fifteen miles away from home in the course of a whole lifetime—hence it is a superlatively difficult task for a native evangelist to begin work in a new centre. Usually the missionary must do this, no matter how crowded his time with the duties of the field where he is already laboring.

The speaker closed with a very touching incident, making an appeal for the great needs of the field. A doctor's wife had had a box of chocolates sent her from home; now, chocolates, when sent out in this way, are almost an unknown thing in China; the missionary's children may grow up into their teens without ever having seen one. In this doctor's home was a little boy, whose great chum was the son of the Chinese gateman, and several times a day the little lad came in asking for two candies—one for himself and one for his playmate. But the box was disappearing rapidly, and finally his mother said: "I cannot afford to give you chocolates for this Chinese boy. Here is one for yourself, though."

Somewhat troubled in conscience, she watched to see what her son would do—saw him bite his candy in two and give half to his Chinese friend, says: "If mother can't afford to give you a whole one, I can give you half of mine."

A Hard Winter.

This promises to be a hard winter, Mr. Beaton concluded, but for the sake of the great needs of our brothers across the sea, we must surely forego some pleasures or luxuries; "divide our chocolate" with those who are hungrier than we are for the gospel story with its message of life and hope.

Rev. S. F. Dixon, of Lakefield, presented the report of the Missionary Committee, which was adopted, after some discussion. It provided that the "Inaugural Day" for the fall misisonary campaign should be Sunday, October 9th; then on the second Sunday in November there should be an interchange of pulpits, and the following Sunday a supply for each pulpit on the district, as far as possible, would be obtained from the mission rooms in Toronto.

It was also decided that every reasonable endeavor should be made to secure the twenty-five per cent. increase in missionary money that has been asked for.

Rev. Mr. McLaughlin, of Pontypool, announced the bi-ennial Conference Epworth League Convention to be held in Peterborough October 7, 8, and 9, when it is expected that over three hundred delegates would be in attendance.

After the offering was taken, Rev. Mr. Dixon dismissed the gathering with the benediction.

RED PIMPLES ITCHED TERRIBLY

On Chest, Face, Arms, Burned Badly. Cuticura Heals.

"Ever since I can remember, my chest, face, and arms were filled with dry, red pimples. They were scattered all over me, and itched terribly at times, and I scratched them, causing them to fester and get sore. Sometimes they would dry away and form scales which burned badly.

"Then I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I had used them two or three times when I felt better and I was healed with one box of Cuticura Ointment together with the Cuticura Soap." (Signed) Miss Bertha Kase, Russell, Manitoba, February 19, 1919.

exhibition. Their farms are some three or four miles out at Campbellford. Thomas Kerr is showing Ayrshires and Garnet Kerr, Jerseys. They made up a car load of cattle and came to Peterboro to compete with the breeders of this district. Seymour township, Thomas Kerr told the Examiner, is known as the Ayrshire township and its Ayrshire Breeders' Association is one of the foremost in the country. Any of their members would be a valuable acquisition to the Fair, and the Messrs. Kerr are therefore all the more welcome in the fact that they represent an agricultural district that has an established reputation, and that they are new-comers to Peterboro. William Roberts and Sons have also a fine showing of Ayrshires. Isaac Hetherington's Jerseys and the Holsteins owned by James Seymour and Son of Ida, were other big herds noticed last night, in addition to the Leason and the Boyd and Hetherington entries.

THREW A STONE AT A MOTOR CAR

DRIVER HAD HIS EYE INJURED---HASTINGS NEWS

HASTINGS, September 15. — On Tuesday afternoon as Mr. Buchanan of Havelock was driving along the Norwood Road, just out of town, some children who were playing by the roadside, threw a stone which broke the windshield of his car, knocking some pieces of the glass into his eye. He at once sought medical assistance and had the particles removed, and it is hoped that nothing serious may result.

Knocked Down.

Another accident which might easily have proved more serious, occurred on Tuesday, when Mr. Al. Service was struck and knocked down by a motor car which had just rounded the street corner. Mr. Service was badly shaken up and cut about the head, but is still around.

Baseball Game.

A very interesting game of baseball was played here to-day between a team from Colborne and the locals. The game proved very interesting throughout, and resulted in a score of 6 to 3 in favour of the home team. Quite a number from Colborne accompanied the boys to cheer them along.

The Late Mr. Walsh.

The funeral of the late Mr. Walsh was held on Tuesday morning, service being held in the church, after which interment was made in the church cemetery. Mr. Walsh was for many years a highly respected resident of Hastings, being intimately associated with the Hastings Tanning Company. A few years ago he disposed of his property here and removed to Toledo, Ohio, where he passed away. The body was brought home by railway, and the remains laid to rest near his old home.

Social and Personal.

The fall millinery is now on display, and is being admired by the fair sex.

Miss Madeline Service, who is in the hospital in Peterborough, is gradually improving.

Miss Lapp is the guest of Mrs Charles Jones.

Mr. Carlos Runnels and Miss Queenie were in Oshawa on Tuesday.

Miss Eva Ellis was in Oshawa on Tuesday.

Do This

Then see if your friends notice prettier teeth

Make this pleasant ten-day test. See what it does for your teeth. Then judge for yourself — by the clear results — how much this method means.

Millions of people have thus found a way to whiter, cleaner, safer teeth. And you will also find it.

It fights film

This method combats the film on teeth — that viscous coat you feel. Film is the teeth's great enemy. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays.

Brushing in the old ways does not end this film. And most tooth troubles are caused by what is left.

Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Very few people have escaped these troubles caused by film.

Two new methods

Dental science has now found two methods to fight film. Many careful tests have proved their efficiency. Leading dentists everywhere now advise their daily use.

The methods are embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. Other factors, now considered essential, are included with it.

Pepsodent combats the film with every application. It keeps teeth highly polished, so film less easily adheres.

It also stimulates the salivary flow. That is Nature's great tooth-protecting agent. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva, to digest starch deposits which so often cling and form acid. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

Thus every use brings five desired effects which old methods failed to bring.

The modern way

Pepsodent is based on modern research. It does what authorities now regard as essential. Half the world over it is displacing old methods, largely by dental advice.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

Watch all the good effects. The book we send will tell the reason for them. Then decide if this method, in your family, should supersede the old. Cut out the coupon now.

FREE

This Ten-Day test costs you nothing. Simply mail the coupon. Then watch the delightful effects.

UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM.

EDMONTON, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press.)—The third annual western convention of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy opened here with a large attendance.

Premier Greenfield, who represented the provincial government, asked for the co-operation of the institute in the development of Alberta's coal industry and also asked the aid of the mining men in relieving the unemployment situation. He said:

"I am opposed to soup kitchens and that form of relief and would like to ask you to employ during the winter months, if possible, as much extra help as you can."

Chairman Whiteside stated the institute would be glad to co-operate with the provincial government.

DENIES ALLEGATION.

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 15. — (Canadian Press.)—Keen resentment was felt among local golfers and officials of the Mantioba Golf Association when shown a despatch from New York to-day quoting Gaston Monnet, a large French distiller, as stating that he saw between 500 and 600 bottles of whiskey produced after the Canadian amateur golf tournament recently.

There was no suggestion of such a thing," said one prominent official. "It is an absolute, unadulterated, slanderous lie."

EQUALLED TROTTING RECORD.

SYRACUSE, Sept. 15. — (Canadian Press.)—Peter Manning, driven by Tommy Murphy, equalled the world's trotting record for all horses, regardless of age, by covering a mile in 1.58 at the State Fair track here late to-day. Peter Manning was started to beat 2.00, the world's record for five year old gelding.

CROWN COLONIES.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—In regards to the scheme for grouping the Crown Colonies as outlined to-day in the Times, enquiry at the Colonial office shows that nothing is known there of any scheme having been put in definite shape for a new administration for the Crown Colonies.

FIRE DESTROYS BLOCK.

LONDONDERRY, N.S., Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press.)—Fire yesterday destroyed the post office building, the principal business block in the town, the meat store of James Delay and several homes. The blaze had its origin in a defective grate in the post office building.

The loss occasioned could not be ascertained up to a late hour to-day.

MANION WILL RETIRE.

FORT WILLIAM, Sept. 15.—An unconfirmed report from Ottawa, where Dr. R. J. Manion is now visiting, states that the sitting member for Fort William constituency will not be a candidate in the forthcoming election. Regarded as a cabinet probability, his withdrawal is regarded with surprise and concern here, where his election was regarded as a certainty. Pressure of private business is given as a likely reason for his temporary resignation.

MARKET SUMMARY.

MONTREAL, Sept. 15.— (Canadian Press.) —Trade in cash grain to-day was quiet. There was nothing new in the flour situation. The tone of the millfeed market is strong but trade in rolled oats was quiet. The undertone is still easy to the baled hay market. There is no change in the egg situation. The market for potatoes continues quiet. Trade in butter is fair and the cheese market was without special feature.

Much At Peterboro Exhibition Which Is Of Interest To Women

The Horticultural and Ladies' Fancy Work Section Is Well Stocked With Exhibits

There is much at the Peterborough Exhibition which is of interest to women. Besides the stock and vegetable products, in which all rural ladies are no doubt interested, there is the purely ornamental side of the fair—the horticultural exhibits, where prizes are given for the best collection of cut and potted flowers, of verandah and window boxes, of hand and table bouquets; the ladies' fancy work section, where centre pieces, serviettes, tea cloths, scarves and pin cushions, underwear, bed and table linen, curtains, bags, lamp and candle shades and babies' outfits are on view; returned soldiers' and sailors' work in basketry, bead work, needle work and wood carving; the exhibits of children's work, the labor of small boys and girls throughout the whole of the year, giving excellent samples of the work carried on at the summer playgrounds, in basket weaving, wool work and knitting. There are exhibits of children's handiwork in the art section also, and one of the attractions of the fair is the children's choir, which sings today, 250 strong, unison and part songs, with alto and soprano, under the capable leadership of Miss M. R. Rannie, and accompanied by Miss C. Caldwell, President of the Women Teachers' Guild of Peterborough.

There will be a rest tent for tired mothers and weary trippers, a dance hall for the light of foot, a dining tent and numerous refreshment booths, all conducted by women, and no one should fail to visit Mr. J. R. Brownlee's booth in the annex, where the busy fingers of this blind worker will give a demonstration of ornamental and useful work.

The Trinity Ladies' Aid Society Celebrated Fiftieth Anniversary

Interesting Reports Presented---Other Societies Invited To Join In Festivities

The rally of Trinity Ladies' Aid Society, held at Reid Street Hall on Tuesday afternoon, at which about 90 ladies were present, was a success in every way. The hall was prettily decorated in white and gold and these colors were carried out also in the dainty refreshments, symbolizing the golden jubilee of Trinity Church celebrated by this auspicious occasion. A pleasant musical programme was provided by a vocal solo from Mrs. Davidson, pianoforte selection by Miss Doris Phillips and reading by Mrs. F. McNeely. Addresses were given by guests present, who represented the Ladies' Aid Societies of St. Andrew's Presbyterian, George Street Methodist and Mark Street Methodist Churches.

Mrs. R. J. Kidd, President of Trinity Ladies' Aid Society, who presided at the meeting in a few well-chosen words welcomed the three sister churches present. The speaker recommended for this, the memorable golden jubilee year, the motto, "I can do all things through Christ who strengtheneth me," and "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might," concluding with the words, "Let us get together as an aid, and hand in hand, as it were, climb to the great and glorious heights of the possibilities in this, our golden jubilee year."

Mrs. A. J. Throop, President of Mark Street Ladies' Aid, with wishes for a successful jubilee year, remarked on the efforts being made at present by her society in aid of the new Sunday School. Mrs. Throop recommended spiritual readings and good music for the meetings of the aid societies, with help to the suffering and needy as outside activities, for "we must live in the house by the side of the road and be a friend to man."

Mrs. F. L. Robinson, President of St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid Society, brought cordial greetings from her society and sincerest wishes for an increase in the powerful influence of the society in the congregation in both material and spiritual things, saying, "Although we labor in our societies to secure money for our church buildings, we labor even more for a larger friendliness amongst all the women, for a deepened zeal for the cause of the Kingdom, and for a clearer vision through our labors of the Master Himself."

Mrs. H. E. Foote, President of the George Street Ladies' Aid, extended the hearty greetings of her society towards Trinity Ladies' Aid, and congratulating the ladies on the success of their undertakings in the past, wished for them that "this may be the best year you ever had and the worst year you will ever have."

A pleasant social hour and the enjoyment of refreshments served by Trinity Ladies' Aid Society brought to a close an enjoyable and interesting afternoon.

Simple Frocks

The simplest of simple little frocks are the most correct things to wear just now. Also to be in the first of the fashion they must be embroidered. Sartorially speaking, life is "just one darned thing after another" for everything, even tailored clothes, are embroidered with elaborate darnings in gaily-colored wools or silks. They nearly all have loose panels, which swing from the hips, and the newest have their coat collars buttoned high up to the chin. These, however, most of us stoutly refuse to button, for we are jealous of any encroachment on our open necks—and we leave them open in a deep V, showing an undervest of some contrasting color. The waist, which is now located in the region of the hips, by the way, is outlined with a band of broderie, from which the side panels spring. To be very up-to-date these panels should drop slightly below the hem of the skirt, to give the new uneven outline. All the smartest frocks have hats and coats to match them, and both should be embroidered and trimmed in the same way as the dress. The buttons of the new coats are especially decorative, and are often of carved ivory, amber, jade or coral. They are sometimes precious and elaborate enough to supply the clou of the whole suit. The keynote of this season's frocks is an artistic and studied simplicity. In no department of life is simplicity gaining greater ground than in dress. And it is a simplicity born of genuine artistic feeling which can never be improved upon. The woman of taste will always dress with simplicity, restraint and harmony, thereby showing her wisdom, for they reach infinitely nearer the goal of dress perfection than all the elaborations of frills and furbelows and originalities which, in spite of their cleverness, just miss and mar the desired effect.

Taste For Travel

"A sense of music or a taste for travel are facts to be accounted for—it is perfectly true that many persons appear to exist in comfort without them—but it is another question as to how far the world without them could exist at all.

"America, for example, would still be represented on our maps by leagues of barren water if Columbus had not been inspired with a fine frenzy. St. James Hall would never have raised its head in Piccadilly, nor the opera house stood in Bayreuth, if Beethoven and Wagner had not been moved by an impulse, that not even they themselves could explain, to scribble dots and dashes on and between five lines arranged like a hurdle. The world would have been a poorer place without these inexplicable emotions which hard-headed persons may denounce as secretions of the liver, but which yet have crossed seas, climbed mountains, discovered inspiration in the crash of brass, melted lovers' hearts by a contact of a horse's mane and the clockwork of a cat, wakened the dead to life, and set the world a-singing."—Papers of a Pariah.

FUR COAT

Her coat is of gray broadtail, the new fur of the coming season, which bids fair to be a most popular contribution in the realm of furriness, both for its attractive appearance and wonderful wearing qualities. This jauntily cut short coat is collared and cuffed with Hudson seal—a very effective combination.

THE LURE.

"What bait do you use," said a
Saint to the Devil,
"When you fish where the souls of men abound?"
"Well, for special tastes," said
the King of Evil,
"Gold and fame are the best I've found."
"But for general use?" asked the Saint. "Ah, then,"
Said the Demon, "I angle for Man, not men,
And a thing I hate
Is to change my bait,
So I fish with a woman the whole year 'round."

To Free Your Arms Of Hair or Fuzz

(Boudoir Secrets.)

No toilet table is complete without a small package of delatone, for with it hair or fuzz can be quickly banished from the skin. To remove hairs you merely mix into a paste enough of the powder and water to cover the objectionable hairs. This should be left on the skin about 2 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed when it will be found free from hair or blemish. Be sure you get the genuine delatone.

Sarcastic Girls

Men do not fall in love with sarcastic girls. At first they may be attracted, not because they feel any distinct admiration, but the girl who is quick-witted usually does attract, and at first her caustic remarks may make them laugh.

That she has a superior wit and is much admired and sought out the sarcastic girl is convinced of, but she doesn't seem to notice that it is always a fresh crowd round her, and that she has no power to hold those who on first knowing her may have been among her most enthusiastic admirers.

When she feels herself being left alone her remarks get still more acid and more often than not she becomes an acrimonious old maid.

Men do not fall in love with her, simply because they are afraid of that caustic wit of hers. There is always the uncomfortable feeling in their minds while laughing at the so-called witty things that she says about others, that she talks in the same way about them when their backs are turned.

Brightness and a sense of humour are admirable in their way, but when a girl employs the latter in an endeavour to say funny things at another person's expense she is running the risk of making herself highly unpopular.

The New Pose

It is said that the day of the flapper is at an end. With the coming of the new fashions dignity is to replace impudence, and a mature and distinguished mien the youthful ingenue air that has been the fashionable pose for so long. Some artificial attitude, some affectation we must always assume apparently. We so soon get tired of being natural—or perhaps we hardly know what it is. That seems to be a real historical fact, paradoxical as it may appear. Woman has never been natural—never content to be natural—from the earliest times. Even the cave-woman painted her face with the juices of berries, and in Aristophanes we read that the Athenian women of his day laced tightly, wore high heels, dyed their hair yellow, and rouged their faces. Not quite the picture we have of them in imagination, certainly. One of the most brilliant satirists of our time has elaborately propounded the theory that Life imitates Art more than Art imitates Life, and that in reality Nature imitates Art, not Art Nature. We must camouflage our natural selves, and can't be happy unless we do. The latest new conceit is to affect white hair. Bobbed hair is already a fashion of yesterday. If you have not the desired white streak among your tresses you must bleach one to acquire the correct and distinguished effect. Frocks, hats, cloaks, evening dresses and coiffures all show the decline of the youthful pose and the return of a more stately cult.

Art Of Packing

Have you ever watched a careless woman throwing her things together anyhow, and then sitting down on her suit-case to strap and lock it preparatory to setting off for a holiday? She may get all her belongings in after a fashion, but they are hopelessly creased and in nowise improved by her haphazard method of packing, whereas if they were sensibly, not to say scientifically, arranged, they would emerge not one whit the worse.

To hear some women talk the one drawback to a holiday, even of a week-end's duration, in their estimation is the trouble of collecting and packing the necessary articles. The knack which is easy enough, is acquired by practice and the exercise of forethought and commonsense.

It is a good plan, some time in advance of any absence from home, to examine periodically trunks, hat-boxes, etc., and have locks and straps overhauled and repaired if necessary. Equally desirable is it to write out a list of the actual necessaries—this can be pasted in the inside of the lid of the week-end suit-case for reference, and each item ticked off as it is packed. Luxuries and superfluities may be added, later if space permits.

In these days, when porters are so elusive and taxi-men so autocratic, it is a counsel of perfection to travel light, and carry only what one can handle oneself in an emergency. One must provide for comfort, sufficient change and emergencies, and it is far wiser to dispense with an extra evening or afternoon frock, or several blouses than leave behind the "woollies" or the jumper which will make all the difference to one's physical well-being should the weather become cold or wet.

Heavy Articles First.

There is no departing from the good old rule of heavy articles such as boots and shoes first. Wrapped in paper or enclosed in bags, these form the foundation, and their interests may be filled up compactly with underwear, stockings, etc., and everything of a soft nature. Bottles, well wrapped up in corrugated paper, should be wedged in among the soft goods, and the idea is to pack everything so firmly together that no space is left to allow their getting out of position and rolling about, even when subjected to drastic treatment.

Blouses, frocks and hats should not be packed until the last moment almost. Gowns, if they cannot be stretched at full length, should either be carefully folded with sheets of tissue paper between each fold or else rolled in a ball. Crepe de chine and charmeuse take no harm from this method, and only require shaking out when their destination is reached. Sleeves should be stuffed with soft paper, but nothing as a rule should be turned outside in.

Hats are always a difficulty unless packed in hat-boxes. If they can be sewn or pinned down to a thick coat or something of the sort they usually travel well. Occasionally it is an advantage to send them by post, but a card-board box, unless possessed of very strong corners, is scarcely proof against the many risks run nowadays.

A Small Hand-bag.

If there is any danger of the luggage being delayed on a long journey it is wise to provide one's self with a small hand-bag in which the actual necessaries for a night may be bestowed. It leads to awkward predicaments if one's belongings are held up over night, for one's hostess or landlady may not always rise amiably to the occasion and provide for all one's wants.

Much waste of time and trouble is averted if all luggage is marked in some distinctive manner with red or blue labels, or anything which will prove a means of ready identification at crowded stations.

The labels should be clearly and correctly addressed, and in case of going astray should bear the exact designation of hotel, boarding establishment, or house for which the owner is bound.

A New Position

Miss Isabel C. Armstrong of Toronto, who has friends in Peterborough, former editor of the Women's Department of The Daily Star, Toronto, has accepted an important position on the editorial staff of The London Advertiser. Miss Armstrong, who is recognized as one of the foremost of Canadian journalists, will have supervision of The Advertiser's Women's Department, and will, as well, be a frequent contributor to the editorial page on a wide range of subjects. She is an authority on child welfare, women's industrial and kindred problems, and is a writer of highest ideals.

After graduating in piano, Miss Armstrong began her newspaper career in London. In 1910, she became editor of the Women's Department on The Regina Leader. Returning to London in 1914, she was associated with The Advertiser staff until 1919. Among special work done in that time was the conducting of a trip contest in the spring of 1915, writing a series of articles on 'Export Expansion in War-time," and the editing of a weekly "Consumers' League" page, inaugurated in connection with the war-time thrift campaign.

She was associate editor of The Week-End Mirror, going to The Toronto Star in January, 1920, as editor of the Women's Department.

HOW TO PLAN AND PREPARE A "BONNET" (PORCH) LUNCHEON

A bonnet luncheon makes a most attractive porch luncheon. The guests, numbering sixteen, may be served at four small tables. The four bonnets made for each table are alike in cut and color, and match the table decorations. Pink, lilac, green and yellow are the colors chosen for this special occasion. The bonnets of organdy are made in representative shapes of those worn by women of four countries, and as they are the luncheon souvenirs, they must be well made.

The invitations are in the form of little pasteboard bonnets, prettily painted. They state that after the luncheon there will be a debate, the subject of which will be the achievements of women of the four countries chosen. A tiny flag in the corner of the invitation shows the guest at which table she is to sit, and she may prepare herself with knowledge concerning women of that country likely to be of debatable interest.

Local libraries are rich in this sort of lore. England, Italy, France and America are the countries usually chosen, though others may be substituted without changing the general idea.

The Italian table should be covered with a green art square of linen. Silver should be laid for the first course, and use green china if possible. The flowers for decoration are white roses. Green bonnets are tied to the backs of the chairs, and above the table floats an Italian flag.

The French table, under the floating tri-color of France, has a pink art linen cover, pink china and pink and white sweet peas for decorative beauty. Pink Brittany bonnets are tied to the chair backs.

England is represented by the British flag. Lilac dishes are used on the lilac linen square, while spring violets, heliotrope or other purple flowers, form the decorations. The bonnets follow the Queen Ann model.

Yellow is reserved for the American table. Old Glory floats above it and a yellow sunbonnet is attached to the back of each chair. Yellow linen, yellow dishes and yellow and white flowers make the table dainty and attractive. The place cards are yellow butterflies attached to the rims of water glasses.

Each table shares in the first course of dainty fruit cocktails. Next a cold fruit soup is offered, and each cup is capped with whipped cream tinted to match the predominating color scheme of each table at which it is served.

Next, an international course is served, that is, four small portions are served to each of food familiar in the four countries—a little meat pie for the English table, some spaghetti for the Italian table, artichokes for the table of France, and for the American table buttered lobster. Tiny hot rolls and butter are served with this course.

Novelty, however, is usually welcomed, and a luncheon of this kind lingers in memory longer than one of the conventional sort.

After the debate music may be enjoyed in an informal way, though something should be prepared in case the ladies do not respond generously to the subject of the debate.

Each wise hostess of experience knows that she must prepare most of the programme herself, for the tendency of most persons is to expect rather than to give amusement to others. Music, or perhaps a reading, may help out in a tight place.

One woman makes it a specialty before giving an affair of this kind to read a modern novel so she can tell the story in half an hour or less to her guests, and has made a great success of the idea.

Brown Your Hair With "Brownatone"

Give the Natural Beauty of Your Face a Chance.

SEND FOR TRIAL PACKAGE.

Every woman knows that a pretty face loses its beauty when framed by faded, gray, streaked or bleached hair. Even wrinkles and blemishes are not so disfiguring as streaked or faded hair. It is unfair to your children and husband, and most of all to yourself, to look older than you really are.

"Brownatone Is My Best Friend."

"Brownatone" will tint your streaked, faded or bleached hair to any shade of rich, soft brown, or glossy black if preferred, and take ten years off your looks.

"Brownatone" cannot be detected, will not rub or wash off, is odorless, and greaseless.

Absolutely Harmless.

This safe and harmless preparation is used and endorsed by thousands of women in business and in society.

MINERAL OIL
FOR CHRONIC CONSTIPATION

By buying this produce from us, you can get the Highest in Quality that can be procured at an ESPECIALLY LOW PRICE.

There are many thin Oils on the market that are not suitable for internal use; other Oils have irritating qualities which render them also unsuitable. The one we are selling is Guaranteed thick and entirely pure.

It is recognized that a good grade of Mineral Oil is one of the best remedies for CHRONIC CONSTIPATION that is being used. It acts mechanically and does not irritate the intestinal tract, nor does the dose have to be constantly increased as is the case with ordinary purgatives.

It is much better and cheaper than Castor Oil as a laxative for Children, since Castor Oil has two effects, the first of which is purgative and the second or after-effect, which is Constipating.

PIONEER DAYS OF DOURO

By IDELL ROGERS, Cobourg.)

The early history of most municipalities is insufficient in supplying details of the personnel of the first settlers; but when it comes to Douro Township old records show that not only the Stewart and the Reid families were the first settlers, but also that they took with them a goose and a gander, a pullet, two kittens and two dogs. The name of one of the latter, it may be remarked in passing, was "Douro." Up to this time the wild dangers of the forest had roamed through the thickly-wooded lands unmolested by any canine intruders.

Imagine, if you can, the party as they left Cobourg on Feb. 10th, 1823, almost a century ago, for their new home in Douro Township. There were Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, their three children and a maid in one sleigh, and also a driver. They took the precaution of having lots of blankets to wrap about them, for it was a 36-mile drive over a rough road. A second sleigh conveyed the baggage and live stock—bedding, boxes, trunks, tubs, hampers, and on top a basket containing a goose and a gander; also a second, in which were a pullet and two kittens. A servant boy rode with them, having as his companions two dogs, "Cartouche" and "Douro."

The First Day.

The first day they drove twenty miles through the woods, seeing here and there a clearing and a log house, and usually several cattle about. By 4 o'clock they had reached Page's tavern and decided to spend the night there. This was a much patronized hostelry, but it only had one sleeping room to place at the disposal of the travelling public. As there was no fireplace or other means of heating the "bed-room," the Stewarts spread their bedding on the sitting-room floor, covered themselves with coats and blankets and so passed the night.

The Second Day.

Rising at daylight the next morning, they breakfasted and again set out. The road from this point on was merely a blazed track, showing where two or three vehicles had passed. The driver skilfully piloted the party, the sleigh turning and returning in order to avoid clumps of brushes and fallen trees, so that progress for the last sixteen miles of their trip was necessarily very slow. Two or three times they were obliged to stop until trees that had fallen and completely blocked the track were cut away.

The second day after covering nine miles of their journey they came to Scott's Mills, a spot that will always be memorable in the history of Peterborough County. This mill had been built two or three years before.

During the nine miles they had travelled up to that point, the only human habitations that the Stewarts passed were some Indian huts. Mr. Scott had a boat, but as the river was frozen along both banks, this was useless. There was no mode of conveyance to take the party across the river to their forest homes, which Mr. Reid and Mr. Stewart had erected during the autumn and early winter.

Undaunted Spirits.

But the spirits of our pioneer settlers, both women and men, remained undaunted, even in the face of many discouraging difficulties. A man was sent across to tell Mr. Reid, at his homestead in Douro, to meet them a little farther down the river with his oxen and sleigh. Mrs. Reid, Mrs. Stewart and the children then walked about two miles to Little Lake through the deep snow, where they crossed on the ice. The men carried the beds, baggage and possessions over, but the rest of their household effects were left at Scott's Mills for a time. The sleigh and oxen were in waiting on the other side of the river, and a further drive of five miles brought them to their new homes.

Fair Housing.

They found their house in a very unfinished state, with doors "layed to," but not hung, and the upper part of the chimney built of boards, as the frost had prevented them from going on with mason work. It was a more pretentious dwelling than the usual type of log house. Rough boards, which Mr. Stewart had brought across the lake, were laid overhead for a ceiling. The crevices between the logs were carefully filled in with moss gathered from the woods and fastened in place by mortar. Mr. Stewart had thus by many devices succeeded in constructing a more comfortable habitation for his family than the usual type of log home. But when it came to making the interior of the structure attractive, Mrs. Stewart showed herself to be a marvel of ingenuity. Along one wall of the big living room hook shelves were put up, and upon these their cherished store of books was arranged. Underneath the book shelves were cots, which the children occupied at night, neatly upholstered in red calico. Out of a long box with a mattress upon it a sofa was improvised. A shelf with a curtain before it held a jug and wash basin. Above it on a higher shelf was Mrs. Stewart's dressing box, while a third contained the children's toilet articles. A cord fastened across one end of the room with a curtain that could be let down at will converted that corner into a neat little dressing room. A bedstead occupied another corner of the living-room. Boarded up at the foot, it looked more like a closet than a bed. Around the inside Mrs. Stewart hung sheets to hide the rough boards and logs, and on the outside were curtains. All dressing apparatus was carefully stored away after being used, the beds made and the room aired before breakfast. There was also a low narrow shelf for the children's books and toys, for with a large family living mainly in one room orderliness had necessarily to be strictly enforced.

There was also the cherished mahogany "chest of drawers" brought from the old home across the sea. A year or two later Mrs. Stewart's piano was sent out from England to her, fortunately arriving safely. It was the first instrument of its kind in Douro and an article of much curiosity.

When Mr. and Mrs. Stewart and their family left Cobourg to settle in Douro a Mr. Henry, who kept a store at the former place, promised to send them provisions, and this promise he carried out, although it necessitated a 36-mile trip over rough roads.

Cost of Living.

Writing to a friend in the Old Country, Mrs. Stewart quotes the following prices: Beef or mutton, 2½ pence to 3 pence a pound; potatoes, 9 pence a bushel; butter, 7½ pence a pound, and milk 2 pence a quart. She added: "We bought a milch cow for three pounds. All dry goods and shoes are bad and dear."

One of the principal articles of the barter and exchange systems carried on between the early settler and the storekeeper was potash. Mrs. Stewart in her letter says: "'L.' (her husband) is going to manufacture potash. The process is simple, and as it sells well he thinks it will pay the expenses of clearing our land. One must pay high for labor. The common wages for a chopper are $12 a month."

The Coffee Mill.

One of the handiest contrivances in those early days was the coffee mill, and more than one storekeeper loaned his coffee mill to some families in order that they might grind up a quantity of flour for home use. Some families brought what was called a hand-mill with them from the Old Land. When the men came in at night their work was not completed until they had ground a quantity of wheat into flour (and black it was at best) to be made into bread. Others who did not have a hand-mill used to pound the flour out in a stump hollowed out for the purpose, before grist mills were established. When the men came in from their chopping and clearing they brought with them often pine knots, and if the supply of tallow candles was short, these knots, which were filled with turpentine, were ignited and made a bright light for their work in the big log living-room.

The Stewarts had a hand-mill and their hired help assisted in the evening in grinding flour for the culinery needs of the following day.

Outcoming Friends.

Having established themselves in their forest homes, Mrs Stewart and Mrs. Reid were naturally interested, as indeed were their husbands and families, in the probability of friends in the Old Land joining them here. Accordingly, we find her writing this to some friends who were "coming out": "As to the expense of building a log house, we contracted with the Americans to build ours for $40. They were to cut down and prepare the timber. We provided only boards for flooring and sashes for windows. The shingles are made by the contractors. This house is forty feet long by twenty feet wide. Weather and all things permitting, a house is habitable in a month or less."

Soon after their arrival in Douro both tea and sugar soared to famine prices. This led the Stewarts to tap the maples as early in the spring as it could be done, and they were thus able to obtain a very excellent supply of sugar. They "laid in" sufficient of this to last for the year. They also boiled the hemlock benches and made tea, but Mrs. Stewart records: "This was not at all to our taste." Another article of food and also used for sweetening purposes was pumpkin treacle. This was made by pressing the juice out of pumpkins and boiling it until thick.

MRS. SELIGMAN FINDS BURGLAR UNDER BED

Masked Man Robs Her and Mrs. Lewisohn of Jewelry in Adirondack Camp.

LAKE PLACID, N.Y., Sept. 14.—Police of the principal Adirondack villages are co-operating with the police of New York, Albany and other cities to the south, and Malone, Plattsburg and Montreal on the north, in a hunt for the burglar who early Friday morning entered the upper Saranac Lake camp of Mrs. Isaac N. Seligman, of New York, and escaped after robbing her and her camp guest, Mrs. Adolph S. Lewisohn, of jewelry valued at approximately $10,000.

Mrs. Seligman, who reported the robbery to the police of the village of Tupper Lake, stated that she was awakened by a noise in her bedroom at 5 o'clock in the morning. She did not throw on the room light, but used a small hand flashlight to investigate, and discovered that the drawer of her dresser was on the floor and its contents strewn about the room.

Then Mrs. Seligman discovered a masked man beneath her bed. She heeded his warning not to scream, but retaining her presence of mind as he crawled from his hiding place covering her with a revolver, she backed to the wall and, unnoticed by him, pushed the button connected with the bell which called her maid.

The burglar evidently heard the bell, he dashed for the door just as the maid was about to enter. The maid screamed loudly, awakening the household. Realizing that the game was up, the masked man jumped through a window and ran toward the lake shore, where he disappeared among the trees.

It is thought the thief arrived at and left the camp by boat, as a police dog followed his footsteps from the camp to the water's edge, where the trail was lost.

Investigation showed that the robber had also been in the room of Mrs. Lewisohn and that several pieces of jewelry of value were missing.

No complete list of the missing articles has been given out, but it is known to include a diamond ring valued at $4,500 and a green jade necklace of great value. It is believed that the robber was a New York professional and pawnshops throughout the State and in Montreal are being watched in an effort to recover the stolen jewels.

It is declared that the question will not be discussed at the conference, because Japan and the United States will make a direct settlement.

FIND MEMPHIS WOMAN IN GREENWICH LAKE.

Her Body Weighted With Stones Leads Officials to Believe Mrs. Biggs a Suicide.

GREENWICH, Conn., Sept. 14.—Within a few hours after she had wandered away from Blythewood Sanitarium on the Stanwich Road here, the body of Mrs. Albert Biggs, a prominent resident of Memphis, Tenn., was found in a lake on the Maurice Wertheim estate in Coc Cob, formerly the Ernest Thompson Seton property.

In her clothing was found stones with which she had evidently weighed herself down. There was also a note stating that her body would be found in the lake on the Wertheim estate.

Medical Examiner John A. Clarke gave it as his opinion that Mrs. Biggs committed suicide, and that death was not accidental.

It was while a weekly musicale was being held at the sanitarium that Mrs. Biggs, who was herself a concert and church singer, left the hall and walked out on the veranda, where she seated herself for a time.

Soon afterwards the attendants discovered that she was missing, and the local police and volunteer firemen were notified.

A searchlight finally revealed her body in the lake, which is about a quarter of a mile from the sanitarium.

Mrs. Biggs, who is 42 years old, had stopped at the sanitarium off and on about six times in the last two years, her condition not being regarded as at all serious.

It was said that she had come there for a complete rest. She is survived by one son. The body was sent to Trenton, near Memphis, Tenn., for funeral and interment.

No man's steady character will enable him to keep cool in warm weather.

BANTA'S KIDNEY AND RHEUMATIC PILLS

Will Do What Is Claimed For Them

People who are suffering from Kidney or Rheumatic Ailments should not neglect these troubles as they are often the symptoms of serious disease.

You may have only a Backache or Dull Pains when bending or lifting, puffing under the eyes, swelling of the feet or ankles. These are sure symptoms of Kidney Troubles, and as the Kidneys are the Blood Filters they may become too weak to carry off the poisonous gases which form in the system.

Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills will correct this trouble, relieve the Bladder and Kidneys just as some good laxative like Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Tablets will relieve the Bowels.

Dozens of well-known people of this city are willing to give Testimonials for the benefits they derived from Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills. For instance, Mr. Arthur Pinch of this City says that they have done him more good than all the other medicines that he has taken.

Mr. Thomas Oldham says they have no equal, but we would prefer you would be the judge yourself. Go to any Druggist of this City, get a Box and try them, and if they fail to help you, return the box to him and he will Refund Your Money.

The Social Club had a very enjoyable corn roast on Monday evening at Hague's Point in honor of Messrs. R. W. Douglas and W. J. Lemay, who leave this week for Toronto. Between 50 and 60 were present and after the roast was over they finished the evening with a jolly little dance in the club room.

Miss Algenia Trude is returning to Rochester, N.Y., with Miss Celeste Heughes of that city, who has been spending the summer with her at her home, Little Lake Farm, Smith.

LOST 29 POUNDS DYSENTRY WAS THE CAUSE

Dysentery is one of the worst forms of bowel complaint, and hardly any other disease so quickly undermines the strength and brings about a collapse that often terminates fatally.

To check the unnatural discharge without bringing on constipation you should use that grand old remedy with a reputation extending over 76 years,

DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT WILD STRAWBERRY

Mr. G. H. McVagh, Mawer, Sask writes:—"About eight years ago I had a severe attack of dysentery. I was sick for three weks. I weighed 154 lbs. when I took sick and 125 when I got it stopped. I think I tried every medicine on the market but did not find relief until I used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Straw berry, and one bottle did it. I think there is nothing like it for diarrhoea or dysentery. I always keep some on hand as a person does not know when he will need it."

HAPPENINGS IN HAVELOCK

HAVELOCK, Sept. 15.— There are many sports from Owen Sound, Toronto, and London, registered at Mr. Wood's summer home at the head of Gull Lake. They are anticipating a good duck shooting as reports from that district say wild game is fairly plentiful.

Rural School Fair

The school fair is to be held in Havelock, Tuesday, Sept. 20, and preparations are being made for it. The U.F.O. are having a booth and Belmont I.O.D.E. will sell tags and home made dainties in aid of the Memorial Gate for Havelock Central Park.

Real Estate Changes

Willard H. Hubble of Belmont, has sold his farm to Arnold Dafoe for the sum of $1,900.

James Gilbert has sold his property to his sister, Miss Mary Gilbert for $1,500. Mr. Gilbert is going west.

Charles R. Baker has sold his farm in Belmont to James Gillespie for the sum of $2500. Mr. Baker has purchased a farm near Stanwood.

New Rink.

Havelock is thinking seriously of erecting a new covered ring for curling and skating.

MOTOR ACCIDENT

Mr. Ernest Dast and little son, were seriously injured when their car ran into a ditch. The accident was caused by a faulty wheel. Mr. Dast suffered a broken arm, while his son was picked up unconscious. They were taken to the hospital, where both are improving slowly.

Social News.

MORE MEN THAN WOMEN HAVE APPENDICITIS

Medical reports show men are more subject to appendicitis although many sudden cases occur among women. It can be guarded against by preventing intestinal infection. The intestinal antiseptic, Adler-i-ka, act on BOTH upper and lower bowel, removing all foul, decaying matter which might cause infection. It brings out matter you never thought was in your system and which may have been poisoning you for months. Adler-i-ka is EXCELLENT for gas on the stomach. McDermid & Jury Jury and E. L. LIQUOR CASE.

GODERICH, Ont., Sept. 14. — (Canadian Press).—Thos. Clark, of Morris Township, pleaded not guilty yesterday to a charge of selling a still to John Link, a baker of Blyth, last May. He is out on bail of $1,000, to appear at session on December 13th.

BROKE THROUGH PLANK, FELL DOWN A SILO.

Harold Teal, of Warsaw, Dropped Face Downward and Sustained Bad Bruises and Painful Cuts on Face.

Warsaw Happenings.

WARSAW, Sept. 15.—On Saturday afternoon Mr. Harold Teal broke through a plank fastened some way about the middle of an inside silo and fell, face downword, about 10 feet upon the cement floor. He sustained some bad bruises and has a nasty cut in the lower part of his face.

School Fair.

The School Fair is to be on Friday, Sept. 23rd, and the committees are very anxious that all entries will be in place in good time—11 a.m.—so that the judging can be gotten over early.

The Caledonian Band is expected. There will be a prize for the best school parade.

The Fair will be held in Mr. Allan Payne's field. No booths are to be erected except those whose proceeds go to the School Fair, and what money is over this year's expenses will be placed in the bank, so there can be some on hand to start on next year. The exhibits will be in the agricultural tent. There will be a rest tent and in it for sale a few articles, provided by such members of the Woman's Institute as care to help. The sports will be in the field where there will not be the dust nor the danger for the children.

The Woman's Institute are preparing a good concert, to be given in the Town Hall in the evening.

Trustees Met.

There was a meeting of school trustees on Tuesday evening last to make arrangements for the Fair, and another meeting will be held on Saturday evening.

Rally Sunday.

Rally Sunday will be observed in the Sabbath Schools in the village the last Sunday of this month. The Methodist teachers are making especial preparations.

The union Presbyterian and Methodist meeting will be held in the Presbyterian Church on Friday evening of this week.

The Methodist people still have their weekly prayer meeting on Wednesday evening and the Baptist on Thursday.

Filling Silos.

Silo-filling is the order of the day among the farmers.

Tea Meeting.

The tea meeting and concert given by the Bethel people on Thursday evening last was a wonderful success. The supper was excellent; everything that could be served was there at its best and abundance of it.

The programme consisted, in part, of vocal solos by Miss Ada Sutherland, Miss Hughes, Miss Hamilton, Mr. Henry Batten and Mr. Walden of Peterborough; selections by Lakefield quartette and Bethel quartette; piano solos by Mr. Clark, and an address by Rev. Hinton of Hastings. Rev. Weir was Chairman, and in the middle of the programme and also at the end was community singing. Those who went enjoyed themselves well and were much pleased to reach home at a reasonable hour.

On Friday evening there was a social.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Matthews returned from their trip West on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor spent a few days in Toronto last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Edwards went to Toronto to attend the Exhibition last week.

Miss Mae MacDonald has gone to Pittsburg, Pa., to be with her father.

Mr. Hector Munro is attending High School in Norwood.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Crapp are moving to Lakefield. These estimable people are leaving that their son, Norman, may attend High School and be at his own home. A school with a continuation class would have kept them here. Not every family is so placed that they can move to give a child educational advantages. The majority have either to keep the children at home with no further schooling or have them board if they attend continuation classes.

Mr. Charles Foster has bought Mr. Crapp's house and will move this week.

Mr. McCrae, District Agricultural Representative, was in the village last Tuesday evening on School Fair business.

Miss Alice Payne has returned from her trip to Hamilton and Toronto. She will be ready to resume her teaching after Sept. 17th.

Rev. Girard Graham was visiting at his home last week.

Messrs. Wallace Anderson and David Miller, also Messrs. E. R. Hamblin and Rufus Payne attended the Masonic service in Lakefield Methodist Church last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. David Drain and family spent Sunday at Roseneath.

A LITERARY EVENING AT WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Warsaw Ladies Spend Delightful Time With Books and Magazines.

WARSAW, Sept. 15.—The regular monthly meeting of the Warsaw Woman's Institute was held on Friday afternoon.

The Woman's Institute will provide supper for the Caledonian Band on the evening of the School Fair, Sept. 23rd. They will also give $5.00 towards expenses and $5.00 to be divided among three for prizes for an essay on Lloyd George, not exceeding 500 words. Open to pupils of all the schools taking part in the Fair.

At the next meeting the subject of "Rest Room" will be taken up.

It was decided that Warsaw Institute had the right to have the honor of being representative for the institutes of Peterborough.

Rev. Mr. Vose gave his address on "Books and Magazines We Should Read." He began by asking how many had read a novel during the past year? How many took The Ladies' Home Journal, The Canadian Home Journal or any woman's paper? While The Ladies' Home Journal is a good magazine, our Canadian magazines are struggling to produce the best and should be helped. Americans sometimes wonder why they see so few Canadian journals. It has been said Canada has no literature. If so, it is because Canadian authors get no support at home. They have to go to England or U. S. to get a living, or to be appreciated.

The difference between good and bad reading matter must be referred to taste. Taste is not born with one; it must be acquired. You might as well expect to be born with a silk hat on your head as with good taste. Taste must be cultivated; bad taste is poor judgment.

Read Classics.

Many say they cannot read classics. If they trained themselves they would wish to read nothing but what is good. Read books which have stood the test of time. Many books of fiction are good and are like a desert—a certain amount is good—but all fiction is unwholesome.

The speaker gave examples of how reading books had affected people's lives, such as Scott, Wilberforce, Hudson, Carey, etc.

Scott's reading had kept him from committing suicide, and when he was dying he wished to be wheeled to his library and asked to be given the book. He was asked which book, and replied, "The Bible, the book of books."

When people are doing heavy work and are weary, a light work of fiction often relaxes and does good; but to form the habit of novel reading exclusively is pernicious.

Come in touch with and read the masterpieces of English literature. No other country has such an array of good and great writers. Read books of travel, of biography, of history. The influence of these books will show its good effect on life, thought, language, spelling, etc.

Be careful in choosing magazines. The great majority of magazines sold on trains are not fit to be read.

If we are to read good books we must have models. Do not read a book because it is new. Wait a year and then perhaps you will not need to bother.

Read Systematically.

Start reading in some systematic way. Haphazard reading will not get us anywhere in literature, any more than haphazard methods in anything else will ever bring us very far in that line. Read all you can on your own particular work, also on your own particular hobby.

Read true books. One who has books and reads is rich. He has companions of all ages who constantly give up their best.

The knowledge how to get the best needs to be cultivated.

The person who has read of a certain place, say India, can call to his mind mental pictures of that place the moment he hears it mentioned. To those unread it is simply a vague place, nothing more.

People who do not read are so apt to be limited in their vision and narrow in their ideas. He mentioned some books in particular.

REMEMBER RIDE ON DEWITT CLINTON TRAIN

LANSING, Mich., Sept. 14.—(United Press).—The tour of the Dewitt Clinton (N. Y. C.) train though Michigan brought to light that this State can claim first honors in the matter of having among its residents first passengers of the old pioneer of the twentieth century limited.

Mrs. Maryanne Mann, 90, Grand Rapids, claims to be the only living woman who rode on the train during its period of operation. She was enthusiastic in describing her experiences when the train visited her locality, claiming it was "unsafe" for children.

Despite her assertion, John T. Berner, 96, Marshall, claimed to be the only living person who made the initial trip with the train, says he found riding comfortable at the age of 6, when his father, the conductor of the train, took him on the first journey. Berner was wheeled to the station at Marshall to view the old Dewitt Clinton on her exhibition trip through the State.

Hats for Autumn Costumes

Daring or Demure to Suit the Mood of the Moment

THE magpie vogue is charmingly illustrated in a variety of models in the new Millinery presentations, white panne with black monkey fur being particularly smart. Piquant little shapes called "Amazone" for wear with full frilly frocks are deliciously old-timey; novelties in the little cuff-turbans are delightful for all manner of occasions.

Tricornes, chin-chin and irregular brim effects, dressy and tailored models, panne and Lyons velvets, laces, spangles, Spanish combs and ostrich in many colors all play important parts in these late Parisian importations. For outdoor women come the saucy little felts piquant of brim, daring in color and possessed of that admirable ability to stay put. From $6.50 to $35.

What more apropos than "Bobette" could be conceived in the way of Millinery to adorn the youthful bobbed head? These little Hats are in small head sizes, mighty chic and engaging.

Hand-made wool flowers with leaves of velvet trim a big velvet shape of paprika red. Innumerable striking color schemes may be worked out with combinations of this sort.

SEX CONGRESS IS OPENED AT BERLIN.

By CARL D. GROAT.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

BERLIN, Sept. 15.—Reform of the German divorce laws; consideration of the Steinach rejuvenation theory; birth control; the origin of the "stork story"—these and other topics were to be considered in the International Sex Congress opening here today.

Experts from all parts of the world were assembled to discuss these matters. The question of making divorce easier was to be one of the leading topics. In Germany, it is difficult for a woman to be freed of a man who is not mentally perfect. Only when he becomes dangerous to the community can she get a divorce. But a man can easily be freed of a woman whose intellect is disturbed. These and other inequalities were to be considered.

Likewise, the Steinach rejuvenation operation was to come in for thorough discussion.

Dr. Hirchfeld, recently seriously attacked in Munich by anti-Semitic people, will be one of the leading spirits in the conference. Hirschfeld is desirous of having laws against abnormal persons in a sex sense altered so that they will be treated as persons with an illness, instead of as criminals.

Among those invited to the conference were Prof. Victor G. Vecki, of San Francisco; Prof. Dr. Lippschuetz, Dorpat; Dr. Gassul, Riga; Dr. H. Rogge, The Hague; Prof. Dr. Biedl, Prague; Prof. Dr. Asnaurow, San Juan, Argentine; Prof. Dr. Mieli, Rome; I. Schaeffer, Paris; Joseph Schedel, Peking; A. Tytheridge, Tokio; Dr. Witry, Metz; Dr. Porocz, Budapest; Dr. Knud Sand, Copenhagen; Dr. Nystroem, Stockholm; Dr. Rutgers, Holland, and Dr. Havelock Ellis, of America, whose writings caused him to quit the States and go to London.

CROP IN WEST WILL BE DEBT-PAYING ONE.

Declares President E. W. Beatty of Canadian Pacific.

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Sept. 15.—President Edward W. Beatty, K.C., of the C.P.R., and party, who are now touring western lines, spent two hours in Lethbridge Tuesday afternoon, arriving at 1.15 from Medicine Hat, and leaving at 3.30 for the coast, travelling via the Crow's Nest branch. President Beatty entered the area of irrigation development and evidenced keen appreciation of the projects which are now under way in Southern Alberta.

Speaking of irrigation development generally, President Beatty said that it was the duty of the Governments to bring in comprehensive schemes for carrying the water to every foot of available land in the semi-arid districts. It was unthinkable that these lands should be allowed to drift back to use for ranching only, and irrigation would avert this. He is a keen believer in this form of development, and knew as much about the extent of the Lethbridge northern project, and what it aimed to reclaim, as the majority of residents of Southern Alberta, showing that he has a good grasp of the subject as it affects this part of the west.

The Crops.

Speaking of the crop of Western Canada which is now being harvested, President Beatty ventured the opinion that it would be distinctly a debt-paying crop, and that the west would emerge in a better financial position as a result. He quite understood that there were sections where, unfortunately, this was not the case, but on the whole it would prove true.

Distillery Owner Tours Canada to See Effects of Prohibition.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press.)—Gaston Monnet, owner and representative of one of the largest French distillery companies who has been touring Canada investigating the effects of prohibition enforcement, declared to-day that he found more drunkenness in the Dominion and the United States than in any other part of the world. As an example, Mr. Monnet said in "allegedly dry Manitoba" at a golf tournament in Winnipeg three weeks ago he had seen between 500 and 600 bottles of whiskey produced immediately after games, with the result that the wind-up of the tournment was more suggestive of a drinking bout than a golf match.

THE MAYFLOWER TO REPRESENT STATES

INTERNATIONAL FISHERMEN'S RACES COMMENCE ON OCTOBER 25TH.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press.)—The schooner Mayflower to-day was chosen to represent the United States in the international fishermen's races off Halifax beginning October 25. Selection of the Boston was announced by the American Race committee, after the schooner Elizabeth had beenruled ineligible because of her limited fishing experience.

The Mayflower, built by a Boston syndicate, is now at this port unloading a cargo of fish. She is expected to leave soon for her home port to be fitted with a new main boom to replace one broken on her last trip to sea. An eight-day stand at the Georges Bank is still on the schooner's schedule before she fits out for her meeting with the Canadian challenger.

LAKEFIELD NEWS

LAKEFIELD, September 15. — A quiet but very pretty wedding was solemnized in the Lakefield Methodist church, at 6 o'clock, on Wednesday evening, September 14th, when Kathleen Gould, elder daughter of Rev and Mrs. S. F. Dickson, was united in mariage to William C. Wallace of Ivanhoe.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. S. F. Dickson, father of the bride, assisted by the Rev. P. M. Jull. The wedding party entered the church to the strains of the Wedding March played by Mr. K. S. Madill, organist of the Methodist Church. The bride was gowned in white satin, trimmed with silver. She wore her mother's bridal veil and a wreath of orange blossoms and carried Ophelia roses. She also wore the grooms gift, a necklace of pearls. The bridesmaid, Miss Lillian Dickson, was gowned in peach organdie with touches of black and carried pink asters. Mr. John Wallace supported the groom. Messrs ElwoodGirven and Ralph Payne acted as ushers. Miss Leila McIntosh, of Stirling, rendered a pretty vocal solo during the signing of the register. Gifts were presented to the bridesmaid, the soloist, the best man, the ushers and the organist.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents at which about 30 guests were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace left by motor for a trip to Ottawa and other eastern points, the bride traveling in a suit of duvetyne trimmed with beaver, and wearing black velvet hat trimmed with jet. On their return they will reside in Ivanhoe.

Guests were present at the wedding from Port Hope, Colborne and Stirling.

A FAIR SHARE FOR SEPARATE SCHOOLS

Of Taxes Paid on Public Utilities In Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.— (Canadian Press.)—The Ottawa Council of the Knights of Columbus have taken up cudgels on behalf of the Separate schools of the city, and will shortly bring pressure to bear on the local members, Messrs. Hill and Pinard, and Hon. R. H. Grant, Minister of Education, for the purpose of having the Separate schools get a fair and just share of the taxes paid on public utilities in Ottawa.

Announcement was made to-day by the Ottawa Council of its intention to take the matter up as a part of a province-wide plan of propaganda. At the meeting of the Council last night a resolution was passed which supported steps being taken on behalf of the Separate schools.

ALL INDUSTRIES TO BE AFFECTED BY COTTON RISE.

Breaks Key Log in Prosperity Jam — Confidence Created Among Bankers.

By HAROLD D. JACOBS.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The present spectacular rise in cotton prices is generally regarded throughout that and allied industries as the breaking of the key log in the prosperity jam.

A canvass of the bigger cotton brokerage offices here today revealed that while there have been some marked indications of a return to normal economic conditions in other lines, shaking off of the inertia in cotton is having a nation-wide stimulating effect.

Creates Confidence.

The concensus ran something like this: 'The marking up of raw cotton prices to something like their real value has created confidence among the bankers and merchants who have been 'carrying' them, textile manufacturers, fabricators of cotton goods and the employes of all of these.

"While raw cotton remained at an abnormally low figure, buyers expected it to go even lower. There was a general stagnation in all trades using cotton, the ramifications of which are almost endless. Then there came the sudden realization that we have a real cotton famine. (This was forecast by Theodore Price in an exclusive interview with the United Press several weeks ago.)

Mills Reopening.

"The rush of buying sent cotton up nearly 100 per cent. Now textile mills are reopening. Automobile tire manufacturers and other users of cotton have begun to place orders. Mill machinery makers are starting up again. Hundreds of thousands of persons affected directly or indirectly by cotton are preparing to go back to work. Banks and merchants who loaned money or goods to the growers are being paid back.

"The present upturn in prices should be followed by a sharp reaction and this by another upturn. These variations probably will continue up to the first of the year, but the average price should continue well above 20 cents a pound."

Poorest in History.

It was pointed out that with an acreage 28 per cent. below normal the condition of the American crop is the poorest in history—49.3 per cent. compared with a ten-year average of 67.7 per cent. This is an indicated yield of about 7,000,000 bales, as against last year's crop of 13,500,000 bales. Buyers suddenly realized that the supposed "carry-over" of 9,000,000 bales was largely mythical and that there is a cotton "famine."

"They are only doing what they should have done months ago," one broker said. He added that while the consumer will have to pay more for fabricated cotton, the prosperity resulting from the stimulation of trade will more than offset this.

Outlook Bright.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Sept. 14.—Textile operators believe the current rise in raw cotton prices marks the beginning of the swing back of the pendulum after 18 months of drastic deflation, according to W. D. Adams, Secretary of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association.

In an interview with the United Press today, Adams declared this applied to other industries as well as cotton.

'That a cotton famine next spring is possible is admitted, and this, coupled with a return to normal competition, may bring textile prices to levels unhoped for a short time ago," he said.

"The fundamental fact is that there has been no over-production of cotton goods; only under-consumption. It is estimated there are 20,000,000 fewer spindles in operation now than before the war, whereas the demand should have increased. This, coupled with the reduction of working hours and lower efficiency per operative, gives some idea of the aggregate loss in production.

Want Stable Market.

"Practically all of the mills are now resuming full operation, orders are being received in gratifying volume and the general outlook is bright with promise. Manufacturers hope there will be no runaway market such as that in 1919-1920; what is desired is a stable market with a strong demand and fair prices."

DOINGS IN THE WOMAN'S WORLD.

Mrs. Irene Parlby, minister without portfolio, is the second woman in Canada to achieve Cabinet distinction.

Miss Meta Hannay, of Washington, D.C., is the first woman to take the examination of the State Department for a diplomatic post.

Miss Dorothy Behrman, of Brooklyn, N.Y., has the distinction of being the first woman to swim the whirlpool rapids of Ausable Chasm, at Ausable, N.Y.

Lady Rhondda, Great Britain's foremost business woman, who controls immense business properties left by her father, the famous wartime food controller of England, is now engaged in writing a life history of her father.

Says we must make kidneys clean the blood and pimples disappear.

Pimples, sores and boils usually result from toxins, poisons and impurities which are generally in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very ducts which should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate, then the blood uses the skin pores as the next best means of getting rid of these impurities which often break out all over the skin in the form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, is to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of hot water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys to normal activity, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities, ad clearing the skin of pimples.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent drink which usually makes pimples disappear; cleanses the blood and is excellent for the kidneys as well.

AN EXCELLENT FISH SALAD.

Boil a pound of haricot beans (which have been soaked over night) in sufficient water to cover them, adding an onion, peppercorns and salt. When tender, drain and use cold. The stock should be kept for soup. Bone two or three mackerel, lay in a piedish, cover with equal parts of water and vinegar, add half a bay leaf, peppercorns and salt. Bake in a moderate oven, basting well. When cold remove skin and small bones, divide into small pieces, place in the centre of a dish, and arrange the beans as a border, cover with a thick coating of mayonnaise sauce, and decorate with beetroot and hard-boiled egg. A little cress makes a pretty finish.

ASIA VS. THE WEST IS PROBLEM SEEN BY ADMIRAL BRIDGE

By A. J. WEST

(United Press Staff Correspondent).

LONDON, Sept. 14.—In the opinion of Sir Cyprian Bridge, the only way to prevent a clash of Asiatic and Western cultures—and also the possible clash of arms—is the consummation of an alliance between the peoples of Europe and their racial relatives in the two Americas, especially an Anglo-American union.

Sir Cyprian, a retired admiral and author of many publications on naval warfare, brought in the new question of cultures during a discussion of Pacific problems faced by the United States, Britain and Japan.

"What is called the Pacific problem is but a part of the far greater question of 'Asia and the West'," the admiral said. "The latter great question can, in my belief, be settled amicably and to the advantage of both sides if it is taken into consideration without delay.

"I have been careful to speak of it as 'Asia and the West,' and not 'Asia and Europe,' because I am convinced that both North America and South America will be concerned in it quite as much as Europe.

"It will be a question of a collision—not necessarily armed collision—between ideas, principles, habits, etc., on the one side Oriental, on the other Occidental.

"All America, both North and South, is virtually European—language, polity, laws, arts. The predominant section of all its population is descended from ancestry born in Europe.

"Will the nations on either side of the Atlantic allow that culture to be swamped—even peacefully—by a culture which may be as good, or even better, but which is certainly different?

"There is only one way of preventing it that I can see. That way is a cordial union between the peoples of Europe and their racial relatives in the two Americas.

"Naval disarmament is an excellent thing for one reason. If carried out frankly, it will do much to relieve taxpayers. It is doubtful if it will abolish war.

"Julius Caesar understood disarmament in a way that could hardly be followed in these days. He cut off the right hands of the people whom he meant to disarm. That did the job effectually."

SAYS CRIMINAL TO REJECT IMMIGRANTS THIS SIDE OF WATER.

Should Be Deterred From Emigrating to Canada If Undesirable.

(F. W. Fox—Canadian Press).

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., Sept. 15.—That the railway problem of Canada should receive the most careful and serious consideration at the first session of the next Parliament was stated by President Beatty, who, with the directors of the C.P.R., was here overnight recenly. This problem, he believes, must be considered with reference to the condition of Canada and the needs of the railways. But it will be necessary to see the results of the present situation in railway affairs before deciding what is the best policy to pursue. Concerning immigration, the President stated that Canada's great need is for immigrants of the right type, and that the Government knows the type of immigrants that has made good and also where that type comes from. He was emphatic in stating that all rejection of immigrants should be done on the other side of the Atlantic. It was criminal to bring immigrants to Canada only to be rejected.

Winter Employment.

He expressed the opinion that there would be but little unemployment in Canada this fall. There would be much in the winter, but it would probably be for only a short period. The company, he stated, was still short of men for the fall work on the railway.

LITTLE RAIN FOR 2 YEARS; STOCK IS DYING OFF.

MEXICO, September 14. — The economic conditions in the southern districts of Lower California are described as intolerable by travellers who have recently returned from that region. Rainfall has been exceedingly light in that region for the past three years and the scarcity of pasture has caused the death of thousands of heads of livestock, the main industry.

The inhabitants are said to be in destitute circumstances which have been aggravated by a recent federal order prohibiting foreign vessels from transporting merchandise between Mexican ports. This order which was aimed to portect the national merchant marine, has virtually isolated the region as only two Mexican vessels are engaged in coastwise trade there and their visits are at many weeks intervals.

Protests to President Obregon by the inhabitants of the district are expected to relieve the situation.

A SERIOUS MATTER.

Brown had at last obtained the correct recipe for "home brew," and had spent considerable time in preparing the first batch of it. He had placed it on a shelf in the pantry. Ten days later he looked for it and it was gone.

"Marv where is the kettle I placed in the pantry about ten days ago?" he asked his wife.

"Why, it sat there so long, I thought it had spoiled, and I threw it out," she replied.

And they haven't spoken to one another since.

RAIN OF BULLETS WHEN GANGS WAR.

Brooklyn and Manhattan Feud Revived—Girl Accompanied the Invading Gunmen.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—War has broken out here between Manhattan and Brooklyn gangsters.

Invading Manhattan during the night, Brooklyn gangsters in an automobile engaged in a revolver duel with a number of their rivals near 58th Street and 9th Avenue. Police joined in the shooting.

Paul Michelia, 50, a spectator of the encounter, was shot in the arm. Five men were arrested on suspicion.

A dispute over bootleg profits, and the murder of "Goo Goo" Knox at 52nd Street and 10th Avenue are believed by the police to have started the gang feud.

Woman in Gang.

Hostilities started when shots were fired on a street corner in the tenderloin. One of the gang doing the shooting was said to have been a woman.

Witnesses of the gang battle said a woman was in the automobile from which shots were fired at men on the sidewalk.

Pedestrians flung themselves flat on the pavement or ran into doorways as the shots rang out.

Police had advance information that a clash was imminent and were patrolling the neighborhood. Eight members of the police "strong-arm" squad approached in an automobile while the shooting was at its height.

Girl Took Wheel.

The gangsters on the sidewalk fled, while those in the motor car did their firing at the police. The girl took the wheel, it was said, for the chauffeur to use his revolver. Police returned the fire. A running fight followed.

AUTO-INTOXICATION.

"What was the excitement down the street?"

"Oh, a man in a reverie ran into a woman in a tantrum."

"Were the machines badly damaged?"

HAND PAINTED GOWN IS COMING TO NEW YORK.

BY CHAS. McCANN

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, September 14.—Carlc Norway, inventor of the hand-painted frock, which is to be an autumn fashion feature in London, is on the eve of departing to the United States to introduce the fashion there for the fall season.

Norway, one of the leaders of the younger art colony in London, conceived the idea of painting on silk, velvet, and similar textiles during ten years of experimenting in various methods of painting and etching.

His exhibitions at London art galleries were always popular, and he had been the hit of several general exhibitions with his varied work in paintings, pastel, aplique, wall and window decorations, glassware, vases, bowls, line-cuts, curtains, and even wallpaper.

A few months ago Norway began stencilling on cloths. The work was done largely for his own pleasure, merely to find what effects were possible. A brother artist, Louis Fox, thought of the possibility of applying the stencilling to dress materials. This was a great success, and Fox suggested marketing stencilled frocks and gowns. The frocks were an immediate hit. The Duchess of Rutland, Lady Cunard, and Lady Hamilton were pioneer wearers, and as an absolutely individual design could be guaranteed, it was not long before the idea had caught on.

For several weeks, orders have been multiplying from dealers. In some cases individual designs are wanted; in others a dozen or more frocks of one design.

It is almost impossible to duplicate designs except from the original stencil. Any sort of design is possible. Most have been figured; in some, allegorical designs of animals, birds, and fish have been used.

The oil paint used is impervious to water, and will not crack. Due to the success of the experiment here, Norway decided to go to New York for the autumn season.

Nowhere is found greater longevity than in England.

Prest-O-Lite Reduces Again!
The Price: $26.50, The Saving: $19.80

For a Genuine Prest-O-Lite Battery, too!

HERE'S big news for the owners of Fords, Chevrolets, Overlands, Gray Dort, certain models of McLaughlin, and 27 other cars and trucks. You can now get a genuine Prest-O-Lite Battery for $26.50.

This is $19.80 lower than the 1920 price (more than 42% saving); and $11.30 lower than Prest-O-Lite's first reduction. In September, 1920, the price of Prest-O-Lite, same capacity, was $46.30; in December it was revised downward to $37.80.

Now you can get this powerful, long-lived, quality Prest-O-Lite for $26.50, in exchange for your old battery, no matter what its make. This is back to pre-war prices—yes, better than pre-war prices—for a better battery, too.

Drive around and get this best battery bargain on the market. Come to-day. Tell your friends.

REVIEW OF MAIN BUSINESS DISPLAYS AT FAIR

INTERESTING DETAILS DESCRIPTIVE OF ENTERPRISING INDUSTRIAL AND MANUFACTURING EXHIBITS---ELABORATE AND SKILFULLY ARRAYED PRESENTATIONS.

Judging by the increased number of special mercantile and manufacturing exhibits shown at this year's Exhibition, one would be fairly justified in predicting an improved business outlook.

The many varied and distinct groups of excellently designed displays furnish practical proofs of the optimism of the enterprising exhibitors.

STRONG FORD DISPLAY BY DUFFUS MOTOR SALES.

The automobile exhibit made by Duffus Motor Sales of this city surpassed anything of the kind seen here before. Resourceful as have been the educational displays of this large and enterprising firm of motor car dealers at previous Exhibitions, this year's display is noticeably amplified.

There are plenty of flivvers in the world, as every one knows, and it would seem as if Peterborough is pretty will represented by Ford cars of every class and design calculated to meet the general demand.

With 1921 setting a new pace in Ford car reduced prices, it was interesting to learn of a new high record in Ford car sales. This, too, without any deterioration in construction or finish. In fact, quality in mechanical construction was evidenced by new and improved units, products of the world's foremost motor car maker. The distinct beauty and finish of the Ford are all that one need wish for. Pleasing individuality in design and perfected mechanism—what more could one ask for in a "Universal" motor car? These, combined in a car of medium price, make the Ford indisputably supreme in its class.

If additional proof was wanted to enforce these statements, a car that increased its sales in this year of keenest competition since automobiles were first introduced, embodies much that words cannot tell to commend the Ford to the people of Peterborough as well as every other patron of the world where Fords are known.

This highly creditable motor car display occupied a commanding position a short distance up from the main entrance, and was easily distinguished by a monster fourteen-foot sign of the pyramid design done with the word "Ford" in gold leaf letters over a black background.

The display consisted of the following machines: One Ford speed waggon with newest features in the market; one Ford Sedan, one Ford Roadster, one Ford Touring car, one Ford Coupe, one Ford ton truck,one Fordson tractor.

An interesting feature was a Fordson hauling truck in pure white enamel and gold lettering, with hard tires and solid wheels, in perfect trim for practical work. It attracted much attention.

Judging by the crowds of visitors that hung around this exhibit, it is fair to assume that the Duffus Motor Sales order book must have reported considerable contributions to the bigger business promoter.

HEINTZMAN & CO'S ARTISTIC PIANO DISPLAY.

Visitors to the Fair enjoyed a delightful musical treat inspecting the artistic piano exhibit of Ye Olde Firme Heintzman & Co., prepared by the enterprising local sales manager of Heintzman Hall, Hunter street. This display is located in the south-east corner of the Manufacturers Building, and was a feature of special pride to the Fair directors.

There were gathered together what was considered the finest display of high grade instruments ever seen at Peterborough's Exhibition. The exhibit embraced a handsome sample of the Heintzman & Co., grand, a beautiful "Classic" upright ,an "Apartment" upright, in fumed oak, an elegant "Ionic" upright in mahogany. There was also a fine sample of a Player Piano, which reproduced a repertoire of high class player rolls, which attracted crowds of visitors, as the inspiring melodies of the great musical masters were reeled off.

There was also a fine showing of high class phonographs in the exhibit. Handsome cabinet examples of the "Brunswick" and "Victor Victro" instruments attracted well merited attention. The models of these phonographs showed beautiful creations of cabinet work. To have a real appreciation of the phonograph art these two highly perfected models should be heard.

Music that gets into one's inmost being and helps to cheer the spirits, mould the character and chase out discord with melody is what we need to-day, and every day.

Paeons of praise were being bestowed on the beautiful musical exhibit presented to visitors at this fair by local representatives of Ye Olde Firme of Heintzman & Co., under the capable direction of the local manager ,of Heintzman Hall, Mr. W. Lawson, with Mr. F. B. Hutchison, who was in charge of the piano section of this exhibit.

The decorations were in tasteful harmony—the walls were appropriately hung with pictures of noted pianists and singers, and the general effectiveness cleverly enhanced in various ways.

At the opening of the fall season and to stimulate buying during Fair week, Heintzman & Cos prices and terms on new pianos are being made unusually attractive. People who consider a new piano beyond their means are invited to call at this exhibit, or at Heintzman Hall, Royal Bank Building on Hunter St., and learn how easily terms can be arranged. At any time to suit the convenience of prospective buyers, Mr. Lawson, the local manager, will arrange for a demonstration of the beautiful tonal powers of any of the instruments. Heintzman Hall, in Peterborough, has gone to the extreme in making it easy for many homes in the city to enjoy the comfort and inspiration of good music by absorbing itself the increase that otherwise be imposed on present day purchasers. A call puts you under no obligation to buy and a hearty welcome awaits all visitors at the Fair or at Heintzman Hall showrooms, Hunter street.

A very entertaining, delightful and drawing feature in connection with this splendid exhibit was the Music recitals which are arranged for each afternoon. The soloist for Thursday was Mrs. George King, who rendered a number of vocal selections with fine effect, and called for rapturous applause . To-morrow afternoon, Mrs. Park will be the soloist. dw

SYSTEM IN OFFICE EQUIPMENT.

An exhibit at the Exhibition which which was of special interest to business men was the splendid display made by the Office Specialty Manufacturing Co., of Newmarket. A splendid display of their unique office specialties so ingeniously adapted for modern office efficiency, was made. This exhibit occupied a central position in the new manufacturers 'building, and was in charge of Mr. D. A. Costello, the company's energetic representative for Eastern and Northern Ontario. He was assisted by Mr. J. D. Clarke, an expert from the Systems Department of this firm.

No business manager could view this display without hankering after some of the time saving and admirably adapted desk and filing specialties. The efficiency of the modern office can only be acquired through the use of systems that have been carefully and intelligently planned to handle the work expeditiously, and with the minimum of effort. With an experience of over thirty years this Newmarket company have produced office furniture designs that have proved highly desirable and applicable to all classes of business utility.

In workmanship and material the lines shown would seem to cover every desired taste, while the designs are pleasingly simple, cleverly planned and handy. Another feature of this "Office Specialty" line that makes for time-saving and economy is the standardization on the various units that have proved most adaptable for office work in all kinds of business. No better evidence of the value of these lines to the modern business man could be afforded than the constant appreciation shown by the large attendance of merchants and others around this section.

The central combination in this exhibit is an Office Specialty efficiency desk. Visitors called and seemingly envied this splendid office combination. It answers for a filing cabinet and desk combined. Its drawers are arranged in letter size divisions to hold correspondence files and sales reports; in cap size divisions for cost charts and factory reports; other divisions hold sets of car records. So that statistics regarding every phase of business are instantly accessible. In a word, this desk enables you to do more work in less time.

Samples of Vertical Filing is also shown. Alphabetical or numerical guides are used to divide the drawer and each folder has a specific place with all related papers filed in the same folder.

A noticeable addition to the display made this year was a new Fire Wall Filing Cabinet. This is said to be the only line of asbestos lined cabinets made in Canada ,and make a new epoch in business filing systems.

Another new feature for office equipment is a combination Record Safe for the keeping and preserving safely of all kinds of valuable business records. This ingenious design can be filled with any combination of official or business filing cabinets for separate records and valuables. The drawers run with steel frictionless suspension, and work as easily when loaded as when empty. It is made in two sizes—the small size is intended for retail or professional business offices, and the large one to accommodate the records of any ordinary size office. The representatives will be glad to furnish any information to visitors regarding office systems, no matter of what nature.

To all who find the lack of system in their office or who need their present system revised the"Office Specialty" system service should prove a great boon.

This interesting display also shows samples of the Steel Vertical Files, Shannon Filing, Card Index Systems, Counterweight verticals, Card Record Desk, Technical Book Cases, etc.

Mr. Costello, who has charge of this exhibit, was kept constantly busy explaining the merits of each specialty, and it is safe to say that he will have a bookful of orders before the fair is over. Mr. Costello is a live Peterboor boy and is making good in the wide field to which he has been appointed.

QUAKER OATS EXHIBIT

Just inside the manufacturers' building to the north one is confronted by a mental vista of altogether delicious breakfasts, in which appetising Quaker Oats cereals, topped with rich thick cream, syrup or may be seasonal fruit, play their always acceptable part. Here, in the Quaker Oats section, the visitor is also greeted by two affable demoiselles, who, arrayed in neat catering costume, smiling invites all comers to partake of tempting Quaker Oats Puffed Rice pancakes electrically cooked while one waits and hot from the pan—no one should miss sampling one of these tasty dainties.

The exhibit section itself is arrestingly attractive with its background of blue, faced wth a striking galaxy of Quaker Oats products known the world over, and Canadian made, the whole dominated by a splendid photo of our big Peterborough Quaker Oats Mills set appropriately amidst surroundings of British color. And one can here also visualize the manifold edible courses into which these products delightfully enter, including the famous Quaker Oats and Saxony flour for bread, buns and pastry par excellence.

This year Quaker Oats is perhaps featuring an ingredient for a comparatively new product known as Tilson's Health Bran, which, used raw with cereal or porridge, affords a delicious dish of which memory irrespressibly lingers. There are also strikingly arrayed to catch the eye a plentitude of Puffed Rice, Puffed Wheat, Corn meal, Farina, Scotch Pearl Barley, Fine Cut Oatmeal, Special Pancake Flour, which, with a host of other favorite food products, combine to present a Quaker Oats section, which cannot be readily overlooked by even the casual passer-by.

DOMINION EXHIBIT.

The fruit and vegetable tent has a striking display made by the Dominion Government. When Dr. Tolmie, M.P., Minister of Agriculture, was in Peterborough last winter he promised Mr. Denne to send an exhibit from the Dominion Experimental Farm, and that promise has been carried out to the letter. The display includes models of a hen house for 100 hens, trap nest, brooders, root house, self-feeding trough for hogs, a bee-hive and many other farm facilities. Samples of grain are also shown, together with reminders to farmers of the most valuable of their products.

ROSE BRAND PRODUCTS.

With table invitingly set, all ready for a perfectly irresistible luncheon of Rose Brand ham and accompanying delicious Rose Brand viands fit for a discriminating epicure, the visitor to the Manufacturers' Building is tempted to break through the barriers of the Canadian Packing Company's section and help him or herself to a meal in the banquet class. The whole exhibit is intensely interest-holding in design, and illuminative of the varied edible products for which this, one of Peterborough's first industries, is Dominion-wide famous, to say nothing of its enviable export trade.

Commendable taste and skill is reflected in the arrangement of this exhibit, the whole of which is dominated by a huge revolving drum revealing in repeating succession choice samples of far-famed Rose Brand meats, including bacon, hams, boneless backs, casing backs, cottage rolls, Bologna and smoked rolls.

This attractive produce exhibit section is faced by a handsome show case, in which are revealed a delectable array of Rose Brand sliced meats, fresh eggs, and butter as you like it, embellished with a smattering of seasonal fruits and vegetables.

The right of this section is flanked by Rose Brand margarine, so much in demand locally, together with Rose Brand lard and C.P.C. pure lard, both of which are unqualified delights of a small army of housewives as tasty cooking essentials.

And, oh, yes, here also is suspended to impelling notice the Canadian Packing Company's Rose Brand smoke-cured ham, offered free for competition, in which all may participate. Tickets are given all comers, who are invited to estimate thereon the weight of this ham, which goes to the one estimating nearest to its correct weight. Get one by all means!

Exhibit Reader

THAT WONDERFUL HONEY EXPOSITION.

Judging by the constant crowds which flocked round the honey demonstration, interest in honey and honey-making will receive a genuine impulse during the Fair. This instructive display was in the interest of the Brown - Shield Apiaries, of Peterborough, situated at 153 Benson Avenue, and was a revelation to many who had never seen anything of the kind before similarly arranged and demonstrated.

The products of these local apiaries were shown in glass jars, tins and in the comb; while the exhibit was tastefully decorated with appropriate card legends and other allied attractions. A pyramid of bees wax was shown in the centre of the exhibit, and samples of various commercial grades of honey on view.

But the chief attraction was centered on the ingenious bee hive in a glass case, showing swarms of bees busy at work in the various stages of the honey-making process. It is a real education to watch the wonderful mass of bees at work, accompanied by intelligent and interesting explanations by Mr. Shields, who is a specialist in connection with O. A. C. of Guelph.

A competitive guessing competition adds interest to this exhibit, in which a 10-lb. pail of honey is given away each day to the person guessing the nearest correct number of visitors at the Fair each day. Miss McArthur, of 27 Frank Street, won a 10-lb. pail of honey for the Wednesday competition.

These Exhibit Reviews continued To-morrow.

BUSINESS BLOCKS WERE DEMOLISHED

Fire Causes Heavy Property Loss in Arnprior.

OTTAWA, Sept. 15.—Starting at 5 o'clock this morning a fire at Arnprior, Ont., 38 miles from here, wiped out two blocks in the heart of that town. No loss of life is reported, but property damage will run to between fifty and sixty thousand dollars. The blaze is believed to have been started at the rear of a pool room.

HOW TO TELL A GOOD DRIVER.

He Ovserves These Ten Precepts of Caution and Courtesy.

Be courteous. If a man wants to pass you on the road, give him room.

Put out your hand before you stop or turn. An old rule—perhaps that is why so many motorists have forgotten it.

Toe the front wheels in toward the curb, or block them with a stone, when parking on a hill. No kind providence looks after standing automobiles.

If a driver passes you when you are going as fast as you think safe—let him stay ahead. You will reach your destination soon enough; he may never get to his.

Keep at least fifteen feet behind the car ahead when driving in traffic. Your radiator is not indestructible; neither is his gas tank.

You may get home a minute earlier if you fail to "Stop, Look and Listen" at the railroad crossing. The minutes you save are nothing compared with the extra years in eternity.

If some speed enthusiast tries to pass you with a curve close ahead or another car approaching, slow up and look for trouble.

Be generous. Let the fellow who is coming up hill have the right of way. It's no fun climbing a long hill in low gear.

Use diplomacy. Give the other fellow the benefit of the doubt (especially if he happens to be heavier than you.) You may have a perfectly good case—but there may be nothing left of you to collect the damages.

There's no law against running slow when the road is not clear ahead. At 20 miles an hour you are going 29 feet a second, and even the best brakes cannot operate instantaneously.

Block of Hotels and Amusement Places Wiped Out by Fire.

NEW YORK, September 15 (Canadian Press). — A block of hotels, amusement places, etc., on the Board Walk of Rockaway Beach, was destroyed by fire to-day.

The damage is estimated at $500,000, and two men are missing from one of the hotels.

Jersey Farmer Who Abused His Wife Punished Ku Klux Fashion By Five Masked Men.

FREEHOLD, N. J., Sept. 15. — Masked men tortured Wesley Smith, Ku Klux fashion, in Tennant last Monday night, according to the story the victim told here when he caused the arrest of six persons, including his wife. The accused have refused to discuss the charge.

Several months ago Smith, a farmer, was arrested and fined for abusing his wife, Margaret. Since then they have been separated. The police say he has been annoying her by prowling about her home and spying on her.

Five men with their faces shrouded in handkerchiefs seized Smith at a lonely spot, trussed his hands and feet, roped him to the rear of a touring car and hauled him along the road until his head and face were cut and bruised. Then they loosed him, poured tar over him and set him adrift. The feathers which usually feature such attacks were omitted. The "avengers" worked without uttering a word.

Smith appeared before Justice of the Peace L. J. Arrowsmith almost unable to speak. His face was in bad condition, and it is feared he will lose the sight of one eye, which is closed.

Information he gave to the Justice led county detectives to arrest Mrs. Smith, Charles Schneider, Randolph Hulshart, Kenneth Salter, William Baird and Arthur Thompson. Justice Arrowsmith held the six in $500 bail each for the Grand Jury.

Salter is Mrs. Smith's son by a previous marriage. Thompson is her son-in-law, and all the men are farmers with families living near the Smith place.

HIRE WOMEN MUSICIANS.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 15.—(United Press).—Women will supplant men in the orchestra pits at the Garrick and Gayety Theatres, both burlesque houses, this fall. Labor trouble between the operators and unions in other cities caused the management to take the step. Both of the houses are operated under the Columbia Wheel circuit, with headquarters in New York.
